Mr. T. E. BELL said that a pathmaster held office until his successor was appointed and acting in his capacity as such he had ordered a man out on the previous day and next season he would see that that man was allowed a day's work on his statute labor.

Mr. F. J BELL agreed that pathmasters had office until their successors are appointed, but he contended that the municipality was liable unless the municipality ordered the pathmaster to do the work.

THE PRESIDENT thought it was the duty of the pathmaster to inform the council when and where the roads are impossible or badly drifted.

Mr. HILLIARD said that in Quebec the law provided for paying men who clear the roads.

The PRESIDENT said that the sectional fence matter was discussed by the County Council, but the expense frightened them and the scheme was abandoned, although all agreed that it was the best plan.

Mr. HILLIARD suggested that the sectional fence plan be tried in the worst portions of the roads. The first expense would be heavy, but the fences if properly cared for would last an age.

SECRETARY BELL said that in some cases these fences might block up a man's farm, when he wanted to get to work early.

Mr. HILLIARD thought that by putting the matter to arbitration that difficulty would be got over at a small expense.

Mr. T. E. BELL said that in Quebec each farmer was compelled to take down his fence as soon as the snow comes. He advocated removing all fences and making each man look after his own cattle. This would settle the whole trouble of drifts.

The PRESIDENT, Secretary and several others agreed with the last speaker and thought that such a law should be be passed as soon as possible.

Mr. HILLIARD would rather leave the fences up as he considered that there was less danger to horses travelling the roads. He regarded that the tax for keeping up the road fences was the severest strain that the farmer had.

Mr. M. E. SANDERSON asked if the fences were down how a drover coming along the road would keep them from trespassing?

The PRESIDENT said that in many portions of New York State there were no fences and drovers by employing more help got along all right.

Mr. T. E. BELL said that years ago statute labor was all right when money was scarce, but now he felt that if it was put to the people they would not endorse it. He had many year's experience as pathmaster and he found that there was much shirking. He was in the habit of charging these shirkers for the time they lost and made them work eight hours per day. In Hastings they had commissioners who were paid $1,200 per year, a sum that they did not deserve.

Mr. GALVIN said that one of the strongest points in the paper was the injustice done. One man made his men work hard, while another did care how much work was done. In Smith there are 105 pathmasters and he thought that a small number of commissioners might do the work and do it a good deal better. In Douro the money spent under commissioners was well spent.

SECRETARY BELL said that the statute labor of Smith, if commuted at $1 per day, would more than keep all the roads in a better state of repair than the are now with statute labor and the annual grants made.

The meeting then adjourned until 2.30 p.m.

Eli Perkins' Baby Story.

Little 5-year-old Ethel, who was suffering from a bad cold, went to pay a visit to her auntie. During the day she recited her various successes at school, and ended by declaring that she could read a good deal better than Sabrina, who was 8 years old.

"But wouldn't it sound better if some one else said it?" asked her auntie.

"Yes," answered Ethel with a sober countenance. "I think it would; I have such a bad cold I can't say it very well." Eli will be here on Friday, March 23rd, at the Opera House.

Police Court.

The assault case billed for this morning failed to come off, as one of the defendants had not been served. The case of Mrs. McMaster vs. Wm. McMaster was enlarged until to-morrow, on account of the absence of a meterial witness. The charge is for malicious injury to property.

THE DEBATE AT LINDSAY.

The Question Not Decided—A Successful Concert—Ventriloquism.

On Thursday evening the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association Quartette and others went to Lindsay to take part in an entertainment under the management of the Lindsay Association. It originated in an invitation from Lindsay for a debate between the two Associations. The invitation was accepted, the question chosen being, "Resolved, that the Right to Vote at the Election of Members of the Dominion Parliament and Provincial Legislature Should be Extended to Women," Peterborough taking the affirmative. On their arrival at Lindsay the Peterborough representatives were escorted to the Benson House. The meeting was held in the Sunday school room of the Methodist Church—a capacious room, and it was filled to the doors. Mr. J. R. Dundas, ex-M. P., of Lindsay, presided, and in opening referred to the good work done by the Y. M. C. Associations and urged that they should be supported by the people. An opening hymn was sung by the audience, and after the chairman's remarks, the Y. M. C. A. Quartette was called on. It was composed of Messrs. W. H. Stevens, John Miller, C. J. Baguley and R. H. Henderson, who sang "Speed Away" and were loudly applauded. The Quartette followed this with "The Gossipers," which brought forth a hearty encore, to which they responded with "The Busy Bumble Bee," and the audience seemed inclined to make them repeat it. The singing of the quartette was highly appreciated they were warmly received each time and accorded loud applause after each number. The debate was then brought on. On the affirmative side the folloging from Peterborough spoke:—Messrs. S. R. Armstrong, Geo. A. Schofield and W. H. Stevens, and the negative was upheld by Messrs. R. R. Hall, Miller Murdock and D. M. Anderson, of Lindsay. The audience, though naturally friends of the Lindsay boys, did not confine their marks of appreciation to them, but liberally applauded each side when good points were scored. The debate was well sustained throughout. The affirmative side spoke in the order given, and the negative in reverse order, their leader, Mr. Hall, speaking last; and the affirmative leader closed the debate with a five minute's reply. The chairman, who had taken full notes of the debate, said he was in a difficult position, as both sides appeared to be right and he was unable to decide which had won. It was therefore a "drawn game." Mr. Baguley sang in excellent voice "Let Me Dream While Life shall Linger," the Quartette joining in the chorus, and the song was exceedingly well received. Mr. W. A. Dixon for fifteen minutes kept the audiences in roars of laughter with ventriloquism and imitations, each act being liberally applauded. The Quartette sang "Allow Me to Move a Vote of Thanks," and in response to an encore, "The Peanut Song," which called forth renewed applause. "God Save the Queen" closed the entertainment.

The Peterborough boys enjoyed their trip thoroughly. They were splendidly entertained by the Lindsay boys, and hope to return the compliment shortly when a similar debate and entertainment will be held here.

Flowers From Frozen Ontario.

It is cheerful to note that the snow blockade did not interfere with all our industries. Our well known florist, Mr. Frank Mason, to-day received a letter from the Grand Seminary, Montreal, acknowledging the receipt of a consignment of flowers, which reached the commercial capital in the best of order, and, as the letter states, the recipients were delighted with them. Mr. Mason is rapidly extending his trade, as evidenced by the fact that he is now filling an order for Regina, N. W.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and no for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

ALL CLEAR ON THE TRACKS

TRAINS RUNNING ON THE DIFFERENT RAILWAYS AGAIN.

The C.P.R. Lift the Blockade—Passengers Seventy Hours on the Road—A Disabled Snow-plow Causes a Delay—Affairs on the Midland and T. G. and B.

TORONTO, March 16.

The passengers who left Ottawa on Monday night by the Canadian Pacific Railway for Toronto and Western points had just about as bad a time of it as those who left Toronto on the same night for Ottawa. They reached Toronto at noon yesterday, having been over sixty hours on the road. The first delay occurred when they got fourteen miles out of Ottawa. Here they encountered huge banks of snow and remained until the following day, when relief came from Ottawa.

Some of the C.P.R. passengers on the train that left town on Tuesday morning for Ottawa and Montreal, were brought in at 1 a.m. yesterday. Among them were Dr. Montague and Senator McCallum.

Hon. Frank Smith and Mr. Rykert left the snowed-in train at Myrtle yesterday forenoon, drove to Whitby, and got to town last nigh 70 hours after they left Toronto. The rest of the passengers continued in the cars.

An unintentional injustice was done the officials of the C.P.R. by stating that as "yet none of the head men have been able to get into the drifted country." The Assistant Superintendent, Mr. Williams, was on the morning train Monday, and Superintendent Wilson arrived at the scene Monday night, and General Superintendent Mackinnon arrived there yesterday.

Few can imagine the difficulty the officials had to overcome in order to get the line open. For a time they could only get at the snow from two ends. Gangs, however, were soon engaged at the various blockaded stations and started shovelling, and in this way the plow was got through much more rapidly.

The blockade was lifted on all the roads yesterday. At 4 p.m. a despatch was received from Myrtle stating that all the cuts had been cleared of snow and that the two delayed trains were on their way east. The Toronto, Grey and Bruce division was open at 2 p.m. The C.P.R. train due here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning got into Union Depot at 8 p.m. The night C.P.R. train for the east left on time, and was crowded with passengers. The Midland division of the G.T.R. was cleared of snow yesterday afternoon, and all the trains are running with fair regularity.

The C.P.R. express which left Montreal yesterday morning for Toronto, and is due at 8.45 p.m., was not in at 1.15 this morning. The cause of the delay this time was not the snow, but the fact that a snow plow returning from Myrtle got off the track two miles east of North Toronto. A large gang of men were at once sent down to clear the track. Among the passengers on this train are the Earl of Arran and his daughter Lady Esther Gore, who left Rideau Hall yesterday, having been the guests of Lord and Lady Lansdowne. It is the Earl's intention, after spending a few days in Toronto, to visit Niagara Falls, and then proceed to New York.

THE STORM'S DEADLY WORK.

A Terrible Tale of Disaster and Loss of Life on the Delaware Breakwater.

PHILADELPHIA, March 15.—A special to The Enquirer from Lewes, Del., says: Additional advices were received here yesterday from the Delaware breakwater, fully corroborating the terrible tale of exposure, loss of life and damage to shipping which occurred on Sunday night. It is stated that twenty-two persons were drowned or frozen to death and that a number of vessels were sunk. The privations of the crews were pitiful, as in their efforts to head the vessels from shore they were drenched to the skin and the water on their garments was converted into ice. The men were literally encased in ice, and the blinding snow which followed added to their sufferings. More than sixty persons were bound hand and foot by ice, and a large majority of them were frostbitten and are now confined to their beds.

The steamboat pier parted in three places. At the extreme end were eleven men, survivors from vessels which had sunk, who had taken refuge there. They were cut off from all communication with the land for twenty-three hours, and during that time their frail haven threatened to be carried away by the heavy seas which [illegible] them. With starvation staring them in the face, the brave band fought the terrors of death until they were rescued from their perilous position. When taken off several were incapable of moving, and had to be lifted into and from the boats which came to their assistance.

It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Is it worth so much thought?" he says, bitterly. "It surely will not injure you fatally to lay your hand in mine for one instant."

"You mistake me," says Mona, shocked at her own want of courtesy; and then she extends to him her hand, and, setting her foot upon the huge stone, springs lightly to his side.

Once there she has to go with him down the narrow woodland path, there being no other, and so paces on, silently, and sorely against her will.

"Sir Nicholas has sent me an invitation for the 19th," he says, presently, when the silence has become unendurable.

"Yes," says Mona, devoutly hoping he is going to say he means to refuse it. But such devout hope is wasted.

"I shall go," he says, doggedly; as though divining her secret wish.

"I am sure we shall all be very glad," she says, faintly, feeling herself bound to make some remark.

"Thanks!" returns he, with an ironical laugh. "How exceedingly well your tone agrees with your words!"

Another pause. Mona is on thorns. Will the branching path, that may give her a chance of escaping a further tete-a-tete with him, never be reached?

"So Warden failed you?" he says, presently, alluding to old Elspeth's nephew.

"Yes,—so far," returns she, coldly.

"It was a feeble effort," declares he, contemptuously, striking with his cane the trunks of the trees as he goes by them.

"Yet I think Warden knows more than he cares to tell," says Mona, at a venture. Why, she herself hardly knows.

He turns, as though by an irrepressible impulse, to look keenly at her. His scrutiny endures only for an instant. Then he says, with admirable indifference,—

"You have grounds for saying so, of course?"

"Perhaps I have. Do you deny I am in the right?" asks she, returning his gaze undauntedly.

He drops his eyes, and the low, sneering laugh she has learned to know and to hate so much again comes to his lips.

"I would be rude to deny that," he says, with a slight shrug. "I am suer you are always in the right."

"If I am, Warden surely knows more about the will than he has sworn to."

"It is very probable,—if there ever was such a will. How should I know? I have not cross-examined Warden on this or any other subject. He is an overseer over my estate, a mere servant—nothing more."

"Has he the will?" asks Mona, foolishly, but impulsively.

"He may have, and a stocking full of gold, and the roc's egg, or anything else, for aught I know. I never saw it. They tell me there was an iniquitous and unjust will drawn up some years ago by old Sir George; that is all I know."

"By your grandfather!" corrects Mona, in a peculiar tone.

"Well, by my grandfather, if you so prefer it," repeats he, with much unconcern. "It got itself, if it ever existed, irretrievably lost, and that is all any one knows about it."

Mona is watching him intently.

"Yet I feel sure—I know," she says, tremulously, "you are hiding something from me. Why do you not look at me when you answer my questions?"

At this his dark face flames, and his eyes instinctively, yet almost against his will, seek hers.

"Why," he says, with suppressed passion, "because each time I do, I know myself to be—what I am! Your truthful eyes are mirrors in which my heart lies bare." With an effort he recovers himself, and, drawing his breath quickly, grows calm again. "If I were to gaze at you as often as I should desire, you would probably deem me impertinent," he says, with a lapse into his former half-insolent tone.

"Answer me," persists Mona, not heeding nay, scarcely hearing—his last speech. "You said once it would be difficult to lie to me. Do you know anything of this missing will?"

"A great deal. I should. I have heard of almost nothing else since my arrival in England," replies he, slowly.

"Ah! Then you refuse to answer me," says Mona, hastily, if somewhat wearily.

He makes no reply. And for a full minute no word is spoken between them.

Then Mona goes on quietly:

"That night at Chetwoode you made use of some words that I have never forgotten since."

He is plainly surprised. He is indeed glad. His face changes, as if by magic, from sullen gloom to pleasurable anticipation.

"You have remembered something that I said, for eleven days?" he says, quickly.

"Yes. When talking then of supplanting Sir Nicholas at the Towers, you spoke of your project as a 'splendid scheme.' What did you mean by it? I cannot get the words out of my head since. Is 'scheme' an honest word?"

Her tone is only too significant. His face has grown black again. A heavy frown sits on his brow.

"You are not, perhaps, aware of it, but your tone is insulting," he begins, huskily. "Were you a man I would give you an answer, now, here; but as it is I am of course tied hand and foot. You can say to me what you please. And I shall bear it. Think as badly of me as you will. I am a schemer, a swindler, what you will!"

"Even in my thoughts I never applied those words to you," says Mona, earnestly. "Yet some feeling here"—laying her hand upon her heart—"compels me to believe you are not dealing fairly by us." To her there is untruth in every line of his face, in every tone of his voice.

"You condemn me without a hearing, swayed by the influence of a carefully educated dislike," retorts he:

"'Alas for the rarity
Of Christian charity
Under the sun!'

But I blame the people you have fallen among,—not you."

"Blame no one," says Mona. "But if there is anything in your heart to condemn you, then pause before you go further in this matter of the Towers."

"I wonder you are not afraid of going too far," he puts in, warningly, his dark eyes flashing.

"I am afraid of nothing," says Mona, simply. "I am not half so much afraid as you were a few moments since, when you could not let your eyes meet mine, and when you shrank from answering me a simple question. In my turn I tell you to pause before going too far."

"Your advice is excellent," says he, sneeringly. Then suddenly he stops short before her, and breaks out vehemently:

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

CRISP CAPITAL CHAT.

The Toronto Civic Delegation Interview Sir Hector—Senatorial Probabilities.

To-day a deputation from Toronto, consisting of Aldermen Carlyle, McMillan, Baxter, Verral and William Carlyle, with City Engineer Sproatt and Solicitor McWilliams, waited upon Sir Hector Langevin to urge that the frontage of the city be extended 394 feet southward into the bay. Elias Rogers and other property-owners, represented by Mr. Dalton McCarthy, raised objection, but after a conference it was agreed that the request for the extension of the frontage line be made unanimous. Sir Hector promised to consider the request and make known his decision at an early date. The agreement signed is similar to that approved of by the Council, with the addition that the construction comes eastward as far as Scott-street.

Several senators have been informed that Mr. Kirkpatrick, M.P. for Frontenac and a former Speaker of the House of Commons, is to be appointed to the Senate and made Speaker of that body.

It is alleged that Hon. A meeting of the Dominion Artillery Association was held to-day in the Railway Committee room of the House of Commons. Col. Oswald of Montreal occupied the chair as President, and there were also present the Marquis of Lansdowne, Lieut.-Col. Kirkpatrick, M.P., and others. Lieut.-Col. Oswald resigned the presidency, explaining as his reason for so doing that the Government did not give enough support to the association. The annual report was adopted. Replying to a vote of thanks for his liberal gifts to the association, the Governor-General said he would carry away with him many pleasant recollections of his experience as patron of the association. The various officers for the coming year were appointed and the association adjourned.

No Quorum in Manitoba's Legislature.

WINNIPEG, March 15.—The Legislature didn't meet to-day owing to no quorum being present. Eighteen are required, but only thirteen were in attendance. Although it is supposed the Speaker's attention should be called to the fact, the Speaker noted it himself. The Legislature will meet daily till a quorum turns up, which may be some days.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over 40 years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

A Serious Accident on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway.

BINGHAMTON, N.Y., March 16.—East-bound train No. 12 on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western jumped the track near the Vestal, five miles west of this city, at 3 o'clock this morning. Two cars containing passengers were thrown down a twelve-foot embankment, injuring some thirty people, four fatally. The cars immediately took fire and were entirely consumed. The passengers had a narrow escape from being burned up in the wreck, and were extricated with great difficulty. A relief train was sent from Binghamton and the injured removed to the Hotel Bennett and city hospital. Among the injured are a large number of Buffalonians and a Miss Annie Plant of Hamilton, Ont. Among the seriously injured is P. L. Graham of London, Ont., who has a bad scalp wound.

Conductor and Brakeman Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—An accident occurred on the Southern Pacific Road, near Colton, Wednesday night. Conductor McGlure and Brakeman Van Mater were killed. Thirteen cars loaded with freight were burned.

Accident on the Mexican National Road.

LAREDO, Tex., March 16.—An accident occurred yesterday on the Mexican National Railroad, fifty miles south of Saltillo. The car containing thirty laborers jumped the track, killing six and seriously injuring twenty.

Collision on the G. T. R. Air Line.

ROMEO, Mich., March 16.—This morning at 1 o'clock engine No. 784 on the Air Line division of the Grand Trunk Railway, drawing a freight train of 13 loaded cars, ran into a cattle car that had been moved on the main line. The engine and two cars were derailed and one a total wreck. No lives were lost.

Serious Accident at London.

LONDON, March 16.—Yesterday afternoon a young man named Alden J. Jones, an employe of the Spice Mill Company, was engaged in shifting a belt when one of the connecting hooks caught under the chin, lifting him up and throwing him insensible on the floor. His jawbone was fractured and his chin frightfully injured.

Watchman Loughpane of the Grand Trunk Railway, arrested for manslaughter, was admitted to bail last night himself in $1000 and three sureties in $500 each.

FIRES OF A DAY.

A Planing and Saw Mill at New Hamburg Burned to the Ground.

NEW HAMBURG, March 16.—This morning about 3 o'clock fire was discovered in the drying-room of Hahn's planing and saw mill. The fire had made considerable headway before its discovery. The building, which was of brick, together with its contents, was totally destroyed. Its original value, with machinery, is estimated at $15,000; insurance $5000.

Destruction of a Dwelling at Woodslee.

WOODSLEE, March 16.—The dwelling of Mrs. Jane Burton, about two miles south of this village, was destroyed by fire about 4 o'clock this morning. The family had barely time to get out. The building and contents are a total loss. Insured in the Agricultur for $1100; cause of fire unknown at present.

A Valuable Find.

MONTREAL, March 16.—A little girl nam Maggie Lloyd found a wash leather bag a corner of Burnside street and Union avenue yesterday afternoon, and on opening it found inside three gold watches and several rings. At this moment a woman took her by the shoulder and demanded the bag which she said belonged to her. The girl, frightened by her manner, handed over the bag and the woman walked off with it. The girl, however, took the precaution of following the woman home and the police were afterwards notified of the affair.

Mayor Hewitt's Flag Order.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Mayor Hewitt today issued this order:

To the Keeper of the City Hall:

In accordance with the authority vested in me by law, I hereby order and direct that on Saturday, March 17, you will cause to be displayed on the City Hall the flag of the United States, the flag of the State of New York and the flag of the City of New York, and you are hereby prohibited from displaying any other flags whatever on that day.

ABRAM S. HEWITT, Mayor.

The Tie-Up Complete.

WINFIELD, Ks., March 16.—The tie-up here is complete on the Southern Kansas and Santa Fe roads. Not even the mail trains are running.

The Mills Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The Ways and Means Committee to-day completed the consideration of the internal revenue section of the Mills Tariff Bill, excepting the paragraphs relating to the restriction of seized property and the treatment of prisoners.

An Election Saw-Off.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., March 16.—In the local by-elections yesterday for Belfast and Tignish districts A. A. McLean (Conservative) was elected for the former by a majority of 25 and Bernard McLennan (Liberal) for the latter by a majority of 28.

The king of Portugal will make a tour of northern Europe for his health.

THE EMPEROR'S FUNERAL.

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS VIEW THE MOURNFUL PROCESSION.

Unter den Linden Draped in Mourning—The Service in the Cathedral—The Weather Too Severe to Permit Emperor Frederick's Attendance.

BERLIN, March 15.—The funeral of Emperor William took place to-day. The weather was again extremely cold, and the troops, who were ranged four deep along the route taken by the funeral cortege, wore heavy cloaks. The low temperature had no apparent effect upon the people and hundreds of thousands of spectators occupied the space behind the soldiers, while every window along Unter den Linden was crowded. All the houses on the thoroughfare were covered with mourning and exhibited flags with black drapery. At the street crossings massive pillars draped with black and surmounted by Prussian eagles had been erected. The lamp-posts were covered with crape, and at every fifty paces there were large candelabras bearing flaming crossets.

The route of the funeral procession presented a most imposing aspect, entirely in keeping with the deep sorrow and reverence of the people. The centre of the road was strewn with gravel and fir branches. In Pemiorplatz large cedar festoons, entwined with laurels, were hung. The Brandenburg gate was draped, and there was a large arch in front of it, upon which were the words

GOD BLESS YOU.

The funeral service took place in the cathedral in accordance with the program. Emperor Frederick was not present, the weather being too severe to permit of his exposing himself. Dr. Koegel, the court chaplain, delivered the sermon standing beside the coffin. His text was Luke ii:

29. Lord, now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace, according to Thy word:

30. For mine eyes have seen Thy salvation.

He concluded his sermon with the Lord's Prayer and the congregation then sang the hymn "Wenn Ich Einmal Soll Scheiden." A motet from Gramn's "Leod Jesu" was then sung by the choir, after which the members of the Sing Akadamie rendered "Wie Herrlich Ist Die Neue Welt." At 12.45 o'clock Dr. Koegel pronounced the benediction, while at the same time volleys were fired by infantry on the outside. The cathedral ceremony closed with the singing of "Holy! Holy is the Lord."

IN MEMORY OF THE DEAD.

Special Services in the European Capitals—Peace the Monarch's Testament.

LONDON, March 16.—The Queen attended a service in memory of the late Emperor William in the private chapel at Windsor Castle today.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 16.—The Czar and Czarina and many notable personages were present at a special service in the Lutheran Church to-day in memory of the dead German Emperor.

VIENNA, March 16.—Memorial services were held in the Protestant Church to-day in honor of the late Emperor William. Among those present were Emperor Francis Joseph and the Archdukes Charles Louis and William, all in Prussian uniform, the Archdukes Louis Victor and Charles Salvator, the members of the ministry, the diplomatic corps and the presidents of both Houses of the Reichsrath. The preacher said that across the sarcophagus of Emperor William Austria and Germany joined hands and renewed the league of peace, for the maintenance of which he invoked God's blessing, and said in conclusion: "That is the departed monarch's testament and we will keep it as a sacred trust."

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 16.—There was an imposing service in the German Church today, which was attended by diplomats, high Government and palace officials in uniform, and the more prominent German residents.

Memorial Service at Waterloo, Ont.

WATERLOO, Ont., March 16.—A funeral celebration in honor of the memory of the late Emperor of Germany, took place here this afternoon. The business places were closed at 1 o'clock, and a procession was formed, headed by the Waterloo Society's band, followed by the clergy, Town Council, Liedertafel Singing Society, Orphan's Singing Society, Boards of Management of the Lutheran and Presbyterian Churches, the Maennerchor and citizens. Impressive services were conducted at the Lutheran Church, in English, by Rev. Mr. Kern of Preston, and in German by Rev. C. Christensen of Waterloo.

NEW YORK, March 16.—A special from Berlin thus describes the old Kaiser's lying-in-state: The catafalque in front of the altar, on which the Emperor's corpse reposes, is covered with a rich pall of purple velvet, edged with ermine, and flanked on either side by three high candelabra and by tabourets with silken cushions on which are placed the deceased monarch's decorations, the crown, sceptre and orb of the Kingdom of Prussia and other insignia of royalty. All the space in front of the catafalque is cumbered with the loveliest and costliest floral wreaths, crosses and other devices—offerings of love from best and bravest and from the highest in Europe, the wreath sent by the Empress of Austria being one of the most conspicuous. On one side the catafalque is guarded by a couple of non-commissioned officers of the Berlin garrison, who are relieved every two hours, and on the other side by two members of the Gardes des Corps—splendid men of colossal stature.

The dead Emperor reclines easily in the lidless coffin, wearing the General's uniform of the First Regiment of Prussian Foot Guards, with the cloak around him, the undress cap on his head, and the chief war decorations, including the Iron Cross, on his breast. The hands are folded as if in prayer. The expression of the face, too, is just what it was in life—genial, cheerful, modest, and without the least trace of suffering or decay. Rarely have I seen a more lifelike figure.

The Dying Monarch's Advice.

BERLIN, March 16.—To-day comes the publication of the advice which the dying monarch gave to his grandson, Crown Prince William:

Do not provoke a war, but do not shun one if it be just. Hold fast to the alliance with Russia and confide in her, for in this alliance is the stronghold of peace. Treat the Emperor of Russia with consideration, for you know his character is fair.

A good many have been cut up and built over, but there are still 446 burying grounds in London.

THE DEBATE ON SIR RICHARD'S C.U. MOTION RESUMED.

A Day of Talk pro and con—Mr. Charlton and Mr. Lavergne Support the Motion—Mr. Davin Does Not Favor It—An Eloquent Speech.

OTTAWA, March 16.—Bills were introduced in the House to-day by Mr. Bryson respecting the Pontiac and Renfrew Railway Company; by Mr. Small respecting bonds on branch lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and by Mr. Small respecting the Ontario and Quebec Railway.

In reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir John stated that there was no truth in the report of the new Emperor's death, but that the flags were flying at half-mast on the Government buildings in honor of the funeral at Berlin to-day of the late Emperor William.

Mr. Charlton, continuing the debate on the Unrestricted Reciprocity resolution, said that this had now become a party question and would probably be a party question for some years to come.

Our peculiar position should be borne in mind. There are on this continent not less than 65,000,000 of people who speak the English tongue, and it is certain that in the near future there will be 100,000,000. This being the case, it becomes us to consider our duties as part of a vast Anglo-Saxon community, and this question under discussion should be viewed from liberal and patriotic standpoints.

Mr. Davin replied and made a capital speech, overhauling the assertions made by previous Opposition speakers. He drew the attention of the House to the inconsistencies of Sir Richard Cartwright and Mr. Charlton. Mr. Charlton had laid nown the proposition that this proposal intimately concerned the interests of Canada. It did indeed. Comparison had been made of the condition of the United States and Canada. That comparison as made by Mr. Charlton was wholly misleading and the correct figures showed in favor of Canada. The inchoate wealth and undeveloped resources of Canada were superior to those of the United States.

Gentlemen opposite talked of an exodus, but forgot that a great deal took place before the Canadian Pacific Railway was built. Moreover, owing to our excellent educational system, there were many highly educated people here who found no scope for their faculties and went to the older country. This migration had taken place when hon. gentlemen opposite were in power as well as now.

As to the Northwest, if we had Unrestricted Reciprocity the ranchers of the Western States would swamp our ranches and our grazing plains would be eaten off, while our money would have gone to Chicago, St. Louis and other American cities.

Manitoba in 1870 had a population of 18,995, and since the railway was built it had grown rapidly, and in 1886 had 65,950. Dakota's increase had not been much better. British Columbia had made remarkable progress of recent years, and they were going ahead with giant strides. Comparisons with western states and territories did not reflect any discredit on Manitoba and the Northwest.

If tariff protection were destroyed all chance of Winnipeg becoming the Chicago of the West would disappear. Minneapolis, Milwaukee and St. Paul would be the markets of our farmers, and the prospects of our home market would be blasted.

He quoted from a special correspondent of The Globe in Dakota, showing the falsity of the reports of the Canadian exodus.

He refuted the arguments as to Canadians' inferiority from a geographical position, and claimed that our country, with the recent extensions of the railways and telegraphs, was in as good a position as the United States. Too much had been made of geographical difficulties. Canadians were made of stuff to overcome difficulties and build up a mighty nation.

He quoted from papers of scientists showing the great natural resources of Canada. Climatic and agricultural conditions were more advantageous than in the country south of the line. If we want to develop our resources and become a great nation we must pursue the same path of protection that the United States had followed. If we adopt the course now advocated by gentlemen opposite, our manufactures will be brought into competition with those of the States and be swamped, as their manufactures had reached a state of comparative maturity, while ours were adolescent.

He quoted a mass of figures showing that at present we control that portion of the market of the United States that is of any use to us. It is admitted by hon. gentlemen opposite that Unrestricted Reciprocity would do serious injury to certain lines of business. We are face to face with the 60,000,000 and we have longer hauls to make than they, so our manufacturers would be handicapped and American manufacturers would stalk triumphantly through our country.

Mr. Davin waxed eloquent on the subject of loyalty, showing how disloyal we should be in adopting the proposition of gentlemen opposite which would discriminate against England. By-elections had told the feeling of the people on Commercial Union, and there was no difference between Commercial Union and Unrestricted Reciprocity. Canadians did not want it. They knew they would simply be placing themselves on the hands of the Americans. We would lose at once $7,000,000 customs duties, and to raise a revenue it would be necessary to resort to direct taxation, which was most objectionable to Canadians. It had been admitted by gentlemen opposite that there would be danger of Annexation, but he (Davin) thought it not likely, as the States did not desire it. Moreover, in view of the uncertainty of the future of the States it would be most foolish for us to put ourselves in any position that might result in Annexation.

Mr. Davin made a most eloquent peroration and sat down amid great applause from the Conservatives.

Mr. Lavergne spoke an hour in support of Sir Richard Cartwright's motion and Mr. McNeill moved adjournment of the debate. The House adjourned shortly after midnight.

Murdered by Her Husband.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Mary Joans, a Bohemian woman aged 30, was found dead in her room this morning with a bullet hole in her breast. Her husband, Andrew F. Joans, a mason 25 years old, was arrested on suspicion of having killed her.

A Mark of Respect.

NEW YORK, March 16.—The American national and State flags were displayed at half-mast to-day on the City Hall as a mark of respect for the dead German Emperor.

MANHOOD SUFFRAGE BILL.

THE BILL RESPECTING THE FORMATION OF NEW COUNTIES.

The Government Steal an Opposition Plank—The Ministry Attacked for Having Brought the Bill Under Discussion so Late in the Session.

TORONTO, March 16.—The House in committee of the whole considered the following bill and advanced it a stage:

To confirm a certain argument made between the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada, the Canada Southern Railway Company, and the London and Port Stanley Railway Company and a certain agreement made between the London and Southeastern Railway Company and the Canada Southern Railway Company—Meredith.

Hon. Mr. Ross (Middlesex) moved that the House approve of an Order-in-Council, bearing date on Nov. 30, 1887, authorizing the purchase of a site for Upper Canada College.

The motion was adopted without discussion.

Hon. Mr. Hardy moved the second reading of his bill respecting the formation of new counties. He explained that a number of sections of the Provinces were agitating for the formation of new counties, but the Government had not felt it advisable to consent to the proposed changes. The object of his bill, which was a somewhat comprehensive measure, was to lay down some general principle on which new counties might be formed. Its chief provision, the pivotal point on which the bill rested, was that when a properly drawn up petition in favor of the creation of a new county municipality was presented, a commission should be appointed, composed of three county judges, who should consider the petition, and, in accordance with certain other provisions of the measure, decided whether the matter should be submitted to the vote of the people interested. It was also provided that no municipality should be detached from any organized county which would leave said county with a population of less than 40,000.

Mr. Gibson (Huron) said he was scarcely in favor of the bill, which would facilitate the formation of new counties to an extent he considered inadvisable. Two or three of these movements were in progress in his section, and he thought a bare majority of the electors was not sufficient to decide such an important matter as the formation of a new county.

Mr. Meredith remarked that it was rather late in the session to introduce such an important measure.

From the hasty perusal of the bill, which was all the time since it was distributed had allowed him, he understood it to differ materially from the bill introduced last session, which was drawn up in a shape to retard rather than facilitate the creation of additional countymunicipalities. He suggested that it be allowed to stand over until next session.

Mr. Ballantyne supported the view of the leader of the Opposition.

The Attorney-General moved the second reading of his Manhood Suffrage Bill. In discussing the measure he made a few prefatory remarks. He held it questionable whether those who were not possessed of the franchise were not as intelligent as those who now possessed it. The suffrage was, however, a valuable educator. Those who voted necessarily took an interest in, and became acquainted with, public affairs. He was aware that the question of universal suffrage was viewed with alarm by a large number of people.

Mr. Meredith congratulated his hon. friend on having at length arrived at the conclusion that he could safely trust the young men of this country with the franchise, and that at length he had introduced the bill which he now asked the House to assent to. He thought the hon. gentleman was unfair to the members on this side of the House in his insinuation that in moving for manhood suffrage heretofore they had been actuated by party motives. He did not hesitate to say that the hon. gentleman had falsely accused the members on this side of the House when he said that they had moved and supported a buncombe manhood suffrage motion.

The Attorney-General—Oh, no; you never do that.

Mr. Meredith said what the hon. gentleman said was perfectly true. He was glad to have such good testimony of the proper intentions of the Opposition.

No doubt in the United States where the foreign element in the population was not assimilated by the American people, manhood suffrage was in some cases understood, but here, where nearly all the population was Canadian, where they were brought within the operation of the law and where all had an interest in the common patrimony, every man should say how these laws should be made and how the patrimony should be disposed of.

Mr. Meredith claimed that his course in this respect had been consistent throughout, since he cast his first vote in favor of manhood suffrage.

In 1877 when the Farmers' Sons Franchise Act was brought before the House he urged wider scope by giving the sons of mechanics the same privilege. Afterwards the hon. gentlemen opposite were compelled to give it.

And when the mongrel bill was brought up in 1885 this side of the House proposed a full free suffrage bill by which every man 21 years of age could have a vote. The Government opposed that, but again they were compelled to move in the line indicated by the Opposition.

The Opposition were the progressive party. And now the hon. gentlemen opposite would go to the country claiming that they granted the measure and would bid for the young men's vote on false pretences, while really the Opposition had a full right to claim the credit. If the Government would deal with measures advanced from this side of the House on their merits, instead of looking at them from a party point of view, the country would be better served. He hoped the hon. gentlemen would not be so slow to learn in the future.

Hon. Mr. Fraser replied that the Leader of the Opposition had never been known to introduce a bill in favor of manhood suffrage, and even his motion was brought in at the closing hours of the session.

Mr. Creighton said Mr. Meredith had brought up his motion as soon as it was possible. If the Government held there was not time to discuss it they themselves were to blame, for their franchise bill was left till the closing of the session. As to introducing a bill for such a purpose that was contrary to parliamentary usage.

Hon. Mr. Hardy, Messrs. Wood, Balfour, H. E. Clarke, French, Waters and Garson continued the debate. The bill was read a second time.

A number of Government and private bills were advanced a stage.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Hon. Mr. Pope Hears the Sad News of His Own Death.

OTTAWA, March 16.—Sitting in an easy chair in his residence this morning about 10.30, enjoying a shave at the hands of a skilful barber, Hon. J. H. Pope, Minister of Railways and Canals, heard the sad news of his own death. Mr. Pope, though still rather unwell, appeared to enjoy the joke highly. Just where the canard started is unknown. It probably originated with some smart man who observed the flags at half-mast on the Government buildings and came to the conclusion that the Minister of Railways, reported to be very ill, had gone to his long rest. Anyhow, the report spread like wildfire in the city. Mr. Pope, it is stated, is suffering from a cold and complicated kidney trouble.

In the Supreme Court this forenoon the appeal against Sir Adolphe Caron in the Quebec County election case was dismissed, the court deciding that they had no jurisdiction.

The appeal in the Montmagny election case was also dismissed, confirming Mr. Chognette (Liberal) in his seat.

Her Excellency the Marchioness of Lansdowne this afternoon occupied a seat in the Speaker's gallery.

The Secretary of State has promoted Mr. William Glidden of the Queen's Printer's office to the accountantship of the printing bureau, of which Lieut.-Col. Chamberlain is the executive head.

Some sixty Senators, members of Parliament and Westerners who left Toronto on Monday night reached this city this morning, having been snow-bound at Myrtle.

Fighting the Claims.

TORONTO, March 17.—The Master-in-Ordinary's usually heavy labors in connection with Central Bank litigation relaxed somewhat today and gave him a chance to pay some attention to other matters. Mr. Coyne, for the liquidators of the bank, asked the Court's sanction to several routine matters in connection with the bank's business, which he received. The next big job to be handled by the Master is the settling of the claims advanced against the assets of the bank but which are disputed by the liquidators. Those made by residents of Toronto will be tried first.

As soon as the list of creditors is settled the dividend will be divided.

Mr. C. L. Van Wormer claims that the fact of having a man watching him day and night prevents him from sleep and makes his present illness more painful and liable to be protracted. The bank officials seem to be very anxious to examine him.

The Suit Didn't Suit Vineberg.

MONTREAL, March 16.—Wm. Auld of this city was interdicted some time ago on the ground that he is an habitual drunkard. A few days ago Auld sold a suit of clothes to I. Vineberg, St. James street. Vineberg thendisposed of them to a customer. Auld's curator sued for the value of the suit, $28. The Court held yesterday that as Vineberg had given money to an interdicted habitual drunkard, he would be compelled to return the suit, be deprived of the money he had paid to Auld, and pay the costs of the action.

Mr. Stonehouse Fails to Appear.

STRATHROY, March 16.—Police Magistrate Noble opened court at 10 a.m. to-day for the trial of the charge of blackmailing against Rev. J. Stonehouse of Adelaide. The accused was called for three times, but failed to appear. His bondsmen were also called for and failed to answer, but the Magistrate said that as he had information from them that Mr. Stonehouse would return and stand his trial, he would adjourn the case for one week.

LAKE MARINE LOSSES.

Last year was one of the worst of recent years in disasters on the great lakes, both in the loss of property and in the loss of life. Mr. N. Neil, adjuster, of Toronto, has compiled a series of tables showing the character of disasters to United States and Canadian shipping on the lakes during the last three seasons of navigation. "He reports last season," says the Monetary Times, "twenty-three total losses of steam vessels, whose aggregate value was $620,000, and fifty sailing vessels, amounting to $719,400. Then there were forty-eight partial losses to steam vessels, put down at $413,000, and sixty-nine sailing vessels, aggregating $487,000. The pecuniary loss by all these wrecks, collisions, burnings or what not, was thus no less than $2,240,000. Marine underwriters lost, by the various disasters of the year, $1,777,000, which is uncomfortably near eighty per cent. of the total estimated loss to property. But more to be deplored still is the loss of life which appears from the compilation. Seventy-four lives were lost in 1885 in the navigation of the lakes; one hundred and thirty-eight in 1886; while last year two hundred and nine sailors or passengers lost their lives."

Of the loss the largest was on Lake Huron, amounting to $828,000. The losses on Lake Huron, Erie and Ontario aggregated $1,155,200, and on Lake Superior, $358,000.

This great loss of life and of property is one of the incentives to the completion of through navigation by the Trent Valley route. By it the long stretch of dangerous navigation in Lakes Huron, Erie and Ontario would be avoided and a safe route provided.

ST. PATRICK'S ANNIVERSARY.

A Concert and Lecture under the Auspices of the C. M. B. A.

On Friday evening, the eve of the anniversary of Ireland's patron saint, Patrick, a concert and lecture were given in the Opera House under the auspices of the Peterborough branch of the Catholic Mutual Benevolent Association. There was a very good attendance. The concert opened with a selection of Irish airs by Prof. Doucet and an excellent orchestra. It was followed by a clarionet solo, by Mr. Oliver, with piano obligato by Mr. W. Lech, which was well rendered and so well received that applause broke forth several times. Miss L. Begley sang a solo in her usual admirable manner, and was heartily encored. In response to the encore she sang "The Spirit of Spring." The orchestra gave another pleasing selection of airs, which closed the first part of the programme.

THE LECTURE.

Mr. J. D. Mellmoyle, President of the Peterborough C. M. B. A., presided at the lecture, and there were on the platform the Rev. Father Kelly and Messrs. T. Cahill, T. Hurley, Dr. Brennan, J. O'Meara and M. Sullivan.

The CHAIRMAN said that they regretted that the lecturer announced for the evening, the Hon. Dr. Sullivan, had been taken ill and was unable to be present. However, he had sent a gentleman to fill his place whom they would all be pleased to hear Mr. M. F. O'Donoghue, MA., LL. B. He then introduced Mr. O'Donoghue.

Mr. O'DONOGHUE, whose presence is familiar to many in this county, said that the subject of his lecture was "The Rise and Fall of the Irish Parliament." His aim would be to instruct rather than to interest. He referred to the legends regarding the early settlement of Ireland, and the different peoples who settled on the island up to the time of the Norman invasion. The history of the Irish parliament dated from the time of the Anglo-Norman invasion, though assemblies, which were not representative, had been held before that time. The great misfortune of the country before that invasion was that it was not consolidated into one compact nation. The victory of Clontarf was a disaster as well as a glorious victory, on account of so many of the family of Brian falling on the field. The government of the country suffered from the want of unity as well as lack of continuity. Christianity did not appear to have come to the island direct from Rome, and they did not receive the benefit of the wonderful system that caused that city to rule the world. Ireland had no laws of hereditary possession or primogeniture. The first trace of and Irish parliament was the assembly at Tara in the fifth century, and he referred to the many wise maxims it embodied in its laws. The first English parliament or convention in Ireland was held at Lismore under Henry II., and others followed, but more interest centred in those held under Edward III. The parliament at Dublin passed the articles of reform and then began a long series of atrocities. At the same time an assembly was held at Kilkenny by the Anglo-Irish party and a protest was sent to the King. Edward invited the Irish Parliament to confer with him, but they refused, and the coalition was thus checked. At all times the masses of the Irish people objected to parliamentry union. He rapidly sketched the parliaments held until the time of Limbert, the claimant of the throne, whom the Irish foolishly took up, as they afterwards foolishly did with the pusillanimous James II. In 1495 it was ordained that Irish bills had to be first submitted to the King, and Ireland staggered under thus incubus until Grattan and other patriots relieved her of it in 1782. To save themselves from Anglo-Irish ravages the Irish gave up their land to the King and received it back by royal patents. In 1537 the clergy were deprived of the right to vote. A strange medley met as a Parliament in 1491 and the royalty of Ireland was formaly conferred on the English king. Pope Adrian had formerly done so with Henry II., but never before had the people been considered in the act. Henry, however, still considered some chiefs apart from this, as he treated with them. Irish chiefs were given English titles, and they were given houses at Dublin that now were filled with castle officers, the machinery of factories or otherwise, and the building which heard the eloquence of Flood and Gratton heard the jingle of money that did not bear the impress of the harp and shamrock. By the Brehon laws the land was held jointly; the chief was a captain, but still only one man and his consent did not bind others. The new peers occupied the land under the feudal system and the people held it under them. The change was well received by the chiefs, but the people murmured and in some cases resorted to arms. Mary underwent a separate coronation and received a formal dispensation from the Pope. Under Elizabeth the oppression took a religious turn. The parliament was loosely elected, returning officers in some cases returning themselves, which was much worse than the recent Kings County case which caused so much discussion. Treaties with the Irish were violated, which had a disastrous effect upon the intercourse between the people. The hopes of the Irish ran high on the accession of James I., but they were soon disappointed Charles I took atvantage of a flaw in the title to the land given by the crown to the people and without considering their common law title seized the land. He referred to the duplicity of the Stuart kings, and to the loss of the Irish in the death of Owen O'Neil. Upon the restoration of Charles II., the Irish again had hopes, but they were rudely dispelled. The commerce of Ireland was suppressed by the prohibition of the import of Irish cattle, which bore heavilly on the people. James II. called together what was known as Tyrconnell's Parliament, which was remarkable for its spirit of liberty, but James was an Englishman at heart and the repeal of Poynings law was defeated through his influence. He referred to the treaty of Limerick, which he said was broken. Under William III. the Cothollcs were kept out of the Parliament by the form of the oath which members had to take, and in 1692 the Parliament was exclusively Protestant and remained so to the end. William was personally tolerant in matters of religion, and the severity practiced in Ireland was not inspired by him, though additions were made to the penal laws. He referred to the writings of Molyneux, which were burned. Molyneux claimed that the English and Irish parliaments were co-equal, and that was what they now wanted to establish as far as possible on a firm basis. In the reign of Anne the Irish House of Lords was shorn of its power. He spoke of the writings of Swift, and the tactics of Walpole. The Irish were deprived of votes, the Protestant dissenters did not fair much better and both emigrated in large numbers. Lord Chestfield's administration was well received, and he left with the blessings of the people. When the English sent an administration disposed to do justice they were always well received, as was shown by the demonstrations of favor made when Lord Aberdeen and Mr. Morley were in Ireland. He recited a poem descriptive of the part the Irish regiment took on the side of the French at the battle of Fontenoy and King George's reported words, "Cursed be the laws that deprive me of such subjects." He then referred to the efforts of Malone and other leaders, and to Grattan and Flood and the repeal of Poynings law. Ireland had not responsible government, and this prevented Grattan and Flood from getting control of the government, although they had a majority in the House. That was one reason why the parliament fell. Another reason was because the majority of the people were Catholic, but the minority controlled the House, and a military force was required to keep the majority down. Pitt saw that it would be impossible for this to continue and he said that a union would nullify the Catholic influence, and it was arranged for. At first the union was beaten by a majority of one, but bribery succeeded and the act of union was carried. High legal authorities, however, said the Irish Parliament had not the power to do it. The people were not allowed to vote upon it, but even they had not the power to thus bind posterity, and their efforts were directed to restoring the parliament. He referred to the efforts of O'Connell and Butt, and the work of Mr. Parnell, whose efforts were sanctioned by that illustrious statesman, Mr. W. E. Gladstone, and endorsed by the English democracy. (The mention of the names of Parnell and Gladstone was loudly cheered.) They might hope to see the parliament again established in Dublin. The lecturer, who had been frequently applauded, closed by reciting "Shamus O'Brien," during which he was frequently cheered, and he sat down amid loud applause.

Dr. BRENNAN in eulogistic terms moved a vote of thanks to Mr. O'Donoghue.

Mr. J. O'MEARA seconded the motion, and also spoke highly of the lecture.

The motion was carried by a standing vote, and in acknowledging the vote Mr. O'Donoghue said he might at another time refer more particularly to later efforts to restore the Irish Parliament.

The CHAIRMAN thanked the people for their attendance at the first entertainment of this character the Association had held and hoped they would before long have another that would be equally or more highly appreciated.

The orchestra played the National Anthem and the audience dispersed.

CAMPBELLFORD.

INJURED BY A FALL.—A little son of Mr G. S. Hawn, of Campbellford, fell upon a rake some time previous to Christmas, and the teeth which were pointing upwards penetrated his knee and caused a painful wound. His leg seems affected by swelling and stiff[illegible] from that time to the present he has been unable to move it, having to be helped in and out of bed. Until recently it was feared the little fellow would be a permanent cripple, a slight change of returning power which enabled him to move his toes having taken place and encouraged hope that he may at some time be blessed with the restoration of the full use of the foot and leg.—Herald.

BANKERS.—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce
SOLICITORS.—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITERS.—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS.—The five and ten years five per cent debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS.—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be paid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

The Weather Probabilites.

Moderate to fresh winds; generally fair, with a little lower temperatures.

A Serious Matter.

Spring is here in theory, nearly so in fact. Already, perhaps, you're thinking of your new suit. Recollect that a well dressed man in an ornament to society. The tailoring department at the golden lion is now in excellent shape to supply you. Will you be supplied? New lines of Scotch Tweeds, Worsted Coatings, English Pantings all cut for you by an experienced cutter and made up well. Give fair's a call for your suit.

Spreading the Bible.

Geo. Buskin, of the Algoma and North-west Evangelical and Scriptural Colportage Mission, is now visiting Peterborough in the interests of the work for the present year. During the operations of the mission since Sept., 1882, there has been over 5,000 scriptures and scriptural books supplied in the district in 15 languages and 400 religious services held in various parts. Religious tracts and magazines have been freely distributed in several languages. The past year's operations have been more effectual by the blessing of God than any previous year and a mission room also has been built at Sault Ste. Marie for storing the supplies and it is open daily free, for reading and prayer. The work needs to be much enlarged. The contribution of Peterborough for 1886-7 were $25.25.

The Number Steadily Increases.

One hundred and fifty-eight telephones is the number now in town. Mr. H. W. Kent is putting one in Messrs. Wilson & Morrison's office. They are compelled to have one on account of their large and increasing business in the Manufacturers' Life and Accident Insurance Companies, having now over thirty general agents in the field, and business coming in at the rate of $100,000 a month. This requires almost constant use of the telephone. Two book-keepers are kept busy in handling their large volume of business, their fire department has increased about 50 per cent in the last six months. Mr. Morrison is certainly deserving of great credit for his push and enterprise. We wish our friend Mr. Kent success. No doubt it will not be long before he will have 200 telephones in.

Curlians.

A match was played on Friday night between Skip Ferguson's rink of champions and four outsiders skipped by P. M. Edmison. The playing throughout was close nd good and as the annexed score shows the Ottawa heroes bought the oysters. This was the score:—

A. Hall	J. Stanger.
C. McGill	S. Clegg
E. S. Davidson	T. Rutherford
W. G. Ferguson, sk. 11	Geo. Edmison, sk. 13

The contest for the 13 point medal has narrowed down to two players, Messrs. S. Ray and J. Stanger.

The Ottawa rink that was defeated on Friday night, was not the rink that stopped at the "cheap" house at the capital.

On Friday night an amusing game was played at the rink. Messrs. Geo. Hatton, E. B. Edwards, Geo. Edmison (per substitute Belleghem) and Judge Weller, with Mr. Edwards as captain, challenged Messrs. R. Fair, W. B. Cluxton, J. McClelland and H. M. Allen. The board was headed "Legal" vs. "Illegal," and the legal fraternity were snowed under by a score of 16 to 7.

Team of Horses Drowned.

On Friday night Mr. H. Jackson, son of Mr. J. Jackson, from Cavan, drove down Mark-st., Ashburnham, with a team of horses which he could not control. They went on the ice on the little lake, and turning west, proceeded until about opposite Lake-st. At this point a hole some 30 feet long and 10 or 12 wide had been cut in the ice, and the horses went into it. Fortunately they were headed to cross the hole, so that the sleigh and driver were not immersed. The driver shouted for aid, but before his cries were heard and assistance arrived the animals were dead, and this morning they were still in the water, frozen and life extinct. The driver was taken to a house near by and dried and warmed The horses were a good team and $300 had been refused for them a short time before.

Life a Hundred Years Ago.

"'On the Trail; or Daniel Boone, the Pioneer," says the Wilmington Gazette, "is the rather sensational title of, without exception, the best border drama ever presented to the theatre goers of this place. It was presented by Peck & Furman's Dramatic Company at the Grand Opera House last night, before an audience calculated to gladden the heart of any manager. W. A. Lavelle, the scout, appeared in the character of 'Daniel Boone,' and was a genuine surprise to one and all. As a rule, 'stars' of this class depend more upon reputation and blank cartridges than histrionic ability to carry them through, but Lavelle is the happy possessor of genuine ability as an actor and totally discards the gunpowder. The bowie-knife combat is the climax of the second act, between 'Daniel Boone' and 'Blackfish' the Indian chief, was the most thrilling and realistic piece of stage business ever introduced in this place. The company is an excellent one throughout and the drama is the best picture of pioneer life a hundred years ago ever given here. The introduction of a band of Shawnee Indians, blooded horses, donkey and wild animals was a pleasing feature. This company will receive a cordial welcome should they come this way again." This company play at the Opera House, Peterborough, on Wednesday evening, March 21st. 1d65

Disgraceful.

About 12.30 o'clock to-day, those who were on the market square were highly edified, save the mark! by the spectacle of a man beating his wife. The man's name is Samuel Levitt and the police will see that he is punished.

All Clear.

The Sutton branch of the Midland was opened on Friday and all trains on the roads running through here, are all right. The morning express on the the G. P. R. did not reach town untill 11 o'clock to-day, but the track is now clear.

Waiting for Iron.

The Central Iron and Bridge Works closed down to-day, there not being any iron. Owing to the snow blockade, three car loads of iron are detained on the way. It is expected that everything will be ready to resume operations on Monday.

Fixing Bridges

Street Inspector Pope and Mr. T. M. D. Croly on Friday put in a new needle beam and some supports at the Smith-st. bridge and it is now open for traffic. Work was also commenced at the Charlotte-st. bridge this morning and it is expected that when the men get through with the job, there will not be any danger of it being injured or carried away by the spring freshet.

On Monday Evening.

As will be seen by a notice in this issue, the annual meeting of the cricket club will take place at the old post office block, on Monday evening. Every member should make it a point to be present. The cricket club is one of our best organizations and if the public would take the interest in it that they should, an eleven would be turned out here that would be hard to beat.

Robbed.

A man complained to the police on Friday that he had been robbed an the previous evening of $85 in money, a cheque for $350 and a silver watch. The man had been "doing" the town and exactly where he met with the loss he was unable to say. Payment of the cheque was stopped. The police have the matter in hand and there is just a chance that something may be found out.

Personal.

Mr. Joseph Hicks, who for some years conducted the boarding house at the Nassau mills, is about to leave for Musquash, he will take charge of the Huntoon boarding house. He will also go into the baking and butchering business, and intends to supply the wants of the villagers in those lines. As a starter he will take up a carload of cattle with him. He leaves next week.

Police Court.

The case of Emma McMaster against her husband, Wm. McMaster, for malicious injury to property, was disposed of at the Police Court this morning. The evidence showed that the defendant destroyed a watch, a vest and a satchel owned by his wife, and a fine of $10, with $20 compensation, was imposed and in addition the defendant was required to find sureties to keep the peace.

Our Smart Wives.

"My dear," said Colonel Coats of Fifth Avenue, "I am very fond of pies but, I can never tell your cherry pies from your currant pies without testing them."

"I'll fix that, "said Mrs. Coats, "I'll have the cook make them."

The next day when the desert came on, Mrs. Coats said in triumph as she pointed to two pies, "Now you can tell the currant from the cherry; I've had this one marked 'T. C.' tis currant, and that one marked 'T. C.' 'taln't currant." Eli Perkins, who wrote this item, will lecture at the Opera House, on Friday evening, March 23rd.

For Something to Eat.

On Friday morning the members of the Millbrook Fire Department, to the number of about fifty, accompanied by their band, attended the funeral of the late Thos. Mallock, a member of the brigade, at Omemee. After the funeral they marched to a hotel for dinner, but the Scott Act being in force, I nearness, they found all the hotels closed tightly, one of them being actually enclosed by a barbed wire fence. As they could not obtain anything to eat in the village they came to Peterborough, where they remained until the 8.30 train, when they left for home. The band played several selections here in a very creditable manner.

Literary Entertainments.

The entertainment given by the students in the Peterborough Business College was exceptionally good. A few visitors were present.

THE LAKEFIELD MEET.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Institute re-assembled at 2.30 o'clock and the attendance was the largest yet seen at any meeting, the building being filled to the doors and all the seats occupied.

The PRESIDENT took the chair and after a few opening remarks called on Mr. J. C. Brown.

"THE PRODUCTS OF FARMING."

MR. J. COYLE BROWN, Public School Inspector, spoke on the above subject. He first referred to quack grass. Prof. Mills and others recommended sowing two crops of buckwheat to kill it. He thought one crop of corn was sufficient if the cultivator was continually run through it. Cheese was his next topic. Although cheese at first brings in a large return, eventually it does not pay. It means lean calves, lean pigs and lean farms. The man who sells butter does not sell any of his farm as the materials from which it is made come from the air, but the cheese materials come from the land. He favored Prof. Robertson's method and time of weaning calves. He was glad to see that a move was being made towards establishing a creamery in this county. He was pained to see throughout the county that stables, particularly underground stables, were not properly ventilated and in many cases too low. For ventilation he suggested two upright shafts from the cellar up. He was glad to see that the British army authorities intended to purchase more Canadian horses for cavalry purposes, and if we only produced the proper kind we would find an almost ilimitable field for disposing of them. Each farmer should have two mares, who should foal about January, and mares with colt should be gently worked, and the colts would be strong and healthy. These mares could do all the necessary work about a farm and the colts would be worth $50 each. The amount of money put in circulation by the sales of horses was very large. For fodder he thought that all farmers should have plenty green food at all times. He thought if it was cut about threshing time and layered with straw it would keep well. He thought that snips. The latter are always a sure crop, they need not be harvested and will come in good in the spring when milch cows most require them. The surplus stock can every farmer should have at least ten acres of hoe crops, including half an acre of par also be sold at a good profit. He placed parsnips first and turnips last. He had grown kohl rabbi and found it a good food for cattle, they liked it and it did not flavor the milk like turnips. He cultivated closely and killed the weeds before they appeared. He kept water away and kept the hoe going, not deep, but just under the crust. He favored Farmers' Institutes and thought they were doing much good, but it was impossible to keep politics out and he thought that such questions should be continually discussed by the farmers, the people most interested. In conclusion he touched on the proper education of farmers' sons and thought they should receive a thorough training. One great defect was that they only went to school in the winter and if the county schools were run during the summer months from 8 to 11 for the older pupils and from 2 to 4 for the little folks, it would work a radical change. A branch of farmer's education that is much neglected is drawing. In the downship of Smith five times as much money had been wasted in poor buildings as would put good buildings on every farm in it. If the boys could draw this would not be the case.

MR. ISAAC GARBUTT asked what was the difference between feeding for milk and feeding for butter?

THE PRESIDENT explained that Prof Brown held the same views as the speaker.

MR. BROWN said that when the cheese was sold a portion of the land was given away, but the case was different with butter, as the skim milk remained.

MR. D. KENNEDY could not see how it was that the manufacture of cheese, if continued in, would impoverish the farm. As farming is at present conducted cheese making is enriching the soil, but no doubt the creamery system was preferable. With reference to quack grass he favored the buckwheat, in preference to the corn, as he had found the former plan effectual.

Mr. R. E. BIRDSALL had tried corn and buckwheat both and found the latter far the best. The buckwheat should be plowed in.

Mr. GALVIN had some experience with quack grass and he found that fields should be clear of stones and stumps or it will be impossible to eradicate it. If the ground is not good for anything else quack should be grown.

(To be Continued.)

No Meeting.

A meeting of the local Board of Health was called for Friday evening, but Dr. Fife was the only member who turned up, so that, of course, no meeting took place. This is the second time this year that the same thing has occurred.

Beef Contract.

Mr. Thomas Howden has been awarded the contract for supplying 3,500 pounds of beef, to the Rathbun shanties, at the old Scott limits. The business of furnishing beef to the lumbermen is an important one and circulates considerable money in Peterborough and neighborhood.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and no for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

Ayer's Pills,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

The Sugar Combine.

OTTAWA, March 16.—An ex-member of the sugar "combine," Mr. Walter Paul, grocer of Montreal, appeared before the Combine Committee this morning with the complaint that he had been caused a loss of $1000 a year diminished profit on the sale of sugars consequent on his exclusion from the guild. He had joined when asked because it would benefit his pocket. He was willing to remain in the ring, but was excluded because he was a retailer.

Mr. Geo. Childs, President of the Wholesale Grocers' Association of Montreal, was the next witness and though supporting the combines gave some apparently straightforward evidence in direct contradiction to some of that already adduced by friends of the same cause. This sugar arrangement had been agitated for a year or two without success until at last the wholesale grocers had gone to the refiners and intimated unless there was some arrangement made to prevent the sale of sugar at slaughter prices the refiners might distribute their sugar direct to the retailers. This intimation had brought the refiners together to meet the guild and in April last the present arrangement governing the prices were entered into. It was a fact, despite Mr. Drummond's contradiction, that the refiners had a uniform price and that price was fixed practically by the Canada Sugar Refining Company as a matter of convenience.

It seems that the retail grocers who have been complaining about the wholesale combine have a little combination of their own, wielding enough influence to place them in a position to dictate to the wholesale men that they shall not sell to any but men in the trade.

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 16.

Grain and produce on the local markets is firm and steady, while in Chicago the market continues weak. Both markets were quiet. Owing to trouble with the wires at New York there was no report of the European markets to-day.

On call at the Board of Trade to-day: No. 1 red winter 83c, bid. No. 1 Manitoba hard 91c.

The car lots received at Chicago yesterday were: Winter wheat 32, spring 62, corn, 358, oats 123 and barley 16.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 22,000, official yesterday 19,323. Shipments, 6797, left over about 5500. Cattle, receipts 10,000. Market quiet.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local market to-day was quiet and firm. A few loads of wheat offered and sold at 80c to 82c for fall, 78c to 79c for spring, and 73c for goose. Barley dull and prices steady, 300 bushels selling at 73c to 74c. Oats are nominal at 48c to 49c, and peas at 70c to 72c. Hay in fair supply and firm; about twenty loads sold at $14 to $17 a ton for timothy, and at $12 to $13 for clover. Straw sold at $11 to $13. Dressed hogs sold at $7 to $7.25. Beef $3 to $5 for forequarters, and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10; veal $5.50 to $8.50.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

The following table shows the fluctuations of the Chicago market as received by T. E. Hanrahan & Co. by private wire to-day:

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"were I to fling up this whole business and resign my chance, and leave these people in possession, what should I gain by it?" demands he. "They have treated me from the beginning with ignominy and contempt. You alone have treated me with common civility; and even you they have tutored to regard me with averted eyes."

"You are wrong," says Mona, coldly. "They seldom trouble themselves to speak of you at all." This is crueller than she knows.

"Why don't I hate you?" he says, with some emotion. "How bitterly unkind even the softest, sweetest women can be! Yet there is something about you that subdues me and renders hatred impossible. If I had never met you, I should be a happier man."

"How can you be happy with a weight upon your heart?" says Mona, following out her own thoughts irrespective of his. "Give up this project, and peace will return to you."

"No, I shall pursue it to its end," returns he, with slow malice, that makes her heart grow cold, "until the day comes that shall enable me to plant my heel upon these aristocrats and crush them out of recognition."

"And after that what will remain to you?" asks she, pale but collected. "It is bare comfort when hatred alone reigns in the heart. With such thoughts in your heart what can you hope for?—what can life give you?"

"Something," replies he, with a short laugh. "I shall at least see you again on the 19th."

He raises his hat, and turning abruptly away, is soon lost to sight round the curve in the winding pathway. He walks steadily and with an unflinching air, but when the curve has hidden him from her eyes he stops short, and sighs heavily.

"To love such a woman as that, and be beloved by her, how it would change a man's whole nature, no matter how low he may have sunk," he says, slowly. "It would mean salvation! But as it is —No, I cannot draw back now; it is too late."

Meantime, Mona has gone quickly back to the Towers, her mind disturbed and unsettled. Has she misjudged him? Is it possible that his claim is a just one after all, and that she has been wrong in deeming him one who might defraud his neighbor?

She is sad and depressed before she reaches the hall door, where she is unfortunate enough to find a carriage just arrived, well filled with occupants eager to obtain admission.

They are the Carsons, mustered in force, and, if anything, more noisy than usual.

"How d'ye do, Mrs. Rodney? Is Lady Rodney at home? I hope so," says Mrs. Carson, a fat, florid, smiling, impossible person of fifty.

Now, Lady Rodney is at home, but, having given strict orders to the servants to say she is anywhere else they like,—that is, to tell as many lies as will save her from intrusion,—is just now reposing calmly in the small drawing-room, sleeping the sleep of the just, unmindful of the coming evil.

Of all this Mona is unaware; though even were it otherwise I doubt if a lie could come trippingly to her lips, or a nice evasion be balanced there at a moment's notice. Such foul things as untruths are unknown to her and have no refuge in her heart.

As things are, however, she is able to smile pleasantly at Mrs. Carson, and tell her in her soft voice that Lady Rodney is at home.

"How fortunate!" says that fat woman, with her broad, expansive grin that leaves her all mouth, with no eyes or nose to speak of. "We hardly dared hope for such good luck this charming day."

She doesn't put any "g" into her "charming," which, however, is neither here nor there, and is perhaps a shabby thing to take notice of at all.

Then she and her two daughters quit the "coach," as Carson pere insists on calling the landau, and flutter through the halls and across the corridors, after Mona, until they reach the room that contains Lady Rodney.

Mona throws open the door, and the visitors sail in, all open-eyed and smiling, with their very best company manners hung out for the day.

But almost on the threshold they come to a full stop, to gaze irresolutely at one another, and then over their shoulders at Mona. She, marking their surprise, comes hastily to the front, and so makes herself acquainted with the cause of their delay.

Overcome by the heat of the fire, her luncheon, and the blessed certainty that for this one day at least no one is to be admitted to her presence, Lady Rodney has given herself up a willing victim to the child Somnus. Her book—that amiable assistant of all those that court siestas—has fallen to the ground. Her cap is somewhat awry. Her mouth is partly open, and a snore—gentle, indeed, but distinct and unmistakable—comes from her patrician throat.

It is a moment never to be forgotten!

Mona, horror-stricken, goes quickly over to her, and touches her lightly on the shoulder.

"Mrs. Carson has come to see you," she says, in an agony of fear, giving her a little shake.

"Eh? What?" asks Lady Rodney, in a dazed fashion, yet coming back to life with amazing rapidity. She sits up. Then in an instant the situation explains itself to her; she collects herself, bestows one glance of passionate anger upon Mona, and then rises to welcome Mrs. Carson with her usual suave manner and bland smile, throwing into the former an air meant to convey the flattering idea that for the past week she has been living on the hope of seeing her soon again.

She excuses her unwonted drowsiness with a little laugh, natural and friendly, and begs them "not to betray her." Clothed in all this sweetness she drops a word or two meant to crush Mona; but that hapless young woman hears her not, being bent on explaining to Mrs. Carson that, as a rule, the Irish peasantry do not go about dressed only in glass beads, like the gay and festive Zulus, and that petticoats and breeches are not utterly [illegible], and conversation becomes general, and presently the visit comes to an end, and the Carsons fade away, and Mona is left to bear the brunt of Lady Rodney's anger, which has been steadily growing, instead of decreasing, during the past half hour.

"Are there no servants in my house," demands she, in a terrible tone, addressing Mona, the steely light coming into her blue eyes that Mona knows and hates so well, "that you must feel it your duty to guide my visitors to my presence?"

"If I made a mistake I am sorry for it," says Mona, earnestly.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they paypri ces for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

SHEPPARD

Has Some Very Cheap Goods, his importations for Spring now to hand are fully fifty per cent. cheaper than the same goods has been sold in Peterborough for before. Now if you want LACES go to SHEPPARD'S, or if you want CORSETS in all sizes, starting at 22½ up.

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow, Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

SHEPPARD

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Cure it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

THE MANITOBANS HOPEFUL.

Prospects for a Settlement Appear Brighter A Rumored Proposition.

OTTAWA, March 15.—Sir George Stephen, Sir Donald Smith and ex-Judge Clark are still here. This morning Sir George saw Sir John Macdonald, and later in the day he was introduced to Mr. Greenway, with whom he discussed the situation. Sir George Stephen still pretends that the Government have made no statement to him regarding the abandonment of the monopoly, but with strange inconsistency he complains that the Government deny that his company have any legal right to demand the disallowance of local railway charters.

It is reported that the Canadian Pacific Railway have reduced their claims for "compensation for disturbance" from $12,000,000 to $8,000,000. Repeated efforts have been made to induce Mr. Greenway to recognize the Canadian Pacific Company as parties to the dispute, but he has refused to do anything of the kind. He says the quarrel of Manitoba is not with the Canadian Pacific Railway but with the Federal Government. All that they ask is that provincial railway legislation shall not be disallowed.

The prospects for a settlement of the Manitoba trouble are now more hopeful. Premier Greenway and Attorney-General Martin, who were to have left for home to-night, have postponed their departure and are somewhat confident of a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulty. The Canadian Pacific Railway, it is understood, has submitted a proposition to the Government as a basis of settlement. The company, it is stated, will forego a financial consideration for the surrender of their monopoly clauses, although they will insist on other considerations instead. Just what these considerations are has not transpired.

Col. Scobie of Winnipeg, in town just now, is reported to have a good deal to say to Messrs. Greenway and Martin about the disallowance question. He accompanied them from Winnipeg and has been in pretty constant attendance upon them. It was given out that Mr. Scobie is here in the interests of Minneapolis capitalists, from whom an offer came to construct the Red River Valley Railway. Politicians who claim to be well informed say that Col. Scobie is really representing Mr. Duncan Macarthur of Winnipeg, who made an offer to the late Norquay Government to build the road. Mr. Macarthur, it is stated, has renewed his offer to Premier Greenway and is here to watch the negotiations.

TORONTO'S OARSMAN WINS.

O'Connor Easily Defeats the Californian—He Comes in Four Lengths Ahead.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—30,000 people witnessed the three-mile sculling race between William O'Connor, of Toronto, and Henry Peterson, of California, on Oakland Neck of San Francisco Bay. The water was comparatively smooth and both men apparently in good condition. The day was as fine as could be desired.

O'Connor's shell is the same in which he defeated Hamm last fall. Peterson's was manufactured in Boston, being what is sometimes styled by sportsmen, "Irish make." The bow slopes down and under water, while O'Connor's turns up.

Wagers on the men before the race were about even. Owing to Peterson being a local man he was a slight favorite of the majority of people. Those from abroad generally held O'Connor first.

The race was to have been at 3.30 p.m., but it was nearly half an hour later before it was called. The start was an even one, but O'Connor quickly pulled ahead. O'Connor rowed 36 strokes to the minute and Peterson 39.

At the half-mile O'Connor led by a half length. At the mile O'Connor led by 3 lengths, and increased to 4 at the turn. At a mile and a half from the starting point in the last half mile before turn, Peterson steered wildly, encroaching on O'Connor's water. O'Connor's time to this turn was 10 min. 2 sec.

On the return homeward Peterson bent himself well to regain what distance he had lost. When about at the two-mile Peterson spurted, but O'Connor met it with responsive strokes for rest of race. O'Connor maintained his lead of 4 lengths, rowing 38 strokes to Peterson's 30. O'Connor passed the winning point in 21 mins. 23 secs. Peterson was 19 seconds later. O'Connor was comparatively fresh at the close, while Peterson showed signs of exhaustion.

CRISP CAPITAL CHAT.

Hon. G. W. Allan Appointed Speaker of the Senate—The Cavalry School.

OTTAWA, March 17.—The cabinet was in session all day. Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. John Henry Pope were absent through illness. Sir Charles is confined with a bad cold, but he expects to be out and wind up the reciprocity debate by Wednesday. One of the transactions of the council meeting was the appointment of Hon. G. W. Allan as speaker of the Senate. The senator from Moss Park is conceded on all hands to be not only the most competent for, but the best entitled to the position.

Whatever form a compromise with the C. P. R. respecting the monopoly clause may take, it will not affect the Atlantic mail contract. It is more likely to deal with the Pacific ships. The Government has about decided to accept a sixteen knots service from the Allan and Dominion Company. That in fact is the most that a commercial view of the case can admit of.

The Minister of Militia said this morning that while the matter has not been officially before the Council, yet it had been decided to place the new cavalry school in Toronto as the most central point, with a branch at Kingston for the benefit of the Royal Military College.

POSTOFFICE SCANDAL.

Suspension of the Kingston Deputy Postmaster for Purloining Registered Letters.

KINGSTON, March 17.—A sensation has been created at the postoffice by the discovery that Mr. William Shannon, the Deputy Postmaster, has been accused of purloining registered letters. Yesterday Mr. Jones, Deputy Inspector, found four missing letters in his desk, and this with other evidence being indicative of his guilt he was at once suspended. Shannon was an old and tried official, had been for twenty-eight years in the service and received a salary of $1400. The Deputy Inspector has reported all the facts to Ottawa and awaits instructions before taking action. The offender has not yet been arrested. The public is astonished at his conduct. Last year a number of money letters were missed, but no traces found of them.

A Discharged Bar-tender's Reckless Act.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 18.—Frederick Summer, a discharged bar-tender, visited a saloon on Water-street where he was formerly employed last night, and drawing a revolver emptied five of its chambers among the occupants of the place. Wm. Canfield received a bullet in one of his legs, and Patrick Clancy received two bullets in his body. Clancy lies in a critical condition. Summer was arrested.

Buffalo's Latest Colonist.

BUFFALO, March 18.—James F. Clarke, for the past five years cashier of the Lackawanna freight office at the foot of Main-street, resigned his position last Monday. Since that time he has not been at his home, and it is reported that he has gone across the border to escape accountability for a discrepancy in his accounts, which rumor says is about $700. This did not leak out until yesterday.

Suicide at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, March 18.—Matthew Hale, registering from Fort William, Thunder Bay, was found dead at his room in the Brunswick Hotel yesterday afternoon. He had hacked his throat with a blunt penknife until he severed the jugular vein.

Hanged Himself With a Fire Escape.

GENEVA, N.Y., March 17.—S. W. Crittenden, a wealthy resident of Denver, Col., stopping at the water cure, hanged himself this morning with a rope fire escape. Nervous prostration, aggravated by bad news from home, caused him to commit the deed.

General Passenger Agents Off for Florida.

CINCINNATI, O., March 18.—Seven carloads of general passenger agents, on their way to Florida to attend the annual meeting, left this morning on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad.

MORE ABOUT "COMBINES."

THE GROCERS' GUILD AND THE COAL DEALERS' BRANCH.

The Witnesses Claim that They Only Get Fair Profits, that the Poor Man is Benefited and that Everything is Lovely.

OTTAWA, March 17.—The Combines Committee met this morning. Mr. Wm. Ince, President of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild, Toronto, was examined. Very little new matter was elicited. His Guild engineers three combines, one to determine the price of tobacco, one regulating credit, and a third the sugar combines. He defended the existence of the last named as a necessity in the interest of sound trade. He was satisfied that the retailers of Toronto and likewise the well informed public did not feel aggrieved. The public did not expect that the wholesale grocers should do business for honor and glory without any profit.

Mr. Hebert of Hudon, Hebert & Co., Montreal, Vice-President of the Guild of that city, said that although his firm occupied an exceptional position of doing business without travelers, even without that expense they made a small profit out of their large trade in sugars. Their customers did not complain of the effect of the combine. Of course there were a few grumblers, but the bulk of their customers were delighted, as they were satisfied with the price and knew that none of their competitors were getting lower quotations or better terms.

Mr. W. W. Lockerby, Montreal, told the committee that the sons of Mr. J. A. Mathewson, Montreal, who were partners in his firm had been anxious to go into the sugar combine and had expressed annoyance that "the old man" should set up his opinion against the whole country.

The secretary of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild, and of nearly all the other prominent trade combinations, produced a very interesting document, namely the minutes of the Guild since its formation. These show that at a joint meeting of the Guild and the refiners the whole sugar question had been very fully discussed, and the refiners had then had a private meeting to consider how they would meet the request of the Guild. The result was that the refiners announced their willingness to accede to the request made, and to sell at the most favorable rates only to signers of the agreement. No one was to be allowed to sign the agreement unless his name was first submitted by one of the refiners. The retail customers of the refiners were not at first cut off, but pressure brought to bear had eventually shut them out. A demand had been made of the refiners that they should absolutely refuse to supply granulated sugar on easy terms to those not in the combine. Mr. Drummond replied that this was a very serious proposition, but on several manufacturers in other lines being quoted as subscribing to a similar rule, he had promised that the Canada Sugar Refining Company would agree to even this if the Guild insisted. Mr. Elmenhorst, of the St. Lawrence refinery, positively declined to refuse to sell to anybody, being only willing to combine in prices. He thought ¼ cent advance was not sufficient to protect the interest of the trade.

Mr. W. P. Clay, retail grocer of Galt, expressed perfect satisfaction with the effects of the Guild.

The grocers and other combines are rather dissatisfied with the manner in which Mr. Clarke Wallace is conducting the proceedings; they say he imagines that he is on a still hunt—and rushing at conclusions.

The Coal Combine.

Mr. Elias Rogers, coal merchant of Toronto took the stand after dinner to explain what he knew about the coal combination. Chairman Wallace put the questions. The witness first explained the importance of distinguishing between different kinds of coal when discussing prices. There were a great many different kinds and the prices varied from $1.50 to $6.50 a ton at the Bridges. The kind generally referred to when coal was spoken of was stove and nut size of anthracite. The whole anthracite trade is controlled by five leading transportation companies: (1) Philadelphia and Reading, (2) Delaware and Lackawanna, (3) Lehigh Valley, (4) Erie, (5) Pennsylvania. A committee, composed or representatives of these five companies and all shippers over their lines, known as the Western Anthracite Joint Committee, make the prices from month to month at which coal shall be sold for the Northern and Western market. The prices for Ontario are made at Lake Ontario shipping ports and the Bridges. During the past year no coal was sold in advance or for delivery beyond the month in which the sale was made by any of the companies on the other side, and large advances were made during the season by them. There were also advances in the lake freights from 25 cents to 79 cents. During the early part of the season it was impossible to obtain vessels to get the usual amount of coal brought to Toronto, and later on of course the rates were much higher. The average cost of coal brought to Toronto during the entire season of 1887 by vessel was about $4.60 on board vessel at Toronto. Harbor dues 5 cents, unloading 20 cents, cartage to yard 10 cents, screening 15 cents, average cartage to consumer 40 cents, general expenses 40 cents, made a total of $5.90. The prices at which anthracite coal have been sold in Toronto are less on the average than in any city the witness knows of where the cost of transportation from the mines is as great as it is to Toronto. He has never known a year when the average net profit on the whole season's business would exceed 25 cents a ton. He does not think that this season they will exceed 20 cents.

The effect of the organization of the coal trade branch of the Board of Trade is to make prices more uniform throughout the year. The contracts and rich man's trade have paid higher prices than they would have if there had been open market, but the winter trade, or poor man's trade, has paid much lower prices than it would otherwise have paid. The reason of this is that the retail prices were fixed last spring on the basis of the then wholesale prices, and the freight, cartage and general expenses and a fair margin of profit, and competition, instead of breaking these prices down as in other years when there was no allowance made for the item of general expenses on summer trade, took the other direction and prices were given for delivery throughout the year without requiring anything to be paid on the orders, and the poor man was able to avail himself of these advantages and actually did so. Fully four-fifths of the whole trade of the city was taken at these summer prices, and the coal so ordered has been delivered at the then prices although the wholesale prices have advanced very largely. As a consequence of the wholesale advances the retail prices were put up, but that action was taken after the bulk of the coal had already been ordered as has just been explained.

A MEMORABLE SCENE.

Further Details of Emperor William's Funeral—The Decorations.

BERLIN, March 17.—The scene in the Cathedral was truly memorable when, amid the strains of the final chorus and the sharp rattle of volleys outside, twelve regimental commanders slowly and reverently raised the coffin from its resting-place, moving forward with it on their shoulders to the principal door. Before them walked a high Court official. On either side of the coffin were Ministers of State bearing on cushions the Imperial crown and sceptre and other insignia. Above the coffin waved the Imperial standard, borne by Gen. Von Pape. On each side of him walked an officer with drawn sword. The royalties assumed positions in the cortege in due order. The conspicuous absence of the Emperor and Count Von Moltke and Prince Bismarck was deeply regretted. The military display was magnificent, though sombre. At 3.15 o'clock the remains were received at the mausoleum by the pastor of Charlottenburg, and Chaplain Koegel then read the prayer, "Blessed is the man who resisteth temptation," and the Lord's Prayer. The chaplain then closed the solemn service with the benediction. From a window of the salon overlooking the park the Emperor watched the procession.

Chaplain Koegel, at the close of the sermon at the Emperor's funeral yesterday, prayed for the relatives of the dead monarch, and above all for Emperor Frederick, after which he repeated the Lord's Prayer. A bridge over which the funeral procession passed was tastefully and originally decorated. On either side were anchored five large barges with high black masts, bearing long branches of pine on their summit and with enormous black sails with white borders, on each of which was a large shield with the imperial eagle encircled by a laurel wreath, hoisted half-mast high. In front of the arsenal were two pyramids strikingly adorned with flags, lances, clubs, cuirasses, cannons and cannon balls and weapons of all kinds, showing traces of Germany's victorious campaigns, freely mingled with holly, laurel and evergreen. At the guard house were erected large pillars, on one of which was inscribed in letters of gold: "He went home, and by so doing grieved a world. His faithful people are in tears for him. His grateful capital laments him." On the other were the words: "To eternal peace has gone the creator of German unity. Careful of the world's peace even unto death."

ITALY'S ALLIANCES.

Premier Crispi Defends Them Before the Chamber of Deputies.

ROME, March 17.—Signor Crispi, the Prime Minister, in a debate in the Chamber of Deputies to-day on foreign affairs, defended the alliances Italy had made. He declared he had always maintained that Italy ought to act in unison with Germany and Austria on European questions, and with England on all maritime questions. In 1877, he said, the Government learned that Marshal McMahon, who was then President of France, intended to adopt measures to restore the temporal power of the Pope. He (Signor Crispi) was charged with a mission to Germany, but he went to France first and saw Gambetta, who favored an agreement with Germany. At Gastein the bases were laid for the treaties which were afterward concluded. Their object was to maintain peace. War would never be provoked by Italy or Germany. Italy could not exhibit toward France a greater degree of friendship than that she now manifested. Regarding Africa, he said the Government never had any idea of conquering Abyssinia; its aim was merely to obtain for Italy a good line of defence.

BOULANGER'S REMOVAL.

The Government's Action Approved by the French Press.

PARIS, March 18.—Gen. Boulanger and Deputies Herisse and Lamuerre arrived in Paris at 5 o'clock this morning. Their arrival was the occasion of no incident of note. The friends of General Boulanger assert that he has no intention of resigning from the army in order to become a candidate for member of the Chamber of Deputies.

Most of the journals approve the Government's action in removing Gen. Boulanger from his command. Many say, however, they regret that politics should be intermixed with army discipline and request explanations.

Gen. Boulanger announces that he will return to Clermont-Ferrand to-morrow. He expects that the Minister of War will authorize him to reside in Paris.

The Government does not intend to take further proceedings against Gen. Boulanger, for visiting Paris without orders. Gen. Warnet will succeed to his command.

MR. GREENWAY'S POSITION.

The Manitoba Premier Discusses the Situation—Negotiations Advancing.

OTTAWA, March 18.—Premier Greenway, discussing the Manitoba question to-night, said the Government had not intimated to him that a settlement had been arrived at, although he had reason to believe negotiations were advancing satisfactorily. He said he did not see that he need remain here much longer, as the Government knew exactly his position. That he neither could nor would accept anything less than an absolute surrender to the province of the right to build railways. Understanding this the Government could settle the difficulty without him.

He expects to leave Wednesday or Thursday for Winnipeg, going by way of Toronto. He is anxious to reach Winnipeg by next Sunday, as the Legislature opens the following day.

The conviction gains strength here that the difficulty is to be settled by compensation being given the company by way of subsidy to steamship lines.

WENT THROUGH A TRESTLE

TERRIBLE RAILROAD DISASTER IN GEORGIA.

Twenty-Five Dead and Thirty or Forty Injured, Several Fatally—The Entire Train Except the Engine Demolished—The Accident Attributed to a Broken Rail.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 17.—The first section of the fast mail train from New York for Jacksonville went through a trestle at a point seventy-five miles south of Savannah this morning. The entire train, except the engine, is demolished. Nineteen people are reported to have been killed, and between thirty and forty injured, ten of whom are expected to die. The private car of President Wilbur of the Lehigh Valley Road, with Mr. Wilbur and George Gould and wife and others in it, was one of the train. President Wilbur is reported to be seriously injured. George Gould is unhurt and Mrs. Gould slightly injured. Relief trains have gone out with physicians. Those killed are:

CHAS. PEARCE, train hand.
W. M. MARTIN, news agent.
C. A. FULTON, master of transportation Brunswick and Western Railroad.
W. B. GIEGOR, Savannah.
FRED MAYNARD, New York.
F. M. SMITH, Pullman conductor.
MERRITTA WILBUR, son of the President of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.
JNO. F. RAY, Dales Mill.
W. J. WILLIAMS, colored, of Valedosta.
MAJ. J. H. PATE, Hawkinsville, Ga.
LLOYD CARSON, colored.
COLSON FOSTER, colored, of Waycross.
MOSES GALE, colored, Waycross.
E. P. THOMPSON, North Carolina.
Five negro men, names unknown.

The injured are: Milton Lawrence, colored; W. L. Griffin, conductor; J. W. Thompson, Jacksonville, Fla.; Charley Brown, Savannah; C. W. Humboldt, Savannah; Laura Jones, Thomasville, Ga.; Mrs. McClinch of Philadelphia; Alice Simpson of New York; Samuel Obes and wife, Providence, R.I.; Dr. Boothe and wife, New York; E. P. Wilbur, President Lehigh Valley Railroad; W. A. Wilbur, son of E. P. Wilbur; P. H. Wilbur, son of E. P. Wilbur; Miss Cox; A. J. Boyle; A. J. Faircloth; Miss Mattie Ray, Dales Mill, Ga.; J. P. Thompson and wife, New Orleans; O. W. Wallace, Traveling Passenger Agent Louisville and Nashville Railroad; L. B. Mallard, baggage master; Austin, colored, Waycross; Henry Snook, colored, Savannah; C. E. Vanvorst, Savannah; A. C. Hudson, Macon, Ga.; J. Papy, flagman; G. M. Feredo and wife, New York; J. Spiro, New York; Mrs. Hulburt, New York; Sam Allen, train hand, Savannah; Walter Gooderich, train hand, Savannah; E. Butterfield, New York.

The List is Not Reduced.

SAVANNAH, March 17.—A later list of the killed and wounded agrees with the one already sent, except that it omits the names of Maj. Pate and Moses Gale, and gives instead those of Mrs. Marion G. Shaw and daughter Mamie, of Jacksonville, Fla. It also says that Geo. Gould escaped uninjured, but that Mrs. Gould was badly shaken up.

Twenty-Five Dead.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 17.—A representative of The Times-Union sent from Jacksonville arrived at Waycross, near the scene of the accident at 7.30 to-night, and found the town wild with excitement. The number of dead aggregates twenty-five, about equally divided as to color. Nineteen persons were killed outright at the wreck and six died at Waycross during the afternoon. Several more are expected to die.

A Later Despatch.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 17.—A later despatch from The Times-Union correspondent at Waycross says George Gould was injured in face, and Mrs. Gould in the side, both slight injuries. Theodore Butterfield, General Passenger Agent of the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railroad, was slightly injured and is overcome by the excitement and exertion of aiding the wounded. He is now at Waycross.

President Wilbur, of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, has a very severe scalp wound. W. A. Wilbur, son of President Wilbur, has a flesh wound on the chin, is cut deeply, but not seriously. R. H. Wilbur, another son of President Wilbur, has his left wrist sprained and is bruised in the side, not serious.

Gen. Ferribo of Tammany Hall had his left hand severely injured and suffered a concussion of the right side. His wife is severely injured on the left side and is suffering considerably.

Further Particulars.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 17.—The accident was caused by a broken rail under the baggage car. The baggage car got off the track about a quarter of a mile before it reached the bridge at Hurricane River. The baggage car mounted the track, but the train passed safely over the bridge. Immediately on the other side of the bridge there is a trestle several hundred feet in length. When the baggage car struck the trestle work it gave way and the entire train with the exception of the engine dropped through and with the exception of one car was completely wrecked. The train consisted of a combination car, three baggage cars, smoking car, one coach, two Pullman sleepers and a private car of the Lehigh Valley. This private car, which was occupied by President Wilbur of the Lehigh road, his family and friends, survived the shock.

Mr. Gould Not Hurt.

NEW YORK, March 17.—A despatch was received from Geo. Gould by Mrs. Kingdon, the mother of Mr. Gould's wife, this afternoon from a small town in Georgia to the effect that he and his wife were in the railroad smash-up at that place but were not hurt.

CALL OR ADDRESS,

THE SECRETARY

Peterborough Business College, Peterborough, Ont.

The Daily Review.

MONDAY, MARCH 19, 1888.

THE INTERVIEWER'S WORK.

The Toronto Mail has had an interviewer on the road for some time looking for manufacturers who favored commercial union. Its issue of Tuesday, which was among the delayed mail matter, contains the result of his visit to Peterborough, and from this can be judged the plan followed in his search and its value as an evidence that the scheme is favored.

Although Peterborough's list of manufacturers is a large one, only four were visited—or, at least, the opinions of four only are given. These four are Messrs. T. G. Hazlitt, Peter Hamilton, Wm. Yelland and Wm. Faint. Assuming that the interviews are correctly reported, only half of this small number express approval of commercial union, namely Messrs. Hazlitt and Faint. The interview with Mr. Hamilton is so placed as to lead a casual reader to think that he favored the scheme, while the truth is that he has more than once spoken emphatically against it, and in this interview does not say he would support it. If the interviewer did not learn that Mr. Hamilton was opposed to the union, he could no doubt easily have done so, but it does not seem to have been his business to make the whole truth known. Mr. Yelland does not say he would support the scheme, so that all the visit amounted to is that only two manufacturers of the largest town in Canada expressed approval of it, and one of these, though doing a tidy and commendable business, would scarcely claim to rank his business among the leading manufacturers.

Why did the Mail confine the interviews to so small a number? If it wished to get the views of the leading manufacturers it would have sent its representative to Mr. Kendry, of the Auburn Woollen Mills; Mr. W. Hamilton, of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company; Mr. W. H. Law, of the Central Iron Works; Mr. Brooks, of the Lock Manufacturing Company; Mr. Brodie, of Brodie's Woollen Mills, and the Lindsay-Seldon Company. These are all industries of the first importance, but they were passed over, and the list could be extended, as there are very many others—all as important as some of those visited—which were omitted. But if the Mail had given the views of the Peterborough manufacturers fully, fairly and honestly, it would have shown that they were strongly opposed to commercial union, and that was what it was bound not to do.

A new heading adorns the first page of the Toronto Empire, in the place of the plain letter it wore at first. The Empire has improved greatly even on the high standard of its first number, and it is a newspaper that Toronto, and Canada also, should be proud of. The amount of news and other interesting reading it supplies daily is surprising.

HARVEY.

Correspondence of the Review.

Council Meeting.—The Harvey Council met at the Clerk's office, on March 12th, pursuant to adjournment. All the members were present. Communications were read from the Barnardo Home and from the County Clerk re conditional grants from the Government and County Council for the North Harvey road. A by-law was passed appointing Jas. Hicks, Reeve, and the Clerk, and Thomas Flynn, Robert Benwick, James Ingram, James Purdy and Chas. McIlmoyle, Esquires, as a Board of Health for the current year. A by-law was passed appointing fit and proper persons to fill the offices of pathmasters, pound keepers, fence viewers and deputy-returning officers for the current year. The township Treasurer was instructed to deposit the sum of $200 in the Bank of Toronto at Peterborough, to the credit of the commissioner of Crown lands, in compliance with the [illegible] a resolution passed by the Council granting $200 for the North Harvey road. The auditors report was received and adopted and the Clerk instructed to procure one hundred printed copies of the same for distribution. A deputation from Bobcaygeon was heard before the Council, consisting of Reeve Crabtree, Davey, Lancaster and Garlick, requesting a donation to assist in laying iron pipes from the spring to the fountain on the market square. No grant. The Council adjourned to meet at the Town Hall on Monday, the 28th day of May next, for Court of Revision and general road session.

Two Engineers Injured.

Meadville, Pa., March 17.—Another wreck occurred on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railway to-day. The westbound fast express and eastbound passenger from Oil City collided on a curve in the lower yard here. Engineer Fenton of the express had a leg broken and was badly scalded. Engineer Armstrong of the other train was badly hurt about the head.

A Bad Freight Wreck.

Toledo, March 17.—There was a bad freight wreck on the air line division of the Lake Shore last night three miles west of Ligonier, Ind. The pedestal under a Union Line tank car gave way and threw fifteen cars loaded with coal and coke, and two with naphtha, in a ditch where they burned. The loss was $15,000.

Obituary.

The Toronto World of Saturday contains the following notice of the death of Mr. James Craig, formerly of Peterborough, and brother of Messrs. Craig Bros. of the Fergus News-Record, at one time employed in the REVIEW office:—"James Craig, for the last three or four years a compositor on the World, died at the residence of R. G. Stewart in this city at 8 o'clock last night. Mr. Craig was about 43 years of age and unmarried. The deceased was of a quiet, gentle nature, and all who knew him will regret his untimely end."

Fell Eighteen Feet.

The friends of Mr. Wm. Helm in Peterborough will be sorry to hear that he met with an accident last week, which is thus recorded in the Gananoque Reporter of Saturday:—"Mr. Wm. Helm, machinist at Parmenter & Bulloch's factory, slipped off a runway at the rear of the shop last Monday, and fell eighteen feet to the frozen ground below. He was slightly cut on the head, and his left shoulder and right knee were injured; but is able now to be about. The wonder is that he was not more seriously hurt."

The Carters' Tariff.

Each of the carters' will now produce a card with the following tariff, when customers so request:

Under the provisions of By-law No. 535, the tariff of charges for trucks and other vehicles licensed under said By-law shall be as here-under and no higher or other charges shall be paid to or collectable by any person so licensed:

For every hour complete for a two horse wagon or vehicle	$ .75
For single horse, wagon or vehicle	.50
For every half hour or fraction thereof
For a two horse wagon or vehicle	.50
For a one horse wagon or vehicle	.25

Fifty per cent. to be added to these rates for any hour engaged between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Oddfellowship.

The Grand Secretary's report to the subordinate lodges of the progress of the Order of Oddfellows in Ontario during 1887 is a gratifying one. From it the following information is taken:—Increase of membership in Ontario, 509; membership at end of the year, 15,356; number of Past Grands, 2,738; number of degrees conferred, 4,005. Amount paid in sick benefits, $26,312.21; surgeons fees and nursing, 4,569.06; widows' annuities, $12,956.88; orphans' annuities, $1,024.45; burying deceased brothers, $3,088.86; burying deceased wives of brothers, $1,359.50; special relief and charity, $2,346.89; total amount expended in relief, $51,657.85. The receipts during the year were:—For dues and reinstatements, $32,279.73; initiations, degrees and cards, $35,423.93; interest, donations, rent, etc., $29,610.63; total receipts, $137,314.29; current expenses of lodges, $37,399.69. In the funds of the lodges are the following sums, on hand or invested:—General benefit fund, $429,856.74; widows' and orphans' fund, $144,652.57; contingent fund, $4,108.25; total, $578,617.56. Since the Grand Lodge meeting in August three lodges were instituted, including the Norwood lodge, and two more are to be instituted this month.

Fills the Bill.

A circular has been received from the department at Toronto, instructing Police Magistrates that in Scott Act cases it is not necessary to produce the original conviction or a copy of it to prove a previous conviction, but that a certificate from the convicting Magistrate is sufficient.

A Rumpus.

At an early hour on Sunday morning, the cellar kitchen of the house at the corner of George and Edinburg-sts. was smashed in by a gang of young men. The damage done was quite serious. The premises are owned by Mr. Thomas Bradburn and the tenant is a man named Read, a former resident of Ashburnham, who has recently moved to this side of the river.

Frozen Up.

The Water Company are experiencing more difficulty this season with their mains and hydrants than ever before. On Water-st. in one place the main was frozen at a depth of over five feet although it was covered with eighteen inches of tan bark, something extraordinary. The work of thawing out is being done as rapidly as possible and in a short time all will be well.

Stock Must be Reduced.

Dawson Bros., Hunter-st., must have their stock still further reduced. Note the following prices for the next two weeks only: Factory Cotton, 3c per yard; Cashmere worth 25c for 15c per yard; Prints worth 15c for 10c per yard; Cotton Shirtings worth 15c for 10c per yard; Dress Goods worth 25c for 15c per yard; Table Linen worth 25c for 15c per yard, and all other goods at a proportionate reduction for the next two weeks only, at Dawson Bros., Hunter-st. d64tf

Scott Act Cases.

Messrs. M. Halpin and Geo. G. Pope were before the Police Magistrate this morning, each charged with a second offence against the Scott Act. Both pleaded guilty and were fined the usual $100 and costs. A colored gentleman, hailing from Millbrook, was charged with a first offence. He did not appear. Service was proven and two witness having testified to purchasing whiskey on the premises from the defendant. A fine of $50 and costs was recorded, to be paid immediately. A warrant was issued.

THE best teacher in the Collegiate Institute says he has not had a cold this winter. And the reason is because he wears a pair of KIDD'S waterproof boots, and it is true too.

The Late N. Shaw.

Mr. Nathaniel Shaw, an old and highly respected citizen, passed away this morning at the age of 70 years. The deceased was born in New York and was a millright by occupation. He came to Peterborough when the lumbering industry was in full blast and for a number of years he conducted a large saw mill at Buckhorn. He was unfortunate in business and was forced to assign. As a millright he had no superior in this section of the province and among other buildings, the elevators at Midland and Port Hope, as well as nearly all the large saw mills in this vicinity, bear testimony to his skill. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. F. Rubidge, and a son, Mr. Albert Shaw Pilot Mound, Manitoba.

Annual Meeting.

The Mail representative who came here to interview manufacturers regarding commercial union heard some opinions that that paper did not publish. He met two leading manufacturers together, but when they commenced to give their views he recollected that he was in a hurry and moved to go. They, however, kept him in conversation and their kindness was so profuse, their interest in his mission so deep and their desire to aid him so strong that they withheld nothing from him, but willingly gave their opinions, backed by arguments. Their names do not, however, appear in the Mail's Peterborough list. Their views were opposed to the scheme championed by the Staten Island millionaire and his Toronto organ, and they were not published.

Vestry Meeting.

A special meeting of St. Luke's Vestry will be held to-morrow, Tuesday, evening, after the service at 8.30. Important business.

Prior to her Departure.

Mrs. Scott Siddons will appear in Peterborough on Monday, 16th April. This will be her last appearance here prior to her departure for England. 1d66

Beggars.

Complaints are made that beggars, male and female, frequent houses at the outskirts of the town. If those who are visited will inform the police the nuisance will soon be abated, if it can be abated at all.

Missionary Matters.

Mr. Geo. Buskin, the well known colporteur of the Bible Society, addressed the scholars of the Baptist Sunday School, on Algoma missionary matters, yesterday afternoon.

Town Council.

A regular meeting of the Town Council will take place to-night. The appointment of four police officers will be the principal business before the board and there is likely to be considerable wrangling over the matter.

Bat and Ball.

The cricketers are requested to bear in mind that the annual meeting of the cricket club will take place this evening. A full attendance is particularly requested as the annual reports, etc., will be handed in.

At the Locks.

Mr. Chas. Wynne, the well known bridge builder, has furnished bonds for the proper performance of the work at the Locks. The contract provides a pier and an abutment, with the necessary approaches, and the price agreed on is $5,600.

Apron Sale and Tea.

An apron sale and tea for the benefit of St. John's South Ward Sunday School, will be held in the new Chamberlain Block, opposite the market, on Thursday afternoon and evening, March 22nd. Admission free; tea 25 cents. 4d64

That New Harness.

The new set of double swinging harness for the hose wagon has been finished and is at the fire station. The collars were made in Toronto and they will not fit any of the horses, and in consequence they will be returned for alteration.

The Hospital.

Mr. Arthur Rutherford, who has the contract for the erection of the new Nicoolls' Hospital, is letting no time slip away. Already he has on the site a large quantity of quarry stone for the foundation and work will commence as soon as the ground is open.

Cricket Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Cricket Club will be held on Monday evening next in the old post office block, at 8 o'clock. As very important business (including election of officers) will be before the meeting a large attendance is requested. JOHN STIRLING, Secretary. 2d65

Temperance Meeting.

There was a good attendance at the regular Gospel temperance meeting in the W.C.T.U. hall on Sunday afternoon. Mr. O. U. Rowse presided. Short and pithy addresses were made by Mr. Rowse and Mr. D. B. Gardner. Miss Lizzie Sanderson gave a reading and Mrs. Daly sang a beautiful solo. The Rev. S. J. Thompson closed the meeting with prayer.

The Modern Sphinx.

Miss Minnie Phelps, of St. Catherine, delivered a very telling address on "The Modern Sphinx." About one thousand had assembled, and all appeared delighted with the able manner in which she handled her subject.—Barrie Gazette. Hear this lecture in the Murray St. Baptist church, on Thursday evening, March 22nd. Tickets 15 cents each. 1d66

The Gun Club.

At the annual meeting of the Gun Club the following officers were elected:—President, Judge Weller; Vice-President, H. Calcutt; Captain, R. Tivey, and Secretary-Treasurer, H. W. Kent, re-elected. The annual reports were satisfactory. The shooting year was changed from October to March and the weekly matches will take place each Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the Riverside Park.

Court of Chancery.

The Court of Chancery concluded on Saturday evening. There was only one case for hearing, that of the Canada Co. v. Rubidge. It was an action under the survey act. The witnesses were all engineers and surveyors. It appears that plaintiffs and defendant each purchased from the crown adjoining lots at Burleigh, known as lot 44 and broken lot 45, the latter being Mr. Rubidge's. A dispute arose regarding the dividing line between the two, Mr. Rubidge claiming that he was entitled to the full number of acres named in his patent. Argument was deferred to Toronto. Shepley, Toronto, for plaintiffs; Lount, Q.C., Toronto, and Moore, Lindsay, for defendant.

A Strong Company.

"We had the pleasure on Saturday night," says the Mount Holly (N. J.) Gazette, "of witnessing the first performance of the historical melodrama, "On the Trail, or, Daniel Boone, the Pioneer," written especially for Peck & Fursman's Company by the well-known dramaist, Charles Gayler. Considering the fact that it was a new play and its first presentation, it went along smoothly under the direction of stage manager Ungerer, formerly of Wallack's New York, who has no superior. The orchestra is a fine one, the stage settings were really beautiful, and the costumes were very appropriate. The part of Daniel Boone was taken by W. A. Lavelle, and he played it well throughout, being well sustained by a strong company. The Indians acted their parts well and were at home on the stage. The horses, the wolves and the bear added to the performance, and there were many thrilling climaxes and beautiful tableaux to please and delight the audience. Mr. Peck has spared no pains or expense to make the play attractive in every way and we have no doubt it will receive the patronage it so well deserves. There are 35 people in the company—five horses, a donkey, a bear, wolves and eight Indians. The street parade was very unique. The brass band was a fine one and played splendidly. The Indians in full costume were a rare sight and pleased the people, especially the young folks. The audience was a large one and the performance was highly applauded." FIRE AT LINDSAY.

A Business Block Completely Destroyed. Losses and Insurance.

By Telegraph to the Review.

LINDSAY, March 19th.—About 5 o'clock this morning a fire occurred at Lindsay which destroyed the McDonell Block, one of the best business stands in the town. The block is situated at the crossing of Kent and William-sts., three stories, and was occupied by McCrimmon Bros., dry goods, and R. Killaby, groceries. The fire started in the cellar of Killaby's store and made rapid headway, despite the efforts of the brigade to get it under control. Tenants in the rooms overhead hurridly removed their effects, but owing to the fierceness of the fire the stock in the store was entirely destroyed.

The fire communicated to the store adjoining, and an effort was made to remove the stock, which was partially successful. When the fire had spent its force the walls of the building were pulled down, as it was feared that some accident might ensue if they were left tottering. The building was one of the oldest brick blocks in town and and stood in the centre of the best business portion.

Mr. Killaby's stock is a total loss except that portion covered by insurance in the Hartford to the extent of $1,500. McCrimmon Bros. had in the way of insurance on stock $2,000 in the London Association, $2,400 in the Royal Canadian, $3,000 in the British American and $2,000 in the Newcastle. The building was insured in the Liverpool, London and Globe for $2,500, Western for $1,500 and Northern $1,600.

It is probable that the premises will be immediately rebuilt by Mr. W. McDonell, who is one of our progressive and enterprising citizens.

FOR KILLING A DOG.

A Young Man uses a Gun and Pays $31 for the Shot.

A case of a peculiar nature occupied the attention of the Police Magistrate for upwards of two hours this morning.

Fred Davidson, son of Mr. Hugh Davidson, of Smith, was charged with shooting a deer hound, the property of Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald.

Mr. W. H. Moore appeared for the prosecution and Mr. G. W. Hatton for the defence.

Our space will not permit us to give the evidence in full, so we must be content with a short summary.

Henry Fitzgerald, an adopted son of the plaintiff, said that about two weeks ago the hound was out with him. The dog ran towards Mr. H. Davidson's. He shortly afterwards heard a shot in that vicinity and suspected that the dog was shot and he so informed his father.

G. W. FITZGERALD said that he went to defendant's who admitted killing the dog, giving as a reason that he thought the animal was a town "rake" bent on mischief around the yard. He would not have taken less than $40 for the dog.

GEO. SRIMGER had sold the dog to Fitzgerald. He cost him $25. The animal was worth $40 for hunting purposes.

L. STEELE knew the dead dog. He was a good hunter and he had shot over him. Such dogs sell at from $10 to $50.

THE DEFENCE.

Mr. HATTON asked that the defendant be sworn, but the request was refused.

CHAS. BOYCE was a hunter and had purchased good dogs for $3 and $7.50 each.

JOHN GARBUTT said that farmers always tried to get rid of a skulking dog and felt justified in shooting him, if he did not clear off. Two of his dogs had been shot by neighbors and he had shot a strange dog on his own premises.

The DEFENDANT was admitted to make a statement. He saw the dog coming as if from the woods and wandered around the premises for some time, until he finally shot him. He thougut he had a right to shoot him.

THE MAGISTRATE said that farmers should disabuse their minds of the notion that they had a right to kill any dog they saw on their premises, unless they saw the animal in the act of killing sheep or committing some other depredation. He felt confident that the young man did not do the shooting with the intention of maliciously injuring Mr. Fitzgerald, but at the same time he had no right to shoot the dog at all. Under the circumstances he would impose a nominal fine of $1 and $10 costs and further that the defendant pay $20 compensation to Mr. Fitzgerald for the loss of his dog.

Brevities.

—Two tramps enjoyed the hospitality of the town on Saturday night.

—The snow, as far as the town is concerned, will soon be a thing of the past.

—Two civic committees met on Saturday night. They will report this evening.

—The attendance at the various churches yesterday was large, all being well filled.

—The Police Magistrate, on Saturday, had the court cleared of boys, but this morning they were on had again in full force.

—There were quite a number of farmers at the Police Court this morning, all of whom were deeply interested in the dog killing case.

—The result of the O'Connor-Peterson race, at San Francisco, gave great satisfaction here, where the winner is well known and esteemed.

—Eli Perkins was in Toronto on Saturday. He attracts attention wherever he goes. He will attract a large crowd to the Opera House on Friday night.

—Mr. H. Corby, Conservative, was elected by acclamation, on Saturday, to the House of Commons for West Hastings. The Liberal nominee backed out when the time came.

SMITH.

Correspondence of the Review.

PERSONAL.—Miss Minnie, eldest daughter of Mr. Thomas E. Bell, Smith, has left for Gage County, Nebraska, where her two brothers have resided for the last two years, to keep house for the younger, who is unmarried and is doing well. Mr. Sandy Cochrane also went on the same day. He is a very steady young man, has made money in Canada and will no doubt do well in the west. We believe he goes on to California. We wish them every success.

HARVEY.

ACCIDENT.—On Thursday last, John Galvin, whilst chopping in the woods near Oak Orchard, had a very narrow escape from being killed. He was falling a tree and as it fell it struck another tree breaking off a big oak limb. Galvin did not see it coming, and it landed on his shoulders and head, knocking him to the ground, and giving him a very ugly scalp wound. His father, Garrett Galvin, saw it falling and shouted to him, but there was no time to move. He was taken to his home in Ennismore, and last reports were favourable to a speedy recovery.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and no for the dead. All a man is worth to his business and to his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"It was unfortunate Mona should have met them at the hall door,—Edith Carson told me about it,—but it could not be helped," says Violet, calmly.

"No, it couldn't be helped," says little Doatie. But their intervention only appears to add fuel to the fire of Lady Rodney's wrath.

"It shall be helped," she says, in a low, but condensed tone. "For the future I forbid any one in my house to take it upon them to say whether I am in or out. I am the one to decide that. On what principle did you show them in here?" she asks, turning to Mona, her anger increasing as she remembers the rakish cap; "why did you not say, when you were unlucky enough to find yourself face to face with them, that I was not at home?"

"Because you were at home," replies Mona, quietly, though in deep distress.

"That doesn't matter," says Rodney; "it is a mere formula. If it suited your purpose you could have said so—I don't doubt—readily enough."

"I regret that I met them," says Mona, who will not say she regrets she told the truth.

"And to usher them in here! Into one of my most private rooms! Unlikely people, like the Carsons, whom you have heard me speak of in disparaging terms a hundred times! I don't know what you could have been thinking about. Perhaps next time you will be kind enough to bring them to my bedroom."

"You misunderstand me," says Mona, with tears in her eyes.

"I hardly think so. You can refuse to see people yourself when it suits you. Only yesterday, when Mr. Boer, our rector, called, and I sent for you, you would not come."

"I don't like Mr. Boer," says Mona, "and it was not me he came to see."

"Still, there was no necessity to insult him with such a message as you sent. "Perhaps," with unpleasant meaning, "you do not understand that to say you are busy is rather more a rudeness than an excuse for one's non-appearance.

"It was true," says Mona; "I was writing letters for Geoffrey."

"Nevertheless, you might have waived that fact, and sent down word you had a headache."

"But I hadn't a headache," says Mona, bending her large truthful eyes with embarrassing earnestness upon Lady Rodney.

"Oh, if you were determined——" returns she, with a shrug.

"I was not determined; you mistake me," exclaims Mona, miserably. "I simply hadn't a headache; I never had one in my life,—and I shouldn't know how to get one."

At this point, Geoffrey—who had been hunting all the morning—enters the room with Captain Rodney.

"Why, what is the matter?" he says, seeing signs of the lively storm on all their faces. Doatie explains hurriedly.

"Look here!" says Geoffrey, "I won't have Mona spoiled. If she hadn't a headache, she hadn't, you know, and that's all about it. Why should she tell a lie about it?"

"What do you mean, Geoffrey?" demands his mother, with suppressed indignation.

"I mean that she shall remain as she is. This world may be 'given to lying,' as Shakspeare tells us, but I will not have Mona tutored into telling fashionable falsehoods," says this intrepid young man, facing his mother without a qualm or a passing dread. "A lie of any sort is base, and a prevarication is only a mean lie. She is truthful, let her stay so. Why should she learn it is the correct thing to say she is not at home when she is, or that she is suffering from a foolish megrim when she isn't? I don't suppose there is much harm in saying either of these things, as nobody ever believes them; but—let her remain as she is."

"Is she also to learn that you are at liberty to lecture your own mother?" asks Lady Rodney, pale with anger.

"I am not lecturing any one," replies he, looking very like her, now that his face has whitened a little and a quick fire has lit itself within his eyes. "I am merely speaking against a general practice. 'Dare to be true; nothing can need a lie,' is a line that always returns to me. And, as [illegible] better than anything on earth, I shall make it the business of my life to see she is not made unhappy by any one."

At this moment Mona lifts her head, and turns upon him eyes full of the tenderest love and trust. She would have dearly liked to go to him, and place her arms round his neck, and thank him with a fond caress for this speech, but some innate sense of breeding restrains her.

"Still, sometimes, you know, it is awkward to adhere to the very letter of the law," says Jack Rodney, easily. "Is there no compromise? I have heard of women who have made a point of running into the kitchen-garden when unwelcome visitors were announced, and so saved themselves and their principles. Couldn't Mona do that?"

DRIFTING TO ANNEXATION

THE LAST REFUGE OE THE REFORM PARTY AT OTTAWA.

The Manitoba Situation Serious and Uncertain—Will Strife be the Outcome?—A Time for Cool Heads and Conciliation.

OTTAWA, March 18.—The political situation in Canada is a serious if not an interesting one. Things are at high tension, and a rupture may result at any moment. The people of Ontario do not realize that the outlook for a season of peaceful development and business activity is threatened by civil strife and agitation for far-reaching constitutional changes. Briefly, the situation is this: A confederation of provinces is endeavoring to consolidate itself into a nationality under the guidance of one old man of great political sagacity, implicitly trusted by his followers, and whose methods are at times open to the charge of extravagance. But no one is in doubt as to his aim: the creation of a Canadian commonwealth. He is a firm believer in a strong central government, in interprovincial trade, in a great transcontinental route, in the development and encouragement of home industries, in the making of a nationality. Opposed to him is a party that in the early history of the Confederation had a firm belief in its future. George Brown never despaired of Canada. Alex. Mackenzie worked as if he were laying the foundations of a national structure. But of late years the Reform party, or rather the men who controlled its destinies, have despaired of the future of Canada. They have said we were helpless and hopeless. They grasped at and encouraged every form of provincialism; they disputed the idea of a strong central government; they encouraged race prejudice and palliated rebellion; they carried comfort to the dissatisfied sections; they declared interprovincial trade an impossibility; they opposed the Canadian Pacific Railway; they received with open arms the Wimans and Butterworths that came here to preach annexation in disguise; and in their desperation they took to "fads" that mean complete annihilation of Canadianism. At the present moment they are doing their best to induce the people of Manitoba to rebel, and anyone who notices Mr. Edgar and his associates going in and out among the Manitoba delegates now at Ottawa, or who reads the wild articles and still wilder despatches in the Globe, can doubt their intentions for a moment. They would hail the taking up of arms as a step forward in their designs. These are serious statements to make regarding prominent men in a one-time prominent party, but they are made from careful observation and study of the drift of events in this country.

As to the question now being debated at Ottawa, namely, that of Unrestricted Reciprocity, that term is only a thin disguise, and it will not be many months before it will be abandoned for the straight issue of annexation. There is only one more ditch for the Reform leaders to fall back into, and that is annexation. Already they have been beaten in the debate and their speakers are talking to empty benches. The fad is being thoroughly threshed out and the vote of the country, as recorded by Parliament will be straight against it. But before the next election a supreme effort will be put forth and a last stand made for annexation straight. Take, as an instance, a sensible, long-headed man like William Mulock of North York, and if you were to tell him that he would be fighting for annexation in the next general election he would repudiate the idea; and yet, keeping the company he keeps, there will be nothing left for him but to get up on the platform that Mills, Carlton, Edgar, Ellis and the foolish Globe are making for him. Half the men who are talking Unrestricted Reciprocity and Commercial Union will tell you in private that Canada is an impossibility, that it must come to annexation and that the sooner it comes the better.

Such, then, is the true situation: the Reform party is on the brink of its last plunge and that plunge is into the waters of annexation. To deny it is to deny what people see, what people hear and what people know.

What under these circumstances the Government will do with the Manitoba question is hard to say. The task set them is beset with difficulties. While they would like to stand firm they are not promised the support of a united Dominion. If they concede a point the Manitobans will be encouraged to ask for other concessions. Already they question Canada's right to tax them. Their fortunes are grim and they will not be slow to improve them if they see a way even though it be a devious one. The Canadian Pacific Railway Co. has neither made money nor has it a brilliant prospect before it. Their entire contract with the country is at stake.

To arrange a compromise is under the circumstances a most difficult task. The people of Manitoba are desperate; the Reform leaders and The Globe and Mail are egging them on to violence; the Government is anxious to vindicate what it believes to be true National Policy; and yet an honorable course out of the maze had not up to Saturday been discovered. The Cabinet sat from 10 to 5 without intermission. Sir George Stephen came up at noon and left in the evening. And though much discussion has taken place nothing in the way of settlement has been reached. Sir George Stephen returns to Ottawa Monday morning and the Government will go at the question again with determination. Sir George of course says it is for the Government and Manitoba to settle between them; Premier Greenway says it is between the Government and the railway; Sir John says it is between the honor of the country and the spirit of discord.

A newspaper representative saw Sir John on Saturday night at Earnscliffe. The Old Man was rising from "lying down" after the Cabinet meeting. He admitted the gravity of the situation but did not dispair of its solution. There was one thing he was not slow to speak on and that was the utter foolishness of the Reform party on the Unrestricted Reciprocity and Commercial Union questions. However some of his followers may regard these subjects, Sir John himself laughs at them as fads, as crazy quilts, as unrealizable political phantasmagoria. He smacks his chops, wags his head, and laughs, he even chuckles at the absurdities of the Opposition. While the thing may catch the people at the first, once it is threshed out, there is nothing to it but chaff that has been flailed many a time before. He appreciates the seriousness of the Manitoba question and bends his energies, his diplomacy, his great knowledge of men to its salution; but for the annexation fad in its present guise he has only laughing scorn.

LONDON, March 18.—The Standard expresses the opinion that only six or seven dissident Liberals will support Parnell's bill relating to arrears of rent in Ireland. A majority of the dissidents appear to favor a bill dealing with arrears of all debts alike.

O'Brien's Opinion of Bright.

LONDON, March 17.—Mr. O'Brien, in his speech at Birmingham to-day, said that Mr. Bright objected not to Home Rule but to Home Rulers. Mr. Bright might honestly be horrified at the prospect of Mr. Parnell becoming a Minister, but Mr. Chamberlain had advocated such a scheme, and it was not many years since that he told Mr. Parnell that he might have an Irish Republic if he pleased, if he would only help him (Chamberlain) to dish the Whigs and that arm-chair politician, Harlington.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

AT HOME AND ABROAD.

How St. Patrick's Day Was Celebrated by Enthusiastic Irishmen.

MONTREAL, March 17.—St. Patrick's Day was celebrated by the usual procession of Irish societies to St. Patrick's Church, which was handsomely decorated with banners and festoons of white lace and green silk. The attendance was very large, and before the procession arrived seats were largely occupied and the church was densely packed.

Like a Midsummer Day.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., March 17.—To-day was like a midsummer's day. The anniversary was celebrated here with enthusiasm by various Irish societies.

Hamilton's Celebration.

HAMILTON, March 18.—St. Patrick's Day was celebrated in this city in the usual manner. The Emerald Beneficial Association met in their hall at 9 o'clock, and proceeded to St. Patrick's Church, where high mass was celebrated by Chancellor Keough, assisted by Fathers Carre and Halm, Dean Harris (of St. Catharines), Father Craven and Very Rev. Vicar-General Heenan.

The Day in Ontario County.

OSHAWA, March 18.—St. Patrick's Day passed off quietly here. There was no drunkenness nor any display of colors on the streets. At the service in the Roman Catholic Church the parish priest read a pastoral from Archbishop Lynch on the festival of the day.

WHITBY, March 18.—St. Patrick's Day was observed quietly here. No intoxicated persons were seen and no emblems of any kind were worn on the streets.

Generally Observed in London.

LONDON, March 18.—St. Patrick's Day was observed to a greater extent than usual. Sprigs of shamrock were visible everywhere. The police took great precautions in Ireland. The day was celebrated with enthusiasm in many towns of Great Britain. Mr. Dillon delivered an oration in London, Mr. O'Brien spoke at Birmingham and Mr. T. D. Sullivan addressed a meeting at Bradford. All the meetings were largely attended.

Parading Through Slushy Streets.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The slushy streets and the raw air did not prevent the Irish organizations of this city from parading in honor of St. Patrick yesterday afternoon. The procession was reviewed by the Common Council and heads of city departments.

'Rastus at Winnipeg—No Converts.

WINNIPEG, March 18.—Erastus Wiman talked Commercial Union to a large audience Saturday for two hours, but produced few facts or arguments. He gave a pleasing, if not an impressive, address and didn't succeed in making any converts to the fad. Both Chairman Galt and C. J. Brydges, mover of the vote of thanks, were particularly guarded in their expressions and by no means endorsed Commercial Union.

Mr. Wiman held a reception at the Queen's Hotel this afternoon.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT'S MOTION STILL UNDER DISCUSSION.

Vigorous Speeches by Mr. McNeill and the Younger Tupper—How C.U. Would Affect the Farmers—The Dominion's Prosperity and the National Policy.

OTTAWA, March 19.—Mr. McNeil resumed the debate in the House to-day on Commercial Union. He considered that the maintenance of the tariff against Canada by the States and their refusal to enter into free commercial relations was on account of the resentment of that country for the sympathy shown by us with the South in the war of the rebellion, and also partly with a view to coerce us into Annexation. In the latter view the States were encouraged by the gentlemen opposite. The people of Canada were, however, made of sterner stuff and would not agree to Annexation. The speeches of the Opposition bore evidence of being designed to educate the people of Canada up to Annexation.

Sir Richard Cartwright had said the people of Canada were under no obligation to Britain, but this Mr. McNeill contradicted, and eloquently depicted Canada's position as a child and member of the British family. The Opposition had disclaimed any idea of Annexation sentiment, but the proposition now made by them would most certainly lead to that and prove the truth of the assertion that the States had been trying to coerce us into Annexation. Canadians, however, would not sympathise with this movement, as they well understood themselves to be better off as a part of the British Empire. They look on the movement with suspicion because they see that the United States by Commercial Union are simply making an attempt to obtain control and mastery.

The people of the United States had been highly favored by the last treaty to the loss of Canadians, yet they are not satisfied and will not make another treaty except on terms more advantageous even than the last.

It had been claimed that the farmers of Canada would be benefited by Free Trade, and it was asserted that the farmers and farmsteads had greatly deteriorated, but facts and figures showed that the condition of Canadian farmers was far better than that of those in the States. By the adoption of Free Trade our farmers would suffer from the introduction of wheat from the States, coarse grains, etc., on which they now had the benefit of the protective tariff. They would also suffer from competition in many other farm products. The home market for Canadian farmers would be invaded and destroyed.

Moreover, we would lose $7,000,000 customs duties directly and billions of revenue indirectly. We would hand over the regulation of our tariff to the States and be compelled to discriminate against our Mother Country. The National Policy tended to keep money in Canada, build up Canadian industries and enrich Canadian farmers, but the introduction of Commercial Union or Unrestricted Reciprocity would be to throw ourselves into the hands of our competitors.

He denounced in vigorous terms the policy proposed by the Opposition, and appealed to the patriotism and national sentiment of the people of Canada

Mr. Jones, of Halifax, said that the policy of Unrestricted Reciprocity would be advantageous to the States and he did not think they would object to tearing down the wall now dividing us. The argument had been advanced that this policy meant direct taxation, and he was well aware that the party advocating that would be defeated at the polls, though he believed it would be the cheaper plan. Trade was being forced at present, he asserted, at very large expense, which the taxpayers were forced to pay. Our natural trade, he said, is with the States.

After recess Mr. Jones continued speaking for over an hour and moved this amendment:

That in any arrangement between Canada and the United States providing for the free importation into each country of the natural and manufactured productions of the other, it is highly desirable that it should be provided that during the continuance of any such arrangement the coasting trade of Canada and of the United States should be thrown open to the vessels of both countries on a footing of complete reciprocal equality, and that vessels of all kinds built in the United States or Canada may be owned and sailed by the citizens of the other, and be entitled to registry in either country and to all the benefits thereto pertaining.

Mr. C. H. Tupper replied most effectively and tore to pieces the statements made by Mr. Jones. He said that the Liberal party could not go behind their record. The proposition now brought in was in direct contradiction to the policy advocated by them not more than a year ago. Their late leader, Mr. Blake, pledged his party not to play the bull in the china shop by inflicting injury on the manufacturers and vested interests of this country, and yet they now want to do that very thing.

Mr. Jones, who had to-night drawn such a poor picture of the farmers in the Maritime Provinces, was at that time maintaining that the farmers were not so badly off, but that it was the mortgage-ridden farmers of Ontario who were suffering.

The position of the Nova Scotia coal trade also has been misrepresented. He quoted from a pamphlet issued by the secessionist Government of Nova Scotia, showing that farmers could do better there than elsewhere, that laborers were doing better, that shipping was more profitable.

He took up the fish trade question, showing that the abolition of duties would be very little, if any, advantage to our fishermen.

It was ridiculous to say that with Unrestricted Reciprocity we would be free from combines when there were far more burdensome combines in the States than here.

The claims of loyalty by the party opposite were unworthily made when, in the same breath, their leader said Canada owed nothing to England, that England had done nothing for us; yet he protessed to be loyal.

Referring to trade proposals, he quoted the refusal of the United States plenipotentiaries to consider trade matters, and asked whether the gentlemen opposite wanted us to now assume a cringing attitude. He proceeded in a vigorous manner to show up the memorable record of the Opposition in the Maritime Provinces, especially that of Mr. Jones in Halifax.

He concluded a brilliant speech by depicting the fallacy of the contention that Unrestricted Reciprocity would benefit the Dominion. Mr. Tupper's speech was from beginning to end a magnificent effort. His argument was well sustained throughout and was frequently interrupted by most enthusiastic applause.

Mr. Rinfret will continue the debate to morrow.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Probable D. A. G. Changes—Proposed Bucket Shop Bill—Lighthouse Repairs.

OTTAWA, March 19.—There are likely to be some changes shortly in connection with the deputy adjutant-generals of military districts. Lieut.-Col. Harwood, D.A.G., Montreal, it is stated, will be superannuated. The same office in Ottawa will be practically abolished, Lieut.-Col. Lamontague, the present D.A.G., being likely to find new quarters in Montreal or Winnipeg. The duties in Ottawa will be probably performed by the brigade major so far as the presence of Gen. Middleton and Adjt.-General Powell leave them necessary. The estimates this year only provide for the salaries of six D.A.G.'s, the number hitherto being eight. At London, Ont., Col. Smith, commandant of the Infantry School just established, will assume the duties of D.A.G., thus accounting for the second of the two offices to be abolished.

The advisability of presenting a measure to Parliament making bucket shops illegal has been under the consideration of the Cabinet and it is all but settled that the Government will introduce such a bill. It will be in charge of Hon. Mr. Abbott and pass through the Senate first. The measure will be brief but to the point, bringing bucket shops under the operation of the criminal law respecting gambling and gambling houses, and so imposing penalties upon those who conduct bucket shops and those who trade in them. The police authorities will be clothed with power to enter at any time a place where the bucket shop business is carried on, seize the contents and throw upon the proprietor of the establishment the onus of proving that the business does not partake of the character of gambling.

Major Anderson, Chief Engineer of the Marine Department, has returned from an inspection of the lighthouses in the St. Lawrence below Kingston, at Red Horse Back and Spectacle Shoal. Repairs to both lights, which rest on piers, are being made. Major Anderson also visited Gananoque, where he found the factories closed down the day of his arrival owing to the lowness of the water in the river.

A petition, signed by all the leading steamship and transportation companies doing business in Canada, was presented to Parliament to-day praying for the passage of Mr. Kirkpatrick's bill to allow American vessels to tender assistance to vessels wrecked or disabled in Canadian waters contiguous to the United States.

This morning a deputation consisting of Mr. A. R. Boswell, Chairman of the Library Board at Toronto, Judge McDougall and Mr. E. P. Pearson, members of the Board, Librarian, James Bain, Ald. John Hallam and Sheriff Dawson of St. Catharines, representing the Public Library in that city, had an interview with the Minister of Customs and urged that books imported from England, the United States or elsewhere for the use of public libraries in the Dominion should be placed on the free list. At present the duty amounts to something like 15 per cent. Mr. Bowell gave no definite promise, but agreed to lay the matter before his colleagues. If there were no tariff changes this year the desire of the deputation, he said, could not be carried out.

Deputations from Thornbury and Meaford were introduced to-day to Sir Hector Langevin by Dr. Sproule, M.P., and asked that $7000 be expended on the harbors of each of these places. The minister intimated that if each of the corporations interested themselves to the extent of a few thousand dollars the Government would in all probability supplement it and the work might be undertaken.

Although it is known that the members of the Dominion Government are divided in opinion as to the advisability of making the Montreal harbor debt a part of the liabilities of the Dominion, it is hinted that the debt in question will be assumed in order to reconcile the Montrealers to abandonment of the policy of conserving Northwest traffic within the country.

Commissioner Herchmer of the Northwest Mounted Police arrived in the city to-day and was closeted for several hours with the comptroller of the force. It is said that the commissioner comes to sugest certain improvements in the mounted police, as well as to answer personally the complaints that have been voiced from time to time by the people in various districts in the Northwest.

THE ROYAL PROCLAMATION

FREDERICK'S MESSAGE READ IN THE PRUSSIAN LANDTAG.

He Will Know No Other Aim than the Happiness and Welfare of the Father land—The Rumor of the Emperor's Relapse Confirmed.

BERLIN, March 19.—The Royal message was read in the Prussian Landtag to-day. It is countersigned by all the Ministers. It says:

"We, Frederick, by the Grace of God King of Prussia, hereby proclaim and make known that it having pleased God after the demise of the Emperor, King William our much beloved father, to call us to the throne of our ancestors we herewith send to the Landtag our greeting. The sentiments and purposes with which we enter upon our Government and the principles on which we would exercise our royal office have been proclaimed by us to our faithful people. Walking in the paths of our glorious father we shall know no other aim than the happiness and welfare of the fatherland by conscientiously observing the constitution, fully safeguarding all the prerogatives of the Crown and loyally co-operating with the national representation. The King hopes with God's help to attain his object, which is the happiness and welfare of the country. The condition of his health prevents him from taking the oath personally. Desiring to declare without delay his position regarding the constitutional laws, although this could admit of no doubt, he now solemnly undertakes to adhere to the constitution firmly and inviolably and to rule in conformity with the laws."

Berlin Briefs.

BERLIN, March 19.—Bismarck had a long interview with the Prince of Wales prior to the latter's departure from Berlin.

Emperor Frederick, in bestowing the rank of Field Marshal upon Gen. von Blumenthal, sent his own baton to the General with the request that he should use it until a new one is ready for him.

The Emperor has resolved to send special envoys to all reigning sovereigns to announce his accession to the throne.

Gen. Von Loe accompanies the Prince of Wales as Envoy to the English court.

The Emperor has conferred the grand order of the Red Eagle upon Gen. von Loe and Gen. von Albedyll, and the order of the Black Eagle upon Gen. von Schlotheim.

Preparations are being made at Friedrichsruhe for the reception of Bismarck next week.

The Empress Victoria of Germany.

The consort of the new ruler of Germany is universally admitted to be one of the most talented and remarkable women of her age. The eldest daughter of the Queen of England, she was born on Nov. 21, 1840, and after a courtship at Balmoral was married to the present Emperor (at that time Prince Frederick William of Prussia) on Jan. 25, 1858, at the Chapel Royal, St. James, London, proceeding immediately after the wedding to Potsdam, where she took up her residence with her husband.

Although Frederick III. is a true Hohenzollern both by inheritance and by tradition his character has been largely influenced by the new empress, to whom he is devotedly attached. The favorite daughter of the late Prince Consort of Great Britain, she has retained all her proclivities in favor of a liberal and constitutional form of government, as opposed to the military depotism and autocracy favored by the late Emperor and by Prince Bismarck. These proclivities, which she imparted to her husband, naturally brought her into frequent conflicts with the great chancellor and with Prussian bureaucracy, who have never professed much sympathy for her whom they describe as "Englanderin." The latter returns this dislike with interest, and it has become especially embittered since the partially successful attempt made to bring Prince William into unfilial opposition to his parents. So strong is the antagonism at Berlin against the new Empress that had her husband died at San Remo during the past few weeks it is doubtful whether it would have been prudent for her to return to the "Athens on the Spree."

Prompted by the jealousy of the German surgeons and physicians whose incompetent services on behalf of the new Emperor have been discarded in favor of the Scotch specialist, Sir Morell Mackenzie, the latter and the Empress Victoria are held responsible by the Berlin public for the failure to check the malady of Frederick III.

It should be added that the new Empress is devoted to art, literature and science, and that she has done much to encourage them in every direction in Germany. She is an accomplished musician, very clever with the pencil and brush, one of the best read women of the day, and a devoted wife, mother and daughter.

Death of a Cuban Patriot.

HAVANA, March 19.—Meguel de Aldama, the Cuban patriot, died yesterday. His death is a great blow to the people of Cuba, in whose cause he spent over $1,000,000.

CENTRAL BANK MATTERS.

Fixing the Time for Settling the List of Contributories.

TORONTO, March 19.—Proceedings before the Master at Osgoode Hall this morning in Central Bank matters opened by the filing of several affidavits by Mr. W. A. Foster, Q.C. The first was from Accountant A. B. Ord, verifying the books of the bank for purposes of reference. Then followed an affidavit from Liquidators Lye and Gooderham, to the effect that no objections had been lodged with them against the claims in their possession; an affidavit of all three liquidators, verifying the list of claims as amended, and an affidavit by Liquidator Lye, verifying the list of contributories. The list of claims was divided into three, the claims allowed, those requiring to be proven, and those of parties who, in addition to being claimants, are also contributories. On application of Mr. Foster, the Master made an order allowing the claims for which the Liquidators do not require proof. This disposes of claims amounting to about $1,400,000.

The claim of Mr. J. Thorpe Ambrose, which was presented by Mr. Foster, will be allowed on the filing of an affidavit covering the facts. The Master fixed Monday, April 9, as the day for hearing contributories and settling the list; contributories who propose to dispute their liability to file the grounds of their claims on or before Thursday, April 5.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

The Manitoba Ministers and Sir John Discuss the Basis of a Settlement.

OTTAWA, March 19.—Premier Greenway and Attorney-General Martin had another conference with Sir John to-day and further discussed the basis of a settlement of the railway monopoly. A member of Parliament, supposed to be in the confidence of the Government and an authority on Northwest matters, said to a reporter to-day:

"You can tell the people of Toronto that the stories which have gained currency touching the millions that the Government have agreed to pour into the already well-filled coffers of the Canadian Pacific Railway are absolutely delusive. You can also take my word for it that no lump sum compensation will be agreed to. Of course the company will require a guid pro quo, and if you were to state that they will probably find it in an increased subsidy to a fast line of steamships between Quebec and Liverpool; in a rearrangement of their land policy, and in the abandonment of that part of their line between Port Arthur and Winnipeg, you might not be very far astray. You can rest assured that the Government are not holding back the subsidy granted just for the sake of amusement."

From enquiries I have made in reliable quarters there appears to be a good deal of foundation for the statement, and while this may not be the scheme in extenso, it is thought that these three items will form a prominent feature of the bill of fare.

Whatever the result of the conference was to-day it has not yet had the effect of brightening up Mr. Greenway's sad countenance. The negotiations will be continued to-morrow, and it is thought that a final settlement will be reached before the close of the week.

A sensation was created this evening when it was learned at a late hour that Premier Greenway and Mr. Martin had packed up their traps, paid their hotel bills and left for home. The move was not anticipated, and their minds had evidently not been made up to take this step until a short time before the train left. They refused to discuss the situation, even with their friends, simply stating that they were displeased with unnecessary delays in conducting the negotiations.

Sir George Stephen arrived to-night, and will have a conference with the Government to-morrow.

NEW YORK, March 18.—A special to The Sun to-day treats of a study of the Fishery Commissioners, as seen in a photograph. Referring to the picture of Sir Charles Tupper it says: Back, and third in the line, stands Sir Charles Tupper, the only one of the four Englishmen who has an English face. It is a perfectly placid face, the face of a man who enjoys excellent digestion and never feels rough edges anywhere. It is full, round and smooth, except for the very modest side whiskers. It is a purely English face, in which all the finer, nicer English traits are mirrored, but not one suggestive of John Bull arrogance and British superiority. Sir Charles is a genial, happy-medium man, and it's not in his nature to be an extremist in any regard. He wears his Prince Albert closely buttoned, but the fit has easy-going wrinkles that give a comfortable feeling. His collar is the old-fashioned stand-up all round, and the black necktie is the narrow fold, tied in a plain bow, with the ends tucked under the vest.

BATTING AND BOWLING

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PETERBOROUGH CRICKET CLUB.

The Secretary's Report—The Last Season a Successful One—Good Prospects for Sport this Summer.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Cricket Club was held on Monday evening in the old post office block. There was a fair attendance of members, including Dr. G. Burnham, Messrs. R. B. Rogers, W. A. Stratton, W. J. Minore, J. H. Burnham, J. H. Long, J. Sterling, W. F. Hamilton, F. E. Bell and L. King.

Mr. J. H. Long was called to the chair and a proposal to read minutes of previous meeting was adopted and the minutes in question taken as read. The committee appointed to draft a new constitution and by-laws reported through Mr. R. B. Rogers, chairman. The proposed constitution was read once and discussed and after some amendment adopted.

Mr. W. A. Stratton reported for the Annual Dinner Committee that things were progressing in fine shape and that the club looked forward to an enjoyable evening on that occasion.

Mr. J. Stirling, the efficient Secretary of the club, read a capital report of last season's work. The report was lengthy and humorous and referred in a jocular way to incidents of the different matches recorded. A summary of the report is as follows:—

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

"The season of 1887 was a most successful one. The number of foreign matches, thirteen, was greater than ever before in the history of the club; and of these 9 were won, 3 lost and 1 drawn.

"The chief match of the season was that against the Belmonts, of Philadelphia, the United States champions. Unfortunately the afternoon was wet, so the match was robbed of some of its interest. The batting of the home team was very poor in the first innings, but in the second innings they made a much larger score, which for some reason the Belmonts left out when giving the match to the press. The other two matches lost were with Toronto, but as Peterborough won the third match with that club the honors are divided.

"The club made against East Toronto one of the highest scores made in Canada during the season (284), while against Campbellford Sabine made the record of the season in bowling (8 w for 6 runs). W. A. Stratton led both the batting and bowling averages of those who played more than two matches, but S. Ray and Rutherord in batting, and Logan in bowling ran him close.

"A good sign of the interest taken in the game, was the number of scratch matches played. It is to be hoped that a large number will be played this season, as many members can play in these games, who cannot get away to full day matches.

"The engagement of a professional coach is under consideration; and the result of an appeal to the members for a special fund is very gratifying, over $100 having been already subscribed.

"The club joined the Ontario Association last season, and it is recommended that the same be done this year.

"A large number of gentlemen have signified their intention of becoming members this season; several first rate players have come to town, and if a coach be engaged to train the many young players who are just coming out, the season of 1888 cannot fail to be a prosperous one.

"Efforts will be made to arrange matches in Peterborough with the various foreign teams visiting Canada during 1888.

"JOHN STIRLING, Secretary."

Communications were read in reference to the engagement of a professional coach for the coming season. The Secretary had been in correspondence with parties in the old country and submitted to the meeting letters of commendation in favor of the club securing the services of Mr. S. Wright, a professional cricketer of one of the Nottingham, Eng., clubs. After some discussion the matter was left in the hands of the Secretary (Mr. Stirling) who goes to England early in April, to see Mr. Wright and to effect his engagement subject to approval of a committee compared of Messrs. Stratton, Rogers and S. Ray.

The election of officers was then taken up and resulted as given in the list below, all being elected by acclamation:

HON. PRESIDENT.—Hon. R. Hamilton.
PRESIDENT.—Judge Weller.
VICE-PRESIDENTS.—Dr. Geo. Burnham.
" " W. Wrighton.
SEC'Y.-TREASURER.—J. Stirling.
GENERAL COMMITTEE.—Messrs. R. B. Rogers, S. Ray, J. H. Burnham, W. J. Minore and W. A. Stratton.

It was understood that in the absence of Mr. Stirling that Mr. Minore would act as Secretary.

The meeting then adjourned.

Port Hope's Chief.

A vote of the ratepayers took place at Port Hope on Monday, to decide whether Chief of Police Douglas should be retained in that position or not. It resulted in Mr. Douglas' favor by a majority of 185, the vote standing 478 to 290.

A Serious Case.

A young daughter of Mr. J. Lawrence, of Port Hope, a son-in-law of Mr. Robert White, of Peterborough, has been suffering from a bad attack of diphtheria. Her case was so serious that as the only chance of saving her life, the doctors resorted to an operation known as "tracheotomy," that is, making an opening in the windpipe and inserting a silver tube for the patient to breathe through. This is the same operation that was performed in the case of the Emperor of Germany, when he was Crown Prince. At last accounts Miss Lawrence was very low and her recovery was extremely doubtful.

Attractive and Artistic.

Mr. T. L. Bayeur is bound to let the public know that he is carrying on an extensive boot and shoe business in town. He has recently had placed in front of his handsome premises, on George-st., five large and attractive signs, done in gold and smalt, by that artistic sign painter Mr. W. S. Cocks, and they do great credit to both the shop and the artist.

Try to tear it! You can't. No one can. They (the cottons) are untearable. No such value ever offered before as now at the golden lion. If the weather is wet you will find it fair at the golden lion.

A Wonderful Address

"We have a right to be proud of Miss Phelps," says the St. Catherines Evening News. "She has recently appeared before large audiences in Quebec and Montreal and Ontario towns in the front rank. At the recent W. C. T. U. Convention she filled an evening, giving her wonderful address, "The Modern Sphinx," which is characterized by many competent critics as the finest address on "License" they have ever heard." To be given on Peterborough in the Murray-st Baptist Church on Thursday evening, March 22nd. Admission 15 cents.

A Town Well.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the Town Council held a meeting this morning and decided to go ahead with the work of boring a well on the market square. The contract was awarded to Messrs. T. Leary & Co., who will proceed with the work at once. The price agreed on was $2 per foot. Messrs. Leary expect to get water at a depth of about fifty feet, where they expect to strike a limestone that yields first-class drinking water. The deepest bored well in town is sixty-three feet and the water is of the best quality. The well will be in rear of the town clock grocery.

A Bold Thief.

On Monday evening, a young farmer named John Scott, who resides on the side line running to Bridgenorth, drove into the yard of the Snowden House. He tied his horse in the shed and went off to transact some business. When he returned he found that his horse and cutter were gone, and he has not been able to find any trace of them yet. The horse is a fine, dark, iron gray mare, about 14½ hands high, with a ring bone on one hind foot, dutch harness with overdraw check on bridle, common, square box, black painted cutter. Two buffalo robes unlined were also taken. The police have the matter in hand.

Sad Bereavement.

The youngest son of Mr. John Doharty, the market clerk, died this morning. Little Francis was ten months old, and suffered a little over a week with bronchites. Mr. and Mrs. Doharty have borne a great deal of affliction, as seven of their children have been called away. Eight years ago their three oldest children died and three years ago two little girls were laid to rest, and this morning the youngest child followed them to the spirit land. The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon and proceed to the Roman Catholic Cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Doharty have the sincere sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

The Egg Business.

Messrs. Scott & Hogg, of Galt, Ont., have established in Peterborough, a branch of their large establishment and purpose to go largely into the egg trade. The Peterborough house will be known as Scott, Hogg & Co'y., the members of the firm being Messrs. Wm. Scott, F. Hogg and W. J. Scott. They propose as soon as practable to secure a suitable building and fit it up as a "cold store house," where eggs will be kept while awaiting shipment. Vats will be provided in which eggs will be kept in pickle during the hot weather. The firm have already placed two teams and drivers on the road collecting eggs and expect to ship from this point a large quantity of eggs during the season.

The Fire Hall.

The members of the Property and Fire, Water and Light Committees inspected the fire station this morning. The floor is in a bad condition and it is the intention to replace it with a new one. The stable at the rear is also to be extended to allow of better ventilation. The heating apparatus is also to receive attention, with a view of economy, and the lighting at present costs too much money, several members being of the opinion that $50 per quarter is too much money to pay for a building of its size.

Pure Drinking Water.

An official of the Inland Revenue Department, Ottawa, in the person of Mr. J. Watson, is in town, for the purpose of obtaining samples of drinking water for analysis. This morning he drove up with Superintendent Henderson, of the Water Company, and obtained bottles of the water above and below the pumping station. He also secured samples from all the different sections of the town. These he will forward to Ottawa for analysis. The object is that in case of an epidemic, the authorities may know whether the water is the cause of it or not.

For Manitoba.

The first colonist train of the season for Manitoba, left the C. P. R. depot this afternoon. In the the sleeper were Messrs. Jos. Scott, Jas. McEwean and the Misses Jane, Ella and Elizabeth McEwean, who were those who left. They had with them four horses, two cows and the usual furniture, etc., taken by settlers. They will settle in southern Manitoba, near Brandon, where they have already located land. A large number of friends were down to see them off. Mr. and Mrs. McEwean will leave next week for the same place. At Cavanville they expect to increase their party by thirteen. Mr. T. E. Boddy, the uptown agent of the C. P. R., accompanied them as far as Toronto and will see them safely on their journey.

R. S. DAVIDSON, Chairman.

March 15th, 1888.

The report was adopted.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Councillor MCNEIL, Chairman, read a report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee recommending: (1.) That the hydrant on George-st near the C. P. R. track be removed to the south side of the track. (2.) They congratulate the town and the brigade on the immunity from fires enjoyed last year and hope that the warning to the engineer will prove fruitful in good. (3.) That Mr. Terrence Smith be appointed teamster, to furnish five horses and one driver for $1,473 from April 1st, 1888, to April 1st, 1889, and that he be prohibited from selling and trading horse. (4.) That Mr. T. Smith be paid $31.25 for one horse from January 1st, to April 1st, 1888, and (5) That the matter of laying a new floor in the engine house be referred to the Property Committee with power to act.—The report was adopted.

CHARITY.

Chairman HALL read and submitted a report from the Charity Committee stating that during the month of February the sum of $166.00 was expended as follows:—1st Ward, $68.80; 2nd Ward, $33.95; 3rd Ward, $23.00 and 4th Ward, 22.30.—The report was adopted.

STREETS AND BRIDGES.

Chairman CAHILL read and submitted a report from the Street and Bridge Committee, recommending that the plans prepared for grading portions of Reid, Murray and George-sts. be accepted, the work on the two first named to be proceeded with at once and that the Town Clerk procure a book to keep the plans in.—The report was adopted.

LICENSES.

Chairman YELLAND reported verbally for the License Committee, recommending that the licenses for billiard tables etc., remain the same as they were last year.—No action was taken.

POLICE REPORT.

Chairman KENDRY reported for the Police Committee recommending that Mr. R. N. Adams be appointed on the police force at $550 per year, and that Messrs. C. McGinty, Jos. Stewart and M. Fee, be appointed constables at $450 each per year, the officers to supply their own uniforms, and that Mr. R. Pope be appointed Street and Bridge and Building Inspector at $600 per year.—The report was received.

Councillor MOORE said our police force was not in a good condition and would not be until a competent head was secured. He referred to Pidgeon's recent flight with goods belonging to the town and wanted a man of authority, active and vigilant, who would look after his men and prevent such things. He said Adams was a good officer, but he was not the man for chief and until we had such a man our police force would be poor and disorganized. He said we could secure a good citizen, a fine detective, and a thoroughly trained officer in the person of Chief John Douglas, of Port Hope. If we had him he would soon put the force in first class shape. He gave a history of the cause of Douglas' dismissal, at Port Hope, and read letters from prominent citizens showing that he had the confidence of the people, as was evidenced by the fact that he had been sustained by a majority of 180 in a popular vote. Judge Dean, Lindsay, also spoke highly of him. He had nothing whatever against Adams, but he did not consider him fit to occupy the position he aspired to.

Moved by Councillor MOORE, seconded by Councillor YELLAND,—That the position of Chief of Police of the Town of Peterborough be tendered to Mr. John Douglas, of Port Hope, at $750 per year, to include clothing, and if he declines to accept it, that the Chairman of the Committee on Appointments advertise for a competent man and make such inquiries as he may see fit and report at the next meeting.

Councillor CAHILL thought it was not necessary to go out of the town for a Chief. Acting-Chief Adams was handicapped and Officer Pidgeon would not take any orders from him, as Adams had no more power or salary than him. He looked askance at Mr. Douglas on account of him being discharged from Port Hope. He favored Adams for the place and thought if the matter was submitted to the people, Adams would be sustained. (Applause from the spectators). All would agree that Adams was honest and had a good character and did his duty fairly well. An imported man had failed before and on account of the Scott Act and Anti party in the Council, the acting chief could not perform his duty to the satisfaction of all. He had nothing whatever to say regarding Mr. Douglas, but he wanted a home man and thought that Adams would perform his duty in a competent manner if he was paid a good salary, given full authority and backed up by the Council. If after three months trial he did not give satisfaction he would vote against him.

Councillor YELLAND said that if a man undertook to do a job for a certain sum he should do it or be dismissed. He contended that the police had not done their duty in the past.

Councillor MCNEIL corroborated what Councillor Cahill had said. During the past year Adams did more work and did it better than ever it was done before. He considered Adams to be as good a man as Douglas, after making inquiries.

Councillor KENDRY said the whole police force was thoroughly demoralized. He did not consider Adams a competent man for the position of chief. The men had not enforced the law and on many occasions he had received complaints. He did not want to injure any man on the force, but none of them were fit for police officers. He was prepared to support any local man, if he was competent, in preference to a foreigner, but he wanted a good man as chief, one who would do his duty regardless of any person. In the past favor had been shown, as all citizens were not treated alike.

Councillor HARTLEY said there had been a lack of duty in the force. If the men refused to obey Adams it was his duty to report to the Council. He had no feeling in the matter, but he thought that Peterborough should have a competent man, and he felt that until we did have one who would do his duty without fear or favor, we would not have any force.

Councillor LANGFORD blamed the Council for the present state of affairs and felt confident that if Adams was paid a good salary and well backed up he would give good satisfaction. He wanted the matter referred back to committee.

Councillor KELLY found that Douglas had been at Lindsay, a guard at the Central Prison and at Port Hope in a short time, and he thought that if he was such a good man he could easily secure a situation at a larger salary. Adams had not been given a chance and he would guarantee that if Adams was given a chance he would prove a competent man. He thought it a slur on the town to go outside for a chief. If a man is well paid he will do more and better work than if he is being poorly paid.

The MAYOR said that he had learned that Mr. Douglas intended to remain in Port Hope if the vote was favorable.

Councillor KENDRY said he had received a telegram stating that Mr. Douglas would wire his answer to-morrow.

Councillor DOUGLAS said the applicants for places on the force were all green horns and he had found out that special training was necessary.

Councillor MOORE thought that the champions of Mr. Adams had hurt his cause by stating that he had not done his duty as he had not received sufficient salary and he regretted that such reflections had been made.

Councillor CAHILL denied making any reflections and he objected to special pleading such as Mr. Moore indulged in. He knew nothing about Mr. Douglas, who might be the best man in the country, but he knew Adams and had confidence in him. Adams had not the inducements to do his duty that were now held out to Douglas. Our town is remarkably free from crime, showing that the police must have done their duty.

The MAYOR pointed out that the report increased Adam's salary, but did not appoint him as chief. He had inquired and found out that Douglas was a thoroughly competent man and on account of doing his duty so efficiently, he had made enemies. Adams had never refused him and had done everything well that he had required him to do. As there was a chance of Douglas refusing to come here, he thought the matter should not have been discussed at all until something definite was known.

Amendments to adopt the report and to refer it back to the committee were defeated.

After a squabble Mr. Moore's motion in favor of appointing Mr. Douglas was put and carried, the vote being as follows:—

YEAS:—Councillors Davidson, Hall, Yelland, Moore, Douglas, Kendry and Hartley—7.

NAYS—Councillors Cahill, Winch, Kelly McNeil and Langford.—5.

BORROWING MONEY.

Moved by Councillor DAVIDSON, seconded by Councillor WINCH,—That the Mayor and Treasurer issue debentures for $4,000 under by-law 529.—Carried.

BILLIARD LICENSES.

Moved by Councillor MCNEIL, seconded by Councillor KELLY,—That the license for billiard tables be $40 for each table and that no abatement be allowed.—Carried.

Councillor KENDRY demanded the yeas and nays, which were recorded as follows:

YEAS.—Councillors Cahill, Winch, Kelly, McNeil, Hall, Moore, Douglas and Langford.—8.

NAYS—Councillors Davidson, Yelland, Kendry and Hartley.—4.

THEY ARE NECESSARY.

Moved by Councillor HARTLEY, seconded by Councillor HALL,—That the Property Committee have power to act in the matter of improving the ventilation, lighting and heating of the town buildings.—Carried.

THE OTHER COPS.

Moved by Councillor KENDRY, seconded by Councillor HARTLEY,—That the matter of appointing the remainder of the police force be referred back to the committee.—Carried.

THE CHIEF'S SALARY.

Councillor CAHILL moved a motion to fix the salary of the Chief of Police at $550 instead of $750. Councillor MCNEIL seconded it.

The motion was lost, the vote standing as before.

SCHOOL TAXES.

Moved by Councillor CAHILL, seconded by Councillor DAVIDSON,—That the Treasurer issue his cheque to Mrs. R. Nicholls, Mrs Daly and Mrs. Angelsye for the amount of their school taxes.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned for two weeks.

The Ship Social of the Charlotte Street Church a Success.

The new vessel, the "Charlotte," designed and built under the superintendence and with the aid of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte-st. Methodist Church, was launched on Monday evening. She carried a large number of passengers, as from 6 bells to after 8 people streamed up the Opera House stairs to the wharf. They appeared to have a good opinion of the "Charlotte's" cook, for large numbers made their way at once to the cabin, where the tables were laden with good things from the cook's galley, and there appeared to be an inexhaustable store in the steward's cuddy or in the hold. The cabin was decorated with flowers, and a novel and fancy programme, folded like a boat, rested beside each plate. The stewards and stewardesses, who were most obliging and attentive, wore red, white and blue colors, as also did the officers and crew, and many were adorned with sailors' collars and with badges on which were silver anchors. The main deck (Opera House) was decorated with flags. The vessel (on the stage) had a mast in the centre, on which was a large flag, and a British ensign floated on the bowsprit. Anchors and ropes were at hand, and a canoe (from the Ontario Canoe Company), with sails spread, had a place on each side of the bow.

Shortly after 8 bells, the Captain, Mr. J. R. Strattton, took his place in the forecastle and called on members of the crew to entertain the passengers. First a Glee Party, composed of a large number of young ladies and a few gentlemen, came forward and sang, "See Our Oars with Feathered Spray," and received merited applause from the passengers. Mr. Harry Stephens sang "The Powder Monkey," and was also applauded. A vocal duet followed, "Life's Dream is O'er, Farewell," by Mr. A. L. Davis and Mrs. Pearce, sung in good voice and with good effect. Mrs. Logan sang "The Young Mariner," and again the passengers manifested their approval. Mr. Mulligan's appearance in a middy's uniform called forth applause, and having sang "Vanderdecken," he was encored, giving in response "The Boys in Blue." The Y. M. C. A. Quartette, Messrs. Stevens, Baguley, Henderson and Miller, sang "I Love the Sea," and were promptly encored. They responded with "The Peanut Song," which was received with loud applause. The Fire Brigade Band gave an excellent selection in their usual admirable manner. This concluded the first part of the programme, and during an intermission many more visited the dining cabin.

The second part opened with a song, "Alone on the Raft," by Miss Brundrette, which was very well given and received applause. Mr. A. L. Davis sang "Anchored," which was received with manifestations of well-merited favor. The Y.M.C.A. Quartette again appeared and scored a great success. They sang "Speed Away" and were encored. In response they gave "The Gossipers" and the applause was so great and long continued that they were forced to sing again, giving "Allow me to Move a Vote of Thanks." Miss Cameron sang "When the Boats Come Home," a solo of merit, and received a decided encore, to which she responded. Mr. Baguley followed with a solo, "The Raft," a fine and difficult song, which was well rendered. Mrs. Pearce sang, "My Lady's Bower," a pleasing solo, which was also warmly applauded. The Rev. I. Tovell then came forward and on behalf of the passengers returned thanks to the captain and crew for the safe and speedy voyage. They were grateful, he said, for the smooth sailing and the pleasure. He had never been on a boat on which there was so much talent among the crew, and he thanked the captain and the whole crew for their kindness during the voyage. The Captain suitably acknowledged the thanks of the passengers and as the vessel landed again at the wharf the band played the National Anthem. The passengers waved their handkerchiefs as the gangway was lowered and a very successful concert was concluded. During the voyage Prof. Parker played accompaniments for the singers very acceptably.

Still unwilling to leave, many more entered the cabin and enjoyed the hospitality of the stewards. The entertainment was well conceived and carried out, and the Ladies' Aid and those who assisted them are to be congratulated upon the success of the novel concert.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and no for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

This speech is made much of, and laughed at for no reason whatever except that Violet and Doatie are determined to end the unpleasant discussion by any means, even though it may be at the risk of being deemed silly. After some careful management they get Mona out of the room, and carry her away with them to a little den off the eastern hall, that is very dear to them.

"It is the most unhappy thing I have heard of," begins Doatie, desperately. "What Lady Rodney can see to dislike in you, Mona, I can't imagine. But the fact rests, she is hateful to you. Now, we," glancing at Violet, "who are not particularly amiable, are beloved by her, whilst you, who are all 'sweetness and light,' she detests most heartily."

"It is true," says Violet, evenly. "Yet, dear Mona, I wish you could try to be a little more like the rest of the world."

"I want to very much," says poor Mona, her eyes filling with tears.—"But," hopelessly, "must I begin by learning to tell lies?" All this teaching is very bitter to her.

"Lies! Oh, fie!" says Doatie. "Who tells lies? Nobody except the naughty little boys in tracts, and they always break their legs falling off apple trees, or else get drowned on a Sunday morning. Now, we are not drowned, and our legs are uninjured. No, a lie is a horrid thing; so low, and in such wretched taste. But there are little social fibs that may be uttered,—little taraddidles,—that do no harm to anybody, and that nobody believes in, but all pretend to, just for the sake of politeness."

Thus Doatie, looking preternaturally wise, but faintly puzzled at her own view of the question.

"It doesn't sound right," says Mona, shaking her head.

"She doesn't understand," puts in Violet, quickly. "Mona, are you going to see everybody that may call upon you, good, bad, and indifferent, from this till you die?"

"I suppose so," says Mona, lifting her brows.

"Then I can only say I pity you," says Miss Mansergh, leaning back in her chair, with the air of one who would say, "Argument here is vain."

"I shan't want to see them, perhaps," says Mona, apologetically, "but how shall I avoid it?"

"Ah! now, that is more reasonable; now we are coming to it," says Doatie, briskly. "We return to our muttons. As Lady Rodney, in a very rude manner, tried to explain to you, you will either say you are not at home, or you will have a headache. The latter is not so good; it carries more offense with it, but it comes in pretty well sometimes."

"But, as I said to Lady Rodney, suppose I haven't a headache," retorts Mona, triumphantly.

"Oh, you are incorrigible!" says Doatie, leaning back in her chair in turn, and tilting backward her little flower-like face, that looks as if even the most harmless falsehood must be unknown to it.

"Could you not imagine you had one?" she says, presently, as a last resource.

"I could not," says Mona. "I am always quite well." She is standing before them like a culprit called to the bar of justice. "I never had a headache, or a toothache, or a nightmare, in my life."

"Or an umbrella, you should add. I once knew a woman like that, but she was not like you," says Doatie. "Well, if you are going to be as literal as you now are, until you call for your shroud, I must say I don't envy you."

"'Be virtuous and you'll be happy, but you won't have a good time,'" quotes Violet; "you should take to heart that latest of copy-book texts."

"Oh, fancy receiving the Boers whenever they call," says Doatie, faintly, with a deep sigh that is almost a groan.

"I shan't mind it very much," says Mona, earnestly. "It will be, after all, only one-half hour out of my whole day."

"You don't know what you are talking about," says Doatie, vehemently. "Every one of those interminable half-hours will be a year off your life. Mr. Boer is obnoxious, but Florence is simply insupportable. Wait till she begins about the choir, and those hateful school-children, and the parish subsidies; then you perhaps will learn wisdom, and grow headaches if you have them not. Vio[illegible]s it Jack calls Mr. Boer?"

"Better not remember it," says Violet, but she smiles as she calls to mind Jack's apt quotation.

"Why not? it just suits him: 'A little, fat, round, oily man of——'"

"Hush, Dorothy! It was very wrong of Jack'" interrupts Violet. But Mona laughs for the first time in many hours, which delights Doatie.

"You and I appreciate Jack, if she doesn't, don't we, Mona?" she says, with pretty malice, echoing Mona's merriment. After which the would-be lecture comes to an end, and the three girls, clothing themselves in furs, go for a walk before the day quite closes in.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

MR. MOWAT WILL NOT OPEN THE RAILWAY POLICY THIS SESSION.

Routine Business Only Transacted at Yesterday's Sitting of the Legislature—A Debate on Prison Reform—Mr. Gibson's Opinion Respecting the High Schools.

TORONTO, March 20.

Mr. Gibson (Huron) moved that, while not questioning the necessity for our High Schools, nor detracting from the good work done by them hitherto, this House is of opinion that the time is fast arriving in which such schools should be more largely supported by fees than in the past. He argued that the higher education should be largely paid for by those getting it. The man who was prepared in a great measure in the Collegiate Institute for a profession was like a mechanic getting his tools for nothing. The influence of the high schools, too, was dissipated by the teachers they turned out going away from Canada. He urged a higher development of the Public School system and reduction of the cost of high schools on the people.

Hon. the Minister of Education replied. The maintenance of an efficient high school system was the best means of making the public schools even more useful, as the high schools supplied the teachers for the public schools. The waste of the work done could not be prevented. Teachers would move around even if double the salaries were paid. Young ladies, too, who were members of the profession often found a more congenial occupation—[shouts of "Order"]—often to their own advantage and that of somebody else.

Mr. Creighton: Posterity.

Hon. Mr. Ross: Yes. [Laughter.]

Mr. Meredith and Mr. Drury made a few remarks on the subject.

The motion was withdrawn.

Mr. Harcourt's motion, that a select committee be appointed to inquire into the present condition of the jails in this Province, their management and the classification and treatment of prisoners, with power to send for persons, papers and records, was withdrawn. In withdrawing the motion, Mr. Harcourt said he wished to bring the subject before the Government. He spoke of the distressing fact that 470 prisoners were committed to the common jails in Ontario last year whose only crime was lunacy or idiocy. He described the condition of the jail system and the absolute need there was of provision being made for the proper classification of prisoners. In many cases, owing to want of proper accommodation, boys or girls of an impressionable age committed to jail were compelled to associate with hardened criminals. Under such circumstances these young persons were educated to be criminals. Instead of the jails being corrective they were absolutely initiating in a great degree. He hoped next session to submit some measure to cope with the evil. He hoped the able Provincial Secretary would consent to preside over a committee to collect statistics and collate them and present the conclusions to the House.

Hon. Provincial Secretary intimated that the appointment of a committee next session was quite possible, but of the result of the work to be done by the committee he had grave doubts. It would involve the complete change in the internal economy of the jail system. Though some did exist, he did not think they were so great as to warrant such strong language as the hon. gentleman used. He admitted and deplored the fact that the classification was not carried out to a satisfactory degree, but at the same time it would not be prudent for the Government to coerce the county councils into the expenditure of large amounts of money which they were unwilling to expend. If his hon. friend could make out a case in favor of his scheme he would be glad to co-operate with him.

Mr. Meredith gave circumstances in connection with the evils of the present jail system and agreed with the hon. member from Monck that the jail system was largely initiating instead of corrective; and while recognizing the difficulty of reforming the system it very desirable to amend it.

Mr. Wood (Hastings) contended for a more rigid discipline in the jails. He was willing to deal humanely, but when people committed crimes they should be compelled to work and give back in that way something to the people. An officer in the Central Prison whom he saw the other day agreed with him that the present discipline was altogether too soft and fine.

The Attorney-General said during his remarks that "it is a monstrous thing that innocent persons or comparatively innocent persons are compelled to herd with hardened criminals."

Mr. Harcourt said he did not think he used too strong language, arguing to considerable length that he did not.

Hon. Mr. Hardy turned around toward the hon. member for Monck charging him with reflecting—[Mr. Meredith: "Order, order." Mr. Hardy turned to the Speaker.]—on the management of facts which was in his hands, and which he was responsible for.

Mr. Harcourt disclaimed anything of the kind.

The motion was withdrawn.

Mr. Creighton moved for an order of the House for a return of copies of all correspondence between the Minister of Education and any publisher or other person respecting the authorization of text books, or the right to publish the same, subsequent to that already brought down.

Mr. Creighton questioned the "free trade in school books" which the Minister of Education was so fond of declaring that existed, and went on to criticise the wholesale authorizing of school books. He pointed out errors in the atest geography. Manitoulin Island was described as 30 miles long and 20 broad while it was 80 miles long; it was stated that the inhabitants were largely Indians; the "Legislature" of the Dominion of Canada was described as having two parts instead of three. He pointed out other errors.

The Minister of Education referred to the "free trade in school books" argument. He then went on to speak of the excellence of the geography. He charged the hon. member from Grey with insincerity. It was pointed out that there was an errata slip in the book regarding Manitoulin, and the hon. gentleman was not candid to say so. As to other alleged errors they were a matter of opinion. The hon. gentleman was very punctilious, but he would venture to say that the geography contained broad principles which the hon. gentleman had not yet grasped, and perhaps was not capable of grasping.

Mr. Creighton resented the accusation as to want of candor. He thought accuracy was more desirable than "broad educational principles."

The motion was agreed to.

TORONTO TOPICS.

When the members of the Board of Trade met at noon to-day, Secretary Wills informed them that he had a very painful announcement to make. It was the death of Mr. Wheeler D. Matthews, senior member of the commission firm of W. D. Matthews & Co., and father of Mr. Wilmot D. Matthews, the junior member, and President of the Toronto Board of Trade, which occurred at 8 o'clock this morning at Leroy, N.Y., where the firm's headquarters are, and where they have one of the largest malt houses in the United States. Mr. Matthews was an old and well-known member of the Toronto Board of Trade, having been a charter member of that and of the old Corn Exchange.

George H. Marvin, collector and traveler for Taylor Bros., wholesale paper dealers, has decamped. He was short in his accounts to the extent of $300, and owes numerous bills. Last week his employers discovered that Marvin had not turned in a certain sum which he had collected and accused him of the deed. He confessed his guilt and furnished security in two bonds of $100 each. Marvin was accompanied in his flight by his wife. They are believed to have gone across the border.

The Young Liberals received a communication from the Young Conservatives last night informing them that they had solicited the question of Canadian Independence for their joint debate, and suggesting Mr. Christopher Robinson as chairman. This gentlemen is satisfactory to the Young Liberals and he will be requested to preside. Mr. J. M. Clark read a paper on "Imperial Federation."

Canada's New Governor-General.

A well-informed correspondent writes as follows of Lord Lansdowne's successor in the Dominion: "As to the new Governor-General of Canada, Lord Stanley of Preston, better known ere he was raised to the peerage as Freddy Stanley, there is not much to be said. He is the younger brother of the present Earl of Derby. He was formerly of the Guards and he has been for many years in public life, always in office when the Conservatives were in. He has been President of the Board of Trade, Secretary of State for War, etc. He is a cautious, moderate, clearheaded fellow, who is not likely to set the Thames alight and who would, I think, be timid in a crisis. His wife, a Clarendon, is a sister to Odo Russell's widow and to the wife of Lathom, the Lord Chamberlain. He is poor and she is ambitious and resolute."

SOME CAPITAL TALK.

The Law of Libel—Extra Copies of The Hansard—The Northwest.

OTTAWA, March 20.—Mr. John Cameron of The Globe, Mr. Innes, M.P., of The Guelph Mercury and Mr. Watt of The Brantford Expositor to-day paid a visit to the Minister of Justice and fixed Thursday next for the hearing of a deputation from the Canadian Press Association with reference to the law of libel. They point out that in Ontario if a libel is published the civil law is satisfied with the publication of an apology, providing absence of malice can be established. It is different in criminal libel, and a newspaper proprietor may be called upon to defend himself in the province where the plaintiff resides. The deputation will, among other things, ask that the criminal law be assimilated to the civil, and that the act be so amended as to provide that proceedings can only be taken in the district where the libel is published.

The Mayor of Calgary and Editor Lucas of The Herald are here endeavoring to induce the Minister of Public Works to erect in that smart town a building which will answer as a jail, court house and law office.

Mr. A. F. Jury has been asked to lecture before the Ottawa workingmen on "Henry George and Anti-poverty." Messrs. A. W. Wright and A. C. Campbell are to take a hand in.

Dr. Platt, M. P., has arrived but cannot take his seat, as the Speaker has not yet received his certificate.

Dr. Montague, M.P. for Haldimand, is suffering from a severe attack of ulcerated sore throat.

Mr. Wm. Wainwright, assistant general manager of the G.T.R., is in the city on business with the Government.

Mr. James King of Halifax, N.S., has petitioned Parliament for a committee to inquire into his claims respecting the contract for the mail service between Pictou and Georgetown. Mr. King, it appears, received the contract in 1874 and fitted a boat called the Albert, which ran until January, 1875. The ice then prevented further running, and Mr. King's contract was cancelled. The Postoffice Department awarded him $4000, but Mr. King says this is not sufficient, and refuses to accept it.

Mr. Watson, M.P. for Marquette, will introduce a bill to compel all railways in Canada to fence their tracks and maintain the necessary gates and causeways.

Mr. Kirk, Guysboro, intends to introduce a bill to forbid the use of purse seines in fishing.

Mr. DesBrissey of Gloucester, N.B., is anxious that the new regulation requiring the pulling up of salmon nets from Saturday night until Monday morning be rescinded. He says it is impracticable, as it is not only provocative of great delay but exposes the folded nets to storms and results in great loss of property.

Governor Dewdney, at present in town, is getting credit for the measure to be introduced into Parliament shortly relating to the Northwest. This will, it is understood, almost provide for representative government in the territories. Out of twenty-five members of the Council which will be elected by the people, the remaining three will be named by the Government. The Council will get from the Dominion a fixed grant for the purposes of Government.

The Debates Committee of the Commons met this morning. The question of printing extra copies of the debate on reciprocity with the United States came up and it was decided that it did not come under the jurisdiction of the committee. Yesterday the House decided that it did not come under the jurisdiction of the House, so it appears that nobody has authority to print extra copies of Hansard.

Dr. G. M. Dawson of the Geological Survey staff, who was engaged last summer directing the work of exploring the Yukon River district and the gold districts of the great Northern country, speaking in reference to Messrs. Ogilvy and McConnell, two gentlemen who formed part of the expedition last summer and remained to continue their work, says no word had been received from Mr. Ogilvy since last September. Nor, Dr. Bell said, would the survey hear from him till next autumn. Mr. Ogilvy is wintering on the Yukon River at the point where it crosses the 141st meridian. When spring opens he will begin running a line from the Yukon River and thence to the Mackenzie River. Mr. McConnell is wintering at Fort Reliance on the Mackenzie River below Great Slave Lake. Communications were received from him as late as the 8th of December, when he reported that his work was progressing favorably. This news was brought down by the Hudson Bay Company's packet. Mr. McConnell says he succeeded in doing a great deal of geological exploration last autumn, and early in the spring would proceed down the Mackenzie River provided he could get a sufficient supply of provisions. The Government have not as yet decided to send an expedition into the Yukon River country this summer.

Clarke Wallace's Combine Committee will meet to-morrow to dissect the correspondence now in possession of the chairman. No evidence will be taken. On Thursday Ald. Wm. Bell, J. C. Breckenridge and John M. Wood, Secretary of the Coal Dealers' Association, Toronto, will be examined.

To-day a deputation composed of Messrs. A. Turner and Harvey of Hamilton and Brock of Toronto had an interview with Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Adolphe Caron in relation to the lease of Navy Island, opposite Chippawa. They are members of a company which has cultivated grapes there for years, and they desire to make some new arrangement which shall better protect the capital invested. The deputation was accompanied by Messrs. Adam, Brown, McKay and Carpenter, M.P.'s.

Mr. Gigault, the Nationalist, surprised the Cabinet to-day by taking a determined stand against Unrestricted Reciprocity. He says the National Policy is good enough for him, and while he favors a reciprocity in natural products, he cannot accept the Free Trade theory, knowing that Canada's industry status would be sacrificed.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

RUSHING THE BUSINESS OF THE SESSION THROUGH.

Disgusting Bonuses at the Morning Session—Early Closing of Shops—The Agricultural Department—Changes in the Municipal Law.

TORONTO, March 20.—The House began business at 11 o'clock this morning, going at once into Committee of the Whole again on the Attorney-General's Manhood Suffrage Bill, in which a number of important alterations were made. At the suggestion of Mr. Meredith, the Attorney-General added a sub-section making the penalties for repeating inoperative in cases where the voter imagines himself to be the party whose name appears on the list.

After recess the House resumed the discussion of Mr. Hardy's bill to amend the Municipal Act, starting on the bonus question, where they dropped it before adjournment. Sub-section 3 of the section governing the matter provided that "no bonus shall be granted by a municipality to secure the removal thereto of a manufacturing establishment already established elsewhere in the Province," and Mr. Wood (Hastings) wanted to add the words, "and already bonused," but the House threw out the amendment. This concluded the portion of the act dealing with the bonus question, and its adoption practically prohibits bonuses to manufacturers in Ontario.

Mr. E. F. Clarke then got in a section giving power to boards of police commissioners to license and regulate messenger boys, newsboys and bootblacks; also a section permitting cities of over 50,000 inhabitants to erect and establish a dipsomania asylum within its limits.

The whole of the afternoon session was taken up in the discussion of the general act to amend the Municipal Act. A few amendments were made to different clauses in the act.

By consent of the House Mr. E. F. Clarke was permitted to move some of the provisions of the Toronto bill to amend the Municipal Act, while Mr. Hardy's general amendment act was being considered in committee of the whole. These amendments to the Municipal Act were made:

A provision to empower police commissioners to license boothlacks, messenger and newsboys, etc.

A provision to permit municipalities having 50,000 population and over to establish asylums for the reclaiming and cure of drunkards.

A provision permitting cities to issue debentures, subject to approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council and of three-fourths of the members of the city council, for the purpose of raising money to extend the city water mains and services, without submitting a bylaw to the people.

A provision to define the power of a city council to set aside a portion of the street as a sidewalk boulevard, etc.

A provision to enable the imposition of a special tax on lands benefited by the construction of certain sewers.

Mr. Leys was also permitted to move an amendment to meet the Parkdale case. The people of a municipality were given power to compel the council of such municipality to submit a bylaw to the people to obtain their verdict as to the desirability of uniting with another municipality.

The bill was reported at 10 minutes past 6 o'clock.

In the evening session the House went into committee on Mr. O'Connor's amendment to the Assessment Act, the Attorney-General's respecting the revised statutes of Ontario, and the Attorney-General's to amend the law as to executions.

The Attorney-General moved that the Bill respecting the Department of Agriculture and other Industries be read a third time.

Mr. Meredith moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Creighton—That all words in the motion after the word "that" be struck out and the following substituted therefor:

While this House concurs in the proposition to give greater attention by the Executive Government to the agricultural interests of the Province than has hitherto been done, it is of opinion that end can be attained without incurring the expense of adding another member to the Executive Council and the inevitable expense which will be consequent on such addition, and that therefore the said bill be not now read a third time but be forthwith referred back to the Committee of the Whole House with instructions to amend the same by striking out the third section thereof.

Mr. Bishop wanted to know if interested parties had a right to vote. [Laughter.]

The amendment was lost by a vote of 28 to 48.

Hon. Mr. Fraser moved the third reading of his Early Closing of Shops Bill.

Mr. Morgan moved in amendment:

That while this House is in sympathy with all reasonable efforts to bring about the early closing of shops, it is of opinion that to provide by law for the absolute closing of them is not in accordance with sound principles of legislation and is an unwarranted interference with individual rights, and that the said bill be not now read a third time.

A heated debate followed, in which some Government members supported the amendment and some Oppositionists the bill. The motion for third reading was carried on this division. Those who opposed the bill did so on the ground that it was tyrannical.

The amendment was rejected on a division of 61 to 17.

An hour's debate took place on Mr. Meredith's bill to authorize the City of London to sell the land known as the "exhibition grounds" and for other purposes. Mr. Waters, member for North Middlesex, objected, and advanced arguments in behalf of the county, which had an interest in the grounds. The bill was read a third time.

Hon. A. M. Ross moved concurrence in the report of the Committee on Supply. Out of the six motions left over five were concurred in. That referring to the Treasurer's Department branch of the Civil Service was the only one objected to. It was laid over.

Nine bills to amend the Municipal and Assessments acts were discharged.

The House adjourned at 12.30 this morning.

Mr. Phelps arose to speak when the House was in committee of the whole on the act to amend the Municipal Act. The members were discussing a clause relating to the acquiring of river lots by municipalities, and Mr. Wood (Brant) was advocating it. Mr. Phelps said the hon. gentleman wanted the amendment simply "because the Grand River ran through his corporation." The whole House laughed.

Mr. Drury was absent while the vote was being taken on the "Minister of Agriculture" bill. Some looked upon the circumstance as significant.

Mr. Waters was the only Government supporter that voted with the Opposition against the creation of a new portfolio.

Algoma Conmee is a man of a good deal of grit. He had quite a tilt with the Hon. Mr. Fraser yesterday when the latter wanted to amend a bill of his, and when the Attorney-General put his foot on another he submitted, but gave the House to understand that he wasn't going to let the matter rest.

Mr. Garson's Boiler Inspection Committee met yesterday. Expert evidence was taken and it was decided to send out a list of questions during recess to manufacturers to ascertain their views on the bill and matters kindred to its provisions.

In regard to the delay of the city of Toronto's bill to amend the Municipal Act, an interested party who met The World yesterday at the House wishes to say "that it's pretty tough for the city solicitor to do four men's work and be four places at one time."

AGAINST SABBATH DESECRATION.

Quebec Postoffices Open on Sunday—The Railways Rebuked.

MONTREAL, March 20.—At a meeting of the Montreal Presbytery to-day, Mr. Nichols read the report of the Sabbath Observance Committee. It contained information from different parts of the Presbytery. One place called attention to the fact that its postoffice was open on Sunday morning. Another town complained bitterly of the action of the Canadian Pacific Railway in running trains upon the Sabbath, most of these being trains carrying freight.

The report says: "Not only is this company itself flagrantly desecrating the Sabbath, but is compelling by threat of dismissal a large number of its employes to do so, besides preventing them from attending to the duties of public worship."

A committee is about to be appointed to bring pressure to bear upon the Dominion Government against this evil, as well as others of a kindred character.

In speaking of Montreal the report eulogizes the Law and Order League for its vigorous and successful warfare against saloon keepers, and commends to its attention the numerous candy stores, fruit stores, cigar stores, and others all in full blast in defiance of law and order. The report goes on to say: "The very existence of such a League is a satire upon the imbecility of the authorities—municipal and provincial—who are supposed to protect the morals of the community."

In conclusion the report refers to the two railway companies running trains between Montreal and Quebec and New York, also to the ways of the City Council in relation to the enforcement of Sabbath law.

THEY LEFT IN A HUFF.

The Departure of the Manitoba Ministers From Ottawa—Talk of a Settlement.

OTTAWA, March 20.—The one great political topic of discussion which towered over all others to-day was the sudden departure of Greenway and Martin. Opinion appears to be divided as to whether they left in a huff; or it before doing so they received the Government ultimatums.

Sir John Macdonald refuses to enlighten any of the correspondents on this score, and always adds, when he is interrogated, with a knowing kind of smile: "There is absolutely nothing definite."

Sir George Stephen and Sir Donald Smith were here to-day, and they had business at "Bank Cottage" at an early hour. "Bank Cottage" is the residence of Hon. John Henry Pope, Minister of Railways, who is ill, and in order that he might participate in the Council proceedings, the meeting was held there to-day. It is known that the whole subject was under discussion, and a Northwest representative said to a reporter.

"Some arrangement was arrived at to-day between the Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway and that on a much more reasonable and favorable basis than at first proposed."

An Eastern member on being interviewed remarked: "Well, if Greenway went away in a huff, let the Manitoba Legislature go on and build the Red River Valley Railway at their own expense. The Dominion Government will not interfere with them. Mr. Greenway has already assured the people of his province that he had made the necessary financial arrangements to go on with the construction of the road. If he has, why not go on with the work? When it is interfered with, then it will be time to talk armed resistance and a second rebellion."

The fact that no one was more surprised at the departure of the delegates from the city than Sir John Macdonald has created a feeling in the minds of many that Attorney-General Martin who is regarded as a firebrand has succeeded in inducing Premier Greenway to act contrary to his own judgment and in direct antagonism to the best interests of Manitoba. It has been remarked here that Sir John did not manifest much interest in the Attorney-General, and that after the first interview the Dominion Premier negotiated almost entirely alone with Mr. Greenway. Mr. Martin was not slow to observe the snub, and he has consistently and persistently worded to the end of convincing his chief that a return home without having effected anything would be attended with better results and strengthen the party in the future.

A Cabinet Minister to-day said the delegates gave the Government no intimation of their intention to leave last night, and it looks as if they were really anxious to avoid a settlement. Having come to Ottawa, and having entered negotiation with the Government leading to an amicable arrangement, it is held that common courtesy would have dictated a different course. As the Minister put it: "What would the Grit party say if Sir Charles Tupper had returned to Ottawa in a party condition before the fishing question was closed? He would not receive a very warm reception at the hands of his friends or opponents, and he certainly would not be deserving of it."

DEATH FROM EXCITEMENT

THE UNTIMELY END OF A WRONGED YOUNG MAN.

Minnie Allen's Dying Message to Martin Flynn—She Denounced Him as Her Betrayer and Said Her Spirit Would Haunt Him—The Work of an Enemy.

OTTAWA, March 20.—The evening papers contain details of the remarkable career of Martin Flynn of Chelsea, the young man whose name figured so prominently in connection with the alleged seduction and the suicide of the young girl Minnie Allen last fall, and who died on Sunday. It will be remembered that on the morning after the death of the girl, letters presumably written by her immediately previous to her melancholy death were found in the room in which she took poison. In these letters the girl denounced Martin Flynn as her betrayer and in the bitterest terms cursed him as the cause of her death, saying that she would haunt him for the wrongs he had done her.

Shortly after the facts attending the death of the unfortunate girl became known, Martin Flynn left Chelsea for a time possibly owing to the fact that strong feeling existed against him. He subsequently returned, denied that he had betrayed Minnie Allen or was responsible for her death, and threatened all newspapers which had published the letters with action for libel. He took up his residence with his father-in-law, Mr. Wm. Ryan of Chelsea. His neighbors, however, say that something appeared to be wrong. Flynn's manner was different from what it had been previous to Minnie Allen's suicide.

Although physically robust, he seemed nervous and not the man he used to be. It is said he showed a disinclination to go much out of the house, especially in the evening. Finally one night he was found senseless on the road through a bit of brush and when he revived in a farmer's house to which he was carried he raved for a time about some sight which his diseased imagination appeared to have conjured up, shrieking and putting his hands up to his face as if to shut it out. He said subsequently that he had simply fainted on the road. After this shock he seemed considerably broken down and began to lose health as well as spirits.

On Friday he had a very violent attack, accompanied by hysterics. Dr. Davies was called in and Dr. Cook was summoned from Hill, but an attack of hemorrhage followed and he rapidly became worse and passed away on Sunday. It is stated he made a special confession to the parish priest before death. The doctors say Flynn had no particular disease but died from rupture of a blood vessel in the region of the heart, brought on, in their opinion, by excitement caused by a diseased state of the mind. Some people in Chelsea believe firmly that Martin Flynn was haunted by the spirit of the girl who committed suicide. The more sensible say that if there was really anything remarkable in the circumstances it was natural that Flynn's nerves should be upset by the awful denunciations in the dead girl's alleged letters. Flynn's friends, it will be remembered, claimed that Minnie Allen was not capable of writing the letters and that enemies of theirs concocted them and put them under the pillow of her deathbed.

THE C. P. R'S. CLAIM.

Return of the Arbitrators from British Columbia—Date of Hearing Evidence.

OTTAWA, March 20.—The arbitrators appointed by the Government to investigate the claim of the Canadian Pacific Railway with reference to the British Columbia section of the line have returned from a trip over that portion of the road in dispute. They were accompanied by Mr. VanHorne, Messrs. B. B. Osler, Q.C., and Mr. W. D. Hogg, counsel for the Government; Messrs. Cassels & Blackstock, solicitors for the railway; Mr. Hannaford of the Grand Trunk Railway, and Mr. Blickenderfer, chief engineer of the Union Pacific Railway.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company do not claim any particular sum as compensation, but they allege that the original specifications called for a first class road between Kamloops and Fort Moody, a distance of 213 miles, and that the conditions were not fulfilled. The Government hold that a first class road was handed over to the company. An arbitration was agreed to, and the arbitrators considered it advisable to personally inspect the work done, so as to be in a better position to deal with the merits of the claim.

The scope of their commission is to ascertain:

(1) If they have any just claim for compensation.
(2) If any, to what extent.
(3) How shall it be applied?

The party left Ottawa on the night of March 2 and spent four days in going over that part of the line in dispute, investigating the work done and arriving at Vancouver on Saturday, March 11.

From this point they proceeded to Victoria, where they remained until Tuesday the 14th, returning to Ottawa on the evening of the 19th.

The hearing of the evidence and the examination of the case on its merits is fixed for June 25, at Vancouver. It is thought that the investigation will occupy fully two months' time, as a great number of witnesses are to be examined.

THE SAILORS' MIESION.

The Rev. Mr. Bone Addresses a Meeting At the George-st. Church.

A meeting in the interests of the Welland Canal Sailors' Mission was held in the basement of the George-st. Methodist Church on Tuesday evening. The Rev. Mr Thompson presided and the attendance was very small.

After singing and prayer and a short address by the chairman, the Rev. Mr. Bone spoke. He referred to the wide field he covered, work among the sailors, the gaols, the hospitals, the poor houses and the orphan asylums. In the winter he covered a wide territory, but in summer he worked on the Welland canal, from Port Dalhousie to Port Colborne. Sailors are curious people, he said. They are independent and did not care about going to the ordinary churches unless they are dressed up. They are plain and did not understand the high flown pulpit oratory heard in the city churches. They liked to ask him questions and learned more from him in half on hour than they would learn in church in a week. They are hard to catch and he had to work in a round about way, beat around the bush, as it were. They are exceedingly fond of pictures and reading, and on the American side advantage was taken of these traits to flood the vessels with literature of the most pernicious type. He had to combat that and last season he had made 1085 trips to vessels and had distributed 500 copies each of the British Workman and the Glad Tidings and 400 copies of the Sunday School Times in addition to a large number of tracts and other religious papers. He gave numerous instances of sailors who had been brought to Christ through his preaching and the tracts, and he thanked God for blessing his work.

Captain ANNESLEY, R.N., at the request of the Chairman, said a few words. He was glad to hear of the good work being accomplished and he knew personally that God was working among the sailors of the royal and merchant navies. In 1846 there were no Christians to be found on the ships, while now they are on every ship and many prayer meetings are held and temperance societies have been formed.

Rev. Mr. TOVELL highly commended the good work Mr. Bone was doing and asked the public to assist him liberally. When supporting Mr. Bone, they are supporting a man of true faith, of all denominations, and a man with a true heart and a good head. When he saw the small audience he felt like using the lash upon those who go wild over and contribute largely towards the support of the missions in Japan, while they pay no attention to the 35,000 rough, honest sailors who are within a few feet of our own door and who are badly in need of religious instruction.

The meeting closed with a collection and the benediction.

In Quest of the Best Stone.

Toronto World:—"The Civic Committee, composed of Ald. Jones, Chairman of the Court House Comittee, and Hill, with Architect Lennon and Expert Isaacs, which was to have started on Monday night for Peterborough in quest of building stone for the Court House, decided not to go as the roads leading to the quarries around Peterborough are blocked up with snow. The committee will start Sunday night, and after visiting Peterborough will go to Ottawa to see the New Brunswick stone being used for the Departmental building."

Runaway.

At an early hour on Monday morning while two young men were driving home from Lakefield, their horse ran away near the Nassau Mills. The occupants of the cutter were thrown out on the road and the horse started for town. The horse and a portion of the shafts duly arrived at the livery stable of Mr. R. White, and the cutter, in a badly demoralized condition, was picked up at the north end some time afterwards. The driver and his chum reached town on shank's mare.

In the Days of the Barons.

"I dreampt that I dwelt in marble halls," sang the poet. This was all very well for the days of the barons of old, but marble halls would have a chilling effect on one's anatomy when living in Canada. Much better have your halls of the usual material and the floors covered with carpet, oilcloth, purchased at the golden lion. Then with a handsome curtain or portier at the back, the tout ensemble would be perfect and the mise en scene too lovely for anything. Look up the good value offered in the above lines at fair's, the golden lion.

D and D.

About one o'clock this morning Officer Stewart found a man endeavoring to walk on his hands and feet near George and Hunter-sts. The attempt was not a success, and as the acrobat used rather foul language, the officer consigned him to a cell. At the Police Court he pleaded guilty, giving his name as George Jerdan and his residence as Omemee. He was fined $2 or ten days, the P. M. remarking that Peterborough was the worst place in the country to get drunk in, as every man was sure to be fined. The prisoner was short of funds and went up to gaol until he can communicate with his friends.

No More Rebates.

The Council has decided to sit down on the system of license rebates, that has been so long in vogue here. Formerly a man would come along in the fall and take out a billiard license. He we would then apply to the Council for a rebate or a pro rata license, and reap the profits during the only season that most billiard tables pay. This was certainly not fair to those who paid for the whole year and kept their places open at seasons when they hardly paid for the gas burned. The same applies to butchers and others and henceforth a person will be obliged to pay a full year's license, whether he runs the full year or only one month.

If you want the best, the very best Rubbers, go to KIDD, the boot man. He also can boot you with the best Boots.

Boys and Pool.

Councillor Moore pointed out at Monday night's meeting that boys of fifteen years and under were in the habit of frequenting some of the billiard rooms and playing pool, night after night. He had seen them putting up their ten cent pieces like men and he wondered in many cases where the money came from. He said that the law regarding this matter was very stringent and the penalties severe and he thought the police should see that it was enforced. He knew that our hotels, etc., were well conducted as a general thing, but the surroundings in any case he did not consider as conducive to the moral welfare of children.

Satire and Ridicule.

An exchange says that "Eli Perkins shows in his lecture that satire is error exaggerated, as Cervantes exaggerated the errors of Don Quixote. Satire is to kill error as Cervantes killed the error of Knight errantry. Strong arguments could not hurt the curse of knight errantry. Satire actually destroyed the error. While satire kills error, ridicule harms truth. Satire is to exaggerate error and make people laugh at it; ridicule is to exaggerate truth and make people laugh at it. Ingersoll used ridicule to harm truth, while the conscienteous humourist like Cervantes uses satire to destroy error. Mr. Perkins in his lecture illustrated both satire and ridicule, and while the audience is screaming with laughter it is also learning valuable lessons in rhetoric and logic that can not be learned out of books. He gives original and practical theories which can be used every day by the writer or speaker by the teacher, lecturer, or clergyman." Eli lectures here on Friday evening next, at the Opera House.

Superlatives Required.

It would be difficult to speak honestly of Mrs. Scott-Siddons' performance without drawing largely on the superlatives. JOHN B. FINCH.

Recovered.

The horse stolen from the Snowden House, on Monday evening, was recovered on Tuesday afternoon, in the township of Otonabee, about six or seven miles from town. One of the men at the "widow" Crowley's farm saw a horse, without a driver, walking along the road towards town. He stopped the animal and put her in a shed, supposing that she had walked off from some place leaving the driver behind. As no claimant appeared he drove into town and after making inquiries found that the horse and rig were those owned by Mr. Scott, that had been taken from Snowden's. It is probable that some person took a drive home and then turned the horse around and started her for town. Mr. Snowden is naturally annoyed about the matter and he will willingly pay $50 for the conviction of the person who did the trick.

Canoe Club Debate.

The regular weekly meeting of the Otonabee Canoe Club took place, on Tuesday evening, at the rooms of the Commodore. There was a fair attendance. Mr. A. Clegg occupied the chair and Mr. Gordon Smith, B.A., acted as critic. The subject of debate was, "Resolved, that the system of municipal bonuses to railways and industries should be abolished." Messrs. A. E. Dixon and H. W. Stock supported the affirmative and Messrs. C. H. Allison and Thos. Barrie battled for the negative. The decision was in favor of the affirmative "by a large majority." Those who had the negative side labored under great disadvanges, but they made the best of a bad bargain and fought every inch of the ground in the most stubborn manner. At the next meeting the subject for debate will be "Resolved, that the Hon. Mr. Mowat's Manhood Suffrage Bill is Commendable." Messrs. H. W. Stock and J. Wills will uphold the affirmative and Messrs. Thos. Barrie and S. Munro, the negative. Mr. A. E. Dixon will preside.

Testing the Silsby.

For some time it has been found that the Silsby steam fire engine has been very slow in making steam. The steamer has been in use for 17 years and in that long period it has cost but a small amount for repairs and has never been thoroughly overhauled. On Tuesday afternoon the steamer was taken to the King-st. bridge and tested by Mr. Wm. Hickey, an expert from the Wm. Hamilton Manf'g. Co's. machine shop, in the presence of the members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee and officers of the fire department. It took nearly fifteen minutes to raise steam from cold water and the stream thrown through one hundred feet of hose was a rather slim one. The pressure was gradually run up to 93 lbs., with two lines of hose of one hundred feet each on. Before reaching that figure, however, two lengths of hose were burst and the streams thrown were the best we have ever seen in Peterborough. The pressure was the highest the engine ever stood and the noise it made could be heard all over the town. Leaks were discovered in several places and some of the working parts were found to be so much worn that they will have to be replaced. The packing also was faulty and in future asbestos will be used for that purpose. The result of the test was that the machine will be sent to the foundry.

A Leap Year Social will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George-st. Methodist Church at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Bradburn, on Thursday evening, March 29th. Full particulars will be given later. 2d68-1w12.

Coming Here.

An item in the Empire says that the Windsor hotel business at Stratford, has changed hands, the new lessees being Messrs. C. D. Rounds, of Galt, and T. Haberstadt, of Preston. Both gentlemen are experienced hotelkeepers. Mr. A. F. Huffman, the retiring landlord, returns to his former home in Peterborough.

In the Hands of his Friends.

The Port Hope Times says:—"With reference to the offer of the position of Chief of Police of Peterborough, Chief Douglas tells us he is in the hands of the friends who have been supporting him in Port Hope. A meeting of them will be held at which it will be decided what they will advise him to do."

Sources of Power.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons possesses, in addition to a rich, full, melodious voice, a very charming personnel, together with an easy grace of gesture and facility of movement which add inestimably to her power over her audience.—South Wales Daily News, Cardiff, Feb. 4, 1887. Mrs. Scott-Siddons will appear for the last time prior to her departure for England, at Bradburn's Opera House, Monday, 16th April. 1d68

At St. Luke's.

A meeting of the vestry of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Ashburnham, was held on Tuesday evening. There was a good attendance. It was decided to replace the present organ with a new one, and the contract for the work was awarded to Messrs. Jackson & Co., organ and piano builders, of Peterborough. The new instrument will have eighteen stops, while the one now in use only has six. It is expected that the organ will be ready by the first of May, and then the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw's congregation will have one of the finest musical instruments of the kind in this part of the country.

A Visitor From Bulgaria.

From an interview in the Globe we take the following:—"The Rev. Demetrias Staneff, a native of Eastern Bulgaria, is in the city. He stated to a Globe reporter that, having graduated from Oberlin College, he will sail for his native land next month to engage in missionary work among his fellow-countrymen. Now that the Bible has gained admittance he looks for a steady progress and development and is of the opinion that it can never be driven out nor forbidden. As to the atrocities of 1876, he was a witness of some of them, and was frequently compelled to flee to the mountains, at times carrying his sister on his back, where they hid as long as they could stand the cold and exposure. His father was among the killed, and their property was destroyed. According to his statement, the outside world has never known the full extent of the horrors perpetrated. In a town of 10,000 inhabitants not one escaped; in a school house over 500 small children were burned alive, while mothers were frequently seen fleeing with their murdered children—armless, legless and sometimes headless."

Brevities.

—Two tramps decorated the police station last night.

—Under the influence of the rain the snow is rapidly disappearing.

—The crossings at Murray and George-sts. are in an almost impassible condition.

—People who accidentally slip on the sidewalk just at present, arise with alacrity.

—An unpleasant odor again pervades the atmosphere in and around the police station.

—Officer Stewart made his first arrest this morning and he did the job with neatness and despatch.

—About a dozen private services have been thawed out by the Water Company during the last few days.

—Wheels are once more seen on the streets and the chances are that they will not give way to runners again until next winter.

—On Monday the Lindsay curlers defeated Stouffville by 12 shots. On the same day the Belleville Irishmen defeated the Scotchmen by 1 shot.

—A boy who fell off a sleigh on George-st. this morning and was dragged some distance was a sorry looking spectacle when he reached the sidewalk.

—Mr. Thomas Kelso, of Belleville, formerly President of the Grand Junction Company, slipped on the ice on Monday night and broke his leg at the ankle.

—The persons who lived in the house at the north end, referred to before, have silently stolen away and once more the police and the neighbors breathe freerer.

—The sidewalks outside the centre of the town are in a truly terrible state. The slush is inches deep and nothing short of a snow plough will do any good in cleaning them off.

—The cowboys and Indians of the Daniel Boone Company were conspicuous on the streets to-day and attracted considerable attention. They reached town at 8.20 this morning from Port Hope.

—The funeral of the late Mr. Geo. Baker, blacksmith, took place this afternoon. The employees of Mr. Peter Hamilton, at whose foundry the deceased was employed, attended, to the number of over sixty, and marched in a body in front of the hearse.

To Night.

The Peck & Fursman "Dan'l Boone" Company are registered at the Grand Central. At noon to-day they had a somewhat extensive street parade and they covered a large portion of the town, creating a sensation wherever they went. In line was a really good and splendidly uniformed brass band, a number of cowboys, scouts, Indians, squaws and papooses, all mounted and the rear was brought up by a large cage containing bears and cayottes. The company appears at the Opera House this evening and if press notices are to be relied on they give an entertainment well worth seeing.

Ayer's Hair Vigor stimulates the hair to a vigorous growth. It contains all that can be supplied to make the hair beautiful and abundant, removes dandruff, and renders the hair flexible and glossy.

The Chiefship.

Mr. John McNaughton is of opinion that the majority of the ratepayers do not approve of the action of the Town Council in regard to the chiefship of the police, and he desires a vote taken upon it, as was done in Port Hope. With this end in view he has commenced the circulation of a petition asking for a poll and a subscription list to pay the expense.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and not for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Lights are blazing, fiddles are sounding; all the world is abroad to-night. Even still, though the ball at the Towers has been opened long since by Mona and the Duke of Lauderdale, the flickering light of carriage-lamps is making the road bright, by casting tiny rays upon the frosted ground.

The fourth dance has come to an end; cards are full; every one is settling down in earnest; already the first touch of satisfaction or of carefully-suppressed disappointment is making itself felt.

Mona, who has again been dancing with the duke, stopping near where the duchess is sitting, the latter beckons her to her side by a slight wave of her fan. To the duchess "a thing of beauty is a joy forever," and to gaze on Mona's lovely face, and admire her tranquil but brilliant smile, gives her a strange pleasure.

"Come and sit by me. You can spare me a few minutes," she says, drawing her ample skirts to one side. Mona, taking her hand from Lauderdale's arm, drops into the proffered seat beside his mother, much to that young man's chagrin, who, having inherited the maternal hankering after that "delightful prejudice," as Theocritus terms beauty, is decidedly empris with Mrs. Geoffrey, and takes it badly being done out of his tete-a-tete with her.

"Mrs. Rodney would perhaps prefer to dance, mother," he says, with some irritation.

"Mrs. Rodney will not mind wasting a quarter of an hour on an old woman," says the duchess, equably.

"I am not so sure of that," says Mona, with admirable tact and an exquisite smile, "but I shouldn't mind spending an hour with you."

Lauderdale makes a little face, and tells himself secretly "all women are liars," but the duchess is very pleased, and bends her friendliest glance upon the pretty creature at her side, who possesses that greatest of all charms, inability to notice the ravages of time.

Perhaps another reason for Mona's having found such favor in the eyes of "the biggest woman in our shire, sir," lies in the fact that she is in many ways so totally unlike all the other young women with whom the duchess is in the habit of associating. She is naive to an extraordinary degree, and says and does things that might appear outre in others, but are so much a part of Mona that it neither startles nor offends one when she gives way to them.

Just now, for example, a pause occurring in the conversation, Mona fastening her eyes upon her Grace's neck, says, with genuine admiration,—

"What a lovely necklace you are wearing!"

To make personal remarks, we all know, is essentially vulgar; is indeed a breach of the commonest show of good breeding; yet somehow Mrs. Geoffrey's tone does not touch on vulgarity, does not even belong to the outermost skirts of ill-breeding. She has an inborn gentleness of her own, that carries her safely over all social difficulties.

The duchess is amused,

"It is pretty, I think," she says. "The duke," with a grave look, "gave it to me just two years after my son was born."

"Did he?" says Mona. "Geoffrey gave me these pearls," pointing to a pretty string round her own white neck, "a month after we were married. It seems quite a long time ago now," with a sigh and a little smile. "But your opals are perfect. Just like moonlight. By the bye," as if it has suddenly occurred to her, "did you ever see the lake by moonlight? I mean from the mullioned window in the north galley?"

"The lake here? No," says the duchess.

"Haven't you?" in surprise. "Why, it is the most enchanting thing in the world. Oh, you must see it; you will be delighted with it. Come with me, and I will show it to you," says Mona, eagerly, rising from her seat in her impulsive fashion.

She is plainly very much in earnest, and has fixed her large expressive eyes—lovely as loving—with calm expectancy upon the duchess. She has altogether forgotten that she is a duchess (perhaps indeed has never quite grasped the fact), and that she is an imposing and portly person not accustomed to exercise of any description.

For a moment her Grace hesitates, then is lost. It is to her a new sensation to be taken about by a young woman to see things. Up to this it has been she who has taken the young women about to see things. But Mona is so openly and genuinely anxious to bestow a favor upon her, to do her, in fact, a good turn, that she is subdued, sweetened, nay, almost flattered, by this artless desire to please her for "love's sake" alone.

She too rises, lays her hand on Mona's arm, and walks through the long room, and past the county generally, to "see the lake by moonlight." Yet it is not for the sake of gazing upon almost unrivaled scenery, she goes, but to please this Irish girl, whom so very few can resist.

THE RECIPROCITY DEBATE

CANADA HAS NO REASON TO BE DESPONDENT.

So Says Mr. Gigault in the House of Commons — Adam Brown Heard From — Loyalty Not to be Sneered At — The Law of Libel — Hansard Reports.

OTTAWA, March 20.—The House opened at 3 p.m. Sir John A. and Hon. Mackenzie Bowell introduced Mr. I. X. L. Corby as member for West Hastings, and after routine Mr. Rinfret opened the debate on Sir Richard Cartwright's resolution, speaking French in favor of Unrestricted Reciprocity and against the National Policy.

Mr. Gigault followed in English. The contention of the Liberals might be patriotic. He said he would not pronounce on their motives but they had committed an error the consequence of which would be disastrous to the country. He quoted statistics showing that the United States actually exported themselves a great many of the articles which it was claimed we would under this arrangement be able to export to that country with profit and advantage, and he also quoted the statement made by Mr. Davies that the price of grain in this country was regulated not in the States, but at Liverpool. He claimed that this was evident that our natural market was not to be found in the States but in Great Britain. He was in favor of reciprocity in natural products, but he was against Unrestricted Reciprocity.

He claimed that not only would the latter proposition destroy our manufacturing industries, but be injurious for our agricultural products. It would injure seriously the farming interests.

"Canada has no reason to be despondent," he included. "The Northwest is developing rapidly, deposits in the savings bank are increasing, our manufactures are being developed, and I believe that Canadians can secure to themselves a most enviable position."

Dr. Macdonald (Huron) believed that never before had there been such a great issue before the party and he was sorry to see that personalities had so largely entered into this discussion. He claimed that the interests of the manufacturers should be sacrificed in the general interests and that the 600,000 farmers of the Dominion demanded the introduction of a reciprocity measure. He showed how our mining industries suffered by reason of the imposition of a tax by the United States which caused our rich copper, iron and nickel mines to be idle. He contended that natural difficulties in the way of interprovincial trade were such as could not be removed except at such a cost as prohibited trade.

The House here rose for 6 o'clock dinner.

After recess Dr. Macdonald continued speaking about an hour.

Brown of Hamilton followed. He denounced the previous speaker for his advocacy of a policy which would result in annexation. He corrected a wrong impression which had been created by Sir Richard Cartwright in regard to the progress of Canada. That gentleman had drawn attention to the trade of the Dominion and claimed that it had not been as great as it should be in comparison with that of the States, but the official trade returns of the States proved the opposite.

Hon. gentlemen opposite had for several days past been crying down this country, and he had not any doubt their words were being collected by American railway and land companies to divert emigrants from Canada to the Western States.

If the United States had grown in the same proportion during the last fifty years as Canada had, they would have many millions more of population than they have. Canada has kept pace with them, but gentlemen opposite would never admit this. They never tell of any of the advantages we have, but their whole policy is to decry the country; yet they repeatedly attempt to gull the country by insincerely bringing forward propositions on temperance or some other subject by which they hope to gain favor.

We can't expect continuous prosperity. There will be lulls in business, but taken on the whole the country had progressed with great strides. Should such a resolution as this pass we would not know in six months whether we were Americans or Canadians.

Gentlemen opposite had sneered at what they called sentiment when Conservatives talked about connection with Britain, but what they sneered at as sentiment Conservatives called loyalty and it was what had made the country what it is. The Canadian people would never surrender that sentiment. An attempt had been made to score a point on account of the slow development of the iron industries, but he (Mr. Brown) contended that since the tariff changes of last year, which had been the capstone of the National Policy, the iron factories had made wonderful strides, and their growth was yet in its infancy. He read a number of letters from heads of many large iron factories and other industries stating that Unrestricted Reciprocity would kill their trade.

In her educational and moral interests Canada had also materially flourished. Yet the Liberals declare there can be no prosperity in Canada till her whole fiscal policy is changed. That policy was one which Conservatives considered, and which the majority of the people considered, would lead to annexation to the States, and he quoted from Lord Dufferin that while Canada believed in being on the most friendly terms with the States, they wanted no closer connection that at present existed.

Mr. Choquette followed in French.

Mr. Wood of Westmoreland spoke in opposition to Commercial Union. The Opposition, after trying vainly for years to originate a policy, had at last been compelled to resort to one started by Erastus Wiman. While the object of the National Policy was to build up our industries, this proposition meant their ruin. The National Policy encouraged the building up of a home market and it promised to be more successful in the future than it has ever yet been. It would certainly be good if our commercial relations with the States were made more free as regards the natural products of this country, but the proposition before the House, involving as it did the destruction of our industries, could not be supported. He held that the practicability of this proposition had not been shown and could not be shown. It would be impossible, while we are part of the British Empire, to establish a discriminating tariff against England. He then enlarged on the loyalty of the Canadian people. The Oppositionists were merely hiding their annexation views under the veil of Commercial Union.

Mr. Barron rose to move the adjournment of the debate, but it being hardly 12 o'clock and Conservative members being anxious that other business of the House should not be delayed by this debate lasting over many days, yet he was induced to go on with his speech. He spoke in support of Commercial Union.

Mr. Curran will continue the debate tomorrow.

TORONTO TOPICS.

OTTAWA NOTES.

Mr. Jamieson will on Monday next test the sense of the House on the Prohibition issue and move that provisions for its enforcement be made by the Dominion Government.

Sir Charles Tupper will on Thursday move an amendment to the audit account and to fix the salary of the Auditor General at $4000, with provisions that he shall come under the operation of the civil service superannuation fund.

Mounted Police Commissioner Herchmer, who is at present in the city making arrangements for filling vacancies in the force and planning for spring operations, says the reports about Indian troubles in the Northwest are exaggerations. The Indians are perfectly quiet. From another source it is learned that Indians and halfbreeds in some districts are demanding increased supplies.

The Senate sat only half an hour to-day, having only two bills to introduce.

Mr. Taylor, M.P., to-day introduced to the Minister of Marine Capt. Davis of Gananoque and several other owners of small steam yachts which ply on the St. Lawrence. They asked for amendments to the Engineers' Act so as to allow competent men to run engines on small craft without complying with the regulations, but with the permission of the Inspector of Steamboats. Mr. Kirkpatrick, M.P., subsequently introduced Capt. Davidson of Kingston, who made a similar request. Hon. Mr. Foster promised to give the matter an early consideration.

The Department of Agriculture is distributing 75,000 copies of Mr. Lynch's new book. There has been a great demand for the work by members, and a second edition is being talked of. It is printed in both French and English.

WHAT PREMIER GREENWAY SAYS.

The Manitobans Will Build the Red River Valley Railroad.

TORONTO, March 21.

With a big, fragrant cigar in his mouth and a table full of letters and telegrams in front of him, a reporter found Premier Greenway of Manitoba in his cosy room at the Queen's last night. "I left Ottawa," said the Prairie Premier, "because there was no hope of settling anything with Sir John. We had three conferences. At one of them there were four other Cabinet ministers present in addition to the two of us. Then we had another meeting at which Mr. Martin was the only other person present. At the third meeting, after which I decided to leave Sir John and I were alone. When I got to Ottawa I was received very well. At the initial meeting I got right down to business. I asked Sir John to talk plainly and I'd do the same. He wouldn't. He was like the Irishman. He gave an evasive answer to everything I asked him. Well, you know, I hadn't time to waste and I told Sir John so. Then Sir George Stephen happened along. Perhaps his advent had nothing to do with the case, but I know it was mighty hard work talking to the Premier after he had talked to the Canadian Pacific Railway. Now, you can just say to the public that Manitoba proposes to keep on building that Red River Valley Railway until it is finished. It isn't a party question at all. It is a question of prosperity or ruin, or getting out of the country to Manitobans. Armed resistance? It won't come to that. Then Mr. Greenway told the young man that he was going up to Huron County to see the place where he had begun life. He would probably reach Winnipeg by Saturday evening.

Mr. Greenway left by the 11.15 train on the Grey and Bruce line last night.

ASSIGNMENTS IN CANADA.

THE COURT OF APPEAL EQUALLY DIVIDED AS TO ITS VALIDITY.

Has the Local Legislature Power to Pass Such a Measure?—The Uncertainty of the Law and How it Will Effect Business Men—Clarkson v. Ontario Bank.

TORONTO, March 22.

The validity of the act respecting assignments for the benefit of creditors, passed by the Ontario Legislature in 1885, was a point at issue in the case of Clarkson v. Ontario Bank, in which judgment was given by the Court of Appeal on Tuesday.

This was an appeal from a decision of Judge Ferguson, who held the act was intra vires of the Provincial Legislature. The Chief Justice and Judge Osler were of opinion the act was ultra vires. Judges Patterson and Burton, took the opposite view that it was intra vires. The court being equally divided, the decision of Judge Ferguson is sustained.

The question at issue was whether the Ontario Legislature had power to pass such an act in face of the B.N.A. act, which delegates insolvency matters to the Federal Parliament.

Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, who argued the case on behalf of the Attorney-General, took the ground that the act legislated on a question of property and civil rights and not of insolvency; that it related to the disposition of a debtor's estate in the same way as such an estate is distributed when it is in the hands of the sheriff; that the act was not compulsory and therefore not an insolvent act. The act does not give power to creditors to force a debtor to assign, but leaves it optional on the part of the debtor to avail himself of the provisions of the act or not, as he may see fit. Under an insolvent act the creditors could force a debtor into insolvency.

As stated above the court was equally divided, one-half maintaining the act was an insolvent law and subject to Dominion legislation, the other half deciding it came within the question of property and civil rights over which the Local Legislature has exclusive control.

The act, of course, is sustained by the court, but the fact that one-half its members decided against its legality throws a great deal of uncertainty on the question of its constitutionality. It is of the greatest importance to the business community that this uncertainty should be removed at once. This uncertainty will disturb all pending and future assignments made under the act. Not only that. It is said the validity of the Creditors' Relief Act hinges on the validity of the act in question. Under the former act judgment creditors share pro rata on all moneys in the sheriff's hands. If the act should be declared invalid the old state of the law would prevail, under which the man with the first judgment got all the money.

The parties interested will carry the case to the Supreme Court or Privy Council.

One of the resolutions passed by the Quebec Conference related to this very subject of insolvency and bankruptcy, and the uncertainty as to how far the provinces might legislate in that direction. The resolution is as follows:

That by the British North America Act the jurisdiction with respect to bankruptcy and insolvency is assigned to the Federal Parliament; that there is no Federal law on that subject now in force; that, in the absence of a law for the whole Dominion, it is in the public interest that each province should be at liberty to deal with the matter, subject to any Federal law which may hereafter be passed; that it is doubtful how far under the present provisions of the act, the Provincial Legislatures can deal with the subject; and it is desirable that the act be amended by expressly giving to the provinces the necessary jurisdiction, in the absence of and subject to any Federal law.

Were the B.N.A. Act amended as above proposed, there would be no question as to the right of the province to pass such an act as the Assignment Act or to go still further and pass an insolvency act, such act being subject to any Federal act that might be passed. This is one way out of the difficulty, but it requires an amendment to be made to the B.N.A. Act, which is a pretty big undertaking.

Another way out of the difficulty is for the Dominion Parliament to take up the insolvency question and pass an act that would apply uniformly to the whole country, or they could take up the Ontario Act of 1885 and sanction it, as far as the Province of Ontario is concerned.

It will take many months before the matter can be finally settled by the Supreme Court and Privy Council.

In the meantime the business community, lawyers, assignees and others will be in a state of uncertainty as to the matter. It is very important that whatever is to be done should be done quickly.

Supposed To Be In Canada.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Jerome L. Hill, a prominent club man and one of the executors of the estate of Wm. Lottimer, has disappeared, and is supposed to be in Canada. The Lottimer estate was valued at several million dollars.

THE ORATORICAL BATTLE.

M.P.P'S. STILL DEBATING RECIPROCITY AT THE CAPITAL.

The Member for Centre Toronto Makes a Speech Which Wins Commendation from His Colleagues—Other Addresses —The Combines Committee.

OTTAWA, March 21.—In the House to-day Mr. Curran, continuing the debate on reciprocity, alluded first briefly to the speech of Mr. Barron and then dealt generally with the subject. He refuted the contention that our cattle trade would benefit by the introduction of Unrestricted Reciprocity. He dealt with the figures of the improvements in Quebec, showing enormous general progress and great increase in the wealth of the people. In the City of Montreal alone there had been wonderful prosperity since the National Policy was introduced.

He deprecated the statements of gentlemen opposite who had spoken of Canadians as mere hewers of wood and drawers of water. He quoted from Goldwin Smith and Erastus Wiman, the great advocates of Unrestricted Reciprocity, words in which they had cast contempt on the French element of the Dominion, and yet which the Reform party had in their support of Commercial Union never yet repudiated.

He then reviewed the Commercial Union movement from its inception by Mr. Blake at Malvern to the present time, when it is adopted as the chief plank in the Liberal platform. He referred to The Globe's statement at one time that Commercial Union was not worthy of consideration by any sensible man, and yet the party of which The Globe was the avowed organ was now advocating that very measure.

It had been claimed that Commercial Union was not Unrestricted Reciprocity, but he contended that insofar as Canada and the States were concerned they meant practically the same thing, and he quoted again from Goldwin Smith, who stated this view most positively. The advocates of this resolution in the House admit that it will produce a great economic revolution involving ruin to a certain proportion of the people, yet they do not show conclusively either by good argument or a single appeal to history that any good would result.

Mr. Welsh followed, delivering a funny speech, speaking from a Prince Edward Island standpoint.

After recess several bills were advanced a stage.

Mr. Cockburn following on the Government side, ridiculed the speech of Mr. Welsh. He twitted the Liberal party on their lack of leadership, and questioned whether the virtue of multiplicity of counsels extended to that of leaders. Taking up the statement made by members of the Opposition that Canada had suffered a loss of $500,000,000 by outflow of population, he was thankful that the country he lived in was able to lose this immense amount and be prosperous as it was to-day.

He expressed disgust at the depreciation of Canada heard from the lips of Opposition speakers, and said he regretted that Sir Richard Cartwright had not contented himself with maligning Canada, but had extended his attack to the Mother Country. England, he had said, now stood in a dangerous position of isolation. She had not a friend among the great European powers, and yet with his life filled with mock modesty Sir Richard Cartwright asked us to strike the finishing blow at the old land, thus pictured as lying prostrate.

There was a strange inconsistency between the contention that we in Canada were on our last legs in a quagmire of despair, dragged down by debt, and expecting us to believe that the States were ready with their eyes open to ally themselves with us. If we believed this we must believe that that republic was on a mission of knight errantry, seeking out friendless women and proposing alliance with them.

He belittled the oft reiterated assertion of the Opposition that the letter of Secretary Bayard to Sir Charles Tupper amounted to an invitation for a proposition from Canada for a reciprocity treaty, making of this crumb from the table of their proposed masters veritable sweet bread. Canada by putting this interpretation on an expression of civility would be much in the position of a man who, being told by a friend, "I would like to see you at my house sometime to dinner," should on the strength of this be found every evening at the table of his civil friend.

Gentlemen opposite seemed to be always unhappy unless they were miserable, and miserable unless they were unhappy. We were now in the position in which the United States were twenty years ago, we were on the verge of very extensive growth and development, but the opponents of the administration were, childlike, continually seeking to tear up the plant to see if it had sprouted. He argued at length in opposition to the contention that Canadian trade was to be benefited by the change asked to be made in our policy.

He showed the radical difference in the nature of imports of Canada now and in 1879, when the N.P. was put in operation, and claimed that the change wrought represented a gain of upwards of $18,000,000 to the artisans and work people generally of this country, and through them to the farming communities.

He concluded by advising the Liberal party to turn from their headless and heedless course and not further provoke the wreck of the party and the country.

Mr. Mills (Annapolis) followed, speaking from a Nova Scotia standpoint. He claimed that the country was not going to the dogs, as the member for Queen's, P.E.I., had reported. He quoted from the annual reports of the agricultural societies to prove his assertion, showing by these reports that the farming industries instead of languishing are now in a better paying condition than for years past. He pointed out that by the reports published in Nova Scotia by the local Government the farmers of Annapolis and King counties did not want reciprocity of any kind. They were getting good prices for their potatoes and apples, better prices being realized than when Canada had reciprocity with the States.

Mr. Ellis (St. John, N.B.), followed in a speech made up principally of statistics, but bringing out no new points; rehashing the old story that Unrestricted Reciprocity is what we want, and without it the country is in a retrograding state.

Mr. Baird (Queens, N.B.), moved adjournment of the debate and the House adjourned at 12.45 a.m.

THE COMBINES COMMITTEE.

Correspondence From Various Quarters—Ginger Ale Makers Protest.

OTTAWA, March 21.—The Combines Committee met this morning to read over the correspondence submitted from various quarters of the Dominion since the last sitting of the committee. Some preliminary discussion took place as to whether it would be advisable to incorporate this correspondence in the report to Parliament, but as it had not yet been decided to have the evidence printed, the matter was left in abeyance.

Mr. R. Millar and other ginger ale manufacturers of Montreal wish to complain of the great loss they sustain through not being allowed to purchase sugar, which enters largely into the manufacture of effervescing drinks, direct from the refiners. The effect is to destroy an industry which gives employment to a large number of people, through the exorbitant prices the members of the guild demand. The combination they regard as an unjust one.

A letter was read from Mr. Tenfy of Richmond Hill, Ont. He asserts that he has made an effort to get a copy of the constitution of the undertakers' secret combination in Toronto, but nothing could be ascertained outside of what takes place in their meetings. This was a grinding monopoly. From his own observations of what was going on he conceived that all the ministers of Canada might preach economy in funeral arrangement until doomsday, but that would not protect the poor people of this country from the iniquitous operations of the undertakers, conspiracy to rob them. The prices were fixed and the poor people were obliged to accept them. The chief places of business is in Toronto and Mr. John Philp is the manager. He advised the committee to read a report in The Toronto World of March 15 which contained valuable information. The chairman read the article referred to.

Mr. S. S. Malcolmson, Secretary of the Canadian Marine Engineers' Association, complained of a pernicious combine operated by the Owners' Marine Association. They issue every winter a tariff of wages which even include the boys employed on board vessels. Any violation of the compact involved a penalty of $1000. The wages were ridiculously low. He had endeavored to get a copy of the tariff for the coming season, but so far had failed. He would, however, forward one to the committee at a later date.

This correspondent also complained about the operations of the coal combine, and wanted to point out that they discriminated against the small consumer. According to Mr. Rogers' evidence the profit was 25 cents per ton on coal. A comparison of the contract prices for large quantities of coal with that charged the ordinary consumer would show the injustice.

A sample of sugar was submitted for the inspection of the committee from Mr. D. Millar, Washago, which was so hard that it had to be chopped with a chisel and an axe. A barrel weighed no less than 356 pounds and the price paid was 6¼ cents. He had been sold it was Redpath's production, but whoever sold it must have been ashamed of the product, because the name of the refiner was conspicuous by its absence. It was labelled "N.B."—probably "No Brand."

A member observed that the sample had evidently crumbled since being put in the box. Evidently dissolution had set in. [Laughter.]

Mr. Burpee: "That's the kind of sugar one might look at but it would be risky to eat."

Mr. Bain: "It looks as though it might have come from the tree, and a very bad one at that."

A letter from Mr. Drummond of the Canada Sugar Refinery was also read. He thought his evidence was clear enough on the matter of glucose. However, it seemed to have been misunderstood. He intended to convey that there was not a single pound of glucose used in the manufacture or adulteration of sugar or syrup turned out by the refinery which he represented.

Mr. J. N. Blake, barrister of Toronto, writes a long letter complaining that the banking combine of the Board of Trade was the most iniquitous organization in the country. He pointed out that they speculated with the banking funds in the New York market in a way that regular banking institutions would never think of doing. In this way ruin has been caused to many people in Canada.

The chairman explained that several Toronto men interested in the operation of coal would be subpœnaed, among them J. C. Breckenridge, an employe of a coal firm; J. M. Wood, secretary of the coal section and G. W. Wood; also G. W. Bell, a dealer who was not within the "inner circle." It was also intended to summon Mr. P. Larmouth, secretary of the Union, a coal combine, as well as witnesses from places where no organization existed, so that the prices could be compared.

Mr. Guillet drew attention to an interview published in The Toronto News with Mr. Wills, secretary of the Toronto Guild, charging the chairman with partisanship in the examination of witnesses and pronouncing the committee proceedings a farce. This was an unjust reflection, and he wished to place this on record. The correspondents who attended the sittings of the committee, he was glad to say, had all given fair reports, but in this case the responsibility rested with the local reporter in Toronto.

The committee then adjourned until to-morrow, when the coal combine will be further investigated.

Clarke Wallace, Chairman of the Combines Committee, says Mr. Secretary Wills' attitude towards himself will be better understood when it is known that he disallowed that gentleman's claim of $5.40 for board during the three days he was snowbound on the Canadian Pacific Railway train. The railway company refused take any money from the passengers for their board during that period. He had also disallowed a claim for $1 for sleigh hire made by Mr. Wills on the ground that the $4 a day allowed witness in addition to traveling expenses was supposed to cover all contingencies.

In Fahey's Defence.

MONTREAL, March 21.—The defence in Detective Fahey's case was opened to-day, when a number of witnesses were examined, and testified to the prisoner's character. Bowen, one of the accused, was also examined, and said that when in the cells Flynn and Maxwell had supplied him with liquor and made him promises. When he made his confession to Judge Dugas he was stupid and does not remember what he then said.

Paul Philippoteaux, the cyclorama artist, has just celebrated his thirty-eighth birthday.

NO FRANCHISE FOR WOMEN

THE HOUSE WILL NOT PROROGUE TO-DAY AS EXPECTED.

The Printer is to Blame—One Hundred and Seventy-Five Bills Introduced During the Session, and About Half That Number Gone Through.

TORONTO, March 21.—Mr. Waters moved the second reading of his bill to enable widows and unmarried women to vote for members of the Legislative Assembly. In support of his bill he detailed at some length the progress that had been made toward granting the suffrage to women in England and the United States, and he quoted the opinions of American authorities favorable to the practice. He expressed himself as willing to make a concession so far as to accept the municipal franchise for women, and urged the members of the Government to support that measure.

Hon. Mr. Fraser said that, now that manhood suffrage was a certainty, the problem they were brought face to face with was not whether women should have a property franchise, as the mover of the bill suggested, but whether universal suffrage should be adopted. He admitted the fact that many petitions in favor of the measure had reached the House, but these were in almost every case from temperance organizations. He opposed the measure on many grounds, chiefly that its logical conclusion was universal suffrage, and that it would unnecessarily complicate the franchise. He moved that the question be now put, explaining that he and those who were opposed to the bill would vote against his own motion, while those who favored the bill would vote for it.

Mr. Waters regretted that the matter had not been met more squarely. He challenged the Commissioner of Public Works to get as many petitions against the measure as he had been able to get for it, and said the argument that the time for introducing it was inopportune did not hold, because he had been ready to go on with it early in the session, and it seemed that no time could be found which, in the opinion of the Commissioner of Public Works, would be opportune.

Mr. Meredith objected to the motion of Mr. Fraser, characterizing it as an ingenious method to avoid giving a square vote for or against the measure.

Hon. Mr. Mowat said it would be very unfair to the mover if his bill were not treated just as it would have been at an earlier stage of the session. He was not afraid of woman suffrage, and would not even object to having them in his Cabinet, but he did not believe the country was prepared for it yet.

Hon. Mr. Fraser withdrew his motion. The motion for the second reading was then put, and lost on a vote of 41 to 30.

In Committee of the Whole, Mr. Phelps' bill for the protection of game and fur-bearing animals was advanced a stage, with several amendments, before the House rose at 1 o'clock.

On resuming at 3 o'clock the House at once went into Committee of the Whole and advanced the following bills, with some amendments.

To amend the act respecting mortgages—French.

To provide for the incorporation of cheese and butter manufacturing associations—Wood (Hastings).

Respecting conditional sales of chattels—Nairn.

To amend the Ditches and Watercourses Act—Nairn.

Around the Lobbies.

Several Government supporters are of opinion that Mr. Awrey would be the strongest man to fill the position of agriculture, from a party point of view. He is a fluent, easy speaker. Mr. Drury is looked upon as a man capable of looking after the interests committed to the charge of such minister.

Mr. Stratton tried to find out the name of the new minister the other day. It happened like this: The West Peterboro man received a communication from some of his constituents asking that the Minister of Agriculture come down to Peterboro and deliver an address before a farmers' meeting. He showed it to several entries in the "agricultural race" and they said, "Go and ask Mowat who he is." Mr. Mowat said in reply that he did not know who the new minister would be. The matter had not been considered in Council. The Attorney-General seemed to enjoy the tact of his opponents trying to get at his secrets.

The House will not prorogue till to-morrow on account of the required printing not being in hand. The House will meet at 2 p.m.

Last night Deputy Reeve Gowanlock of Parkdale and several councillors and a number of Parkdale's citizens were at the House to protest against Mr. Leys' amendment to the Municipal Act. Of course it was too late, the bills being then in third reading. Mr. Leys said he made the amendment on the express approbation of Mayor Lynd and Mr. Gowanlock.

Arranged With His "Creditors."

MONTREAL, March 21.—John C. Eno is here en route to New York, having arranged with his creditors.

THE COMING EMPEROR.

Crown Prince William's Stalwart, Warlike and Aggressive Figure.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The Sun's Berlin correspondent says: A man of 29 years, erect, square-shouldered, lithe, powerful and austere strode out of the railway station here yesterday afternoon after seeing a batch of royal guests depart. He had a strong, heavily lined and moody face. The guards presented arms and a brilliant retinue of generals hurried after the masterful looking German. It was the Crown Prince, who will soon be Emperor of the nation of warriors. The waiting multitude at sight of him gave a single yell that came from their very hearts. The Prince listened with rapt look, then threw back his head with a sudden motion and showed his teeth in a smile of savage exultation.

The fierce light that beats about the German throne leaves the dumb and sickly monarch in the shadow, plodding slowly on towards the nearing and inevitable end, while it throws the stalwart, warlike and aggressive figure of Crown Prince William out with a vivid distinctness. The name of the coming Emperor is heard in the councils of all the sovereigns and diplomats of Europe. Not since the first Napoleon has a young man wielded such tremendous power as will fall to the lot of this headstrong, violent and revengeful prince. He will have two million men and two million muskets at his back. He hates the English and he hates the Jews; so do the German people. They detest their present English Empress because she makes her children talk English and has prevailed upon the Emperor to have an English physician. They have tried to mob Mackenzie and they look coldly at Frederick the Third, because he spends the last hours of his waning life ennobling men of Semitic blood. They adore the very name of the coming ruler who has all their prejudices intensified a thousand fold. His aversion to the English extends to his own mother.

Military Changes.

BERLIN, March 21.—General von Loe succeeds General von Pape as Commander of the Corps of the Guard at Berlin. General von Pape will be given another command. General von Hoeseler succeeds Count von Waldersee as Quartermaster-General. The removal of Count von Waldersee has caused much surprise, as it has always been supposed he would succeed Count von Moltke. The removal is supposed to be due to Prince Bismarck's annoyance over the anti-Semitic affair.

It is reported that Chaplain Stoecker has circulated gratis among the lower classes 32,000 copies of his Sunday paper containing a violent tirade against Dr. Mackenzie.

The New Mexican Loan.

BERLIN, March 21.—The North German Gazette hopes the new Mexican loan of £10,500,000, in which German capital has an interest, will have the effect of opening a new outlet for German enterprise.

Disastrous Inundation.

VIENNA, March 21.—The ice in the Danube is breaking up. There is an enormous inundation in Galicia and Hungary. In the Lemberg district many villages have been ruined. Two hundred houses have been wrecked at Szottmar; some of the streets of Buda are submerged.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Drinking Water Analysis—Interprovincial Resolutions Carried in New Brunswick.

OTTAWA, March 21.—The Inland Revenue officials appointed to analyze samples of the water used in the various cities of the Dominion have returned from the Maritime Provinces and will make a tour of the western cities. A bulletin will be published in June giving the result of the experiment.

New Brunswick members have been telegraphed that the interprovincial resolutions have been carried in the Legislature by a vote of 29 to 10.

The Supreme Court to-day heard arguments in the appeal of Palmer v. Wallbridge, an appeal from the Court of Appeal for Ontario reversing a judgment of Mr. Justice Ferguson, awarding the plaintiff $1250. The action was one based on a claim for royalty in respect to an iron mine at Madoc.

Mr. L. Tonwill is in the city urging the Minister of Public Works to further improve the navigation of the St. Francis River.

Lt.-Col. Hughes, brigade major; Capt. Robert and Capt. Roy of the 65th Battalion, Montreal, are in town in connection with military matters.

Lord Lansdowne has accepted an invitation to attend an entertainment to be given by the 23d Battalion on April 12.

Sir Charles Tupper is steadily improving.

The Ottawa branch of the Imperial Federation League have arranged for a demonstration on April 9. The speakers will be Messrs. Dalton McCarty, C. H. Tupper, Baker and McNeill, M.P.'s.

On Saturday morning Mr. Foster, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Messrs. Dalton McCarthy, C. H. Tupper, R. C. Weldon, A. McNeill, Dr. Montague and Col. Denison leave Ottawa for Toronto to attend the meeting of the Canadian League the same night.

THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1888.

THE TWO SCHEMES.

It is said that Mr. J. D. Edgar is endeavoring, through Mr. S. J. Ritchie, to influence Congressman Hitt, of the United States, to change the commercial union resolution he has introduced into Congress so as to make it similar to Sir Richard Cartwright's unrestricted reciprocity resolution. But was not Sir Richard's motion modelled after one proposed in the House of Representatives by Congressman Butterworth? If the United States would accept that scheme it can make the fact known by Congress adopting Mr. Butterworth's motion.

While the two schemes, commercial union and unrestricted reciprocity, are different in theory, in practice they would operate very much the same. Commercial union involves discrimination against the rest of the world, including England, and so does unrestricted reciprocity; Mr Wiman's scheme would deprive the Dominion of a large part of its revenue, and so would Sir Richard's; either one would involve direct taxation, and the making of Canada a slaughter market for the United States manufacturers until those manufacturers had secured control of these markets by crushing out the Canadian factories. Sir Richard's scheme would also include having the same customs duties for the two countries, the United States being the largest would have the control; and a similarity of duties would mean the injury of trade in the largest Canadian cities and of Canadian shipping trade. Unless the duties were made the same in both countries, as contended by the Liberal leader from Prince Edward Island, the scheme would be impracticable. How would Canada be benefitted by either scheme? Our trade with Great Britain would be injured, our manufacturing industries crippled, the farmers' home market limited, and the advantages would come very far short of off-setting the disadvantages.

A SHORT time ago the Globe said:—"Distrust all figures professing to show that Canada is retrograding instead of progressing. Eschew the association of the teachers of despair." Now the same paper is backing up the Opposition teachers of despair at Ottawa who say the country is retrograding. The Globe and Mail seem to have been trying, during the past year, to see which could make the greater number of sharp turns. It is a close contest.

THE Globe refers to those "who humble their country at the dictation of Downing-st. rule." And yet the Globe and the Liberal party want this country to ask the Downing-st. rulers to review all Provincial legislation and disallow that which does not please them. If Downing-st. is disposed to humble Canada, why deprive this country of a part of the self-goverment that has been accorded it?

THE Sanford Manufacturing Co., of Hamilton, has sent a representative to Japan for the purpose of opening a trade in ready made clothing in that country. It is also said that the Kingston Cotton Company have received a contract for a large shipment of cotton to China, the goods to be shipped to British Columbia over the Canadian Pacific and thence to China. Canadian trade is extending.

THE Canada Citizen, the Toronto temperance organ, does not give Mr. David Mills credit for trying to benefit temperance legislation in moving his motion regarding Scott Act legislation. Of course it was simply a political move which he hoped would benefit his party. It was too thin, though.

Don't use any more nauseous purgatives such as Pills, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the Bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

The manufacturers of firearms are said to have formed a gun trust. They will have to take in the man who thinks it isn't loaded, for he is the most stupendous gun trust on record.

A precocious New York boy accompanied his mother to the theatre. The seat check was marked K 9, and the boy refused to sit there, insisting that it was reserved for a dog.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

The following is the conclusion of the report of the Farmerss' Institute meeting held at Lakefield:—

"FRUIT CULTURE"

Mr. L. F. CARPENTER gave the meeting a few hints on "Fruit Culture." He advised farmers to preserve all their old trees as the fruit produced did not by any means supply the demand. The Canadian fruit is better colored, better flavored, firmer, and will stand shipment further than those of any other country on the globe. Apples, he thought, were the best crop that could be grown, if properly packed and selected. They should be hand picked and packed in rows with the stems down for the top row. Empty in a basket and then shake down. For winter apples he favored in this order, Baldwin, Rhode Island greening, Roxbury russet, King of Tompkins county, Swar Soap, Spitzenburg, Nonsuch and Hopkins' late market. For early apples he favored the Duchess of Oldenburg and the Wealthy. For planting in this climate he recommended the Northern Spy, Seek no Further, Yellow Bellflower, American Golden Russett, Pewankee, Wallbridge, Haas and the Ben Davis for shipping. Unless the land is high and dry the Wagner will not grow good. For Northern Spy's the land must also be high and dry as they will not prosper in wet land.

Mr. GALVIN said that there were four varieties of apples that can easily be cultivated here. First, he placed the Duchess of Oldenburg, then the Ben Davis, the Culvert and the Wagner. The first three are hardy anywhere, if properly cultivated.

RAISING HORSES.

Mr. T. M. WILLAN chose the above subject and read a lengthy paper. He regarded Canada as the best country on the globe for raising horses of the best classes, as we have the climate and the material. He thought that more attention should be paid to breeding. In order that a farmer can make a profit he must produce the kind of stock that is most in demand and which will bring the best prices. To raise a colt three years old cost about $100 and he looked at it that horse raising, except for farm purposes, is not generally profitable, as when a horse is five years old he has cost as much as can be got for him. It is estimated that about 5 per cent of the horses now raised and sold pay for their breeding, 25 per cent. may just cover the outlay and 75 per cent. fail to do so. In order to make the business pay the farmer should breed that class that will come to the collar at the earliest age and earn his keep until sold. For sires he would use only horses of the best and purest breeding and in no case mongrels. He regarded Clydes as the best horses, but at the same time a well bred coach horse, if he can be got heavy enough, is a good one for general farm work.

Mr. R. E. BIRDSALL thought that entire horses should be licensed in order to prevent so many mongrels travelling through the countryy.

Mr. WILLAN said the licenses would come out of the farmers, but his idea was to educate the farmers to select only pure horses and the poor ones will soon leave the road.

Mr. G. W. MANN wanted to know if colts produced by young horses or mature horses were the best?

Mr. WILLAN said that matured horses produced the best stock.

RAISING SHEEP.

Mr. R. E. BIRDSALL read a paper on this important topic, for which he was highly complimented. The reason that more sheep are not kept on the farm is because of the low price of wool, compared with what it was at the time of the American civil war, when the object was wool, not mutton. Now it is plain that if sheep are raised simply for wool, there is no money in the business. He favored raising sheep for both mutton and wool, the former for shipment to Britain. For this purpose he took a flock of ordinary coarse woolled sheep and a pure bred Southdown ram. The lambs produced by this cross he would breed a Leicester or Cotswald ram, of the purest breed. Southdown mutton is the best and the English butchers want sheep with black heads and feet. It costs no more to send a first class animal to market than it does a third class one. Each carcase, when dressed, should weigh about 70 pounds. Good breeding ewes should have (1) good weight without too much bone, (2) good broad chests and wide hips, (3) square built behind, (4) well woolled, particularly on the belly, and (5) they should come to maturity early. Lambs should never be bred as it stunts them, and ewes should not be bred after they are four years old. He selected October for breeding and always had the lambs come in the barnyard, taking care that the ewes are well fed and cared for. He fed cut pea straw and hay, turnips and a little grain or a mixture of peas and oats. For breeding he uses pea straw. The young lambs should be carefully watched and the ewes kept warm and well watered. He supplied lots of salt the year around, at least once a week. He docked the ewes when they are two weeks old and daubed the stump with a mixture of pine tar and lard. About the 20th of May was the time for washing and the wool should be ready to clip in five days, when care should be taken in preparing it for shipment. If his ideas were followed out, the wool will more than pay for feed and attendance. Vacancies in the flock can be filled up with the ewe lambs and the ram lambs will be clear profit. When it is considered that sheep greatly increase the fertility of a farm, require but little care and produce profits twice a year, it must be admitted that a small flock, if good sheep, will pay well on any farm. In conclusion he advocated a dog tax.

The PRESIDENT said he had heard that if sheep were belled the dogs would not touch them.

Mr. KENNEDY had tried an experiment with a sheep killing dog. He tied him up first and then placed him in a close yard with a fierce ram and when the ram got through with him the dog was cured, after the second round. He fully agreed with everything that Mr. Birdsall had said However, he could not see how a dox tax would stop sheep killing.

Mr. BIRDSALL said that if a dog tax was imposed many worthless dogs would be destroyed. He thought that Mr. Kennedy's plan was a good one if the ram was travelled around from farm to farm.

SOILING.

Mr. D. KENNEDY took "Soiling" for his contribution to the programme. The drouth of last season taught a severe lesson to all dairymen. If profit is to be made provision should be made against drouth, which may be more frequently expected in the future. As a remedy in addition to improving their ordinary pasture land by cultivation he favored soiling. Rye is one of the best crops where it will grow and it can be raised where nothing else will grow for the puprose and a small field will give food enough for a dozen cows. It can be sown in September and October. It is ready to cut early in May and by the time the rye is used the pasture is ready. Then comes corn. Green corn drawn in and mixed with straw will make a palatable food. Corn must have rich soil, but is the best feed for cows. After corn, spring barley comes next. Oats often rust and are not as good. There bushels of barley should be sown per-acre and two crops per season can easily be grown. All vacant land he would sow with bitter rye or barley and the land will be ready for manuring early in the spring. There is much trouble about this method of feeding, but a trial would convince any person that it paid in the end.

Mr. WILLAN asked what kind of corn was best?

Mr. KENNEDY said he had grown the same kind of corn for 14 years. He called it "Western." "White flint" was highly recommended by the Americans. He sowed with a drill.

POULTRY.

Mr. T. E. BELL was called on to say something about "Poultry." He read a paper by Mr. E J. Taylor from the American Rural Home, pointing out how a farmer who did not care for his fowls, failed to make profit from them. On the other hand he read a paper by W. Thomas, in the Poultry Review, showing the profit made by poultry fanciers, who properly cared for their fowls, placing dark Brahmas first. Personally, he recommended the light Brahma for winter use, White Leghorn for general purpose, Wyandottes for laying and Dorkings and Houdans for the table. He estimated that a man who had 50 fine bred hens should make $187.50 per year out of them and if three settings were sold from each hen the profits would be $387.50. Some recommended killing at 18 months old and certainly they should not be kept for more than twice that time. For fattening corn and peas should be fed. To kill vermin he used a dry floor and sulphur and washed the walls with carbolic acid and lime.

After votes of thanks were tendered to the various speakers the Institute adjourned.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met in Warsaw on March 17th. All the members were present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Clerk was instructed to notify the late treasurer and his bondsmen to pay to the township the balance of $222.06 found due by the audit, and have their bond discharged by the Council. A tax of $2.07 on E. ½ 11, con. 8, for 1887, was abated to Miss Sarah Davis, and a tax of 87 cents on S. E. ½ 9, in 8 con., was abated to James Brown. The time to remove the timber purchased by him on the 9th concession line was extended to Albert Ray to April 1st, 1889. The Clerk was instructed to notify Augustus Roche, Esq., to remove his fence to the proper place along the concession line on the east end of lot 29 in the 1st concession of Dummer. Orders were issued for the following sums:—To A. L. Davis & Co., stationery and books, $2.97, and to A. R. Kidd, attending adjourned land sale, $3. A by-law to appoint pathmasters, pound keepers and fence viewers received two readings. The Council adjourned to the 28th of May next, to meet as a Court of Revision.

A Season for Trimmings.

Fashion has decreed that trimmings will be largely worn this season. Fashion's decrees are imperative. There is no appeal from the autocrat. And who would appeal if they could? The proper, the best, the judicious thing to do is take a look at what the golden lion offers. Note the particulary fine display of jet trimmings, including beaded sets, beaded panels, jet ornaments, gimps and sectional trimmings. All of these are desirable for trimming dresses, dolmans and wraps. If you thing of buying trimmings, see fair's stock before deciding.

No Display.

The butchers of the town have decided not to make any display of live cattle on the market square this year, on the Saturday previous to Easter, as has been their custom for many years. On Easter Saturday, however, it is promised that the people will have an opportunity of seeing, and testing, too, some of the finest beef ever brought to Peterborough. The butchers have been scouring the country for some time and they claim that they have secured between them the best to be had.

Easily Settled.

Mr. Huffman, a colored gentleman from Millbrook, father of the young man fined here the other day for a breach of the Scott Act, but who did not appear, had an interview with the Police Magistrate relative to the fine against his son. He said that the boy was across the lines, but he wanted to come back again and have the fine matter settled. The Magistrate said that a very easy may of settling it was to pay the amount of the fine to the Town Treasurer. In fact he did not know of any other way of settling it.

Once More.

The stench that pervaded the atmosphere at the police court this morning was almost intolerable and the Police Magistrate was rather emphatic in his remarks regarding it. The Medical Health Officer was notified and the Property Committee should take steps to see that the evil that exists is remedied. As Mayor Clark, of Cobourg, who was on the bench, remarked, "It is enough to breed typhoid fever." This thing occurs periodically and there must be something radically wrong. As it is now it is nothing but cruelty to confine prisoners for any length of time in the stinking rooms known as cells.

On Wednesday evening he was drunk and raised a row at the door of the Opera House. The police were sent for. Officers Adams and McGinty responded and ordered Ritchie to move off. He refused, was grabbed by the two cops and hustled off to the station, resisting and swearing all the way. At the Police Court this morning he was the solitary victim. He had but little to say to Officer Adams' complaint and was fined $5 or twenty days. He chose the latter through necessity.

Going to Norwood.

It is expected that quite a number of people will go to Norwood to-morrow evening to attend the Oddfellows concert, including musical and other talent. Mr. Dunn has kindly arranged for one and a third fare for the trip for the two trains.

A Bad Turn.

Mr. Robert White, who was at Port Hope on Wednesday, reported on his arrival home that his grand-daughter, Miss Lawrence, was considerably improved, but this morning he received a despatch stating that she had taken another bad turn and that her life lay in the balance.

Sale of Bankrupt Stocks.

On Tuesday, this week, the following sale of stock took place at Suckling & Cassidy's auction rooms, Toronto, Joseph Griffin, of Peterborough, boots and shoes, valued at $3,489, sold to Mrs. A. Griffin at 60c., George Garnett, of Bethany, general stock, valued at $7,211, sold to Seymour, of Orillia, at 62c. 2d69

From Cobourg.

Mayor Sam Clark, of Cobourg, occupied a seat on the bench at the police court this morning, with His Worship P.M. Dumble. The long headed portion of the council of our sister town expresses himself as delighted with the "hub" and he remarked that the great unwashed who frequent the police court here, appear just as much in need of soap and water as they do at "Sleepy Hollow."

His First Visit.

P. M. Dumble took charge of Mayor Clark, of Cobourg, to-day, upon the occasion of his first visit to Peterborough. The visitor was shown the waterworks pump house, the electric light station, the Auburn woollen mill and the many other factories and places of interest in the town. Mr. Clark had often heard of Peterborough as a progressive place, but he had no idea that our town was nearly as large as it is. He was a caller at the REVIEW Office.

A New Library.

The officials of the George-st. Methodist Sunday School have been engaged during the last week in looking over a large stock of books supplied by Messrs. Sailsbury & Bro., for the purpose of selecting a new library. The works are of a high class of liberal views and well bound, and the selectors have had very little difficulty in picking out those suitable for the purpose. The new library will cost $250.

Notice of Visit.

Mr. P. H. Morris, from the establishment of B. Laurance & Co., the Opticians, of Montreal, will be at the store of the agent, as under, for consultation, and for the purpose of suiting to all difficult and unusual cases of defective sight, the most perfect aids to vision known, the "B. Laurance" spectacles and eyeglasses. Mr. P. H. Morris is eminently qualified to adjust spectacles to every case where relief can be afforded, and as his visit is for the convenience of the public, no charge being made for consultation or any extra charge for the spectacles, advantage should be taken of it. Note the date of visit. For two days only, Friday and Saturday, March 23rd and 24th, 1888, at the store of John McKee, Druggist, Peterborough, Ont. 2d69

A Peculiar Case.

A meeting of the Charity Committee of the Town Council was held this morning for the purpose of considering the case of a man named Wilson, who is blind and who came here some months ago from a village near Ottawa. Since his arrival in Peterborough, himself, wife and a large number of children have been kept by the town and the charity of private individuals. These people had really no right to receive charity and different attempts were made to get them to leave town, but always without successful result, as they refused to move, stating that Peterborough was a fine town and good enough for them. This morning the father himself appeared before the charity committee and the matter was talked over. The committee proposed to pay the railway fares of the family to the place where they came from, but Wilson also wanted the town to pay his rent and sundry other small accounts before he would go. As an ultimatum he was given until Friday to consider the proposition of the committee.

Rally, Carpenters!

A meeting of the carpenters and joiners will be held this evening at the K. of L. hall, Water-st., at 8 o'clock. All are requested to attend.

The Presbytery.

An adjourned meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery commenced at St. Paul's Church, this morning. There is a good attendance.

Well, John!

Did you and Carlisle come to terms about that lot and building. You're right we did! A fellow don't get a chance like that every day. I have closed with him.

Douglas Declines.

Mr. Jno. Douglas, of Port Hope, sent a telegram this afternoon, declining the position of Chief of Police here, the Port Hope people having come to his terms. The committee will now advertise for a suitable man, in accordance with the resolution of the Council.

Leap Year Social.

A Leap Year Social will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George-st. Methodist Church at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Bradburn, on Thursday evening, March 29th. Full particulars will be given later. 2d68-1w12.

A Beautiful and Eloquent Address.

SIMCOE PROHIBITION CAMP,
August 20th, 1887.

Miss Minnie Phelps, of St. Catharines, Ont., delivered a beautiful and eloquent address at the evening meeting, on the "Modern Sphinx." Miss Phelps is a good speaker, and calculated to take a high place among temperance orators.—Correspondent of Toronto Globe. Obituary.

Mrs. Thos. W. McKee died on Wednesday evening, after an illness lasting only eight or nine days, the cause being inflammation of the lungs, contracted from a cold. The deceased was a sister of Messrs. James, William and Samuel English, of Peterborough, and Mr. David English of Montreal. She leaves a husband and a small family, who have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends and acquaintances in the time of their sad bereavement.

FINE DRESSMAKING a specialty at Hall, Innes & Co.'s Give us a trial. Prices moderate. 6d59eod-1w11

To Open out on Saturday.

M. Sullivan & Co., having purchased from T. Dolan & Co. their dry goods business, will close the store during Friday, the 23rd, in order to mark prices in all lines. Messrs. Sullivan & Co. will open on Saturday morning, at nine o'clock, and will offer the entire stock at large reductions. Look out for marvellous bargains. This will be a fine opportunity to secure splendid value as the goods were imported direct for this season's trade. People should recollect that this is no sale of bankrupt goods, but a bona fide clearing out of the best lines ever offered. 2d66

Again at the Helm.

The announcement is made in business circles of the purchase, from T. Dolan & Co., of the dry goods business carried on for many years by that firm, the purchasers being M. Sullivan & Co., of Peterborough. The new firm take possession at once and propose opening out on Saturday next. Mr. Sullivan has been for the last seven years one of our pushing and active business men and, as is well known, through the unfortunate failure of W. J. McMaster & Co'y., of Toronto, was compelled to place his business in the hands of his creditors. Mr. Sullivan has gained the confidence and trade of a large section of the community and having in addition the patronage given to T. Dolan & Co., will, no doubt conduct a successful trade.

Dan'l Boone.

Peck & Fursman's company played "Dan'l Boone" at the Opera House on Wednesday evening, to a very large audience. The play is of the usual border character, replete with Indians, rifles, bowies, revolvers and scalps. The burning of a settler's cabin and a representation of a storm with thunder and lightning were good mechanical effects. The singing of a four year old girl and the antics of a papoose of tender years were taking features. The comical actions, sayings and songs of an Irishmen and a darkey furnished the funny element. The introduction of horses, mustangs, a live bear and a trick donkey added realism to the performance. Judging by the loud applause the audience appreciated the efforts of the company.

Change in Eli Perkins.

When Eli Perkins first commenced lecturing twelve years ago, his only idea was to procure laughter and he procured more laughter than any speaker that ever occupied the platform. Laterly he has added philosophy and instruction to his wit. He does not pose as an orator, but truly, aside from his philosophy and cutting wit, he is really one of the most eloquent orators on the rostrum. His eloquence consists in putting great truths before an audience clothed in terse sharp, sentences. His voice is musical and strong. He never uses a manuscript, and no two lectures are ever exactly alike. He often steps aside and extemporaneously charms the audience with a local application. He will say more on temperance in five minutes than the professional temperance lecturer will say in an hour. He finishes Ingersoll and the agnostics in ten minutes. People laugh as much at his wisdom as at his wit. He is a graceful orator and the most successful humorist of the platform to-day. He astounds College Presidents at his original philosophy. They come to be amused, but go away to laugh, think and wonder. Eli lectures to-morrow night at the Opera House and a crowded house should welcome him.

WINCH'S NEW HOTEL.

On Charlotte-st. will Soon be Ready for Occupation.

The large hotel at the corner of Charlotte and Water-sts., opposite the market square, erected by Mr. Harry Winch, will soon be ready for occupation and when finished it will be one of the finest places of its kind to be found in Central Ontario.

The work was commenced in the fall of 1887 and the rapid progress made is well known to the large majority of our readers, who are all, or nearly all, patrons of the market.

The structure is an imposing one of red brick, having a frontage on Charlotte-st. of 113 feet and a depth of 65 feet on Water-st. At the corner the building is rounded. At the west end two small stores occupy the ground floor and the rest of the large building is devoted to hotel purposes.

In the basement, in addition to the usual cellars, is a large washroom, with baths, water closets, etc., well lighted from the rear by large windows, and having a fine system of sewerage, which serves to carry off all the waste water, etc., from the entire building and empty it into the river. The laundry is also situated in the lower regions.

The main entrance is from Charlotte-st. by large doors, set in about four feet, leaving a recess in front. Inside is found a large lobby, leading from which is the stairway and opening out from which are doors leading to the reading, billiard, bar and dining rooms. From the reading room large doors open outwards, giving a full view of the market square. Each of the rooms named is large and well lighted, particularly the dining room, which is the largest in the town.

The kitchen is a separate building in the rear and it contains everything that is found necessary in the culinary department of a first-class hotel.

On this floor all the woodwork is painted in a warm color and the ceilings are all finished in oiled and varnished ash.

The stairways are wide, the woodwork having a cherry finish and light is admitted from the top by a large skylight of colored glass. This also serves as a fine ventilator.

On the second storey there are eleven bedrooms and five parlors, reached by corridors fifteen or twenty feet wide. All the rooms are extra large, in fact, many of the bedrooms are large enough for three or four beds and in a pinch a large number of cots could be placed in the hallways. From the parlors are entrances leading out to balconies on the north and east sides of the building. That on the north side is covered and from it a fine view of the market square and Charlotte-st., east and west can be obtained. From the other, the view takes in Water-st., the river and a portion of Ashburnham. On this flat also are washrooms, closets and bathrooms.

On the third flat are 22 bedrooms. There is not a dark room in the house and the ventilation is about as perfect as it can be made. Here again are balconies on the east and north sides. On the latter the sun never shines and a fine breeze from the river blows at all times.

Taken altogether the hotel in its appointments has no equal in Peterborough and when Mr. Cavanagh takes possession, which he expects to do early next month, he will have a place that he will have reason to be proud of.

The yard at the south is large and commodious. The outbuildings are of brick and wood covered with iron. The main stable has accomodation for 30 horses and box stalls outside will furnish room for 20 more. There is a hack house for two hacks, and wood sheds, driving sheds, etc.

The waterworks system extends throughout the building, which is lighted with gas.

The Contractor was Mr. Arthur Rutherford, who has done his work in a first class manner. The architect was Mr. Blackwell, who certainly deserves credit for his portion of the work. It is proposed to use steam for heating purposes. When finished it is estimated that the total cost will be about $15,000. The brick were furnished by Mr. Thomas Welsh and laid by Mr. P. McNamara, Jr. Messrs. Hayes & Sons did the stonework; Mr. A. Rogers, the painting and glazing; Mr. Adam Hall, the plumbing, and he made an extra good job of it too; the carpenter work by the contrator himself and the galvanized ironwork, eavestroughing, etc., by Messrs. Breeze & Bain.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

Correspondence of the Review.

OBITUARY.—We have to chronicle the death, which occured on Wednesday last, of Mrs. Ann Hodgson, relect of the late Jonathan Hodgson, at the advanced age of 83 years. Deceased was one of the oldest settlers in this neighborhood, having located here with her father's family during 1819. She was a native of County Cavan, Ireland, and a daughter of Henry Jackson. During her life she was a consistent and esteemed member of the Methodist church and always active in its welfare. The funeral was arranged to take place on Friday of this week, with interment at the Methodist cemetery at Mount Pleasant.

HASTINGS.

A WIDE CHALLENGE.—Our wrestler, Mr. R. N. Harrison, took a trip to Campbellford last Friday to endeavor to make arrangements for a match with W. Whitton. As the latter, however, wanted all his own way the negotiations fell through. Mr. Harrison now says the challenge is open to any resident of Canada.

SERMON TO ODDFELLOWS.—The Oddfellows of Norwood, Campbellford, and the local brethren, in a body attended service in the Presbyterian church, here, last Sunday. The members met at the fire hall, formed up and marched two deep to the church, where an appropriate sermon was preached by the Rev. D. A. Thompson.

OBITUARY.—During the past week death has removed from our midst two of our citizens, viz., W. A. Striker, at the age of 54 years, and his brother, Cornelius, at the age of 65. The former had been in poor health all summer, his disease culminating in dropsy which resulted in his death on Tuesday, last week. The latter, although not in robust health, was able to work at his trade (being a carpenter) and was employed for several months last fall on the completion of our present office. While fitting in the front sash he fell from a step ladder, from the effects of which he never recovered. Dropsy, in this case, also set in, and also resulted in his death, which occurred on Tuesday of this week.—Star.

BENSFORT.

Correspondence of the Review.

THE BRIDGE MEETING.—My attention has been drawn to an article which appeared in the Examiner of March 8th, attacking the report of the bridge meeting in the Bensfort correspondence of the REVIEW. He charges it with being remarkable for its omissions and misrepresentations. As for the omissions there was nothing omitted that was of any interest to the reading public. But I fail to see where the misrepresentations come in. The account of the meeting as given was merely a synopsis of the proceedings that took place at the meeting, that is or would be of any interest to the public mind, and I claim that it was correct and can safely say that the majority of the audience will bear me out in that claim. Then he states that the vote of the meeting was not unanimous and that it was untruthful to say so. I assert that the vote was unanimous so far as could be ascertained by a show of hands. There was not a hand raised against it or a dissenting voice after the motion was passed. As to those who left in disgust there were only 3 or 4 ratepayers who left at all before the meeting closed, and some of them were called away. The others who left were boys who had no voice in the matter. It is quite plain that the only parties disgusted were the writer of dictator of the article and one or two personal friends. As for the attacks upon Mr. T. M. Willan, I have nothing to say, as that gentleman is quite capable of taking care of himself, and if the writer of the article in question will be manly enough to give his name and address, Mr. Willan will no doubt favor him with a hearing either private, public or through the press. From the tone of the article I think the writer or dictator must have been actuated by a spirit of jealousy and bad feeling, the result, likely, of a heavy dinner or of a very bad liver. I hope the next time he charges the correspondence of the REVIEW with untruthfulness he will be more careful of the truth himself, or I will have to liken him to "Paddy" who vowed that he loved the truth so well that he kept it all to himself and told nothing but the prevarications.

S. S. ENTERTAINMENT.—The teachers and scholars of the Union Sunday School in No. 3 Section gave an entertainment on Wednesday evening, the 14th inst., in the school building. Owing to the recent heavy storm, which blocked the roads completely in some places, the audience was not so large as it would have been had the roads been in a more favorable condition. The programme consisted of songs, readings, dialogues, &c., and was a good one. The different parts were ably carried out by the young ladies and gentlemen of the school. The singing of the younger scholars, numbering about twenty voices, under the charge of Miss Carrie Prescott and Miss Maggie Rutherford, sang three pieces in a very pleasing manner, reflecting great credit upon their training by the above mentioned young ladies. Mr. D. Trescott, superintendant of the school, performed the duties of chairman in his usual happy manner. The entertainment was given in aid of the funds of the Sunday School.

LITERARY SOCIETY.—The Bensfort Literary Society had a good meeting on Thursday evening, there being a full house and a good programme. There was a large number present from Otonabee, also from the vicinity of Centreville. The subject for this evening was "Resolved, that Travel will Inform the Mind more than Reading." The wranglers on the affirmative were Messrs. E. Truscott, C. Chapple and J. Stephens, with Messrs. Wm. Waterman, W. McAllister and Robt. Emberson on the negative. Mr. S. Smithson occupied the chair and gave the decision in favor of the negative. The decision was loudly applauded. Miss Soden, of Ballieboro, favoured the audience with a recitation, which was well received. The programme was well carried out and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

LAKEFIELD.

Correspondence of the Review

NOTE OF WARNING.—A word of warning to the wise is sufficient. The Road and Sidewalk Committee have made up their minds to have all the streets in the village cleaned this spring. All kinds of wood piles, logs, and anything that would be an obstruction on the highway must be removed by the 30th of April, 1888. All parties having mill wood delivered had better have it piled in their yards and save themselves the trouble of removing it. The appearance of our village will be greatly improved by having the streets looking clean and tidy. The citizens should help the committee in carrying out this good work, which is to the benefit of all.

GONE TO THE WEST.—Mrs. Barlee and Mr. Hilliard left for Minnedosa, Manitoba, on Saturday last by the C.P.R.

GOOD EXAMPLES STILL UNHEEDED.—Mr. Reeve Casement has had a number of examples of late shown him by young men becoming benedicts. Kindly, Mr. Reeve, allow us the pleasure of announcing the date. Life is short, time is fleeting, gray hairs will come, and you will be found with no helping broomstick to hustle you along.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.—A special meeting of the Council was held in the council chamber on Monday night last. Present, Reeve Casement in the chair, and Councillors Hull, Nelson, Moore and Henderson. The Reeve informed the Council that they had been called together to settle the deadlock that had occurred between the assessors, Messrs. Griffin and Hendren. The trouble was settled by the appointment of Mr. Hendren as assessor at the request of Mr. Griffin. Mr. Griffin had not taken the oath and refused to take it.

SHOOTING.—A shooting match will take place on Good Friday at Lakefield between the Rifle Clubs of Warsaw and Lakefield, the loosing side to pay for the dinner.

TWO KINDS OF UNION.—One of the leading topics of discussion here as well as elsewhere is Commercial Union. There are some who think it just the thing, but anybody who follows the wise counsels that are set before them in your valuable paper need not stop to think what is right. Before this reaches the homes of your many readers, a union of another kind will have taken place between a couple living a little west of here. Your correspondent wishes them all the joys of a honeymoon as well as a prosperous voyage through life.

A PLEASANT TIME.—We learn that a very enjoyable time was spent by the young people of this neighborhood, one evening last week, at Mr. Wm. Armstrong's. We cannot give particulars as to amusements.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and not for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1888.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Where has Mona taken the duchess?" asks Lady Rodney of Sir Nicholas half an hour later.

"She took her to see the lake. Mona, you know, raves about it, when the moon is up."

"She is very absurd, and more troublesome and unpleasant than anybody I ever had in my house. Of course the duchess did not want to see the water. She was talking to old Lord Dering about the drainage question, and seemed quite happy, when that girl interfered. Common courtesy compelled her, I suppose, to say yes to—Mona's—proposition."

"I hardly think the duchess is the sort of woman to say yes when she meant no," says Sir Nicholas, with a half smile. "She went because it so pleased her, and for no other reason.—I begin to think, indeed, that Lilian Chetwoode is rather out of it, and Mona is the first favorite at present. She has evidently taken the duchess by storm."

"Why not say the duke too?" says his mother, with a cold glance, to whom praise of Mona is anything but "cakes and ale." "Her flirtation with him is very apparent. It is disgraceful. Every one is noticing and talking about it. Geoffrey alone seems determined to see nothing! Like all underbred people, she cannot know satisfaction unless perched upon the topmost rung of the ladder."

"You are slightly nonsensical when on the subject of Mona," says Sir Nicholas, with a shrug. "Intrigue and she could not exist in the same atmosphere. She is to Lauderdale what she is to every one else,—gay, bright, and utterly wanting in self-conceit. I cannot understand how it is that you alone refuse to acknowledge her charms. To me she is like a little soft sunbeam floating here and there, and falling into the hearts of those around her, carrying light, and joy, and laughter, and merry music with her as she goes."

"You speak like a lover," says Lady Rodney, with an artificial laugh. "Do you repeat all this to Dorothy? She must find it very interesting."

"Dorothy and I are quite agreed about Mona," replies he, calmly. "She likes her as much as I do. As to what you say about her encouraging Lauderdale's attentions, it is absurd. No such evil thought could enter her head."

At this instant a soft, ringing laugh, that once heard is not easily forgotten, comes from an inner room, that is carefully curtained and delicately lighted, and smites upon their ears.

It is Mona's laugh. Raising their eyes, both mother and son turn their heads hastily (and quite involuntarily) and gaze upon the scene beyond. They are so situated that they can see into the curtained chamber and mark the picture it contains. The duke is bending over Mona in a manner that might perhaps be termed by an outsider slightly empresse, and Mona is looking up at him, and both are laughing gayly,—Mona with all the freshness of unchecked youth, the duke with such a thorough and wholesome sense of enjoyment as he has not known for years.

Then Mona rises, and they both come to the entrance of the small room, and stand where Lady Rodney can overhear what they are saying.

"Oh! so you can ride, then," says Lauderdale, alluding probably to the cause of his late disaster.

"Sure of course," says Mona. "Why, I used to ride the colts barebacked at home."

Lady Rodney shudders.

"Sometimes I long again for a mad, wild gallop straight across country, where nobody can see me,—such as I used to have," goes on Mona, half regretfully.

"And who allowed you to risk your life like that?" asks the duke, with simple amazement. His sister, before her marriage, was not permitted to cross the threshold without a guardian at her side. This girl is a revelation.

"No one," says Mona. "I had no need to ask permission for anything. I was free to do what I wished."

She looks up at him again with some fire in her eyes and a flush upon her cheeks. Perhaps some of the natural lawlessness of her kindred is making her blood warm. So standing, however, she is the very embodiment of youth, and love, and sweetness, and so the duke admits.

"Have you any sisters?" he asks, vaguely.

"No. Nor brothers. Only myself.

"'I am all the daughters of my father's house,
And all the brothers too!'"

She nods her head gayly as she says this, being pleased at her apt quotation from the one book she has studied very closely.

The duke loses his head a little.

"Do you know," he says, slowly, staring at her the while, "you are the most beautiful woman I ever saw?"

"Ah! so Geoffrey says," returns she, with a perfectly unembarrassed and pleased little laugh, while a great gleam of tender love comes into her eyes as she makes mention of her husband's name. "But I really am not, you know."

This answer, being so full of thorough unconsciousness and childish naivete, has the effect of reducing the duke to common sense once more, and of chasing him very properly ashamed of himself. He feels, however, rather out of it for a minute or two, which feeling renders him silent and distrait. So Mona, flung upon her own resources, looks round the room, seeking for inspiration, and presently finds it.

"What a disagreeable-looking man that is over there!" she says; "the man with the shaggy beard, I mean, and the long hair."

She doesn't want in the very least to know who he is, but thinks it her duty to say something, as the silence being protracted grows embarrassing.

"The man with the mane? That is Griffith Blount. The most objectionable person any one could meet, but tolerated because his tongue is so awful. Do you know Colonel Graves? No! Well, he has a wife calculated to terrify the bravest man into submission, and last year when he was going abroad Blount met him, and asked him before a roomful 'if he was going for pleasure, or if he was going to take his wife with him.' Neat, wasn't it? But I don't remember hearing that Graves liked it."

"It was very unkind," says Mona; "and he has a hateful face."

"He has," says the duke. "But he has his reward, you know; nobody likes him. By the bye, what horrid bad times they are having in your land!—ricks of hay burning nightly, cattle killed, everybody boycotted, and small children speared!"

"Oh, no, not that," says Mona. "Poor Ireland! Every one either laughs at her, or hates her. Though I like my adopted country, still I shall always feel for old Erin what I could never feel for another land."

"And quite right, too," says Lauderdale. "You remember what Scott says:

"'Breathes there the man, with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land?'"

"Oh, yes, lots of 'em," says Mr. Darling, who has come suddenly up beside them; "for instance, I don't believe I ever said it in all my life, either to myself or any one else. Are you engaged, Mrs. Geoffrey? And if not, may I have this dance?"

"With pleasure," says Mona.

Paul Rodney, true to his word, has put in an appearance, to the amazement of many in the room. Almost as Mona's dance with Nolly is at an end, he makes his way to her, and asks her to give him the next. Unfortunately, she is not engaged for it, and, being unversed in polite evasions, she says yes, quietly, and is soon floating round the room with him.

After one turn she stops abruptly, near an entrance.

"Tired," says Rodney, fixing his black eyes upon her.

"A little," says Mona. It is perhaps the nearest approach to a falsehood she has ever made.

"Perhaps you would rather rest awhile. Do you know this is the first time I have ever been inside the Towers?" He says this as one might who is desirous of making conversation, yet there is a covert meaning in his tone. Mona is silent. To her it seems a base thing that he should have accepted the invitation at all.

"I have heard the library is a room well worth seeing," goes on the Australian, seeing she will not speak.

WHAT THEY WEAR.

Apple green is the latest French color.

Prophecy says that yellow will be the most fashionable color this spring.

The pretty textiles called Neapolitan silk crepalines are very popularly worn for dancing toilets.

The new, elegant and expensive sash ribbons are made into fichus that cover the waist and shoulders almost entirely.

Jaunty costumes imported for the first warm days are of Suede colored homespun or of canvas, with a full skirt and an outside coat.

Cloth jackets imported for early spring days are of plain, plaid or striped cloths in higher colors than are usually worn for wraps.

Striped wool jerseys with sailor blouse front, fitted back, and deep sailor collar are pretty neglige corsages for wearing out partly worn skirts.

Long raglans for traveling cloaks are made of striped and plaid cheviots, homespuns and serges of very rough surface in gray, tobacco brown and copper colors.

Some of the elaborate French gloves are embroidered on the backs with gold or silver thread in designs of fleur de lis and sometimes with the monogram of the wearer.

Most of the spring jerseys have the sleeves slightly full at the wristband, and some are tucked at top and bottom, while others are shirred around to match the shirred yoke of the bodice.

Cashmeres in the grayish green reseda shades, made up with darker green cashmere, or else draped over the copper-red Bengaline, are prepared for afternoon toilets for the early spring months.

On the new bonnets all the trimmings are lowered, though they are by no means flat. But the towering pointed bows of last year have given place to soft, wide loops, put on to give a broader effect.

Double breasted corsages are becoming too long for slender figures, as they have the effect of making them appear shorter in the waist. Irregular arrangements are preferred for double breasted bodices.

A new idea for bridemaids is the use of very fine, soft, cream velveteen, trimmed with otter. The skirt falls in easy, graceful folds, and the material is soft as doeskin. The bodices are arranged so that the fur crosses in front.

A novelty is the Tosca mantle, made very short in the back, but very long in front, and almost covered with lace and jet; this is worn with the Tosca hat, with long, projecting front of brim, short, close back and nodding ostrich plumes.

Braiding has by no means had its day of favor as a trimming on jackets, and is done with both metal and mohair braids, some of which are flat and others tubular, while the twisted cords of silk or of metal are used in most elaborate designs, hitherto done only in soutache braid.

The stylish coats of smooth faced cloths for dressy occasions come in copper colors, in the new green shades, in tobacco browns, Suede color, the odd blues with green tints, and in bright red shades, while the rougher homespun jackets are in stripes or bars or melanges of two or three of these colors together.

A pretty demi-saison gown has white and brown checked skirts, the second skirt looped up, made of brown silk, the brown silk bodice with loose fronts opened over a white waistcoat with chased gold buttons, large, round, brown felt hat, turned up on one side, lined with velvet and trimmed with tufts of brown and white feathers.

Chronic Coughs and Colds

And all Diseases of the Throat and Lungs can be cured by the use of Scott's Emulsion, as it contains the healing virtues of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites in their fullest form. See what W. S. Muer, M. D., L. R. C. P. etc. Truro, N. S., says: "After three years' experience I consider Scott's emulsion one of the very best in the market. Very excellent in throat affections." Put up in 50c, and $1.00 size.

A DAY OF ADJOURNMENTS.

Central Bank Liquidation Cases Stood over—How They Correct a Clerical Error.

TORONTO, March 21.—Before the Master-in-Ordinary this afternoon the matter of Lindsay v. Liquidation of the Central Bank was adjourned until Thursday by consent. Mr. Lindsay appeared in person while the Bank was represented by Mr. W. A. Foster, Q.C.

The now famous case of Lionel Yorke v. Liquidation of the Central Bank, came before Chancellor Boyd again this afternoon for argument. Mr. Foster, on behalf of the bank, produced an affidavit which the defence claimed they had not been served with. The Chancellor directed that a copy be sent them and the case was adjourned until Monday.

A trifling clerical error occurred in the liquidation books of the bank, and was discovered this week. When found, Liquidator Lye's attention was called to it, and he corrected it on blank paper. Then an affidavit was made out, duly registered, etc. The affidavit was sent to W. A. Foster, Q.C., who took it and laid the matter before the Master-in-Ordinary. The Master after listening to the explanation and affidavit gave his consent to the correction. The papers were filed and the correction made.

MINISTERIAL COMMISSIONERS.

Hamilton Presbytery's Appointments to the General Assembly—A Missing Baker.

HAMILTON, March 21.—At the meeting of the Presbytery to-day the ministerial commissioners to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which will be held at Halifax, N.S., some time in June, were appointed by rotation, four being taken from the top and four from the foot of the roll. Rev. J. G. Murray, Grimsby; Rev. G. Burson, St. Catharines; Rev. W. P. Walker, Binbrook; Rev. D. H. Fletcher, Rev. W. J. Dey, Hamilton; Rev. W. Mowat, Merritton; Rev. J. Mordy, Niagara Falls; Rev. F. McCuaig, Welland.

Mr. Wm. Sharpe, baker and confectioner, No. 106 south John-street, has been missing from his home since Monday morning last. The fact was reported to the police authorities this morning.

The market drinking fountain was demolished this morning by a runaway team attached to a Hamilton and Northwestern lorry.

Robert Lyons, an East Flamboro farmer, was charged at the Police Court this morning by Geo. Wood with refusing to pay wages. The boy had worked for Lyons all winter and left the other day because Lyons cursed at him. The Magistrate awarded the boy $10.10. Lyons was also charged with using abusive language. A fine of $2 and costs or 10 days in jail was imposed.

An unsuccessful attempt was made at an early hour this morning to burn the storehouse of Robson Bros.' flour mill at Waterdown.

A raid was made this morning upon an alleged disorderly house at 152 Main-street, and two young women found in the house were arrested.

Mr. J. S. C. Fraser, of the Bank of Montreal, in this city, was yesterday the recipient of a handsome watch from a few of his Toronto friends, the occasion being his promotion to the accountantship of the bank just opened in New Westminster, B. C.

The Board of Works is experiencing no trouble in getting teams to work at the quarries for $3 a day for a team, wagon and man. Some union men who had been anxious to get work left after they had put in a few weeks because they could not get $3.50 a day, but others were waiting to take their places.

STRAY BITS.

There are 179 known species of creatures that are blind.

A facetious man in Howell, Mich., put overalls on a mare he owns, had its picture taken and sent it to Anthony Comstock.

There is in the vicinity of Vaughnsville, S. C., an infant two months old whose mother is 17, grandmother 32, grandfather 37 and great-grandmother 51.

Charles Strong, a clockmaker and miser, died recently in Boston, leaving a fortune of $65,000 and a miscellaneous collection of clocks and watches, numbering several hundred. Nobody knows who his heirs are, if any.

A farmer in Accomack county, Va., a few days ago, while digging a post hole, came upon a pot full of gold and silver coins. It is supposed to have been buried by a Tory who went to England at the outbreak of the revolution.

Scientists tell us that a man's brain decreases in size as he grows older. The human brain, it appears, weighs the heaviest between the ages of 14 and 20. This explains why young men know so much more than their elders.

A new rule for removing a cinder in the eye is given by an engineer. It is: "Let the injured eye alone and rub the other one, and the cinder will be out in two minutes." It is a simple remedy, though it sounds unreasonable, and worth trying.

Of 600 tornadoes of which record has been made in the United States, not more than seventy-five were east of the Alleghany mountains. The warm air tempestously driven from the Gulf of Mexico up the Mississippi valley is caught by the Polar winds and driven in gyratory tornadoes across the prairies. The Appalachian range serves on the Atlantic slope as a barrier against storms of that sort.

TURF NOTES.

Capt. Sam Brown has shipped his famous horse, Masterpiece, to New Orleans, where he will be trained for a jumper.

Bootjack, the famous son of Bonnie Scotland, who won thousands of dollars for his admirers, is being used as a saddle horse in Lexington.

J. B. Haggin, the big California turfman, has now engaged four jockeys for 1888: Garrison, Hamilton, Winchell and a young San Francisco athlete named McCourt, who promises to develop into a great rider.

Barnum, the son of Bonnie Scotland, has probably run more races than any other thoroughbred horse that ever lived. Since 1882 he has run a total of 210 races, and his considerate owner intends to campaign him again in 1888.

There is a strong probability that a meeting of the turf congress will be called at an early date at which the clash of dates between St. Louis and Latonia will be adjusted. It is affirmed that the Kentucky fixtures will be moved back to their original date and that the St. Louis spring meeting will begin June 2 instead of May 26.

Prominent among the horses eligible for a 2:17 class, and which are likely to be seen on the Grand Central Trotting circuit tracks, are: Arab, 2:16¼; Oliver K., 2:16¼; Phil Thompson, 2:16½; J. Q., 2:17¼; Kitefoot, 2:17¼; Beule, 2:17¾; Charles Hilton, 2:17½; Kenilworth, 2:18¼; Sir Walter, Jr., 2:18¼; Rosalind Wilkes, 2:18½; Charley Hogan, 2:18¾; Favonia, 2:19; Garnet, 2:19; Lorretta P., 2:19, and Spofford, 2:19¼.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver a misery. Indigestion a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 22.

The grain and produce markets are generally weaker all over, both at home and abroad, and there is no life in the markets outside of Chicago.

Oswego reports barley quiet and unchanged to-day.

The car lots received at Chicago were; Winter wheat 37,000 bush., spring 39,000 bush., corn 455,000 bush., oats 97,000 bush., rye 5000 bush., and barley 24,000 bush.

The Chicago market was active to-day but weaker. Wheat, corn, oats and pork closed ½c, ¼c, ¼c and 13c respectively, lower that last night. Lard closed unchanged.

The report of receipts of hogs from the Chicago Stock Yards to-day is: Estimated receipts 13,000, official yesterday 14,927. Shipments, 6893, left over, about 2000. Cattle, receipts 7500. Market fairly active.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports to-day: Floating cargoes—Wheat and corn nil. Cargoes on passage—Wheat, not many bids in market; corn, there is a demand for cargoes near at hand, but not much for more distant periods of delivery.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool reports to-day: Wheat quiet, poor demand, holders offer freely; corn steady, fair demand. Prices: Spring wheat 6s 6d to 6s 9d, red winter 6s 7d to 6s 8d, No. 1 Cal. 6s 7d; corn 4s 6¼d, peas 5s 4½d, pork 67s 6d, lard 38s 6d, bacon 33s 9d, cheese 59s.

Mark Lane: Wheat, fewer buyers, probably easier; corn steadier; flour cheaper to sell. Good cargoes No. 1 Cal. 32s 3d was 33s 6d; do. Australian, 33s 6d was 33s 9d; do. for present or following month, 33s was 33s; Chilian off coast, 33s was 33s 3d, present and following month, 33s was 33s 3d. London good shipping—No. 1 Cal. prompt by sail, 33s 3d was 33s 6d; do. nearly due, 32s 3d was 33s 6d. French country markets mostly turn cheaper. Paris—Wheat and flour quiet. Liverpool—Spot wheat active, corn strong. No. 1 Cal. 6s 8d, No. 2 6s 5d, both ¼d cheaper, corn 6s 7d, ¼d dearer, all others unchanged. On passage to United Kingdom—Wheat 1,865,000 qrs., corn 254,000 qrs. Do. Continent—Wheat 260,000 qrs., corn 90,000. India shipments last week to United Kingdom, 22,500 qrs.; to Continent, 7500 qrs.

A TOLERABLY SURE THING

THAT THE GOVERNMENT HAS FIXED IT UP WITH THE C.P.R.

The Report About the $18,000,000 Cash Settlement, However, Considered a Huge Exaggeration—What the Company's Concession Probably Includes.

OTTAWA, March 22.—At last it seems to be among things tolerably sure that an agreement of some kind has been arrived at between the Government and the Canadian Pacific. As for an agreement with Mr. Greenway, that is another matter—perhaps there won't be any.

One thing may be mentioned: Sir George Stephen left for Montreal at 4.30 this afternoon, and a gentleman who was seen at the Russell House said that Sir George would not be in Ottawa to-morrow (Friday). Very probably it may be that an agreement has been practically reached but that its documentary details won't be finished till Saturday.

The report about $18,000,000 cash is generally considered a huge exaggeration of the fact, and the compensation will probably take another shape—something that the gossips have not yet got hold off. But the belief gains ground that the concession made by the Canadian Pacific Railway includes the whole monopoly from the Lake of the Woods to the Pacific.

It does not follow, however, that if the Government acquires what the Canadian Pacific gives up, that therefore Canadian Northwest traffic is to be handed over to the Northern Pacific, an American road. More likely is it that the Dominion Government, getting back its original national rights, will carry out the National Policy idea more vigorously than ever before.

Meantime there is reason to believe that the high contracting parties have kept the secret pretty well so far, though there are more than a few knowing customers here who can tell the whole thing to the public now, if only they choose to do so.

Sir John did state to-day, when spoken to on the subject, that it was yet premature to inform the public exactly what progress had been made.

VALUABLE BAGGAGE.

Four Trunks Containing $16,000 Worth of Opium Seized at Windsor.

DETROIT, March 22.—Four trunks checked in British Columbia reached Windsor Friday evening over the Canada Southern from the east. Customs Officer Hanrahan was in the baggage car, having boarded the train at a way station a few miles down the line under orders from Collector Benson. Word had come to the collector that the trunks contained crude opium, the form in which the drug is exported from China and that grave suspicions were entertained that it had been smuggled into the country at the Pacific coast.

When the train reached Windsor the trunks were sent to a bonded warehouse. Upon being opened they were found to contain prepared instead of crude opium, done up neatly in half-pound packages, the kind used for smoking—the most expensive form of the drug. There is little or no demand for it in this section, and several Detroit druggists when asked about it said it was not sold here. Its price is about $20 a pound, the duty alone being $10 a pound. The four trunks contained nearly 800 pounds or about $16,000.

The collector communicated with the department and got back word that the duty had been paid on the consignment, hence he could not detain it if the lawful owner made demand for it. Monday morning a Hebrew of youthful appearance showed up at the collector's office and said he owned the opium and said he was from British Columbia. He assumed to be ignorant of everything pertaining to customs regulations but scorned the idea that he contemplated smuggling the drug into the United States. There was something about the fellow, however, that convinced the collector his ignorant appearance was feigned. Still he could take no official recognition of the suspicions that the drug was consigned to Windsor to be taken across the river in small lots. The four trunks and contents were delivered to the owner, who lost no time in checking them back to the interior of Canada. The American officers were "on to" him, but their surveillance was unnecessary. He saw his game was up at this port, but he had the satisfaction of knowing that the watchfulness of the Canadian officers, which resulted in word reaching the Detroit officers that the drug was being shipped this way, saved him as well as the drug from the clutches of the American officers.

THE QUEBEC RESOLUTIONS.

Passed in the Nova Scotia Assembly by a Vote of 23 to 12.

HALIFAX, March 22.—The resolutions adopted at the Quebec Inter-provincial Conference were moved in the House of Assembly this afternoon by Premier Fielding, who spoke in their support for two hours. Attorney-General Longley seconded them, but made no speech. There were immediate cries of "Question," and the vote was taken, the resolutions passing, 23 to 12.

THE PATRIOTS AT OTTAWA

MR. BAIRD SAYS THERE ARE TWO KINDS IN THE HOUSE.

He Chooses to Ally Himself With the Hopeful Rather Than With the Despondent—The Dominion's Prosperity—The Debate on Sir Richard's Resolution.

OTTAWA, March 22.—In the House to-day Mr. Baird spoke on the Unrestricted Reciprocity resolution. It had appeared to him that there were two kinds of patriots in the House: the despondent patriots and the hopeful patriots. The former depicted the country as being depopulated and on the verge of ruin, the latter delighted rather to speak of the Dominion's progress, her immense development and the possibilities of trade relations with foreign countries which were opening up. There was a splendid opportunity for trade in natural products between Canada and South America, and he hoped to see the measures being taken in that direction result in success.

Canada to-day was the most prosperous of all the British colonial possessions, but it was unfair to make comparisons between her and the United States. They have had many years in which to build up a mighty nation and were now possessed of many artificial aids, and it was not fair to compare Canada with them. These comparisons had, however, been made by the Opposition in order to create a disturbance in the minds of the people of Canada.

When the National Policy was introduced into New Brunswick it had been advocated on the ground that something must be done to turn the tide of trade. The Americans had laughed at us, and threatened to drive us into Annexation, but years had gone by and we were able to get on in defiance of the United States, and they by their Butterworth and Wiman missionaries were now trying to work up a feeling in favor of Annexation. The people of the Dominion may well congratulate themselves on having sustained the National Policy three times.

He went on to show that the N.P. was not the cause of a single item of the decline in the trade which it had been alleged existed in New Brunswick. The city of St. John had indeed lost severely in her shipping, but she was to be pitied, as her loss was occasioned by the great fire which swept over her. The National Policy had not caused a loss, and the remedy was not in the abolition of that policy.

The Opposition and its press had tried to induce them to look with disfavor on Ontario, and to seek connection with the States, urging that connection with Ontario was dragging New Brunswick down to ruin. As a matter of fact large industries—car works, iron foundries, etc.—had grown up in New Brunswick under the fostering care of the N.P.

The example of other nations was before Canada in regard to the adoption of a protective policy. Nations all over the world had at times found it necessary to protect their industries. He believed the time was coming when we would have freer trade relations with the United States, but that result would be brought about as an effect of the National Policy. Going to the States, as has been done over and over again, requesting reciprocity, will not accomplish anything. We must force the States to seek our trade, as they surely will do if we maintain our position firmly.

Mr. Moncrieff told of the prosperity in his constituency under the N. P. He dealt with the position of Canada, showing generally the beneficial effects of protection. He hoped to be able to prove to the House that the arguments of the hon. gentlemen opposite were unreliable. Reformers had been elected to carry out the policy inaugurated by gentlemen on the Government side of the House. They were now wanting to show grounds for the adoption of a new scheme of Unrestricted Reciprocity.

Mr. Skinner (St. John) felt it his duty to give his opinion to the House. He thought on a question of this sort every member could express himself as he wished. He, when before his constituents, spoke in favor of the N.P. He thought the commercial interest of this country should be placed on as solid a foundation as possible. Under the proposed plan Free Trade or Unrestricted Reciprocity with the United States could only be a matter of treaty, and in a few years it might be upset and the stability of the commercial interests of Canada injured.

After recess Mr. Skinner continued speaking about twenty minutes, and Mr. Borden then made a half-hour oration in support of Sir Richard Cartwright's resolution.

Dr. Sproule considered that the proposition for Unrestricted Reciprocity involved great economic changes which he did not think it advisable to make in Canada. The country was not in that bad condition in which the Opposition had been trying to prove it was. Immense public works had been undertaken and completed, but the national debt had been increased but one cent a head over what it had been under the Mackenzie regime. Saving bank statistics showed that the people were growing richer. Construction of railways and enlargement of industries had followed the introduction of the N.P. It was not, therefore, desirable that we should do away with that policy in favor of Commercial Union and the expressions of every public man last summer showed that Commercial Union and Unrestricted Reciprocity were one and the same thing. We could not expect to get a fair treaty with the United States. Any treaty that they would consent to would be one that would destroy our commerce.

Gen. Lamie said that it would be better to abandon the $3,500,000 duty we receive from the West Indies than the $7,000,000 duty we receive from imports from the United States, for the reason that we would be getting in return articles that we don't want and which we do not produce.

Mr. Robertson, P.E.I., said that he knew what he was talking about when he said a great many people left his part of the country for the United States. He attacked the N.P. from a Prince Edward Island stand point, and said the farmers of that Island were in a bad condition. All they asked was a commercial trade with the United States, not a political union. This was all they asked for in the resolution.

Hon. Mr. Thompson laid on the table of the House copies of all correspondence relative to the fisheries which transpired up to the time of the meeting of the commission. It contains nothing new relative to trade matters, and merely completed the correspondence brought down last session. This is the correspondence that the Minister of Justice promised to present to the House a few days ago.

Mr. Kenny moved the adjournment of the debate, and the House adjourned at 12.45.

THE RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Patterson's Bill to Incorporate the Canada-Michigan Tunnel Company.

OTTAWA, March 22.—The Committee on Railways and Canals settled down to business to-day, Sir Hector Langevin in the chair. The first order on the paper was Mr. Patterson's bill to incorporate the Canada-Michigan Tunnel Company. The preamble petitions for power to build a tunnel under the Detroit River, suitable for railway purposes, from some point in or near the Town of Windsor or Sandwich, in the County of Essex, toward the City of Detroit, in the State of Michigan. The incorporators are James Ross, Sherbrooke; E. E. Dudley Hawke, C.E., Detroit; George Laidlaw, Toronto; Andrew Onderdonk, C.E., New York; George Bliss, New York; Nicol Kingsmill, barrister, Toronto. The name of the corporation is to be known as "The Canada-Michigan Tunnel Company," and the capital stock is to be $500,000. Mr. Patterson explained that the estimated cost of the enterprise was $4,000,000, for which bonds will be issued.

The bill will enable the company to construct, maintain and manage a tunnel under the waters of the Detroit River for railway purposes, from and to the points already indicated, and to lay and place therein one or more railways tracks and construct a line of railway at the approach not exceeding five miles in length. The tunnel may be double, either in whole or in part, with a third tunnel if necessary for drainage purposes, and with branch tunnels if necessary, from points near the end of the main tunnel.

The bill was ordered to be reported as were also the following, without amendment:

Respecting the Duluth and South Oxford Railway.

The Canada Southern, Erie and Niagara Railway Company.

To amend the acts relating to the Great Western and Lake Ontario Shore Junction Railway.

Respecting the Port Arthur, Duluth and Great Western Railway Company.

TORONTO TOPICS.

At yesterday morning's session of the fifth annual meeting of the Board of Canadian Fire Underwriters all the companies belonging to the Association were represented except the Caledonian. The next meeting will be held six months hence in Montreal. All the officers of the Association were re-elected. They are: J. J. Kenny, Toronto, president; William Tatley, Montreal, and S. C. Duncan Clark, Toronto, vice-presidents; Robert McLean, Toronto, and A. W. Hadrill, Montreal, secretaries.

The funeral of Mr. Wheeler D. Matthews, the "barley king," took place to Mount Pleasant cemetery yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of citizens, the Toronto Board of Trade being especially represented.

Hon. Ed. Blake is expected to return to Canada about the latter end of April.

The Central Executive Council of the New Party met yesterday for business. An address to the electors of the Dominion was adopted and ordered to be printed for general circulation, together with the address of the President at the Convention. A sub-committee was appointed to draft detailed plans for local organization, to be submitted to the full Council for consideration. The name of H. M. Winnett of London was added to the Council, under authority conferred by the Convention. Another meeting will be held shortly.

Insane Asylum Supt. Clark and Inspector Christie yesterday visited the jail in reference to the lunatics confined there. They found the institution contained 32 insane people, most of them chronic incurables. Dr. Clark reported that four at least were curable under asylum treatment, and they will probably be removed to the asylum.

A DASH FOR LIBERTY.

Millman, the P.E.I. Murderer, Assaults His Jailor and Attempts to Escape.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., March 22.—Wm. Millman, the condemned murderer of Mary Tuplin, made a bold attempt to escape from jail last night, after he had heard that the Governor-General refused to interfere with the death sentence. About 6 o'clock Head Jailor Harvey took the prisoner supper into his cell, and was about placing a basket on the floor when Millman struck him on the head with a bottle that had been sent to him filled with milk. The keeper was stunned and Millman making for the door tried to fasten Harvey in the cell. Harvey, however, recovered and prevented this. Millman then started for the yard. A general alarm was given and the desperate youth was captured and taken back to prison. To-day he was put in irons. In answer to a question by a reporter, Millman said he did not eat or sleep well.

To be Prorogued To-day.

TORONTO, March 23.—The Ontario Legislature will conclude the second session of its sixth assembly to-day. The House will meet to dispose of formal business at 2 o'clock, and soon after the prorogation ceremony will begin.

KILLED IN A COLLISION

THE TERRIBLE FATE OF FIVE NORTHERN RAILWAY MEN.

Fatal Collision Between a Snow Plow and a Freight Train at Severn Bridge—The Dead all Residents of Allandale—Four Other Employes Wounded.

GRAVENHURST, March 22.—A fatal accident occurred three miles north of Severn Bridge, and nine miles south of here to-day on the Northern Railway by a collision between a special freight going south and a snow plow going north. Five men were killed and four injured.

The killed are Roadmaster George Wilson, W. Fockler, S. Tisdale, W. Hope and R. Gilpin, all of Allandale.

The snow-plow, containing a gang of nine men inside to work the flanges in addition to the ordinary train hands, left Allandale Junction this morning under holding orders, bound for Gravenhurst, and had proceeded on without interruption till it collided with a special engine and van which was proceeding southward under orders to cross the snow-plow at Severn Bridge. About 11.45 the Central Telephone office here was asked to notify all the doctors in town that an accident had occurred and that a special train was waiting to carry them to the scene, and they and all assistance were promptly sent forward, but it was impossible to remove the wreck or extract some of the dead men from under the debris. Machinery has been ordered from Allandale to clear the track.

One of the wounded stated that the shock was instantaneous and that they had no notice whatever of the danger till they heard the crash and all was over. The dead appear to have been instantly killed. Roadmaster Wilson's head is nearly severed from the body and the others are frightfully mangled.

It is reported that Washago Station had instructions to put up an order board in time to hold the snow plow but only received it when too late. The agent did all he could to alarm the train hands, but as there was no semaphore the train went on to destruction.

It is reported that Conductor Glassford of the snow plow has left for parts unknown. An inquest was commenced to-night over the five bodies at the Gravenhurst Station. The injured men, English, Smith and Landry, all of Allendale, are doing well.

"A VERY SAD AFFAIR."

The Superintendent of the Northern Leaves for the Scene of the Disaster.

Superintendent Webster left by the 11.10 train last night for the scene of the accident. Before stepping on board he was seen by a reporter. "Yes," he said, "I am going up to investigate this affair on behalf of ourselves. So far the despatches are not very plain as to particulars. The accident occurred four miles north of Severn, and was caused by a snow plow running from Allandale to Gravenhurst colliding with a light special freight bound for Toronto. The engineer of the freight was James Cunerty, and William Foster had charge of the locomotive propelling the plow. None of the train men were hurt beyond a few bruises and cuts about the head. The slaughter was all in the plow, where there were eleven men at the time of the collision. The Coroner's inquest opens to-night, when the cause of the accident will come up, but at present I could give no idea as to whether anyone is to blame or not. Wilson was an old servant of the road and a married man. It is a very sad affair, and about the most serious accident we have had."

IN A BURNING HOUSE.

Hamiltonians Narrowly Escape a Fiery Death—The Missing Baker.

HAMILTON, March 22.—At 1.45 this morning fire, caused by leaving open the door of an overheated stove, broke out at No. 59 York-street, the upper flat of which is occupied by William Evans and his family. They had a narrow escape from suffocation, but were all finally rescued. After being saved Mrs. Evans went into hysterics, and between fright, exposure and the effects of the smoke was in a rather bad state. During the fire a heavy piece of marble fell through the floor and struck Fireman Thomas Canary on the ankle, injuring him severely. Damage to the building $300, insured in the Victoria Mutual; to stock $1000; insured in the Norwich.

At a meeting of the directors of the Hamilton and Wentworth Agricultural societies today the revised prize list was reported and Rule 4 was amended to read: No animal will be allowed to compete as pure bred unless the pedigree of the same be first inserted in a standard herd book. In each case of protest or appeal $2 must be deposited with the secretary.

No trace of Wm. Sharp, the baker who mysteriously disappeared Monday morning, has been discovered yet. His business affairs are in good shape, and it is feared that he may have committed suicide while deranged.

Two hundred and seventy-five thousand tons less of sugar beet root were grown in Europe during 1887 than in 1886.

THE MODERN SPHINX.

A Lecture by Miss Phelps, Under Y W. C. T. U. Auspices.

Miss Phelps. of St. Catharines, gave a lecture on Thursday evening in the Baptist Church, Murray-st., under the auspices of the Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union, her subject being the "Modern Sphinx." The attendance was small. Mrs. Kendry, President of the W. C. T. U. presided, and Miss L. Sanderson, President of the junior organization, occupied a seat on the platform. The Rev. P. Clifton Parker commenced the exercises by giving out a hymn, and the Rev. I. Tovell led in prayer. The Y. M. C. A. Quartette sang a selection, "Speed Away" very acceptably, and Miss Schofield, who possesses a pleasant soprano voice, sang a solo, "Where is Heaven?"

Mrs. KENDRY said that as President of the W. C. T. U., she was pleased to be present at the first public meeting held by their daughters of the "Y." The "Ys." did not sound their own praises, but were doing a good work. They had a paper of their own, were carrying on a kitchen garden and were going to take up the study of "Aurora Leigh." They also had a Band of Hope. The "Ys" of Canada were doing a great work. Over 1,500 children at one place were being taught by charts and otherwise the effects of alcohol. The W. C. T. U. should be proud of the band of talented young women who were engaged in the work of temperance and humanity. She asked aid and support for the "Y," and introduced the speaker of the evening.

Miss PHELPS is a young lady of pleasing presence. She speaks freely, at times eloquently, and with a clear, strong, purely feminine voice. She commenced her lecture with a graphic and eloquent description of the Egyptian Sphinx, and referred to the "riddle of the sphinx." To-night, she said, they would talk of another cold, grim, pitiless figure, the liquor traffic, and try to solve the problem it presented. The solution of the problem meant the freedom of the individual and the nation; if not olved, the destruction of civilization would follow. The strength of the traffic was found in the love of gain. People said that men had always drank and always would. All sin and wrong was old, but not as old as right, purity and goodness. She referred to the effect drink had on nations of antiquity, undermining their strength. William the Conqueror's army rose from fasting and prayer, that of Harold the Saxon from revelry, and William won. For 500 years the drink question remained a social one, but at a time when public morals and the national exchequer were at a low ebb the traffic was licensed. The first license law, passed in the reign of Edward VI., gave the justices power to close such houses as they saw fit. All other license laws were founded on that one, and the people now had the power the justices then possessed. Europeans had introduced both slavery and liquor into this continent. The arguments used in favor of slavery were now used in support of the liquor traffic, but in no land could the slave of liquor say he was free from it. The state had given the agency to conduct the business to certain persons and reserved the right to withdraw the agency. This was a social, legal, political, home and human question, and humanity must solve it. An effort had been made to offset the effect of the business by the respectability of those engaged in it, but it failed. By the Connecticut blue laws men were ordained for the business, select men deciding who should have a license. These select men had the same power as the 16th century justices, and which the people possessed. License had not solved the problem, as the traffic had grown in wealth and influence, and instead of being regulated, it dictated to the State. They gave $750,000 to carry the Gospel to the heathens, and spent $18,000,000 in drink. License or high license would not solve the problem. License being a failure, the motherhood of America took the question up. She described the Woman's Crusade, which led to the organization of the W. C. T. U. The Union was opposed to the saloon. It had awakened the church and alarmed the liquor interests and alarmed the politicians. Organized 14 years ago, it was the largest organization of women in the world. It had crossed to Europe and was established in nearly every country there. Three years ago Mrs. Levett left Boston to go around the world organizing Unions, and having been in China, Japan and the islands of the sea, she was now in India. The first emperance paper in India was published by a cultured Brahmin, and when heathenism arose to solve this problem it was time for Christianity to march onward. All women should be members of the Union. It includes the most brilliant women of the world. The common sense thing to do was to close the saloons—to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor. The liquor dealers had only a delegated privilege. The traffic did not deny the charges against it, but only defied its opponents. Society had a right to interfere with a business when it injured society, and the liquor business injured society in many ways. No great question ever got beyond the interest of the home, and the saloons destroyed home The W. C. T. U. defended the homes. She dwelt on the sacredness of the home, and said they would win because God was with them. The cranks of yesterday were the heroes of to-day. The politicians said now as they said of slavery, that this question could not be settled. License and moral suasion had failed, but prohibition would solve the problem.

The Y. M. C. A. Quartette sang another selection. A vote of thanks was tendered. Miss Phelps, on motion of the Rev. I. Tovell, seconded by Mr. A. Rutherford The Rev. S. J. Thompson closed the meeting with the benediction.

The Weather Probabilities.

His Little Mistake.

It was in the post office. The day was Tuesday. He came in flushed and well warmed up. Revolving round to his coat pocket he pulled out his kerchief to wipe his heated brow. The operation was performed. "If it's all the same to you old boy," said a friend, "that's a table napkin you're using." "Confound it, so it is," was the reply. "My wife got a lot of these at the golden lion, and there so good that its not the first time I've made a similar mistake." Moral, buy your linens at fair's.

To Open out on Saturday.

M. Sullivan & Co., having purchased from T. Dolan & Co. their dry goods business, will close the store during Friday, the 23rd, in order to mark prices in all lines. Messrs. Sullivan & Co. will open on Saturday morning, at nine o'clock, and will offer the entire stock at large reductions. Look out for marvellous bargains. This will be a fine opportunity to secure splendid vlue as the goods were imported direct for this season's trade. People should recollect that this is no sale of bankrupt goods, but a bona fide clearing out of the best lines ever offered. 2d69

The Carpenters.

A largely attended meeting of carpenters and joiners, was held at the K. of L. Hall, Water-st., on Thursday evening. Mr. T.M. D. Croly, acting under authority from the General Union of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, organized a branch of the order, with thirty-five members. The number of the Union is 375. The officers will be elected and installed at a subsequent meeting. We understand that while the members are banded together for protection and the furtherance of their interests, their objects are not aggressive. The next meeting will be held on Thursday evening at the same place.

Shall we Have a Park?

The want of an ample and fairly well situated recreation ground is badly felt. With the rapid growth of the town the opportunity to acquire a suitable property lessens. An earnest effort should be made to secure such land as may best offer and take steps to put it in condition. It would clearly result for the public good but is not likely to become a reality without public effort. The project outlined in Mr. Dumble's remarks at the Cricket club dinner on Thursday evening is a good one in many respects. It was pointed out that a suitable property could be had situated just above the new railway bridge at the locks on the eastern side of the river. Nearly 40 acres are comprised in the block, in every respect admirably situated. The owner, we believe is not unwilling to sell, and unquestionably property will never be cheaper in Peterborough than it now is. Let the Council develop some public spirit in the direction indicated. The investment would pay well For not more than an annual outlay, covering interest on the investment, of $500 the town would possess a fine ground large enough for all athetlic sports and ample for any continegncy.

A Successful Social.

The apron sale, tea, social and musical entertainment, at Winch's new hotel, on Thursday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the Superintendent of the St. John's South Ward Sabbath School, was a success. The large dining-room was tastefully fitted up and aprons of all kinds, colors, makes and descriptions, were sold to the value of upwards of $30. During the afternoon and evening meals were served to a large number of persons. In the evening a musical entertainment was given. The first number on the programme was a vocal duet, "The Pilot Brave," by Messrs. C. S. Shaw and Alex. Elliott, the accompaniment being played by Mrs. Dunsford. A solo "The Silent March," by Mr. Jacques followed. A pianoforte duet, "Vienna March," by Misses M. Beck and F. Stevenson, a song, "The King's Highway," by Mr. W. R. Greatrix and a pianoforte solo, by Miss Grey, completed the programme. All who took part acquitted themselves in the most creditable manner and were loudly applauded. An auction sale of the aprons and cakes that were left followed, Mr. A. V. R. Young wielding the hammer in true professional style. The result will be that the funds of the school will be augmented by a handsome sum.

A FESTIVE INNINGS.

THE CRICKET CLUB'S FIRST ANNUAL DINNER.

A Capital Gathering of Knights of the Ball and Bat—Rich Spread and a Deal of Speeches and Music.

A social company gathered at the Oriental Hotel on Thursday night, being called thereto to participate in the first Annual Dinner of the Peterborough Cricket Club. Although the club has had an existence of nearly thirty-three years—taking in the days when cricket was prosecuted on that section of public land now known as the Court House park—the club has been without a yearly gathering of the character such as that of Thursday night. That want has been supplied and henceforth it is expected that the annual dinner will be an annual affair.

Shortly after eight o'clock some fifty gentlemen sat down to the table, including members of the club and guests. Many cricketers were not there and it may be truly—if not sorrowfully said—that their absence was missed. The impression may—or may not—have prevailed that the absentees were unavoidably detained, but certainly the effort to attend might have been successfully made. Before dinner was commenced Vice-President Dr. Geo. Burnham was called away and his place at the head of the table was supplied by Mr. H.T. Strickland, having on his right and left Mr. D.W. Dumble and Mr. J.R. Stratton, M.P.P. Mr. J. H. Long filled the vice-chair very ably. Dinner was served in excellent style the menu being very full and taking in the delicacies of the season, with a tempting dessert. The toast list was graced with appropriate sentiments and quotations to which the taste and literary resources of Mr. J. H. Long and Mr. McIlmoyle, we believe, contributed. We regret that the limited space at disposal will not permit of our here reprinting in its entirety the menu and toast list. An excellent orchestra of five pieces under the leadership of Prof. Doucet played several very fine selections during dinner and afterwards led the singing in rousing chorus.

Dinner having been eaten and—metaphorically speaking—the cloth removed, the Chairman proposed the loyal toasts of "THE QUEEN AND GOVERNOR-GENERAL."—Both were loyally honoured, and received with three cheers that had no suspicion of annexation in the ring.

"THE ARMY, NAVY AND VOLUNTEERS," by the Chairman was spoken to by Surgeon R. Kincaid, who referred in complimentary terms to the volunteers of the country although there might be some things about the system that he could not admire. A great deal of the credit for keeping up the force was due to the officers of the different corps, and no more efficient corps could be found in the Dominion than the 57th Battalion.

Capt. BRENNAN was cheered on rising as one of the Northwest heroes. He modestly thanked Dr. Kincaid for many compliments referring to himself. He would not go into a retrospective history of the volunteer force but say that we had Lord Wolsely's testimony to the intrepidity and efficiency of the force. Dr. Brennan went on to graphically describe incidents of the fight on the field of Batoche and to bear testimony to the bravery of the Canadian troops. A strong support to the volunteers was the hearty thoughtfulness of those at home who so generously sent supplies to the front.

"OUR PARLIAMENTARY AND MUNICIPAL INSTITUTIONS" was proposed by Vice-Chairman J. H. Long, who jocularly referred to the functions of our representatives, and to their activity in securing for our town and district much consideration at the hands of their respective governments.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON, M.P.P., replied to the toast, first in complimentary terms referring to the cricket club and its activity in taking a prominent place in encouraging local sports. With regard to legislative matters, members of the local house met at Toronto and in a general way without much friction disposed of the business of the province. The House, as a whole was of excellent ability and the interests of the country were safe in their hands.

ALDERMAN T. CAHILL, who is the oldest member of the Council, responded on behalf of the town, regretting that Mayor Stevenson, who is attending to parliamentary matters at Ottawa, was not present. He, Alderman Cahill, was the oldest but not the least of the Mayor's twelve disciples. He had sought to do his duty to the corporation at large and to his own constituency, and had, he believed, been fairly successful.

The VICE-CHAIRMAN gave the toast of "Canada Our Home." Mr. O'Meara spoke to the toast. The subject was an extensive one, he said, and the Dominion was the home of the good and great. It was a dignity to be born in this wise and happy land. He heartily concurred in the sentiment that no land exceeded ours in beauty and excelled it in natural resources. He hoped that while ever linked in love and affection with our mother land that Canada would ever advance and form a bright brilliant in the sparkling cluster of which Great Britain was the gem. (Cheers.)

The CHAIRMAN in a few genial sentences then gave "Sports and Pastimes," and pleasantly referred to his early manhood days when he engaged in popular sports.

Mr. R. MUNCASTER was called on and with diffidence, as captain of the "Duffers," congratulated the club on the pleasant gathering in which they were participating. In a humorous way he described several of the assaults between the "Buffers and Duffers," in which the fielding was a strong point, while the batting was not up to the average.

Mr. E. B. EDWARDS congratulated the club on their new departure in setting up an annual dinner, and after some references to cricket as a sport, pointed out some facts connected with other sports, including that of boating and canoeing, as well as rowing. In all of these sports Canada was well in the van.

SECRETARY STIBLING got up, serenely placed his hands 'neath his coat tails and said that his love for cricket would last as long as he could stand on his stumps. He gave a retrospective sketch of the club's matches during the past season, and stated that the club had only lost 5 matches in two years.

Mr. R. M. ROY, an old member of the Belleville cricket club, could call to mind no town that pleased him so well as Peterborough. He hoped some athletic amusement would be provided for the winter months.

Mr. W. A. STRATTON, spoke briefly to the toast and Mr. R. B. Rogers was called on for a song. He complied in capital form with "Susan's Sunday out." (Cheers and applause).

"THE LEARNED PROFESSIONS" was proposed by the vice-chair.

Mr. D. W. DUMBLE responded for the legal profession and pleasantly defined the province in which the gentlemen of the law exerted their ability. He then took up the question of sports and levelled a few sharp remarks at those who would repress a moderate municipal expenditure to secure suitable play grounds on the plea that such would cost too much in dollars and cents. He hoped that the cricket club would unite in the determination to secure a good ground and property and lay it out for athletic purposes. He gave some suggestions in this direction which, it is hoped, will be acted on during the year. (Cheers and applause.)

Mr. THOS. A. HAY, for the engineering profession, endorsed what Mr. Dumble had said, and he called on Alderman Cahill to support the project as suggested in the Council, and Dr. Kincaid gave the project a hearty support.

Mr. J. D. MCILMOYLE for the teaching profession favoured the encouragement of all athletic sports in connection with education. It should be a strong feature of our schools resulting in inculcating good thoughts and developing a sturdy body as well as sound mind.

ALDERMAN CAHILL took occasion in a general way to defend his course regarding park matters in the council. He instanced a resolution which he had moved loooking to supply the very accommodation needed and which motion would be found on the books of the council.

"TRADE, COMMERCE AND MANUFACTURERS" was given by the chairman and received attention at the hands of Mr. W. J. Minore and Mr. Parker for the banking interests.

The "PRESS" was proposed and responded to by representatives of the REVIEW, Examiner and Times.

When "THE LADIES" was proposed several young men sought to leave the room. This was decreed to be bad form and they were called back. Mr. McDonald stood up and averred that the ladies of Peterborough were the prettiest and most dangerous in the whole world. (Cheers and hear, hear.) Mr. M. Hamilton said he was overwhelmed with the magnitude of the task to do justice to the toast but admitted that the ladies—it was his earnest conviction—were the brightest flowers by the pathway of life.

The health of the Chairman (Mr. H. T. Strickland), and that of the Vice-Chairman (Mr. Long), was proposed by Dr. Kincaid in a few well turned sentences. And after being enthusiastically received, duly responded to, and that of "Our Host and Hostess" was drank amidst cheers and applause. After singing the National Anthem the gathering broke up.

BULGARIAN MISSIONS.

The Rev. Mr. Stadhoff Speaks at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

The Sunday School room at St. Paul's church was fairly well filled on Thursday evening, to hear the Bulgarian Missionary, the Rev. Mr. Stadhoff. The Rev. Mr. Torrance presided, and after the usual exercises he introduced the speaker.

Rev. Mr. STADHOFF is a native Bulgarian, of the average height, with dark complection and whiskers. He speaks very poor English, but he contrived with the aid of a large map to make himself pretty fairly understood. He explained the origin of his race in the 6th century. In the 14th century they became Christians and spread the gospel among their neighbors. In the 14th century they came under the Turkish yoke and their schools were killed and the Greek bible substituted for their own. His nation were greatly oppressed and until 35 years ago Bulgaria was not known at all to the outside world. He explained how he learned to read and write without books, by means of figures made in sand. When he was a young man a great change came. He saw books and the first book he ever saw in Bulgarian was the New Testament. It was read in his father's house daily, although it was well known that if the authorities found it out his father would be executed at once. These books were supplied by the British and American Bible Societies. As Bulgaria is known in this country it contains about 2,000,000 people, but there are several millions outside who should be classed as the same race. The country is greatly diversified and has the largest rose valleys in the world. In 1876 it was no uncommon sight to see young men and women and old people, too, at work, carrying Testaments. The country made such great progress that Russia could not stand it and the greatest outrages of modern times were committed, 200 villages were burned and 500,000 people were murdered. Bulgaria is now divided into seven parts, of which only two are free. Their constitution is framed on the American plan. They have open schools, and to-day Bulgaria enjoys more liberty than any other country in Europe, except England. He ascribed this to the Bible and the temperate habits of the people. The Bulgarian question is a vexed one, but the Bible will settle it, and he felt confident that England would never allow any nation to take possession of Bulgaria. There were missionaries of different creeds working, but the Presbyterians are doing the best work. In Macedonia missionaries are badly needed. He had labored in Thessalonica and found the same state of affairs in that country. He knew of great outrages there committed on Christians and he also found that the British and American flags were the only ones that availed anything. In the early days the Macedonians sent out missionaries to enlighten the world, but things have changed and all is darkness, where the people desire light. He had heard a missionary say that it was only necessary to save China and Japan to save the world, but his idea was to save Russia in order to save China and Japan. The worst enemies of the Bulgarians are the Russians and for one missionary that England sends to China, the Russians send a thousand. The best way to reach Russia is through Bulgaria and he concluded by an earnest appeal for aid in carrying on the work undertaken.

The meeting closed with the benediction.

A Visit of Condolence.

We were favored, we regret to say, with a call this afternoon. The caller was a medium sized man about 15¾ hands high who wore a fur trimmed overcoat and a shocking bad hat. Other portions of his attire do not call for comment. The man was Eli Perkins. The bad hat was, it is understood, his own. At a glance Mr. Perkins reminds one, of our leading citizen, Mr. L. F. Carpenter, only more so. Mr. Perkins—alias Langdon—has acquired, either by his own industry, or hereditary instinct, an expressive twitch in the left eye; something not so positive as a wink, but liable to be mistaken for the enquiry "have you got 10 cents about your clothes?" Mr. Langdon is a fluent talker, as might be expected, wears a genial smile and a captivating air of having seen a deal of the world and from peculiar platforms. His genial invitation to come and hear Perkins was supplemented with the remark that he had something special for journalists, which may develop during the evening. All should bear him; there is only one Perkins and his name is Langdon.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

At Omemee.

A mile dash took place on the ice at Omemee, on Wednesday, between horses owned by Messrs. McGregor and Fee. The latter won easily. The stakes were $25 a side.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Held Over.

Owing to the press of matter and advertisements to-day, we are obliged to hold over a report of the Presbytery meeting and other news of local interest.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and no for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

Don't Wait

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Yes; every one admires it. It is very old. You know one part of the Towers is older than all the rest."

"I have heard so. I should like to see the library," says Paul, looking at her expectantly.

"You can see it now, if you wish," says Mona, quickly; the thought that she may be able to entertain him in some fashion that will not require conversation is dear to her. She therefore takes his arm and leads him out of the ball-room, and across the halls into the library, which is brilliantly lighted, but just at this moment empty.

I forget if I described it before, but it is a room quite perfect in every respect, a beautiful room, oak-paneled from floor to ceiling, with this peculiarity about it, that whereas three of the walls have their panels quite long, without a break from top to bottom, the third—that is, the one in which the fire-place has been inserted—has the panels of a smaller size, cut up into pieces from about one foot broad to two feet long.

The Australian seems particularly struck with this fact. He stares in a thoughtful fashion at the wall with the small panels, seeming blind to the other beauties of the room.

"Yes, it is strange why that wall should be different from the others," Mona says, rather glad that he appears interested in something besides herself. "But it is altogether quite a nice old room, is it not?"

"It is," replies he, absently. Then, below his breath, "and well worth fighting for."

But Mona does not hear this last addition; she is moving a chair a little to one side, and the faint noise it makes drowns the sound of his voice. This perhaps is as well.

She turns up one of the lamps, whilst Rodney still continues his contemplation of the wall before him. Conversation languishes, then dies. Mona, raising her hand to her lips, suppresses valiantly a yawn.

"I hope you are enjoying yourself," she says, presently, hardly knowing what else to say.

"Enjoying myself?—No. I never do that," says Rodney, with unexpected frankness.

"You can hardly mean that?" says Mona, with some surprise.

"I do. Just now," looking at her, "I am perhaps as near enjoyment as I can be. But I have not danced before to-night. Nor should I have danced at all had you been engaged. I have forgotten what it is to be light-hearted."

"But surely there must be moments when you——"

"I never have such moments," interrupts he, moodily.

"Dear me! what a terribly unpleasant young man," thinks Mona, at her wits' end to know what to say next. Tapping her fingers in a perplexed fashion on the table nearest her, she wonders when he will cease his exhaustive survey of the walls and give her an opportunity of leaving the room.

"But that is very sad for you, isn't it?" she says, feeling herself in duty bound to say something.

"I dare say it is; but the fact remains. I don't know what is the matter with me. It is a barren feeling,—a longing, it may be, for something I can never obtain."

"All that is morbid," says Mona; "you should try to conquer it. It is not healthy."

"You speak like a book," says Rodney, with an unlovely laugh; "but advice seldom cures. I only know that I have learned what stagnation means. I may alter in time, of course, but just at present I feel that

'My night has no eve,
And my day has no morning.'

At home—in Sydney, I mean—the life was different. It was free, unfettered, and in a degree lawless. It suited me better."

"Then why don't you go back?" suggests Mona, simply.

"Because I have work to do here," retorts he, grimly. "Yet ever since I first set foot on this soil, contentment has gone from me. Abroad a man lives, here he exists. There, he carries his life in his hands, and trusts to his revolver rather than the most learned of counsels, but here all is on another footing."

"It is to be regretted you cannot like England, as you have made up your mind to live in it; and yet I think——" She pauses.

"Yes—you think; go on," says Rodney, gazing at her attentively.

"Well, then, I think it is only just you should be unhappy," says Mona, with some vehemence. "Those who seek to scatter misery broadcast among their fellows should learn to taste of it themselves."

"Why do you accuse me of such a desire?" asks he, paling beneath her indignation, and losing courage because of the unshed tears that are gleaming in her eyes.

"When you gain your point and find yourself master here, you will know you have made not only one, but many people miserable."

A HUMBLE ADDRESS.

Senators Ask for the Correspondence re the Behring Sea Seizures.

OTTAWA, March 22.—In the Senate this afternoon, Speaker Allan in the chair, Hon. Mr. Macdonald moved, seconded by Hon. Mr. Kaulbach, that a humble address be presented to His Excellency the Governor-General praying that he will cause to be laid before this House all correspondence subsequent to May, 1887, between the Imperial and Dominion Governments and the Government of the United States, relating to international rights in Behring Sea, and to the seizure of British vessels therein by armed vessels of the United States.

Mr. Macdonald said that this question was an Imperial one when shown in its widest range yet in its immediate consequences it was of great importance to the Dominion as trade was increasing. No less than five Nova Scotia vessels were now on their way to the Pacific, some of them being sent by their Nova Scotia owners to embark in the seal fisheries. It was of great importance in British Columbia (and by the seizures, which he hoped would turn out illegal, they were practically ruined) that a settlement of this vexed question should be brought about.

Mr. Kaulbach held that the claim made by the Government of the United States was a violation of the law of nations, and a direct interference with navigation and commerce.

Hon. Mr. McInnes endorsed what had been said by his colleagues, and said it was the duty of the Government to protect the rights of Canadian fishermen, and, if some settlement was not arrived at to restrict the unjustifiable claims of the United States, the seal fisheries of British Columbia would be entirely destroyed.

Hon. Mr. Abbott said the Government was fully sensible of the importance and urgency of the question which was contained in the motion. There was no objection whatever to the address being passed, and as far as public interests would permit the whole correspondence would be brought down. He hardly thought, however, at this stage of the discussion it was safe to assume that the United States Government was contending that it had the rights in Behring Sea which Russia claimed for itself in 1821. Ample compensation had been demanded for those fishermen whose vessels had been seized and would no doubt be conceded. As far as he was informed he did not think the American Government had pretended to have the exclusive right of fishing or to control the same more than international laws will allow. Before the cession of Alaska to the United States the highest law officers of the American Government gave formal opinions, which are on record, to the effect that Russia had no right to the exclusive privilege asserted by the Ukase of 1721.

Senator Abbott alluded to the death of Senator Rolland in feeling terms, after which the Senate adjourned.

THE COAL CARTAGE COMPANY.

Clarke Wallace's Committee Investigating an Ottawa Combine.

OTTAWA, March 22.—While the politicians wrangle over the respective merits and demerits of so-called Commercial Union and Unrestricted Reciprocity, Ottawa's enterprising coal dealers, resolving to test the theory by practice, appear to have adopted quite a scheme of Commercial Union of their own. The Combines Committee heard evidence on this subject this morning.

The local coal combine bears the innocent sounding name of the Ottawa Coal Cartage Company. It was incorporated under the Ontario Act in July, 1886, the stock being held in large amounts by Messrs. Butterworth, Ray & McCullough, coal dealers, and in nominal amounts by two other parties not in the trade, but put in to make up the necessary number of incorporators. This company is virtually the jobber that wholesales the coal sold by its members, who take the orders from the public and pass them into the Cartage Company for execution. The retail price is mutually agreed upon between the members of the company and the dealers, not stock holders, who are in affiliation and who are allowed to share in the profits. For instance, Senator Clemow is not a stock holder but placed with the company in the season of 1886 and 1887 orders amounting to upwards of 4000 tons and his share of profits was reckoned at $3000. Messrs. Thompson and Browne, two other dealers affiliated, although not stock holders, had $2500 profits divided between them.

The net profit on the 31,000 tons of coal handled by the company during the first year of its existence was $33,843, or $1.09 per on. The capital of the company is $75,000 and the net profit therefrom figured up at about 220 per cent. additional private capital necessary to carry on the individual firms. This was the pith of the information elicited by an examination of P. Larmonth, the secretary or accountant of the company, who put in by request the minutes of the mettings and several other documents expected to prove of considerable interest. The committee did not look into them at all to-day. Mr. Larmonth was of opinion, for reasons not quite apparent to the committee, that the poor consumer had been benefited by the actions of this combine.

Mr. W. H. Easton, a local coal dealer who is not in the ring, was next examined, he having a complaint against them that they had been instrumental in preventing him getting his coal from the Delaware and Lackawanna Coal Company, from whom they purchased, or from any other American coal companies. The coal he had handled he got from Mr. Swift, a Kingston dealer, who made a profit on the transaction of the difference between the long and short ton. For this commission Mr. Swift would purchase coal from the Delaware and Lackawanna Company and have it delivered direct to Ottawa, the freight to this point being the same as to Kingston. But this had been stopped at the instance of the ring, the Delaware and Lackawanna Company refusing to sell any more to Swift for delivery at Ottawa. He had then, in order to fill orders, to buy from Swift at Kingston and pay freight from there to Ottawa, nearly $20. He lost about $1 a son on all the coal he handled under this arrangement but had to suffer this loss in order to get his money for orders already partly filled. He considered the dealers' average profit on coal to be nearer $1.25 than 25 cents a ton.

Effie's Luck.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 21.—Young Fenton Cox, who has elected to stand by Effie Ellis, the variety actress whom his father attempted to disfigure with carbolic acid, is still here. He will remain until after the examination of Dr. Cox. It is said that he will marry Miss Ellis, if necessary, to protect her.

The young woman is wonderfully improved. Her face shows but a few scars, and while it has been badly burned, the physicians state it will not be scarred. Most fortunately it is now beyond doubt she will see from both eyes. She stated she was resting easy and felt a great deal better than a few hours previous.

A Thrifty Son.

"See, father," said a son, with the proud consciousness of duty done, "I have saved $500 from my year's allowance."

"Good!" exclaimed the old man; "you are a wise young fellow, Charley."

"Yes, father; and I wish you would add $500 to it. I've got to pay some debts."—The Epoch.

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they pay prices for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

The Fisheries Protocols.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The President sent a brief message to the Senate to-day in reply to a resolution introduced by Senator Frye, requesting the President to transmit to the Senate copies of the minutes and daily protocols of the meeting of the commissioners who negotiated the fisheries treaty with Great Britain. He enclosed a copy of the letter received from the Secretary of State on the subject, in which Mr. Bayard says:

Every point submitted to the conference is covered by the papers now in possession of the Senate, excepting the question of damages sustained by our fishermen, which, being met by the counter claim for damages to British vessels in Behring Sea, was left for future settlement.

The Oporto Calamity.

LISBON, March 22.—No one yet knows how many lives have been lost in the calamity at Oporto. The latest advices state that upward of 100 bodies or fragments of bodies have been recovered. It is believed that all the people in the upper galleries, which held over 200, were killed.

The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and not for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ought, for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

SUPPOSED INCENDIARISM.

Robson Bros.' Storehouse at Waterdown Burnt—A Hamilton Boy Wins Honors.

HAMILTON, March 23.—On two occasions within the past two months the large stone warehouse of Robson Bros.' flour mills, at Waterdown, has been discovered in flames at an hour when there was nobody working about the premises. Since the fire Wednesday morning two men have been watching the building. When they left to go home to breakfast about 6 o'clock this morning everything was all right, but about twenty minutes afterwards the storehouse was in a blaze, and although every effort was made to check the fire very little progress was made, and inside of an hour the building was totally destroyed. Between 3000 and 4000 bushels of grain that was in the storehouse fed the flames, and as the firemen could not get at it, the grain was either burned or so much damaged by smoke or water that it will be of little use. The fire started in the lower part of the premises, the same place as before, and it is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. The building and contents are said to be fully insured.

Another Hamilton student has just done honor to himself and his native city. Edward H. Robinson, son of W. W. Robinson, graduated from the Cleveland Homœpathic College a few days ago at the head of his class—and a very large class at that.

A respected citizen died this morning in the person of Thomas Lester, father of Dr. John M. and Thomas W. Lester, of Rutherford & Lester.

The funeral of the late E. Wildman of Toronto, formerly of this city, took place from the Grand Trunk station this afternoon.

A member of the Hamilton police force has been suspended for frequenting a house of ill-fame while on duty.

The crown was not ready to proceed with the charge of larceny against Wm. Lattimore this morning and the case was adjourned until Wednesday.

There is no news yet regarding Wm. Sharp, the baker.

An important session of the Bricklayers and Masons' Union was held last night, and it was near 2 a.m. before the members got home. The business, of course, was secret, but it has developed that the union concluded to demand 35c. an hour for the coming season. The price paid last year was 32c.

PROJECTED RAILROADS.

Bills Taken Up by the Committee Yesterday—An Ebullition of Temper.

OTTAWA, March 23.—The Committees on Railways and Canals met to-day and took up the bill to incorporate the Ontario and Central Railway, promoted by Mr. Ward. This line is projected from Port Hope through the counties of Durham, Ontario, York, Simcoe, Cardwell, Grey and Bruce, touching in or near Aurora, Newmarket, Shelburne, Dundalk, Durham, via Walkerton to the port of Inverhuron—a distance of about 176 miles. The incorporators are David Jackson, jr., James Isbester, McLeod Stewart, Clarence W. Moberly, Frank Caverhill, Alexander Maclean, Joseph H. Ferguson, Alexander McPherson and John W. Irwin. The capital stock of the company is placed at $100,000, divided into shares of $100 each.

On a motion for the adoption of the preamble Mr. Mulock moved an amendment giving the Company power to build a branch line to Cookstown—a distance of about eight miles.

Hon. Mr. White took objection to the amendment as the regular notice had not been given as required by the order of the committee.

This had the effect of ruffling Mr. Mulock's temper, leading him among other things to charge the Minister of the Interior with not opposing the amendment on its merits but because it was presented by a political opponent. A lively passage at arms ensued after which the chairman expressed the hope that Mr. Mulock would withdraw the amendment. That gentleman having cooled down somewhat apologized for what he had said but refused to withdraw the amendment.

Mr. Sproule said if the power were to be extended them, he would move a sub-amendment, providing for the construction of a branch from Durham to Meaford.

Both amendments were negatived and the preamble carried.

The bill to amend the act incorporating the Hereford Branch Railway Company and to change its name to the Hereford Railway Company, also a bill to incorporate the Bay of Quinte Railway Company, were also ordered to be reported. The latter provides for the construction of a line from Collingwood, in the County of Simcoe, to Trenton, Northumberland or Belleville in Hastings. The incorporators are Messrs. Charles Cameron, Thomas Lang, Charles MacDonald, Andrew Melville, A. R. Stephen, C. E. Stephens, Frank T. Telfer, B. C. Cullary and Frank Moberly, all of Collingwood, and the capital stock is $100,000.

Said to Have Resigned.

MONTREAL, March 23.—It was reported in town to-night that Mr. Nantel, M.P.P., had received a telegram from Hon. Jas. McShane, Commissioner of Public Works and Agriculture, stating that he had resigned, and that Hon. Messrs. Duhamel and Garneau were about to follow suit.

THEY ARE INCORRUPTIBLE

MR. KENNY SAYS GOLD CAN'T BUY NOVA SCOTIANS.

Resumption of the Reciprocity Debate—The Discussion to be Continued Next Week—Committee Proceedings—Circulation and Specie—Capital Notes.

OTTAWA, March 23.—In the House to-day Dr. Platt, the member-elect for the County of Prince Edward, was introduced by Mr. Laurier. The usual return in his case has not been made, but on motion of Sir Hector Langevin and Sir A. P. Caron this was dispensed with and the certificate of the returning officer accepted.

The Committee on Privileges and Elections reported recommending that in the case of Kent County, where extensive bribery had been found to prevail and which has been without representation since the judgment of the court was given, that the Speaker do issue his warrant at once for a new election. The report was adopted.

Dr. Roome, member-elect for West Middlesex, was introduced by Sir John and Hon. Mr. Carling.

Mr. Kenny resumed the Unrestricted Reciprocity debate. He took exception to a statement made some days ago by the member for Queen's, P.E.I., to the effect that elections in Nova Scotia had been won by promises. He quoted from the letter from Mr. Blake, which had been read, stating that the people of Nova Scotia had offered themselves for sale. He characterized the allegation as most insulting and declared for them that the gold had never been coined that could buy them.

In regard to the proposition before the House he said he was in favor of reciprocal trade relations and free commercial intercourse, but the resolution before the House proposed a course that would defeat an arrangement that would result in good to Canada. He believed the Opposition had grown so desperate by repeated defeat that they would adopt any cry and they had taken up this Unrestricted Reciprocity idea, but he did not believe they were sincere. He read from former utterances of hon. gentlemen opposite expressing emphatic disapproval of the course they were now advocating. The published correspondence showed that Canada was ready at any time to enter into trade negotiations, but we should not go on our knees in the matter to the States.

The proposition now before this House would necessarily involve a customs union, and the returns of imports and exports proved that this would result in very serious loss to Canada. Direct taxation would be the certain result. The abolition of the provincial subsidy system would also follow the adoption of Unrestricted Reciprocity.

He referred to the exodus and regretted that members opposite were proven to disparage our country and misrepresent the movement of population. Statistics showed that the population of Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia had increased much faster than in the New England States.

There had been the usual wail by Mr. Jones over the condition of the working classes in Nova Scotia. The hon. gentleman, in attempting to prove his statements, had violated every principle of ethics and had distinctly contradicted his own words of three years ago. Laboring people in Nova Scotia are as well off as in any part of the world.

He advanced arguments in support of his position that the Nova Scotia coal trade was in good condition, and that the men engaged in it were not desirous of the change proposed by the resolution before the House. The condition of the fishermen was also improving, and they had no reason to be dissatisfied.

The idea however of opening up trade with the West Indies and Brazil was a good one, and he hoped to see a line of steamers subsidized.

Mr. Kenny went exhaustively into trade statistics and made a good speech, finishing at 6 o'clock.

After recess Messrs. Beausoleil and Dupont spoke in French, the former opposing and the latter supporting Sir Richard Cartwright's resolution.

Mr. Paterson made an attempt to justify the comparisons that had been made between Canada and the States at the present day. He quoted from the report of the International Board of Trade convention at St. Louis in 1874, that Hon. Thos. White had moved and Mr. Adam Brown, now M.P. for Hamilton, seconded a resolution favoring reciprocal trade relations with the States and urging that we should do everything possible to secure free commercial intercourse.

There need not now be any cringing on the part of Canada in the movement to secure Unrestricted Reciprocity. The letter of Secretary Bayard to Sir Chas. Tupper some months ago proved that the States were willing to enter into negotiations. As to the effect that would follow Unrestricted Reciprocity, he contended that material benefits would accrue to Canada. He read from several tables of figures to confirm this statement.

He accused the Government of insincerity and of having defrauded the people by getting them to vote for the National Policy under representations that it would lead to Reciprocity. He denied that Unrestricted Reciprocity would make Canada a slaughter market for American manufacturers. Mr. Paterson spoke till after midnight.

Mr. Rykert moved adjournment of the debate and the House adjourned.

Postoffice Authorities Enjoined.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Senator Sawyer, chairman of the Postoffice Committee, has received a telegram from a Rochester firm of seedsmen, announcing that the court has granted a permanent injunction restraining the postoffice authorities from charging additional postage, as directed in a recent order of the Postmaster-General, upon seeds shipped to Canada and re-shipped under the lower Canadian rates to points in the United States. The Senator's correspondent announces that all American seedsmen will ship their wares from Canada this year. The Senate has already passed a bill reducing American postal rates to meet those of Canada.

An Evangelist Skips from the States.

BUFFALO, March 23.—Harry S. Hill, the evangelist who brought Francis Murphy to this city, has skipped to Canada. Hill was under $1000 bail for attempted indecent assault on Lizzie Bernback.

The five years' contract between Manager Pitou and W. J. Scanlan has been renewed for another five years.

A CHIEF TOPIC OF DISCUSSION.

The Local Government Bill Engrosses Public Attention in The United Kingdom.

LONDON, March 23.—The Local Government Bill continues to be the chief subject of discussion in the press of the entire kingdom. It begins to be seen that there is a big Home Rule plan behind it; in fact, it is frankly stated by the advocates of the bill that the extension of the system to Scotland and Ireland is merely a matter of time. Should the proposed change prove in its test as valuable as it appears to be in theory, the policy of the Opposition will be to make few, if any, amendments so as not to delay the progress of the measure. The most surprising feature of the whole matter is the fact that the most radical change in the English Governmental plank known in modern times meets with little or no opposition from any direction.

The newspapers, Radical and Conservative, unite in indorsing the measure and in heaping encomiums on Mr. Ritchie. This can be explained only by the fact that the far reaching results of the change proposed are not grasped. When the City of London, for instance, is made a county by itself and turned over to the people to govern, the change from the present system of things, when nearly all the responsible officials are appointive, can be imagined. When the control of the police, of the licensing of all public privileges, those pertaining to railway corporations, included, etc., is taken away from Parliament and the Crown and placed directly in the hands of the people, to be administered by those whom they choose to elect, London will be placed almost exactly on the basis of an American city.

So many great questions are involved in the bill that it is scarcely possible anything can be done with it at this session. It has come to stay, however, and will keep statesmen busy for a long time to come.

Mr. Blunt's Letter.

LONDON, March 23.—Mr. Wilfrid Blunt has written a letter to The Times recounting in detail the date and hour and the words that passed between himself and Mr. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, when the latter said that the Home Rule movement was supported by half a dozen men whom he named and would collapse if, as he expected, they, through fear of prison, fled the country. If they were imprisoned he said they would get such severe hard labor that those without strong health would be unable to stand it. Mr. Balfour said he was sorry for Mr. Dillon, as there was some good about him. But he would get six months' hard labor, and as he was in bad health the punishment would kill him. Mr. Blunt says he understood the Chief Secretary's words to be intended to be somewhat as a warning to himself and through him to the Parnellites. He again challenges Mr. Balfour to say whether his statement is correct, and declares that if he denies the language attributed to him he will bring testimony to corroborate it.

Mayor Hewitt Attracts Attention.

LONDON, March 23.—Mayor Hewitt of New York just now is occupying the press' attention here that was recently absorbed by the blizzard and Jay Gould. The Irish papers are very bitter on him, while the Tory and Union press compliment him.

PROROGATION OF THE HOUSE.

The Closing of the Session Unattended With any Sort of Show.

TORONTO, March 23.—It was the intention of the Government to assemble the Legislature at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and discuss an unfinished bill introduced by Mr. Conmee, but at that hour only two members were present. After waiting half-an-hour, however, a quorum turned up, and Mr. Conmee's measure, which was to incorporate the Port Arthur Water, Light and Heat Company, was rushed through in a few seconds. Not two dozen members were in their places, but both galleries were well filled, and a double row of chairs in the centre of the chamber were also occupied by visitors, among whom were many ladies.

Outside "C" Company and its excellent band were drawn up, awaiting the arrival of His Honor. When the carriage containing the Lieutenant-Governor and his aides drew up, the soldiers saluted and the band played the National Anthem, which was all the ceremony indulged in. Sir Alex. Campbell, dressed in the same uniform in which he opened the session, took his seat in the Speaker's chair, and closed the second session of the sixth Legislature.

A Residence Burnt Near Wyoming.

WYOMING, Ont., March 23.—Last night about 11 o'clock the fine brick residence of John Robertson on the second line of Plympton, about a mile from this village, was destroyed by fire. Most of the furniture and household effects were removed. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson are now suffering from frozen feet, having been unable to secure either shoes or stockings and walking for some time in their bare feet. The house was insured with the East Lambton Insurance Company for $1500 and the contents for $450. The total loss will be about $3000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

THE NORTHERN COLLISION

THE RESULT OF THE CORONER'S JURY'S DELIBERATIONS.

Conductor Glassford and Engineer Forster of the Snow Plow Held Responsible for The Accident—The Railway Company Also Censured—An Affecting Scene.

GRAVENHURST, March 23.—The inquest upon the bodies of the men killed in the accident on the Northern yesterday concluded at 3 o'clock this morning. All the train men were examined, together with the station agents at Gravenhurst and Washago. The evidence went clearly to show that the order board at Washago was up, and had Conductor Glassford's special obeyed the order the collision would not have taken place.

The jury returned a verdict holding Conductor Glassford and Engineer Forster—the conductor and engineer of the snow plow—responsible for the accident and the death of George Wilson and others. They also censured the railway company for their imperfect system of signals.

The wives and friends of the dead arrived last night to take charge of the remains. The scene was very affecting.

Conductor Glassford, who had escaped down the track, returned from Orillia last night, stating that he had been away looking up doctors, and was, with Engineer Forster, taken in charge by Chief Constable Langworthy, of Gravenhurst, and sent to the county jail this morning.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

Rumored Amalgamation of the R.C.Y.C. and the T.Y.C.—The University Boat Race.

TORONTO, March 24.

The proposed amalgamation of the Royal Canadian and Toronto Yacht Clubs has been long talked of. Neither club was willing, it seems, to take the initiative step, till the Royal Canadian took hold of it at its meeting on Thursday night and appointed a committee to consider the scheme in conjunction with a committee from the Toronto Yacht Club.

The Royal Canadian is the older of the two organizations, having been started 20 years ago, while its lively rival has only reached its seventh year. In membership the clubs are about equal, but the Toronto has the advantage in the number of yachts, owning some 20 or more, whilst the Royal Canadian has 6. The argument advanced by the advocates in both clubs for the amalgamation is that it will make a strong organization and thus give an impetus to yachting.

A difficulty that stands in the way in the accomplishment of the scheme is the desire of the two clubs to each retain its name in the new club. The Royal Canadian members want it named after their club, whilst the Toronto declare they will not be ignored to this extent. "There is something in the name undoubtedly," said a member of the T. Y. C., to a reporter last night, "and we can hardly expect the Royal Canadian Club to consent to the total obliteration of its name in the new club. They have been especially fortunate in getting their name for their club, and we feel that this evidence of royal favor should be appreciated, as it undoubtedly is by our members. At the same time our club will stand up for its rights in the matter. I think a happy compromise would be to call the club the 'Royal Toronto Club' or the 'Royal Canadian and Toronto Yacht Club.' I do not know what the general feeling is among our members in regard to the amalgamation. Some of those with whom I have spoken favor it, whilst others oppose it. We will have a special meeting shortly to consider the matter."

England's Aquatic Event.

LONDON, March 23.—The University boat race will take place to-morrow, wind and water permitting. The crews will be started at 10.30 a.m. The event excites but moderate interest as it seems a foregone conclusion that Cambridge will win. The betting is two to 1 in favor of the Cambridge crew.

The Six Day Race at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, March 23.—The score in the six day walking match at end of the fifth day is as follows:

Breen, 182 miles; Alberts, 177 miles; Black, 155 miles; Harris, 134 miles; Lynch, 108 miles.

Spots of Sport.

The Ottawa club has decided to engage Lacey, last season's professional. Ottawa should have a strong team this year. Grout of Trinity School and A. G. Smith will prove valuable acquisitions.

Cricket seems dead in Montreal. The loss of the old ground seems to have completely disorganized the club.

A curling match was played yesterday at Millbrook between the Lindsay and Millbrook clubs, resulting in a victory for the former by 10 shots.

A curling match took place yesterday at Chatham between Thamesville and Chatham clubs, which resulted in favor of the home club by 3 shots.

London played the Forest City Club a curling match on Thursday (one of the Malahide Medal series) which resulted in favor of the London club by 32 shots.

The Victoria Hockey Club of Quebec and Crystals of Montreal met to-night in a friendly contest game, which was very onesided, the local team winning by 7 to 1.

The Metropolitan and St. James Clubs played in Victoria Rink, the latter winning by 1 to 0.

HORSES FOR THE ARMY.

It seems that the War Department of the Imperial Government has not abandoned the idea of again purchasing horses for the British Army in Canada. The cost of the recent experiment, and the objections raised in England to going from home for horses, has for a time stopped the sending of officers here for that purpose, but the Government is considering the matter.

Upon this interesting subject the Toronto Empire says:—"There is little doubt that the Imperial authorities will continue to be purchasers in Canada of army horses, whatever method they may adopt. And meanwhile there is no sufficient reason why our Canadian farmers should be deterred from taking steps to raise this class of horse. They cannot overstock the market. Even if there were no purchasers here they would run no risk in shipping to England. Remounts must be procured, and if the horses sent were fit for the service they would quickly be bought up. Nor is it only the British market that is to be supplied; there is that of the Continent of Europe also. The very difficulty the British cavalry is now experiencing arises from the fact that the horses in Great Britain suitable for army purposes have been so largely purchased by agents for the Continental armies as almost to exhaust the supply. There is certainly no immediate likelihood of this Continental demand for army horses being at all diminished, for their araments and their consequent requirements even in times of peace are continually increasing.

"It is evident that our progressive and enterprising farmers cannot do better than by taking steps to supply the demand for these horses, for which there is a remunerative and constant market with very little risk under any probable circumstances."

A SHARP CURVE.

Last year Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., voted against giving further privileges to women in regard to voting, and in an "interview" in the Examiner gave his reasons for so doing. This year he voted in favor of allowing women a further part in public affairs, and the contrast between his arguments then and his action now is striking.

"You must remember that the spheres of the sexes are quite different. Man's proper sphere is public life; woman's domain is the home."—Mr. Stratton last year.

This year Mr. Stratten forgot the difference, and voted to bring woman into man's sphere and—if he had succeeded in that—what would have become of the home?

"Woman should be sheltered and shielded from the rude battle of life and her interests should be guarded by men."—Mr. Stratton.

And now he would have women take part in that battle—that rude battle—though she should lose the manly umbrella and shield! Beware, oh, take care!

"Those who enter the political arena must expect to be cuffed and to cuff back again and then the age of chivalry and chivalrous courtesy shall have passed."—Mr. Stratton.

Yet Mr. Stratton voted that women should be cuffed! and shou'd cuff back again!! Ye who would preserve chilvalrous courtesy, to arms!

"Rep.—You do not seem to think women are adapted for politicians.

"Mr. S.—No: My opinion is that woman are made and meant to be, not men, but mothers of men."

And Mr. Stratton, after a year's consideration, votes that women should be men—and, oh ye men! what will you do for mothers?

"In every instance that can be cited, it will be found that the true woman, who possesses the ornament of her sex, a gentle, refined nature, will shrink from all public and political excitement, other than a moral interest. * * Now, as a matter of fact, supposing such a measure became law, we should not have the influence of true women in politics, any more than we have now."—Mr. Stratton.

Mark that! And knowing this, Mr. Stratton voted that the rude, the rough, the false women (for the the gentle, the refined, the true would not, he told us, take part in politics) should be allowed to vote—that they should be dragged into politics, the relations of the sexes disturbed and all those clamaties he described come upon the women and upon the country!

Last year a majority of 55; this year only 10. The dangers that threaten women, and the sons of the mothers of men, are drawing close. How can the danger be averted?

PETERBOROUGH PRESBYTERY.

The Business Transacted at the Adjourned Meeting on Thursday.

The Presbytery of Peterborough held an adjourned meeting yesterday it St. Paul's. Mr. Bell was chosen chairman for six months. There were present Messrs. Bell, Torrance, Cleland, Bennett, McCrea, Jamieson, Carmichael, Thompson, Macwilliam, ministers, and Messrs. Roxburgh, Tully, Boreland and Johnstone, elders.

Mr. McCrea was instructed to correspond with all the ministers within the bounds in reference to the necessity of putting forth additional efforts to increase the contributions to the augmentation fund.

Applications were made for grants on behalf of the mission field and augmented congregations within the bounds.

The clerk's conduct was approved of in giving letters of transference to Mr. Hossack to the Toronto Presbytery.

The next meeting of Presbytery was appointed to be held in Port Hope, on the 2nd Tuesday in July, at 9 o'clock a.m.

The following were appointed as delegates to the assembly to meet in Halifax in June next:—Messrs. Bennett, Duncan, Sutherland, Cameron, Torrance, Bell, Ross, ministers, and Messrs. Roxburgh (Norwood), Henderson (Cobourg), Carnegie, Clark (Campbellford), Collins (Peterborough), Jas. Drummond (Keene) and G. Rutherford (Colborne), elders.

Interesting reports on Sabbath schools and state of religion were read, adopted and forwarded to the Synod committees on these subjects respectively.

Mr. McEwen reported regarding several very profitable Sabbath School Institutes which have been held during the summer months.

The Presbytery considered the remit on the contribution of assembly and agreed to recommend that the representation remain as at present.

"The Presbytery approved of the proposal to establish a fund for the payment of travelling expenses of delegates to the Supreme Court.

The report of the Committee on Statistics was laid on the table until next meeting.

The following minute was adopted in connection with the death of Mrs. McEwen:—

"The Presbytery have heard with deep regret of the sudden death of Mrs. McEwen, of Lakefield. They feel that the loss of Mrs. McEwen will cause a serious blank, not only in her own home and its immediate neighborhood, but throughout the Presbytery to which she has rendered such valuable service in connection with the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

"The Presbytery beg to express their sincere sympathy with their brother in the painful loss he has sustained and their hope that he will be supported in his time of trial by the grace and sympathy of the Saviour."

BAKING POWDER.

The Latest Official Tests as to their Relative Purity.

The recent official tests in the States of various articles of food have attracted much attention from the public and caused a wide discussion in the newspapers. The frauds in the manufacture of baking powders, and the determined efforts to force various brands of alum powders upon the market, have caused the authorities of several of the States to look particularly after this class of goods. The Ohio State Food Commission has examined thirty different brands, and of these found twenty made from alum. Such a large number was not suspected, nor was it supposed that some of the cream of tartar and phosphate powders, whose manufacturers are representing them to the public as pure and wholesome, had become so deteriorated as they were found to be from the use of impure ingredients in their compounding. As many of these adulterated brands are sold in the Dominion, the report possesses a local interest.

The Ohio Commission made tests for strength and purity, and declared that baking powder the best—as it was of course the purest—which, being of effective strength, contained residuum in smallest quantities. In the baking powders named the following percentages of residuum or inert matter were found.

NAME.	PER CENT. OF RESIDUUM, ETC.
Royal, (Cream of Tartar Powder)	7.25
Cleveland's	10 18
Zipp's Crystal (alum)	11.99
Sterling	13.83
Dr. Price's	12.66
Jersey (alum)	16 05
Forest City (alum)	24 04
Silver Star (alum)	31.88
De Land's	32.52
Horsford's (Phosphate)	36 49
Kenton (alum)	38 17

The nature of the residuum bears directly upon the question of health. That in Royal is declared to be perfectly harmless. In the case of the alum powders it is considered hurtful, yet the amount found in three of the cream of tartar powders—Cleveland's, Dr. Price's and Sterling—averaged more than that in the Crystal, an alum powder.

The importance of the information conveyed by these figures can be best understood by a simple comparison. Take for instance the two first named powders—the Royal and Cleveland's. The inert matter or residuum found in Cleveland's is seen to be bbout 3 in 7 more than in the other, which is a difference of 40 per cent., the Royal being purer than Cleveland's, by a corresponding figure. The relative purity of all the brands can be computed in like manner.

Correspondence of the Review.

Accident.—John Geary went on a visit last Saturday to Douro. When returning home on Sunday on the communicating line of Smith, his horse got frightened and upset the rig and threw him against some wood that was piled on the road, injuring his shoulder pretty bad. He is getting better fast, but he says he will never go to Dotro again.

They Did Buy.—Mr. Robert Calvert and Mr. Michael O'Reilly went to the back countries and bought two yoke of oxen. Those two old gentlemen say they are going to train their sons to do what they themselves had to do in former years; work the land with oxen. They say they are less expensive, more durable and will do as much work as horses, but when they go to hitch them on a selfbinder they will find out their mistake.

Many a man fails to make business a success because of "too many irons in the fire." No department gets the attention that it should. We wish to avoid this mistake and give our attention to Dry Goods and Millinery. We watch the market for correct prices and styles and to-day hundreds of ladies can tell you that they are delighted with our stock; that we are not a year behind the times, but equal to any city store. We are selling goods to-day fresh and new cheaper than old styles are sold. Another fact, we make one price only. A child gets the same value as the sharpest buyer. You may depend on straightforward dealing. We intend giving you in this paper daily some interesting facts about our business. Next week we will tell you about our Dress Goods Department and give you an idea of styles for the Spring.

A Short Lived Surprise.

"The old scheme," says Eli Perkins, defined laughter as being caused by a short-lived surprise. Exactly. But a short-lived surprise may startle and yet not cause laughter. Take the surprise experienced on finding that at the golden lion you can get superior value to that offered at any clearing sale. In the dress goods and mantle department the newest lines are offered, and none need be out of the fashion on account of the prices. At fair's you have the benefit of low prices and newest goods.

The Bishop at Lindsay.

The Lindsay Watchman says:—"The lecture on the life and times of St. Patrick, by Bishop Dowling, of Peterborough, in St. Mary's Church, on Sunday evening last, was very largely attended, the spacious edifice being well filled. The lecture throughout was very interesting, the audience thoroughly appreciating the subject together with the masterly manner in which it was dealt with. His Lordship is a fluent speaker, and at times waxed eloquent in speaking of the troubles in Ireland at the present time. The proceeds, which must have been considerable, were devoted to St. Vincent de Paul society for the benefit of the poor."

K. of L. Assembly.

A convention of delegates from the Knights of Labor assemblies at Gravenhurst, Midland, Port Perry, Lindsay and Uxbridge, was held at Uxbridge on Thursday, when a district assembly was organized by Mr. Charles March, of Toronto. The following officers were elected:—

DISTRICT MASTER WORKMAN.—R.R. Elliott, of Uxbridge.
FOREMAN.—G. F. Morris, of Port Perry.
SECRETARY.—W. Hogan, Uxbridge.
TREASURER.—J. O'Reilly, Lindsay.
INSPECTOR.—J. Barker, Midland.
VENERABLE SAGE.—W.H. Clark, Port Perry.
STATISTICIAN.—W. Sloan, Gravenhurst.

It is expected that Oshawa, Peterborough and Port Hope assemblies will be assigned to this district and several other assemblies will shortly be organized. This will no doubt be a strong district.

An excess of animal food and a partial closing of the pores of the skin, during the winter months, cause the system to become filled with impurities. These can be removed and the blood purified and invigorated by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Price $1.

When Mrs. Scott-Siddons

was recently in Paris, she purchased for her magnificent wardrobe four additional superb dresses at a cost of $2,000. She will appear in Peterborough, on Monday, 16th April, proximo, when she will wear one of these elegant costumes. She goes from here to Ottawa and Montreal, then to Halifax, from which city she will sail for England. Bon voyage.

She Scared Him.

On Friday afternoon a resident of Louisst. ran from his own house to that of a neighbor. He was coatless, hatless and in a great state of excitement. He asked assistance as he declared that his wife was killing herself with a butcher knife. Inquiries revealed the fact that the two had a tiff and the woman took up the knife and threatened to take her life. That was all it amounted to, however.

Eli Perkins.

Mr. Melville D. Langdon, better known as Eli Perkins, appeared at the Opera House, on Friday evening, before a small, but critical audience. His subject was the "philosophy of wit and humor," and he handled it in a masterly manner. He has a good stage presence and an inimitable smile, while his way of telling humorous stories never fails to produce laughter. He spoke for upwards of two hours and for that length of time he kept his audience convulsed. His philosophy of how laughter is produced is not novel, but was clearly and logically explained and the different phases of humor, wit, ridicule, sarcasm, satire and irony, illustrated by story or incident.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

How it was Fixed.

The Port Hope Times says that "a meeting of the Citizen's Committee, called together for the purpose of retaining the services of Chief Douglas, was held on Thursday morning to consider the offer of the Council of Peterborough, of $750 a year to Chief Douglas. Mr. Douglas addressed the meeting placing himself in its hands. If he remained he would like to feel that he had the moral support of the citizens. Some rumors in the shape of charges against him were presented by gentlemen present and were explained to the satisfaction of the meeting. Mr. Douglas then retired and the meeting decided that they could not advise Mr. Douglas to go, and yet thought it unfair to prevent his acceptance of $150 increase of salary. A subscription list was then started to raise $100 to supplement his salary and quite a large amount was at once subscribed. Mr. Douglas will therefore remain in Port Hope."

Services To-morrow.

The following is a list of services in the several churches to-morrow:—

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be three masses celebrated, the first at 7 a. m. the second at 8 a. m., and the third at 10.30 a. m. Vespers at 7 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH George-st.—The regular services at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m., conducted by the Rev. S. J. Thompson. Interesting service at 3.30 p. m. in connection with the Sunday school. Prayer and inquiry meeting at the close of the evening service.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—The usual services will be conducted. The Rev. Alex. Bell, pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH, Mark-st. (Ashburnham).—The usual services at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. The Rev. J. C. Wilson, pastor. In the morning a Children's service will be held. Evening subject, "Not Knowing the Time of their Visitation." Service on Good Friday at 11 a. m.

At Home and Contented.

Why? Because I secured a home on the easiest and safest plan I know of. See JOHN CARLISLE for particulars.

Changed Hands.

Mr. John Boyd, of Peterborough, has purchased the Midland House, Lakefield, from Captain Dion, and he will take possession at once.

Will take Charge.

Captain Dion will have charge of the steamer Golden-Eye during the coming summer. He is one of the most popular officers that ever ran a boat on the river.

A Labor Council.

There are now six labor unions in Peterborough and a project is on foot to establish a Trades and Labor Council, composed of representatives from all the different unions.

Large Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mrs. T. W. McKee took place on Friday afternoon, and was largely attended, the public testifying in this way the great respect in which they held the deceased lady.

Scott Act.

At Lakefield on Thursday, County Police Magistrate Edmison disposed of several Scott Act cases, brought by Inspector Geo. Cochrane. Mr. D. Costello was fined $100 and costs, F. Young $50 and costs. Mrs. Mason $100 and costs and Mrs. W. Northey $50 and costs.

The Locks Bridge.

Mr. Charles Wynne, the contractor for the erection of the piers, etc., for the new highway bridge at the locks, is pushing ahead as rapidly as the weather will allow. A large quantity of stone is now on the ground, all of which was brought from the Warsaw quarries. Up to date upwards of $1,000 worth of work has been done.

Brevities.

—The assessors are still at work in the Third Ward.

—The docket at the Police Court was a blank this morning.

—A report of the East Riding Farmers' Institute is held over.

—No gentleman of leisure were quartered at the police station last night.

—The butchers did not make any display of live cattle on the market to-day.

—P. M. Edmison has several Scott Act cases for trial at Norwood this afternoon.

—A Hunter-st. butcher left a pig hanging out in front of his premises all night. It was there this morning.

—Lieut.-Col. Straubenzie is credited with being the next deputy adjutant-general for Kingston.

—To-morrow will be Palm Sunday. Special services will be held at St. Peter's Cathedral.

—The attendance at the market this morning was very good. Prices remain at about the same figures as given last week.

—The Rev. Mr. Clementi's self-registering thermometer marked 5 degrees below zero on Friday night.

—In our report of the Apron Social we omitted to mention an instrumental trio by Miss Halliday and Messrs. V. Halliday and A. V. R. Young.

—The firemen of Brantford will hold a grand tournament next June. Peterborough has been invited, but our boys are not likely to go.

—His Worship Mayor Stevenson did not return from Ottawa this morning, as is his usual custom. He will arrive about the middle of next week.

—Mrs. Kendry is Secretary of the W. C. T. U., not President, as was stated in our report of Miss. Phelps' lecture. Mrs. A. Rutherford is President.

—Tax Collector Cumming is after the statute labor men with a sharp stick and all who do not pay up, will be summoned before the Police Magistrate.

—The sleighing is splendid and in consequence there were an extra large number of farmers in town to-day. They do not expect good roads much longer.

—Belleville has secured the annual meet of the Canadian Wheelsmen's Association, for Dominion Day. It is expected that 600 wheels will be present.

—Judging by the notices in exchanges, Turner the awning man, is doing a rushing business in our neighboring towns and villages.

—Several members of the Cobourg Fire department were visitors at our fire station yesterday. They expressed themselves as surprised at the metropolitan system in use here.

—The Lindsay waterworks were frozen up on Monday morning, this week. Over an hour's delay ensued after the alarm was given before a stream could be got to play on the fire on the McDonald block.

—It is stated that work will shortly commence on a new block of stores to be built on the vacant property adjoining the new post office, with a frontage on Hunter-st. The premises will be occupied by a Kingston firm dealing wholesale in hardware.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

Personal.

Mr. David English, of Montreal, is in town for a few days, being called here to attend the funeral of his sister, the late Mrs. Thos. McKee. Mr. English's many friends are glad to see him, but regret that his visit should be made under such painful circumstances.

Last Saturday Mr. Orr Bennett, of Peterborough, a theological student at Queen's university, Kingston, delivered an address before the college missionary association upon the life of David Brainerd. The Whig thinks it such an able effort that it publishes it in full.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons will again appear in Peterborough, on Monday, 16th April, proximo, prior to her departure for England. This will in all probability be her last visit to this town, and to those who have not heard this talented and accomplished Artist, this opportunity should not be missed. The tickets have been placed within the reach of all. Mrs. Siddons will appear in an entirely new programme and costumes.

CONCERT AT NORWOOD.

The Oddfellows Entertainment in the Eastern Village a Success.

The Oddfellows concert at Norwood on Friday evening was a great success. A number went down from Peterborough at noon and others followed on the evening train. The Town Hall was prettily decorated and the attendance was large.

Dr. Bell, Grand Warden, gave a very exhaustive and interesting address on the aims and objects of the Order, in which the audience appeared to be deeply interested. Mr. R. M. Roy and son gave an extraordinary exhibition of mysterious performances. This was their first appearance in Norwood and they were heartily applauded. It was probably one of the best exhibitions Mr. Roy ever gave and the audience was thoroughly delighted. Mr. W. A. Dixon amused and delighted the people with ventriloquism and imitations, the local hits being appreciated. Mr. John Miller gave a fine and successful exhibition of mind reading. Mr. G. Mulligan gave a couple of splendid songs. The singing of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. Quartette was heartily applauded, as it deserved to be, and the whole programme was excellently carried out. The Peterborough contingent were highly pleased with their visit.

The Town Well.

Messrs. Leary & Co. have commenced work at the town well, on the market square. They first start a large round iron in the ground and then drive it down with a machine after the style of the ordinary pile driver. It takes two men and a horse to operate it.

A Correction.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR:—In last night's issue of your paper you publish a report of a tea, apron sale, and musical entertainment, held in the new hotel opposite market square, in which you erroneously state that it was held under the auspices of the superintendent, when the teachers and lady friends of the school did the work exclusively. I make this correction as I consider it places me, as superintendent of the school, in a false position, and does not give the credit to whom it is due, namely, the teachers and friends of the school, who so kindly gave their time and labor for the commendable object of obtaining a new library, which has been much needed.

Yours, &c.,

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

SATURDAY, MARCH 24, 1888.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"You seem to take my success in this case as a certainty," he says, with a frown. "I may fail."

"Oh, that I could believe so!" says Mona, forgetful of manners, courtesy, everything, but the desire to see those she loves restored to peace.

"You are candor itself," returns he, with a short laugh, shrugging his shoulders. "Of course I am bound to hope your wish may be fulfilled. And yet I doubt it. I am nearer my object to-night than I have ever been before; and," with a sardonic smile, "yours has been the hand to help me forward."

Mona starts, and regards him fixedly in a puzzled, uncertain manner. What he can possibly mean is unknown to her, but she is aware of some inward feeling, some instinct such as animals possess, that warns her to beware of him. She shrinks from him, and in doing so, a slight fold of her dress catches in the handle of a writing-table, and detains her.

Paul, dropping on his knees before her, releases her gown; the fold is in his grasp, and still holding it, he looks up at her, his face pale and almost haggard.

"If I were to resign all hope of ever gaining the Towers, if I were to consent to leave your people still in possession," he says, passionately, but in a low tone, "should I earn one tender thought in your heart? Speak, Mona, speak!"

I am sure at even this supreme moment it never enters Mona's brain that the man is actually making love to her. A deep pity for him fills her mind. He is unhappy,—justly so, no doubt, but yet unhappy. A sure passport to her heart.

"I do not think unkindly of you," she says, gently, but coldly. "And do as your conscience dictates, and you will gain not only my respect, but that of all men."

"Bah!" he says, impatiently, rising from the ground and turning away. Her answer has frozen him again, has dried up the momentary desire for her approbation above all others that only a minute ago had agitated his breast.

At this moment Geoffrey comes into the room and goes up to Mona. He takes no notice whatever of her companion.

"Mona, will you come and sing us something?" he says, as naturally as though the room is empty. "Nolly has been telling the duchess about your voice, and she wants to hear you. Anything simple,"—seeing she looks a little distressed at the idea; "you sing that sort of thing best."

"I hardly think our dance is ended yet, Mrs. Rodney," says the Australian, defiantly, coming leisurely forward, his eyes bent somewhat insolently upon Geoffrey.

"You will come, Mona, to oblige the duchess," says Geoffrey, in exactly as even a tone as if the other had never spoken. Not that he cares in the very least about the duchess; but he is determined to conquer here, and is also desirous that all the world should appreciate and admire the woman he loves.

"I will come, of course," says Mona, nervously, "but I am afraid she will be disappointed. You will excuse me, Mr. Rodney, I am sure," turning graciously to Paul, who is standing with folded arms in the background.

"Yes, I excuse you," he says, with a peculiar stress upon the pronoun, and a rather strained smile. The room is filling with other people, the last dance having plainly come to an end, Geoffrey, taking Mona's arm, leads her into the hall.

"Dance no more to-night with that fellow," he says, quickly, as they get outside.

"No?" Then, "Not if you dislike it, of course. But Nicholas made a point of my being nice to him. I did not know you would object to my dancing with im."

"Well, you know it now. I do object," says Geoffrey, in a tone he has never used to her before. Not that it is unkind or rude, but cold and unlover-like.

"Yes, I know it now!" returns she, softly, yet with the gentle dignity that always belongs to her. Her lips quiver, but she draws herself up to her fullest height, and, throwing up her head, walks with a gait that is almost stately into the presence of the duchess.

"You wish me to sing to you," she says, gently, yet so unsmilingly that the duchess wonders what has come to the child. "It will give me pleasure if I can give you pleasure, but my voice is not worth thinking about."

"Nevertheless, let me hear it," says the duchess. "I cannot forget that your face is musical."

Mona, sitting down to the piano, plays a few chords in a slow, plaintive fashion, and then begins. Paul Rodney has come to the doorway, and is standing there gazing at her, though she knows it not. The ball-room is far distant, so far that the sound of the band does not break upon the silence of the room in which they are assembled. A hush falls upon the listeners as Mona's fresh, pathetic, tender voice rises into the air.

To be Continued.

TORONTO'S COAL COMBINE.

SOME INSIDE FACTS ABOUT A QUEEN CITY "SECTION."

Mr. Wood's Evidence Before Clarke Wallace's Committee — How Tenders Were "Competed" For—The Strictest Secrecy Enjoined.

OTTAWA, March 23.—The Committee on Trade Combinations continued the work of investigation this morning. Mr. Wood, the secretary of the coal section of the Board of Trade of Toronto, was the first witness examined. He said: This coal section was re-organized on its present basis in May, 1880, and comprised and now comprises all the coal dealers in Toronto. An Executive Committee of nine members, a majority of whom the constitution requires must be importers, regulate the prices and determine the rates in all tenders for contracts. The members of the combination and such of their employes as may be called on are required to make a solemn declaration under the statute for the suppression of voluntary oaths, that they would strictly adhere to the rules and prices established, and in every case the members and their salesmen had done this, and their declarations are filed with the secretary. The form of oath in both cases was produced. Heavy penalties are prescribed for violation.

Fines had frequently been imposed. P. Burns was fined $1000. The revenue from fines was divided among the importers only, and in proportion to the amount of their imports. Burns had imported one-third of the total imports that year, and had received back in this way one-third of his fine.

The method of competing for or obtaining contracts was that a special meeting of the Executive was called to determine the price to be inserted in the lowest tender, and at which the contract would of course be awarded. The price of the lowest tender having been agreed upon, the privilege of making this tender was sold by auction to the highest bidder. This bid or purchase money was then divided among the others. Other tenders are put in at higher rates, but these are sham tenders.

The examination of the minutes disclosed the following facts:

At the special meeting called to determine the rate of the tender for the waterworks coal contract, Mr. Rogers was present, but it is fair to state that the secretary testified to his having left before the close of the meeting. This contract for 12,000 tons was let in May last. The price agreed on was $4.55 per ton, and this contract, or rather the right to tender at this price, which practically was the same thing, was auctioned off to Mr. Bailey, whose bid of $600 was the highest. This amount was divided among the importers pro rata.

The Ontario Government contract, which was awarded June 18, was bid in by Conger Brothers for $610 and at the rate of $5.50 for egg and grate and $5.75 for stove and nut.

The Hospital contract was obtained in the same way by Elias Rogers whose bid was $2.55 and the rates for coal per ton the same respectively as in the former contracts. This was also in June.

The House of Industry contract in the same way went to Mr. Keith at the same prices, for $160.

The total amount received in this way from contracts last year was $2800, of which $400 was retained for general expenses and the balance divided among the importers.

A resolution was passed enjoining the strictest secrecy on all members privy to these contract arrangements.

Mr. G. F. Thomson, coal dealer, Ottawa, was the next witness. He gave the prices at which coal was delivered to the coal dealers in Ottawa free on the cars during the past season as follows, the prices being for net tons of 2000 lbs. of anthracite coal:

In August $4.78 for egg and grate, and $5.00 for stove and nut; in September $5.00 and $5.23; in October and November $5.32 and $5.54; in December and January $5.72 and $6.12; in the present month $5.36 and $5.58.

The most of their coal was brought in before prices went down. All the invoices from the several dealers were handed to the Ottawa Coal and Cartage Company, who paid the bills, and all moneys received were also handed into the same company. He had already received $3750 on account of his profits, and expected by the end of the year, May 1, to receive a total of $5000. There was no necessity for so many coal dealers in Ottawa, as there was not enough for them to do. The large lumbering establishments on the Chaudiere brought in coal for themselves and their employes and there was a great deal of cheap fuel at the mills, so that the coal business of Ottawa was very small in proportion to the population. The total expense of handling the coal from the time it arrived on the cars till it was delivered to the consumer was stated by Mr. Larmouth to be 46 cents per ton.

Mr. Thompson stated that their office expenses were very high and that most of the time they had nothing to do. An effort had been made before he went in with the company to prevent him from purchasing his supply of coal in the States. There were many advantages to him in joining the combination.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

The Manitoba Situation—Joy in the Liberal Camp—The Senatorial Succession.

OTTAWA, March 23.—Attorney-General Martin, it appears, has changed his mind and this morning arrived in Ottawa. Now that he finds there is likely to be an arrangement he is endeavoring to place himself in a position to claim some of the credit for having "pressed things."

There was a big time in room 6 to-day. The occasion of the joy in the Liberal committee room was a visit paid the members by Madame Laurier and Mrs. Mackenzie. Hon. Wilfrid Laurier accompanied the ladies. It was intimated that the two ladies will in future give receptions every Saturday evening at the Grand Union to Liberal members and their wives.

Mr. Jno. C. Eno says he is happy in Canada and will not go back to the United States for the present. He will not go into business again, having, as he said, enough of it.

Mr. Massey of the Massey Manufacturing Company had an interview to-day with Sir Charles Tupper. He asked for a reduction in the duty on wrought iron, showing that the increase last year made the expenses of his establishment $30,000 per annum. Sir Charles, while holding out no prospect of a big change in the tariff this year, promised to try and grant the relief asked for.

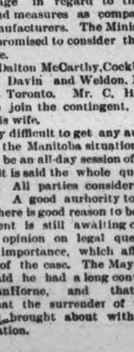
The names of Captain Labelle, M. P., Mr. Coursol, M. P., Hon. H. Starnes of Montreal, Mr. Globensky of St. Eustachei, A. Desjardines, President of the Jacques Cartier Bank, and Mr. Laviolette of St. Jerome are mentioned in connection with the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Senator Rolland.

Mr. Adam Brown, M. P., who was accompanied by Messrs. J. Curran and Taylor, M. P.'s, introduced a deputation of scale manufacturers to the Minister of Inland Revenue in reference to the duties on scales, and made a procedure in regard to weights and measures, of the inspectors. The manufacturers complain that both themselves and the public are at a disadvantage in regard to the scales and weights and measures as compared with American manufacturers. The Minister of Inland Revenue promised to consider the representations made.

Messrs. Dalton McCarthy, Cockburn, Denison, Tyrwhitt, Davin and Weldon, M.P.'s, left to-night for Toronto. Mr. C. H. Tupper was unable to join the contingent, owing to the illness of his wife.

It is very difficult to get any authentic news regarding the Manitoba situation. To-morrow there will be an all-day session of the Cabinet, at which it is said the whole question will be discussed. All parties considered will be represented. A good authority to-day informed me that there is good reason to believe that the Government is still awaiting competent professional opinion on legal questions of the greatest importance, which affect the fundamentals of the case. The Mayor of Calgary to-day said he had a long conversation with Mr. VanHorne, and that gentleman stated that the surrender of the monopoly could be brought about without any cash compensation.

Won't Have to Go Far.



Brown—Dumley, I want to buy a dog.

Dumley—That's a good idea, Brown. I think every man ought to own a dog.

Brown—Do you know where I can get a good one?

Dumley—Yes; I'll sell you mine.—Harper's Bazar.

SOLICITORS.—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITERS.—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS.—The five and ten years five per cent debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100-$200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS.—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Worth of a Man

To his business—his estate—is the measure of his need of Life Insurance, because he ceases to be worth anything to it when he dies. Other brains must direct and other hands perform—if they can—what was formerly directed and done by brain and hands that will be but dust. And as every one works for himself and for his own, even if the work is well done, it is done for the doer and not for the dead. All a man is worth to his business or his estate, is therefore a dead loss when he dies—unless his life is insured. The man who rates his own ability high ough: for this reason, to insure his life for a large amount.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

A GRAND RALLY OF ITS ADVOCATES ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

A Large and Fashionable Audience—A Platform of Star Speakers—The Old Flag Honored—Commercial Union Buried—Sentimental and Fiscal Aspects of I. F.

TORONTO, March 26.

"The flag that braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze!"

This was the spark that kindled and set on fire the dense enthusiasm that saturated the air of Association Hall on Saturday night. The ventilators must have been worked up to their full capacity in carrying off through the roof such a demonstration of patriotic fervor. For three hours and a half the flag was flaunted before the eyes of the warlike Briton, who, beholding the glory that emanated from its time-worn folds, lost control of his hands, and had much difficulty in finding an escape for his emotions through his throat and eyes. Each speaker, as he resumed his seat, handed the flag on to his successor, and one vied with the other in doing honor to the glories it recalled.

It was a night of flag worship, and no one dared to offer words of insult or gesture of contempt to the sacred emblem. If Commercial Unionist or Secessionist was present there no croaking sound emanated from the threshold of his lips. If such there were among the large assemblage, they sat as still as frightened mice. When Mr. Clark let slip the word Home Rule he immediately saw he had erred and wisbdrew it, covering up his mistake with a glowing reference to the flag.

Shortly after eight the speakers and lights of the movement filed from the stage door and ranged themselves on the platform. They were G. R. R. Cockburn, M.P., D'Alton McCarthy, M. P., Alex. McNeill, M. P. (N. Bruce), Sir Adam Wilson, N. F. Davis, M. P., Mayor Clarke, Hon. G. W. Ross, Christopher Robinson, D. R. Wilkie, Henry O'Brien, Wm. Ince, Dr. Scadding, J. L. Hughes, Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, J. S. MacMurray, John Small, Robert Hay, J. M. Clark, Ald. MacMillan, Hugh McLennan (Montreal), Dr. Montague, M. P., Dr. R. C. Weldon, M. P. (New Brunswick), J. H. Long (Peterboro), Wm. Hamilton Merritt, Cockshutt (Brantford.)

Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn, President of the Toronto branch of the League, occupied the chair. He felt it no ordinary honor to preside over so large, influential and representative a meeting. This was not a political movement. In England the preceding president of the League was Rt. Hon. Mr. Forster, a Liberal. The present president is the talented Lord Rosebery, an extreme Liberal. In Canada the movement has among its supporters Hon. O. Mowat, Hon. G. W. Ross and others of the Reform party. They were here to-night simply to consider what they could best do, as Britons living in Canada, to draw more closely the tie that binds them to their brother Britons and Britonesses, that live across the ocean. [Hear, hear.] The speaker complimented the meeting on the presence of so many ladies, whose hearts are always right and sound and who, by a kind of instinct, grasp at a conclusion much more rapidly and surely than old fogies like the speaker.

Col. Geo. Denison was called on to move the first resolution, which read as follows:

Resolved that this meeting hails with pleasure the establishment of a branch of the Imperial Federation League in this city, and confidently hopes that through its instrumentality the objects of the League may be advanced, and the ties which bind Canada to the Motherland, strengthened and maintained.

In support of the resolution the Colonel spoke briefly as follows: This is one of the most important subjects that can come before a Canadian audience. There is a crisis at this moment in our land, and it is time for the people to rally round the old flag and try and do their utmost to frustrate the designs of traitors. We are on the fork of the two roads one or other of which we have to take. We have the movement called Commercial Union, whose supporters I call traitors because I believe the scheme was designed by traitors. [Applause.]

I believe there are a great many honorable men who believe it would be for the interest of this country and that our national life would not be destroyed were that fad carried out, but I am strongly of opinion this movement originated in treason, because Commercial Union can only be carried out by breaking the ties that bind us to the Motherland and by giving us over hand and foot to a foreign country. [Hear, hear.] I will refer to one or two important points in the history of this continent. If the United States were not an aggressive country we would have no difficulty, but I hold that country is very aggressive and grasping. They wanted Florida and they took it. They wanted Louisiana and Alaska and they bought them both. They wanted Texas and they stole it. They wanted half the State of Maine that belonged to us and they swindled us out of it by a forged map. The war of 1800-1863 was not so much a war against slavery as it was a tariff war in which the North conquered the South and put them under their feet.

What has been their treatment of us! They attempted to take this country in 1775, and again in 1814. They were beaten both times. In the latter war they spent three years trying to conquer this country, but failed. The odds have been growing in our favor ever since. In 1837 they fermented intrigue in this country and in 1866 they armed the Fenians with United States rifles. And now they have begun this agitation, the work of a traitor in New York. [Applause.] They want to get control of our tariff. When the Americans were not able to meet us in the open field they tried to produce the same result by intrigue with our people. They made a reciprocity treaty with us and suddenly terminated it with the intention of forcing us into annexation. This scheme of Commercial Union, as I have said, has its origin in treason. It is intended to try and make our people believe a fallacy. They want to have the regulation of our tariff and to so reduce our country that we would be willing to accept annexation as a relief from our troubles.

His scheme of Imperial Federation is one that ought to have the effect of breaking up any such idea as that of Commercial Union. I believe in a scheme which we can have, a Commercial Union between the different portions of the British Empire. If we could have an arrangement by which our products would be received into Great Britain free of duty, while there would be a discriminating tariff against foreign powers, that would build up this country, increase the wealth of the agricultural population, make us a much more powerful people, the Empire more consolidated, give us more influence in the affairs of the world and more local independence in the management of our own affairs. Canadians should look forward to the day when Canada will be part of this great confederation. I don't pretend to go into details, but one thing: I say that when Canada goes into that confederation she shall go in as the Kingdom of Canada and on an equal footing with the other kingdoms and colonies. [Applause.] Canada has such an enormous territory that she would soon become more powerful than England herself; perhaps in thirty or forty years. It would become a case of the tail wagging the dog. I have no patience with people who say we are not powerful enough. I have no patience with people who do not believe in the future of their country. [Applause.]

Mr. J. M. Clark, late President of the Young Men's Liberal Club, seconded the resolution.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

Resolved that while having every reason to be satisfied with their position as citizens of the greatest Empire the world has ever known, enjoying to the fullest acnas the rights of local self-government, with a large measure of protection from external foes, Canadians, now numbering five millions, with their continental territory, rapidly developing resources, growing and far-reaching commerce and increasing wealth, have attained a position from which they can contemplate with a high degree of confidence such well-matured plans as may be proposed alike by Imperial and Colonial statesmen for a closer union of the component parts of the Empire, and for an increase in the responsibilities and duties necessarily arising out of a union from which so much may be expected of strength, of prosperity and of glory.

This resolution was moved by Mr. Alex. McNeill, M.P. for North Bruce. He said the newest this great meeting would be tidings of joy to all lovers of the Empire, for it will proclaim trumpet-tongued that the great British city of Toronto is up and doing in the glorious work of Imperial unity. He said he would repeat the words this great British city of Toronto, even if he ran the risk of offending the traitorous crew. Let each one enroll his name now as a member of the League. It is a great privilege that is afforded you to help on the most glorious political cause that a human being ever advocated.

Mr. McNeill (overcharged with emotion and steadfastly eyeing the questioner)—It is the cause of peace—and progress—and civilization. [Applause.] It is the cause of our own empire and our own race (his eyes still fixed on friend Spratt). I will tell you further, to give you heart, it is no losing cause. [Hear, hear.] Even if it were you should never forsake it. Even if it were I should ask for myself no more glorious destiny than that I might go down forever with it. [Applause.] The Imperial League exists to advocate no particular form of Imperial unity. It exists to advocate consultation, intercommunication and concerted action among the different members of the empire. The young life of Imperial unity is throbbing throughout every member of our empire.

Mr. McNeill referred to what had been done by the Imperial conference last year, one result of which was the settlement of the New Hebrides question.

Mr. R. C. Weldon, M. P., of Halifax, made a capital speech in seconding the resolution. He conveyed the thanks of the mothers of Halifax to the ladies of Toronto for their kind treatment of the Halifax boys when passing through Toronto to the Northwest. Taking up the theme of the night he said since 1688 England had been engaged in eight great wars, and every one of these wars, except one, had been directly or indirectly concerned with the North American continent; they were wars with France over the possession of the American colonies, and the other war was one with Russia as to the Indian dependency. History proved that Britain's quarrels were our quarrels.

Dr. Montague, M.P., moved this motion:

Resolved, That a more intimate connection with the mother land does not involve or depend upon any commercial relationship differing from that which now exists between the United Kingdom and Canada, but in the opinion of this meeting the adoption of Imperial Federation might well lead to such changes in the fiscal policy prevailing as to give to the mother country and her colonies advantages in their several markets, denied to those who do not belong to the Empire, and that this meeting calls upon the House of Commons of Canada to take steps at an early date to give effect to the principles of this resolution.

After expressing the thrill he felt at seeing such a magnificent audience he referred to a remark made by Mr. Clarke, a previous speaker. The gentleman said, in arguing that this was not a party question, he did not remember one great movement which was inaugurated by the Conservative Party, and he would not give them credit for one. He (the speaker) would be more charitable to the Reform Party. That Party did inaugurate one great movement. It was on Sept. 17, 1873. [Laughter.] He was a firm believer in Canadian Nationalism, but he had yet to learn that because Canadians are enthusiastic over Canada and everything Canadian they were less loyal Britons. Though expressing the strongest sentiments of Canadian Nationalism it did not prevent him from expressing the strongest sentiments of British loyalty. Geo. Brown had expressed an earnest wish to live to see all of the North American parts of the Empire formed in one confederation.

The great Reform leader had lived to see the territory of the Dominion extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and had he lived a few months later than this he would have realized his desire, for even now arrangements were being made to admit the last outstanding possession into the great Canadian Confederation. Canada was setting the example of confederation to the Empire.

It was said that in the Old Country the regard for the other parts of the Empire was growing; but in the colonies the feeling was not so good toward the Motherland. But he believed that go where you might in the Empire, away down in the hearts of the people would be found the best of loyalty, and even though Ireland was greatly agitated over the Home Rule question and though hard things were often said, he believed that deep down in the kindly Irish heart was a loyal attachment for the great Empire which the Irish had so often and valiantly fought to maintain, and which, when the local trouble was settled, her sons would fight for again if it were ever necessary to do so. [Applause.] With regard to Imperial Federation, it was said that the scheme was somewhat hazy.

The motion was passed unanimously.

Mr. Dalton McCarthy, M.P., President of the League in Canada, moved this resolution:

Resolved, That it is not at this stage of the movement necessary, nor in view of the numerous interests involved expedient, that any precise scheme of carrying into practical working the principles of Imperial Federation should be defined, but this meeting is glad to know that the recent colonial conference, at which matters of interest common to the Mother Country and her colonies were discussed, was the direct outcome of the parent League established in London only four short years ago, and it may well be that out of succeeding conferences of this kind is to be evolved the best and most suitable method of exercise into effect, the federative principle which the League has been established to promote.

Mr. McCarthy said that he had believed in the practicability of the federation for years, and because he believed in the practicability of it and supported it and prophesied its ultimate success he had been told that it was the mistake of his political life. But he considered it a great privilege to address this great gathering, who, he felt, came here to endorse the principle of the scheme, and to give their support in the battle—[applause]—which was about to be waged. He reaffirmed his belief in the ultimate success of the scheme. It was not the duty of the Imperial Federation League to lay down in explicit terms the exact form upon which the federation of the Empire should be based. It was their duty to discuss the question.

How many years was it before our own federation was brought to a climax? It was agitated by our public men in 1837 and 1838, but it was not till thirty years after that the scheme was reduced to the Act of Parliament which became our Constitution.

Mr. Cockshutt, of Brantford, seconded the resolution, and made a short, stirring speech. He was just a little too "English" in his remarks, however. If the Imperial Federation is to become a fact it will not be an "English" federation, but one in which England shall form a part the same as Canada, Scotland, Ireland and other members. It will be a "British" Empire.

The motion was carried unanimously.

Business Meeting of the League.

The annual meeting of the Imperial Federation League in Canada was held in Association Hall on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Dalton McCarthy, President of the League in Canada, occupied the chair.

The officers elected were: President, Mr. Dalton McCarthy, M.P.; Vice-President, Mr. A. McNeill, M.P.; Secretaries for Montreal and Toronto, Arch. McGoun and Casimir Dickson; Treasurer, H. H. Lyman.

Details of the working of the League were discussed and it was decided to write Lord Rosebery, who is coming to Canada next summer, to deliver a public address.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

The University Race—Cup Day at Liverpool—Sullivan at the Races.

LONDON, March 24.—The annual race between boat crews representing Oxford and Cambridge Universities took place this morning over the usual course on the Thames from Putney to Mortlake, a distance of four miles and two furlongs. The weather was dull. There was an average attendance of spectators.

The Cambridge crew won the toss for position and took the Surrey side of the river. When Hammersmith Bridge, one mile and three-quarters from the starting point, was reached, Cambridge was leading by three lengths, and at Barnes Bridge, one mile and three-quarters further on, they had put five lengths between themselves and their opponents. Cambridge crossed the winning line five lengths ahead of Oxford. Time, 20.43.

Forty-five contests have occurred between the rival universities, of which Oxford has won 22 and Cambridge 21, and there has been 1 dead heat.

The race of 1846 was the first in which outriggers were used. That of 1857 was the first race in which either university rowed in the present style of eights without keel; also the first time either rowed with round oars. Both used the same kind of oars and boats. In 1873 both crews used sliding seats for the first time. The dead heat of 1877 would probably have been a victory for the Oxfords had not their bow man damaged his oar. In 1877, also, Oxford broke an oar.

Cup Day at Liverpool.

LONDON, March 24.—This was the last day of the Liverpool Spring meeting. The program was a mixed one, including as it did both flat racing and steeplechasing. The most important race on the card was the Liverpool Spring Cup, at 1 mile and 3 furlongs, which was won by Sir George Chetwynd's Plantagenet. The feature "between the flags" was the Champion Steeplechase, at about 3 miles, which brought together several of the Grand National horses, resulting in a victory for Mr. A. Yates' Johnny Longtail. The summaries follow:

The Forty-first Liverpool Spring Cup of 750 sovs, specc, by subscription of 20 sovs each, 15 ft, and 3 only if declared; 2nd to receive 50 sovs from the plate; winners after the publication of weights penalized; about 1¼ miles.

Sir George Chetwynd's b.g. Plantagenet, 5, by Albert Victor—Sweet Violet..... 1

Lord Rodney's ch. h. Kilcreene, 6, by Arbitrator—Manche..... 2

Mr. G. Cleveland's ch. c. The Sage, 4, by Wisdom—Sunflower..... 3

The Eighth Champion Steeplechase of 200 sovs., a handicap; about 3 miles.

Mr. A. Yates' ch.g. Johnny Longtail, aged, by Polardine—Debonnaire..... 1

Capt. Machell's blk.m. Ringlet, aged, by Highborn—Ladyrell..... 2

Capt. Foster's b.g. Chancellor, by Exchequer, dam by General Sale..... 3

Sullivan at the Races.

LONDON, March 25.—John L. Sullivan was among the spectators at the Liverpool meeting yesterday and backed the Prince of Wales, horse Magic for the Grand National, but only to the extent of $20. It is not at all likely, by the way, that Sullivan will get any other fight on during his stay in England. His misfortune in France has not rid other fighters of their respectful dislike of his right, damaged though it is. He will probably leave for America next month. Edward Holske, who has just sailed and who managed Sullivan's business in England, has advised him to take as big a benefit as he can get and return to Boston and retire forever. Sullivan, however, intends to go on fighting if he can get anyone to fight with.

Mr. McShane's Resignation.

MONTREAL, March 25.—The Associated Press correspondent called upon Hon. Jas. McShane to-day to learn the cause of his retirement from Mr. Mercier's cabinet and found him very reticent. He said, however, among other things: "The true reason of my resignation will all come out later on."

GOSCHEN'S DEBT SCHEME.

ITS ULTIMATE FINANCIAL SUCCESS DEEMED CERTAIN.

Mr. Chamberlain's Reception at Home—The Social Lion of the Day in London—Lord and Lady Londonderry's Popularity—Reopening of Spencer House.

LONDON, March 25.—Relations between the Government and the Irish party have been much strained during the past week. The result was a brief renewal of the old obstructive tactics. Mr. Parnell's Arrears Bill was doomed to defeat in advance. The skirmish on the Criminal Evidence Bill provoked no little ill-feeling on both sides. Mr. Smith put on the Closure while Mr. Parnell wished to speak, whereupon Mr. Healy accused him of discourtesy. Mr. Dillon, too, had a brush with Sir Michael Hicks-Beach in the House, and Mr. Chamberlain another with Mr. O'Brien outside. Mr. Blunt is doing his best to induce Mr. Balfour to have a third with him.

The public regard all these proceedings with considerable indifference. They are far more impressed with the striking and rapid success of Mr. Goschen's scheme for the conversion of the National Debt, which, gigantic as it is, went through the House of Commons almost unopposed. The ultimate financial success of it is deemed certain.

The gift of the Duke of Rutland's Garter to the Marquis of Londonderry is clearly a political act. The distinction, here regarded the highest obtainable, is conferred on the Viceroy of Ireland in approval of Lord Londonderry's Irish Administration. But Lord and Lady Londonderry are both personally popular. Lady Londonderry is not less admired than when, as Lady Castlereagh, her beauty first captivated the London world.

Mr. Chamberlain's reception on his return from America, I hear from all quarters, has been of a peculiarly cordial kind. You know already how Birmingham opened wide its arms, how his friends cheered him on his reappearance in the House of Commons, and how the English press has expressed its just sense of obligation to an envoy who has won, for so it is considered here, a diplomatic victory for his own country. Yesterday news got abroad of another of Mr. Chamberlain's successes, the agreement for the suppression of crimping in American ports. This, however, appears to involve no question of triumph for either side, but is a business arrangement in the interests of humanity.

Not less remarkable is the welcome offered to him in private. He entered London as a social star of the first magnitude. His invitations would enable him to eat as many dinners daily as there are hours in the day. He is the lion of every party. There are not many parties; so at such as there are Mr. Chamberlain is the more eagerly coveted. He shone at Lady Cadogan's on Wednesday evening; one of the most fashionable of recent functions. The Devonshire Club dinner in his honor, fixed for April 3, is a marked compliment. It is announced as non-political, Lord Granville taking the chair. The Birmingham banquet is appointed for March 28. The Mayor presides. Mr. Bright attends and proposes the toast, "Our Kinsmen," to which American and Canadian responses are expected. This gathering is also non-political. The American Minister was urged to be present at both, but was obliged to decline both.

The reopening of Spencer House is the social event of the season. It is one of the half a dozen private palaces in London which for one reason or another have remained closed. For some years no parties have been given there. The reception on Wednesday was what is here called a political drum, preceded by a political dinner to Mr. Gladstone. The company which afterward assembled in these beautiful rooms consisted largely of Mr. Gladstone's political supporters. This may be accepted as a sign that the Gladstonian wing of the Liberal party mean to take up the social challenge long since flung at them.

A Conference at Montreal.

OTTAWA, March 25.—Premier Greenway and Attorney-General Martin left on Saturday for Montreal to discuss the Manitoba railway question with the Canadian Pacific Railway people. Mr. Greenway had a lengthy conference with Sir John, and subsequently discussed the question with Mr. VanHorne and ex-Judge Clark of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Another conference will be held with the Privy Council on the Manitoban's return from Montreal.

Has Makes a C.E. Speech at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, March 25.—The Mayor presided at the Commercial Union meeting last night. An address was delivered by Erastus Wiman, at the close of which he was tendered a vote of thanks.

Oshawa's Business Boom.

OSHAWA, March 25.—Oshawa has commenced to boom, three or four business enterprises being started now and others are expected to follow soon.

A bill has been introduced in parliament to abolish the custom of resigning when a member accepts office.

EAST RIDING FARMERS

A MEETING OF THE INSTITUTE OF THE EAST RIDING AT KEENE.

An Address by the President—Valuable Papers Read—Stock Raising, Book Farming, Creameries, Sheep, and Other Topics Discussed.

The second meeting of the East Riding Farmers' Institute was held at Keene on Friday. Mr. F. Birdsall, President, took the chair at about 11 o'clock.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The PRESIDENT, in opening, explained that the Institute received $25 from the Government and a similar sum from the County Council. Members paid 25 cts. a year and if they had a surplus after paying expenses they proposed forming a library. The time had come when a different manner of farming was required, as by merely raising grain a selling it the land was getting poorer. By discussion they would learn better how to get along. Men in other businesses had their associations, and the farmers should do likewise. He referred to the competition in wheat raising, which had lowered the price. He had tested Prof. Robertson's plan of making butter, as explained at Norwood, and found that, with the same cattle and feeding, he got 20 per cent. more butter. This showed the advantage of such meetings. Prof. Robertson said to warm the milk after straining up to 95 degrees, by sitting it in warm water. Skim as soon as cream is all raised. The warming sets a current in motion and the little globules of butter raise to the top. Without that circulation they lost a portion of the fat. Another important point was the ripening of the cream. Cream should all be ripe before churned. Take out a pint and let it sour. Twenty-four hours before churning put in the sour and then when churned it would all come to butter at the same time. He asked all to join the Institute and referred to the advantages. They were willing to hear papers on all farming subjects, yet they wished to have political questions excluded. (Mr. Blezard—Hear, hear.) He then asked Mr. T. Blezard, M.P. P., to speak.

MIXED FARMING.

Mr. BLEZARD spoke of the advantages of the Institute and was strongly opposed to the introduction of political questions. Commercial union interested the farmers, but when they wanted to discuss it they should hold a meeting for that purpose. He would not be afraid to discuss the question, though he was not clear upon it now, by a long ways. He spoke of the importance of mixed farming. He believed that they should continue in the same groove as they had been in, but they should improve on it. They should continue to raise what they had been raising. Their object should be to see how far they could improve their mixed husbandry. It was not their business to experiment; they had the Provincial and Dominion experimental farms for that purpose. The farm at Ottawa, he was pleased to say, was paying great attention to seeds and would test the seed for any farmer free, and it would cost nothing to send it. He had felt that the Provincial farm had not given the satisfaction it should in testing seed grain—a work that would benefit the poor farmer as well as the richer. They wanted a new seed today; the Russian wheat was running out and the Colorado wheat was not a good yielding seed. Changes of grain were wanted more frequently, the soil having lost its virgin qualities. The Ottawa farm was testing a new seed and if it was successful they should import direct a large quantity of the pure grain and have it distributed at cost in such a way that every farmer could get seed.

Mr. WM. COLLINS agreed with the opinion of the President and Mr. Blezard. He did not think they were in a position to dispense with any branches they had been carrying on. It would be a mistake to carry all their eggs to market in one basket and he believed in mixed farming.

STATUTE LABOR.

A conversational discussion followed, during which Mr. Blezard said that if statute labor was abolished in the older townships he thought it would be an improvement. The money could be collected and expended more advantageously under a commissioner.

Mr. GEO. ESSON said that he did not know that the abolition of statute labor would be an advantage, but other townships found it a benefit and he would be willing to depend on their experience.

Mr. WM. COLLINS referred to Mr. F. J. Bell's paper read at Lakefield, and said that if the statute labor in Smith was changed to 75cts. for each day the township would reap an advantage. There was no system they had that was so great an imposition.

Mr. ESSON said that Mr. Blezard assumed that pathmasters were all poor roadmakers, and that commissioners would be all good ones.

Mr. BLEZARD said that the council should select a proper person for commissioner.

The PRESIDENT said that if the council did not appoint good pathmasters, how would they choose good commissioners?

Mr. CHARLES O'REILLY said that if a change was made, it should apply to more than one township.

The meeting adjourned till one o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Institute resumed shortly after 1 o'clock.

BOOK FARMING.

Mr. CHAS. O'Reilly read an essay on "Book Farming." It was singular, he said, that in the most important business carried on by men, a thorough educational preparation should be neglected. A doctor or a lawyer who did not study would be called a pettifogger or a quack. Many farmers who had not read books kept their farms in good order, yet who would say that they knew all the principles of their calling that were worth knowing? They could have learned more quickly from books. Those who studied most closely were the most successful. Farmers owed it to themselves and their class to read books and papers which gave information as to the improvement of the art and science of agriculture.

STOCK RAISING.

Mr. WM. COLLINS read a paper on "Feeding and Marketing Cattle," which he had read at a West Riding meeting and was reported at the time.

Mr. BLEZARD said that cattle couldn't get along without turnips, but he did not think it well to feed them largely.

Mr. R. E. BIRDSALL asked if Mr. Collins would recommend using a wash for cattle before putting them in, in the fall?

Mr. COLLINS said he had not found it necessary, but if putting in strange cattle with his herd he would wash them.

Mr. ESSON inquired regarding cutting straw.

Mr. BLEZARD said that when chop was fed with cut straw or hay it was much better than to feed the chop alone.

The PRESIDENT said at Guelph they mixed cut straw, ensilage and turnips, and the only fault he found was that the cattle were too fat.

Mr. ESSON said he heard a man say that cut straw caused throat and other diseases in horses.

Mr. BLEZARD said that for the street car horses in Toronto the hay was cut and it and the grain weighed out to each horse, and they were only allowed a given time to eat.

Mr. R. E. BIRDSALL said they fed one team cut rye straw, moistened, and a dipper full of chop, and they did as well as a team fed on hay and oats.

The PRESIDENT said that where ensilage was used it was in place of turnips, and it was said to be cheaper. They could get well bred cattle at 2 years as heavy as others at 4 years old.

SHEEP RAISING.

Mr. R. E. BIRDSALL read an excellent paper on "The Raising and Breeding of Sheep," a paper which he had formerly favored a meeting at Lakefield with.

Mr. O'REILLY said that he thought lambs should be docked as soon as strong enough to stand it.

Mr. BLEZARD said that some made a business of keeping lambs over and fattening them.

Mr. BIRDSALL said that he had not found it profitable.

Mr. BLEZARD said that some lambs died because their teeth were not cut and could not milk.

A DOG TAX.

The PRESIDENT said he would like to hear opinions on the dog tax, as it was becoming impossible to keep sheep. He should like to see the tax compulsory.

Mr. O'REILLY also favored a general law for that pupose.

Mr. BLEZARD favored the tax, and thought it should go into the general municipal fund.

Mr. O'REILLY said the tax should be kept as an insurance fund for the sheep.

The PRESIDENT did not care how the money was treated, so the tax was put on.

Mr. COLLINS favored having the assessor collect the tax and furnish tags, and the shooting of dogs found from their own premises without a tag.

Mr. BIRDSALL moved, seconded by Mr. O'REILLY,—That in the opinion of this Institute it is desirable for the Legislature of Ontario to pass a law making it compulsory in all municipalities to put a tax on dogs and bitches; and that this resolution be forwarded to the Central Institute with the request that it take action in the matter.

The resolution was put and carried.

CREAMERIES.

Mr. BLEZARD said he favored the system of making butter in creameries. They must have good barns and stables, and it would pay well to keep cattle in warm, well ventilated stables. In building stables they could not have too much light. By sending milk to cheese factories, they lost from the house and for feeding milk that could be used at home. About $500 would procure the machinery for a butter factory. The butter went into the market fresh and commanded a better price. Merchants had kept back the quality of butter generally, by paying the same price for all. In dairy packed butter, each layer could be detected and the longer it stood it deteriorated. At the creamery the butter was all uniform, and even if it was not as good it would command a better price. At the Guelph creamery they got as much more butter out of the cream than the ordinary dairy did as would pay the whole expense. The creamery would relieve their wives of a great deal of slavish work. They should talk the matter over and prepare to start a creamery next year. In answer to a question he said that there was a law now to punish patrons for sending adulterated milk to cheese factories.

Mr. DRUMMOND said that cheese had paid very well, but if they could keep the milk at home it would pay better.

Mr. BLEZARD said that the only fair way to take milk at cheese factories was to test the milk each morning and give credit according to its quality.

The PRESIDENT said he felt greatly interested in the creamery question. The profit from the butter was, he understood, about the the same as cheese. The cream could be more cheaply gathered than the milk. The milk would be worth $5 to $7 a cow even if they did nothing but feed it to pigs. He did not see why the creamery and the cheese factory could not be run together, and they would get the benefit of two seasons instead of one.

SILO AND ENSILAGE.

The PRESIDENT spoke on "Silo and Ensilage." At the Guelph farm the silo was a small room in the corner of the barn cellar, with stone walls and board top with tar paper between the boards. They cut the corn and weighted it down with a weight of 40 lbs. to the foot. Another way was to have a stone foundation and walls of two boards with tar paper between. Some filled in the space in the walls with sawdast. Mr. Derbyshire mowed some hay upon the top for weight. He (the President) had calculated that he could, having the boards, etc., build one for $12. Corn was used for ensilage, and was cut up. A small bin would hold a large quantity. The best way to grow the corn was to put it in drills, from eighteen inches to three feet apart. He was told that with ensilage cows could be fed at 9 cents a day and have a good flow of milk. Every one of Mr. Derbyshire's cows averaged over 6,000 lbs., instead of the average here of 3,000. In 1880 their were only 10 silos in England and America, in 1885, 2,190, and last year 10,000 in the United States alone. Along with ensilage they wanted permanent pasture. Ensilage was also good for fattening beef. The main thing was keeping out the air and frost.

Mr. O'REILLY said he had seen cream drawn 20 miles to a creamery.

Mr. BLEZARD said as they did now they got nothing from their cows for six months of the year. They should feed the cows and get milk from them for 9 or 11 months at least.

The PRESIDENT would like them to consider it and see how many would go into a company for a creamery.

GENERAL.

Mr. JAMES MOORE said that milk was good for colts, and sour milk better than sweet milk. He had not used medicine for a number of years. He favoured abolition of the statute labor tax and making it a general tax, and appointing commissioners to do the work. He was in favor of the creamery, more than he was of cheese factories.

After a brief general discussion, Mr. R. E. Birdsall read a paper on silo and ensilage, by John Sprague, and taken from a newspaper.

GRADES AND THOROUGHBREDS.

Mr. BLEZARD said that in raising horses the first essential was to breed from good stock.

Mr. MOORE commended the Percheron horse.

Mr. COLLINS would like to get opinions regarding Agricultural Societies discontinuing giving prizes for general purpose or half-bred stallions.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Weather Probabilities.

Strong easterly winds and gales; mostly cloudy, milder weather, with snow and rain.

The Coming Weather.

A weather wise citizen predicts that April will be a dry, clear month, free from snow and mud. This is cheering, especially to housekeepers, who can now go ahead with house-cleaning. If your carpets and oil cloths need renewing the judicious, the practical thing to do is to see fair at the golden lion and arrange for as many yards of either the above lines as you require. Prices, it is hardly necessary to say, are fair prices and good value.

C. M. B. A.

The Lindsay Post says:—"A meeting was held this week in the rooms of the Catholic literary society with the object of forming a branch of the Catholic mutual benevolent association, which enjoys a large member ship in the States and Canada, affording, as it does, a form of cheap insurance and benefits of a social and literary character. Mr. J. O'Meara of Peterborough, district organizer, explained the insurance system and workings of the association, and at the close about twenty-five signified their wish to become members, thus establishing a successful initial branch."

If you want the best, the very best Rubbers, go to KIDD, the boot man. He also can boot you with the best Boots.

Our Explanation.

We apoligize to the people of Peterborough who wished to buy at our clearing sale on Saturday last. The crowd of buyers was so great that though we made every effort, all customers could not be attended to. The sale continues until all goods are sold. Positively every line is going at clear, rock bottom cost. All we want to realize out of it is less than the wholesale cost, and this we are getting every hour. We have increased the staff and can accomodate all. Sale at Dawson Bros'. old stand. J. T. FIELD, agent. 1d72

Calico Ball

In aid of the Protestant Home, on Wednesday, 4th April.

The tickets are now ready and may be obtained from the following gentlemen, viz:—Messrs. Elliott & Tierney, Salisbury Bros., A. McNeil, R. W. Muncaster, A. Mercer. Also from Miss Jenkins or the Hon. Secretary. Gentlemen's tickets $1.50 each, ladies $1.00 each, tickets admitting gentlemen and two ladies $3.00. No invitations will be issued, and as only a limited number of tickets have been printed the public are advised to secure them early. Contributions for the supper may be sent to Winch's new hotel, Charlotte-st on Tuesday, the 3rd April, from 12 m. to 6 p. m., or on Wednesday, the 4th April from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. F. J. LEWIS, Hon. a choice programme of vocal and instrumental music and literary selections will be given. Refreshments served during the evening. Social at the residence of Mrs. W. Bradburn, London-st., Thursday evening, March 29th. 2d71

Found Open.

Officer Stewart keeps his eyes open. On Saturday night he found the door of a butcher shop unlocked and some of the stock displayed outside. The owner was notified and closed up his place of business in the regulation way.

St. Andrew's Church.

A social will be held in the manse of St. Andrew's Church on the evening of Thursday, the 29th March, at which a good musical programme, vocal and instrumental, will be given. No effort will be spared to make this a most delightful gathering. Tickets 25 cents. Refreshments included. 5d71

Robbed.

Mrs. Cox, a Salvationist, was robbed of $7 on Sunday night at the barracks. She was standing in the middle of the hall keeping order, when she discovered her loss. The doors were closed and the police sent for. Officer McGinty was soon on hand, but he could not do anything, as the loser could not give the slightest clue.

Another Railway.

A company is seeking incorporation to construct a railway from Belleville, running up the valley of t e Moira, by way of the villages of Tweed and Bridgewater, thence to Greensborough and Bannockburn to connect with the Central Ontario railway at Coe Hill, and for the extension of the proposed road from Coe Hill to Bancroft, and from there to the Canadian Pacific at Lake Nipissing, and thence to some point in the Province of Quebec.

The Port Hope Railway.

The Railway Committee, on Friday, under the Presidency of Sir Hector Langevin, took up the Bill to incorporate the Ontario Central Railway Co. The proposed road will run from Port Hope, on Lake Ontario, thence through the countries of Durham, Ontario, York, Simcoe, Cardwell, Grey and Bruce to a point on Lake Huron. A lively discussion was roused, but the Bill finally passed with a change of the name to Western Ontario from Centaal Ontario and other minor changes.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will doyou good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

Mortuary Statistics.

The Dominion mortuary statistics for the month of February, show that Peterborough has the lowest record in the Dominion, only four deaths having occurred in our town, three males and one female. The female died from diphtheria and the three males from local diseases. In other places the deaths were Montreal, 501 ,Toronto 174, Hamilton 56, Ottawa 66, Brantford 9, Belleville 9, Guelph 8, St. Thomas 13, Chatham 10, Kingston 25, Woodstock 11 and Galt 5.

The Last Opportunity.

The moment Mrs. Scott-Siddons comes before her audience she makes a favorable impression, no less by the ease and grace of her movements than by the beauty of her appearance. Her face is strikingly beautiful and capable of expressing the most varied emotions. Every pose is full of eloquence, and in each effort, no matter how widely different from the preceding one, she is even more successful. Nothing could exceed the interest with which she held her audience.—Cork Examiner, May 6th, 1887. Opera House, Peterborough, three weeks from to-night, Monday, 16th April.

Deer Hunting.

By the new bill of the Ontario Legislature the opening season for deer has be fixed between October 15th and November 20th. The hunting of moose was made prohibitory for the next seven years from the 1st of April. No one not bona fied resident of the province for three months at least, according to one provision of the bill, is alowed to hunt deer at all, under a penalty of $10 or $20. During the open season no one person is allowed to kill more than five deer; no two persons hunting together more than eight; no three or more persons more than twelve, under a penalty of from $5 to $20.

The Debate at Lindsay.

We take the following from the Lindsay Post's account of the Y. M. C. A. entertainment at that town:—"The singing of the visitors (The Peterborough Y. M. C. A. Quartette) was deservedly appreciated, hearty applause greeting every appearance. Next in order was the debate.... The audience was deeply interested in the discussion, and freely testified their approval of the many good points made by the respective speakers. The debate was excellently sustained, and the ladies were kept fluctuating between uncertainty and despair as to their chances of receiving a circular re' your vote and influence, etc.,' at the next election....Mr. Baguley sang in fine voice 'Let me dream while life shall linger,' the club joining in the chorus, and scored a hit. Mr. W. A. Dixon, ventriloquist, who accompanied the Peterborough contingent, for a quarter of an hour kept the audience in peals of laughter by his amusings saying and imitations.....The National Anthem brought an exceedingly pleasant evening's entertainment to a close."

EAST RIDING FARMERS

Mr. BLEZARD said that speaking for himself he would favor not giving them prizes, but he did not know that it would meet with general approval.

Mr. MOORE did not favor the idea, so long as the mongrel could raise better colts than the thoroughbreds.

Mr. G. ENGLISH said grade bulls were cut off from prizes so as to improve the stock, and stallions should be treated the same way.

Mr. SHEARER said that general purpose horse—not thoroughbred—was better adapted for their purposes and should not be cut off.

Mr. J. FIFE said that thoroughbreds should be encouraged. Halfbred horses sold for the highest prices.

Mr. REDPATH said that farmers should breed their stock from thoroughbreds—should breed up, and not down.

Mr. SPIER said that one reason why horse raising did not pay was that farmers did not know a perfect horse when they saw one. Prof. Robertson had shown them a model dairy cow, and could they not get a professor to show them in the same way a perfect horse, and how it differed from their stock?

The PRESIDENT thought that giving prizes for thoroughbreds only was a move in the right direction, though notice of the action should be given.

Mr. COLLINS moved, seconded by Mr. R. E. BIRDSALL,—That this meeting approve of Agricultural Societies at an early date discontinuing giving prizes for general purpose or grade stallions at exhibitions.

Mr. MOORE said he approved of thoroughbreds, but he thought that this action would injure the fairs. If they stuck to thoroughbreds only, they would soon have a horse that would not suit them. A great deal of the fault was on the mare's side.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Collins, Fife and Blezard, and the motion was carried.

VOTE OF THANKS.

Mr. BLEZARD moved that a vote of thanks be tendered to Mr. Collins, the reporters and others who had come a distance to assist.—Carried.

The vote was acknowledged by Mr. Collins and the press representatives.

The meeting adjourned until 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

The morning session was not largely attended, but in the afternoon there was a large number present, and when President Birdsall took the chair in the evening the Town Hall was full, among the audience being a number of ladies.

The choir organized for the occasion, composed of Messrs. R. McCamus, M. Kennaley, J. Bryce, John Moore and Misses Mels and Moore and Mrs. Harrison (accompanist), sang a glee, which was highly appreciated.

Mr. T. BLEZARD gave an address on creameries, emphacizing some of the advantages he had referred to during the day, and argued that mixed husbandry was essential in this country. He urged the young men to improve the privileges they enjoyed.

Mrs. Harrison and Mr. R. McCamus sang a duet, "Minute Gun at Sea," which was deservedly applauded.

Dr. HARRISON spoke on the past and present modes of farming. He endorsed the views expressed by Mr. Blezard. In the past all that was necessary to secure a crop was to cut down the trees, clear up, sow seed and garner the grain. But it was not so at present. Changes had occurred and different modes of farming were necessary. Hence the benefits of these Institutes, where the benefits of the experiences of many farmers were secured by each one. He referred to the constant labor of the armer's wife, and said that they should try to lesson her labor, so she could have greater opportunities to read and to attend to her family.

Mr. R. E. Birdsall recited "the Charge of the Light Brigade" in a manner that showed he retained the histrionic talent that has delighted many audiences. Mr. R. McCamus gave a song, which was well received.

Mr. BLEZARD again urged continuance on the farm. Farming was a business that was honorable and respected. He contrasted some of its expenses in comparison with professional life.

Dr. HARRISON referred to the advantage it was to farmers to have good gardens and to raise good vegetables. Speaking of the home, he said it should be attractive, inside and in its surroundings. Their health would be improved in that way and their children would be attached to their homes. He urged the boys to remain on the farm, and contrasted favorably the care that farmers' boys had with that of those in professional life and the beneficial result of an agricultural life. Farming in the future would have to be carried on scientifically to secure success.

The choir again favored the audience with a glee.

Mr. BLEZARD explained the bill regulating cheese factories and creameries and to prevent the adulteration of milk.

Dr. HARRISON urged the farmers to adopt a course of useful reading, as a good farmer must be a well read man.

The choir favored the audience with more music, and received marks of approval.

Mr. J. DRUMMOND spoke on planting shade trees. He explained how to take up a tree. Cut a circle around the tree, as deep as it can be dug. Then climb up the tree and swing it over, which brings the earth with it. When planting, fill around it with straw. Maple, basswood and spruce were good wind breaks and were hardy. May and June were good months to plant in. Plenty of earth should be put around the roots. Cover up with wet straw. Trees should be planted as soon as dug up, and not allowed to lie any time without being replanted. He urged cleaning up the sides of the roads and planting trees along them.

Mr. HARRISON sang a song, "Jessie's Dream," which was loudly applauded.

Mr. BLEZARD gave a few closing remarks on the success of the meeting.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the choir, to Dr. Harrison and other speakers and to the chairman, and the proceedings concluded after the singing of "God save the Queen."

Church Notes.

The real palm from South America was distributed to the congregation at St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday, for the first time in Peterborough. His Lordship Bishop Dowling used it for some years at Paris, but the native balsam or spruce has always been used in Peterborough heretofore. It was procured through a New York house, the only firm in the United States that handles it extensively.

Special services will be held in the George-st. Church on Monday, Wednesday and Sunday evenings, commencing this evening.

The Rev. Mr. Dimick, of Port Hope, will preach the anniversary sermons of the Baptist Church. Murray-st., next Sunday morning and evening.

An Easter service wil be held at the George-st. Church next Sunday morning. The Sunday School pupils will occupy the centre seats and take part in the service.

At St. John's Church on Sunday morning the Rev. Mr. Roper assisted the Rector, reading the litany and ante-communion service. In the evening Mr. Roper commenced a series of four addresses to continue through Holy Week. Services will be held in this church on Good Friday at 11 o'clock, from 1 o'clock to 3, and at 7.30 in the evening.

Up to Friday night the record of Messrs. Crossley and Hunter's services at Belleville showed that 292 persons had professed a change of heart.

Services will be held in St. Luke's church at 11 and at 7 o'clock on Good Friday.

Special evangelistic services this evening at 8 o'clock in the lecture room of George-st. Methodist Church. All are cordially invited.

Obituary.

Rev. Dr. Smithett, of Omemee, died on Saturday morning at Omemee after an illness of five months. Deceased will be buried with Orange and Masonic honours on Tuesday, 27th inst., at one o'clock in Omemee. For many years Rev. Dr. Smithett has been identified with Omemee, and was Grand Chaplain of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, the Grand Orange Lodge of British America, the Royal Black Preceptory and the Grand Lodge of Freemasons.

Quite Ready For the Season.

Miss Delaney wishes to state that her stock of millinery, shapes and trimmings is of the newest designs and very fashionable. A very fine stock of the newest and most fashionable jet trimmings which are particularly in fashion this season. New cloths and trimmings in the mantle department, all very select. Having made three trips to the city within a short time, and having with great care selected from the best wholesale stocks, Miss Delaney feels confident she can meet the taste and wishes of customers in every respect. 1d72

Brevities.

—The Police Magistrate had a clean slate this morning.

—The Town Council will meet on Monday evening next.

—A ring around the moon on Sunday night is said to mean rain.

—Councillor Langford is getting sampl numbers for houses from Toronto.

—The ice on Mud and Pigeon lakes is still firm and teams crossing every day.

—The sleighing continues good and the farmers are taking every advantage of it.

—Several applications for the position of chief constable have already been received.

—The egg dealers have commenced shipping operations earlier than usual this year.

—Sunday was delightful for driving and in consequence the livery stable men reaped a harvest.

—The horsemen are agitating a meeting to take place at the driving park on the Queen's birthday.

—Things in the police circles, on Saturday and Sunday, were exceedingly quiet, as they should be.

—Mr. Thomas Howden's new trotter is a likely looking colt and great things are expected of him.

—Men from the woods are coming down in large numbers and soon all the shanties will be broken up.

—A drunk cooled off in the cells on Saturday evening. He will probably contribute his mite to-morrow.

—Mr. J. W. Dinwoodie, of Campbellford, has received the contract for the work on the Cobourg harbor.

—Little Annie Bird has organized a theatrical company and is meeting with considerable success in the west.

—A carload of horses and farming implements left here C. P. R., on Saturday evening, for British Colombia.

—Cattle for Easter are coming in plentifully. The butcher's display on Saturday next will be fully up to the standard.

—The local licenses are coming in very slowly this year, not one third of the proper number having been taken out.

—The horse buyers are still at work. A carload was shipped to Montreal, on Saturday night, and more are to follow.

—Sunday is the great day on the C. P. R. for moving through freight. The number of trains yesterday was larger than usual.

—Messrs. Leary & Co. are making good progress, boring for water on the market square. They are now down about 12 feet.

—The railways are moving an enormous quantity of freight these days, on account of the merchants getting in their spring stocks.

—Debentures for $8,000 will be issued by Campbellford, and for $2,000 by Seymour, to build new school buildings in Campbellford.

—James Skinner was sentenced to five days in gaol, Geo. Oram ten days and F. Oram, 15 days, at Belleville on Saturday, for larceny.

—Bulking operations are commencing in earnest in many different portions of the town. As soon as the ground is in condition they will be in full blast.

—Some Ottawa people are talking of starting a circus on the road in Canada this season. One of the promoters was in town on Saturday looking over the ground.

—The Port Hope Y.M.C.A. has organized a lacrosse club and the Times says they are enthusiastic over anticipated matches with Lindsay and Peterborough Y.M.C.A. clubs.

—A man from Toronto to fix and hang the new harness for the fire department is expected down daily. The trouble is with the hames, the other portions being all right.

—The Omemee hotels are still tightly closed and visitors without friends in the village find it rather hard to get accommodation. Flags at half mast float over the hotels.

—The pay list of the Midland Railway employees, now located at Lindsay, exceeds $8,000 per month; quite a respectable sum to have added to the general business ecirulation.

—Members of our local band will be interested in knowing that Mr. J. Bates, formerly leader of the Citizens Band, of Lindsay, has returned from Winnipeg and taken the leadership of the Lindsay band.

—It is said that the Crossen car works now at Cobourg, are to be moved during the summer, to Lindsay, the town having offered some substantial inducements to secure to location at that point of this important industry.

—Mrs. Bottom, wife of Captain Bottom, of Bobcaygeon, died on Saturday evening, of inflammation of the lungs after an illness of only a few days. The deceased lady was well known and highly respected in Peterborough.

—The following advertisement appears in the Toronto papers:—"Wanted—for the town of Peterborough—Chief of Police: must be a man of experience and thoroughly competent. Apply, stating salary, to James Kendry, Chairman, Police Supervision, Peterborough."

—Kitty Davey, one of the family which became famous at Lindsay and Campbellford, and visited Peterborough, and who is one of the two girls who travelled from Rochester to St. Paul in boy's clothing, a year ago, was recently married at Syracuse, though she is only fifteen years old.

Fine Timber.

Mr. Elias Thompson placed in the Grand Trunk yard this morning a stick of pine timber 83 feet long and 27 inches at the butt. He purchased and cut it on the farm of Mr. Telford, on the Mud Lake road. It is for shipment to Halifax, Nova Scotia, and will be used for a vessel mast. Judging by the many fine pieces shipped by Mr. Thompson, this portion of the county is not yet, by any means, denuded of all her large pine trees.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

MONDAY, MARCH 26, 1888.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

It is an old song she chooses, and simple as old, and sweet as simple. I almost forget the words now, but I know it runs in this wise:

"Oh, hame, hame—hame fain wad I be,
Hame, hame to my ain countrie," and so on.

It touches the hearts of all who hear it as she sings it, and brings tears to the eyes of the duchess. So used the little fragile daughter to sing who is now chanting in heaven!

There is no vehement applause as Mona takes her fingers from the keys, but every one says, "Thank you," in a low tone. Geoffrey, going up to her, leans over her chair and whispers, with some agitation,—

"You did not mean it, Mona, did you? You are content here with me?—you have no regret?"

At which Mona turns round to him a face very pale, but full of such love as should rejoice the heart of any man, and says, tremulously,—

"Darling, do you need an answer?"

"Then why did you choose that song?"

"I hardly know."

"I was hateful to you just now, and most unjust."

"Were you? I have forgotten it," replies she, smiling happily, the color coming back to her cheeks. Whereupon Paul Rodney's brows contract, and with a muttered curse he turns aside and leaves the room, and then the house, without another word or backward glance.

CHAPTER XXVII.

"Must you really go, Geoffrey?—really?" asks Mona, miserably, looking the very personification of despair. She has asked the same question in the same tone ever since early dawn, and it is now four o'clock.

"Yes, really. Horrid bore, isn't it?—but county dinners must be attended, and Nicholas will do nothing. Besides, it isn't fair to ask him just now, dear old fellow, when he has so much upon his mind."

"But you have something on your mind, too. You have me. Why don't Jack go?"

"Well, I rather think he has Violet on his mind. Did you ever see anything so spooney as they looked all through dinner yesterday and luncheon to-day? I didn't think it was in Violet."

"Did she never look at you like that?" asks Mona, maliciously; "in the early days, I mean,—before—before——"

"I fell a victim to your charms? No. Jack has it all to himself so far as I am concerned. Well, I must be off, you know. It is a tremendous drive, and I'll barely do it in time. I shall be back about two in the morning."

"Not until two?" says Mona, growing miserable again.

"I can't well get away before that, you know, as Wigley is a good way off. But I'll try all I know. And, after all," says Geoffrey, with a view to cheering her, "it isn't as bad as if I was ordered off somewhere for a week, is it?"

"A week! I should be dead when you came back," declares Mrs. Geoffrey, with some vehemence, and a glance that shows she can dissolve into tears at a moment's notice.

"Some fellows go away for months," says Geoffrey, still honestly bent on cheering her, but unfortunately going the wrong way to work.

"Then they ought to be ashamed of themselves," says Mona, with much indignation. "Months, indeed!"

"Why, they can't help it," explains he. "They are sent half the time."

"Then the people who send them should be ashamed! But what about the other half of their time that they spend away from home?"

"Oh, I don't know; that was a mere figure of my speech," says Mr. Rodney, who is afraid to say such absences are caused by an innate love of freedom and a vile desire for liberty at any cost, and has nothing else handy. "Now don't stay moping up here when I go, but run down stairs and find the girls and make yourself happy with them."

"Happy?" reproachfully. "I shan't know a happy moment until I see you again!"

"Nor I till I see you," says Geoffrey, earnestly, actually believing what he says himself.

"I shall do nothing but look at the clock, and listen for the sound of the horse's feet."

"Mona, you mustn't do that. Now, I shall be really annoyed if you insist on sitting up for me and so lose a good night's rest. Now, don't darling. It will only take it out of you, and make you pale and languid next day."

"But I shall be more content so; and even if I went to bed I could not sleep. Besides, I shall not be companionless when the small hours begin to creep upon me."

"Eh?" says Geoffrey.

"No; I shall have him with me; but hush! It is quite a secret," placing her finger on her lips.

"'Him?'—whom?"—demands her husband, with pardonable vivacity.

"My own old pet," says Mrs. Geoffrey, still mysteriously, and with the fondest smile imaginable.

TORONTO'S COAL COMBINE.

ITS CONNECTION WITH THE BOARD OF TRADE EXPLAINED.

President Matthews Interviewed—Mr. Elias Rogers Says There is Nothing New in the Evidence at Ottawa—City Dealers Only Make 25 Cents a Ton.

TORONTO, March 26.

The question was mooted on Saturday whether in view of the revelations at Ottawa before the Combine Committee relative to the Coal Section of the Board of Trade, the latter body would take any action with a view to withdrawing its recognition and protection from the section.

President W. D. Matthews was spoken to on the subject by a reporter. "The sections," he said, "cannot make by-laws without the approval of the Council of the Board, and any act, resolution or business done by a section in nowise binds the Council or the Board. Nor can they publish any business done by them in any way to bind the Board or make it in any way a Board of Trade measure. The Board has power to disrupt any section guilty of any conduct not approved of by it. If a section does anything wrong and complaint is made to the Board, an investigation is held and action taken. The Board, as far as I know, will not take any action regarding the Coal Trade Branch on account of the Ottawa disclosures. This section has simply bound itself together to protect the interests of the trade and the members. I do not suppose any notice will be taken of the Ottawa matter."

"There is nothing new in these statements from Ottawa," said Mr. Elias Rogers. "I had nothing to do with the Waterworks contract except this, that had it not been for me, the city would have had to pay much more for its coal. This whole story of the sale of the contract has been told over and over again. I have explained to the Combine Committee how the Coal Trade Branch of the Board of Trade came to be organized, and its workings both as regards contracts and other matters.

"There has always been more or less pressure brought to bear on dealers by the controlling interests in the United States, with a view to forcing uniformity of prices."

"I was not present at the meeting when this contract price was fixed, and I was never present when city contracts were discussed, and had nothing whatever to do with them further than to use my influence outside to have the price made as low as possible. There were no fines divided among the importers to my knowledge, with one exception, in which case the fine was treated as a premium for the contract with the consent of the party paying the fine. The total amount of premiums paid during the past year only amounts to about 13 cents per ton on the total amount of coal represented by the contracts. There is not a dealer in Toronto who handles first-class coal who will state that he has ever made a net average profit on his year's business of over 25 cents per ton, and there is not another town in Canada where coal profits have been as small during the past ten years. In Ottawa the price of coal to-day is $8 per ton, and dealers make more than $1 per ton profit, as was shown in evidence before the Combine Committee.

Mr. R. E. Gibson of the Conger Coal Co. had very little to say. "The money got by auctioning these contracts," he said, "was simply premiums which went towards paying the general expenses of the section. Mr. Rogers' statement before the Combine Committee, as published in The World, puts the thing about right. It seems to me that Mr. Clarke Wallace, the Combine Committee chairman, is putting the thing before the public for some political purpose. He does not put the statements as given, but as he desires to have them given."

Mr. John R. Bailey was at the Queen's when The World saw him. He was chewing a toothpick, and appeared full of thought when asked if he had anything to say about the Ottawa disclosures. "No," he replied, "I guess I will not say anything."

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

The Lake St. Peter Channel Debt—Indian Scouts on the N.W.M.P.—Press Dinner.

OTTAWA, March 25.—President Dufresne of the Montreal Chamber of Commerce arrived here on Saturday to present a petition from that body asking the Government for the assumption of the Lake St. Peter channel debt and the restoration to Montreal of the $800,000 in interest that has been paid thereon. The petition is 195 feet long and bears 6540 signatures.

According to Commissioner Herchmer of the Northwest Mounted Police, a new element in the patrol system of the Northwest has been introduced in the engagement of some full-blooded Indians as scouts, who are attached to the patrols and so far have done very good service, being invaluable as trailers and able and willing to travel excessive distances in an almost incredible space of time. He recommended to the favorable consideration of the Government increasing the number of the scouts, as their employment will not only greatly assisted the police in patrol duty, but will tend to strengthen the good understanding between the Indians and police. On several occasions this summer these scouts arrested members of their own tribes, and, when they get more accustomed to the life, will be still more efficient. Their tendency at present is to serve a short time and then return home, which is not always convenient. Their pay is $25 per month and rations, and they horse themselves, the police furnishing arms and saddles.

The annual dinner of the House of Commons Press Gallery was held at the Russell House on Saturday evening. Seventy-odd sat down to table. Among the invited guests present were Hon. Messrs. Bowell, Thompson and Costigan. These members of the Commons also attended: Messrs. Laurier, Mills, Davies, Cimon, Bechard, Royal, Charlton, Somerville, Ross, McKay, Scriver, Ellis, Innes, Paterson (Brant), Patterson (Essex), Kenny, Prior, Perley (Ottawa), Landerkin, Gillmor, Baker, Wallace and Daly. The toasts were: "The Queen," "The Governor-General," "The Parliament of Canada," "The Capital of the Dominion" and "The Ladies." "The Parliament of Canada" was responded to by the ministers present and Hon. Mr. Laurier, Mr. Davis and Hon. Wm. McDougall. "The Capital of Canada" was responded to by the Mayor of Ottawa, and "The Ladies" was responded to by Mr. Chambers, representative of The Montreal Star. During the course of the evening the musical members of the press enlivened the occasion by a number of songs, Mr. Brewer, accountant of the House of Commons, acting as accompanist. A pleasing feature was the presence after dinner of a number of ladies. Among the old press men present, former members of the gallery, were Messrs. Lowe, Burgess, Brymner, George Johnson and Carroll Ryan.

Hon. Mr. Dewdney, Lieut.-Governor of the Northwest, has been delayed in his departure for Regina, and will probably be detained here for another week. He says that the Indian problem, as regards the Northwest, presents no difficulties. The present system of keeping the various tribes on various reserves is much better than any of the schemes talked of for placing them all on one reservation or territory. Returns show that the condition of the red man in the Northwest is improving since he abandoned his nomadic life. His health is improving; many of the diseases he acquired on the plains are now fast disappearing. The rate of mortality is also diminishing, and as long as the Indian Department looks after the Indian his security is assured. With our present system of teaching him the ways of civilization I don't see why he should not increase rather than become extinct.

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they pay prices for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

SHEPPARD

Has Some Very Cheap Goods, his importations for Spring now to hand are fully fifty per cent. cheaper than the same goods has been sold in Peterborough for before. Now if you want LACES go to SHEPPARD'S, or if you want CORSETS in all sizes, starting at 22½ up.

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

SHEPPARD

George Street, Peterborough, Town Clock overhead.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

OTTAWA NOTES.

Recruiting for the Northwest Mounted Police will commence on April 23 at Port Hope. There are about fifty vacancies to be filled by June next, but a large number of applications for admission into the force have been received, so that no great difficulty will be experienced in filling vacancies.

The new Salvation Army barracks were dedicated here to-day, Major Coombs officiating. Leading Salvationists from different parts of the Dominion were in attendance. The building was put up at an expense of $16,000, and is an imposing structure.

Another gold discovery is said to have been made in the Nipissing district in the township of Cartier. The discoverer is an Indian named Joe Ohorze, and an assay of the find gives $800 to the ton. The mine is within a mile of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Lumbermen are beginning to feel uneasy with regard to the log supply. An enormous quantity has been cut, but it is feared that there will not be sufficient water in the tributaries to float them onto the Ottawa River. A great deal of the snow has disappeared, and yet the ice remains compact and the break-up may witness the rivers with low water. There are over 400,000,000 feet of logs now cut.

C.P.R. Magnates Treating With Greenway.

OTTAWA, March 24.—Premier Greenway has had some conversation with Mr. Van Horne, Sir George Stephen and Sir Donald Smith, who are anxious to have him purchase the Emerson Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway and relinquish the Red River Valley line. Greenway does not seem to think this branch will suit very well, and it is understood his colleagues share his opinion. Greenway pointed out that about $250,000 has been expended on the Red River Valley, and the province could not afford to lose that. Van Horne offered to take all the material off their hands at cost price. It is hardly likely Mr. Greenway will accept any terms short of a reimbursement for the expenditure on the Red River Valley Road. As there was not sufficient time to discuss the matter freely here, Sir George invited Mr. Greenway to Montreal, and he leaves at 4 to-night, having an engagement with Sir George, Sir Donald and Mr. Van Horne to go fully into the position on Monday. Mr. Greenway says he may not make any definite arrangement, intending only to discuss the question fully and see what is best. He will return here Monday night. He says the negotiations between himself and the C.P.R. will in no way affect the agreement between the Dominion Government and the C.P.R. which is being considered in Council to-day and which, it is expected, will be finally ratified. Greenway says he hopes to get away early next week, though it is doubtful if he will leave before Friday or Saturday.

It was rumored last night, on pretty good authority, that word had been received from New York that the Canadian Pacific Railway had made a working arrangement with the Northern Pacific, by which the former gives up the invasion of the Puget Sound business on condition that the Northern Pacific keeps out of Manitoba. I asked Greenway his opinion of this. He told me he feared it was true, as things had been looking that way for some time.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

O'Connor on His Way Home—Cricketing Dates Fixed—Spots of Sport.

TORONTO, March 26.

The annual meeting of the delegates and secretaries of the cricket clubs in District 8 of the Ontario Cricket Association was held last night in the Walker House. Mr. J. Chandler occupied the chair. Mr. W. H. England of 36 Clarence-square was appointed secretary for the season.

O'Connor on His Way Home.

Oarsman O'Connor and his fellow Torontonians who witnessed his victory over Peterson on March 18 are on their way home, having left San Francisco three days ago. They are expected here on Friday or Saturday.

The San Francisco Chronicle has a three-column account of the race. Both O'Connor and Mr. Joseph Rogers are reported to have complimented Peterson on his game struggle, and to have accounted for his defeat partly by his being badly boated. "There are many different estimates," says The Chronicle, "of the total amount which has changed hands over the result of the contest, but a careful calculation of information received from all sources places it in the neighborhood of $80,000. Of this a large proportion was wagered on Saturday night and yesterday, during which time O'Connor came up with a rush in the betting. One of the 'largest' winners of course is Joseph Rogers, the sly Canadian sport, who dropped down among the local sports about ten days ago, and assured them in a carefully modulated voice that the odds ought to be 2 to 1 on Peterson. Then again, John O'Grady, who arrived here with Rogers, and who, by the by, has attended several boat races, is in pocket by the 'Peep o'Day Boy's' victory. It is stated that Rogers won $7000 and O'Grady $5000. Jim Keenan, the Boston sport, has retrieved some of the losses he incurred by backing Ham against O'Connor, as it is said that yesterday's race netted him $3000."

Spots of Sport.

Ottawa Journal: A strong move will be made by friends in both associations to have "Tommy" Crown reinstated, and in all probability he will play in Ottawa next season.

The ball season will open in New York next Saturday.

Rochester will travel nearly 500 miles less than any other club in the International League.

According to some instantaneous photographs taken in the West a good pitcher will make twelve distinct motions before he delivers the ball from the bat.

There will be more commercial, amateur and semi-professional clubs in the field this year than ever before.

Manager Hackett says that he has received assurances from "Ted" Sullivan that he will surely manage the Troy team this season.

Binghamton has signed Charles Whitney, formerly of the Rochester and Scranton teams, as third baseman.

President Von der Ahe has about given up the idea of taking a combination of ball-players to England; and will visit Australia instead.

A Cleveland despatch says: Faatz, of whom great things are expected, is to direct the ball work of the team and the town is ready to give him all the help it can.

Talking over the prospects of the Rochesters, Manager Leonard says he is going to make a special effort to have the greatest team of base runners in the International Association.

The bill introduced in the St. Louis City Council some time ago by Ald. Monahan to tax baseball parks $2000 per annum has been defeated. A substitute bill was introduced and passed taxing parks $500.

The Executive Committee of the Toronto Yacht Club decided at its monthly meeting last night to call a special general meeting of the club for Wednesday, April 4, to consider the proposed amalgamation with the Royal Canadian Yacht Club.

A meeting of the Hamilton Bicycle Club was held last Saturday evening. It is the intention of the club to procure suitable grounds, put down a cinder path and give two grand annual athletic meetings in spring and fall, consisting of bicycling, running, walking and jumping competitions; everything to be free from the professional element and conducted strictly according to amateur rules.

FOUND GUILTY.

The Verdict in Detective Fahey's Case—The Last Seen of Hayner.

MONTREAL, March 26.—In the Fahey case this morning Judge Baby charged the jury strongly against the prisoner. There was intense excitement, the court room being packed, and Fahey shed copious tears during the judge's delivery. At 1.15 the jury retired, and in an hour and a half returned with a verdict of guilty.

Inspector Stark on the Case.

TORONTO, March 27.

Inspector Stark returned from Montreal on Saturday. His evidence in the Fahey case was with reference to Fahey's penmanship, an important point for the prosecution to establish. "I hardly expected a verdict of guilty," said the inspector yesterday. "The evidence, though circumstantial, was, however, strong. Fahey will have to stand his trial now on the charge of conspiring to commit a felony. Hayner alias Wilson failed to appear at the trial. Detective Flynn vainly endeavored to get his telegram before the court. Hayner telegraphed him from Boston in effect that he would not come on for the trial, that there was too much money for him on the other side of the Atlantic. The last seen of Hayner was when he went aboard an ocean steamship in the company of Harry Phillips, Sullivan's manager."

DEFENDING THE TREATY.

AN ABLE LETTER FROM SECRETARY BAYARD.

The Treaty Provides for Every Just Complaint—The Mutual Needs of Great Britain and the United States Fully Agreed Upon.

BOSTON, March 26.—Secretary of State Bayard was invited by many of the leading citizens of this city on March 8 to visit Boston and deliver an address on the Fisheries Treaty. The Secretary declined in a letter in which he says:

The settlement upon just and equitable terms of the questions in dispute between Great Britain and the United States concerning the rights of American fishermen in British North American waters and ports, is a subject upon which I have bestowed assiduous care ever since I assumed the duties of my present office, and the result of the efforts to promote such a settlement is embodied in the treaty now before the Senate. But the treaty has been preceded by a voluminous correspondence, and the time for complete publication has properly arrived, and its printing has been ordered by the Senate. The whole matter will thus be laid before the American people, and I trust will be fully and publicly debated by the Senate.

I am convinced that the welfare and true interests of our country, and a just and wise treatment of the British American population on our northern frontier, alike counsel the adoption of the treaty. In its initiation, negotiation and conclusion, I can truly say for my associates and myself, no views but those of single-minded patriotism have been allowed place or expression, nor can a trace or suggestion of partisanship be justly alleged.

The sole and difficult question to which the treaty relates, "the fishery rights of one nation in the jurisdictional waters of another," began with the first dawn of our recognised independent existence as a nation, and ever since has conspicuously presented itself at intervals, exciting bitter controversy, and never has been satisfactorily or permanently disposed. Meanwhile the surrounding circumstances have importantly changed and advanced with rapid, vast growth. The Treaty of 1818 is unaltered, and remains unaffected in its terms by seventy years of such material progress and development on this continent as we of to-day are the witnesses. Unless the Treaty of 1818 shall be wholly abrogated, and recurrence necessarily had to the dangerous status that John Quincy Adams so ably but unavailingly discussed with the Earl of Bathurst in 1815, and which had resisted all efforts of the negotiators at Ghent in the year previous, it is manifest that a joint and equitable construction in consonance with their existing relations and mutual needs must be agreed upon between Great Britain and the United States, and this I affirm is done by the present treaty.

There is not a recorded cause of just and reasonable complaint by an American fisherman against the Canadian administration since 1866 for which this treaty does not provide a remedy and provide a safeguard in the future. Many Canadian contentions heretofore put forth with more or less insistance are withdrawn. Imaginary lines upon the sea, drawn from one distant headland to another, neither being visible to the other, can no longer cause doubt and anxiety to the fishermen, for the demarkation of his fishing limits is made by objects plainly in view, and if he encroaches upon the waters renounced in 1818 he will do so wilfully, and from no bay where fish are found, and purse seines can be profitably used, are our fishermen excluded. By the present treaty every privilege—shelter, repairs, wood, water—reserved to him under the Treaty of 1818, and which in the past have been so hampered and restricted by Canadian conditions, can hereafter be freely enjoyed without cost or molestation. Hospitality and comity, as defined by civilized nations, are secured, and facilities for convenient and needful supplies "on all occasions," and relief against casualty and in cases of distress are all amply provided for.

Conciliation and mutual neighborly concession have together done their honorable and honest work in this treaty and paved the way for relations of amity and mutual advantage. All this is accomplished by no enforced changes in our tariff nor the payment of a penny as the price of a concession not for the enjoyment of a right. Neither the conscience, nor the self-respect, nor the pocket of an American has been invaded by any provision of the pending treaty.

That the Canadians possess jurisdictional rights no fair man would wish to deny, and among such rights is that to decide what may be lawfully bought or sold within their own limits. This Home Rule or local self government is theirs as much as we claim it for ourselves. I am anxious to have all the light possible thrown upon the treaty and its operative effects upon the well-being and happiness of our country. To this end I desire to give every information, to respond to every enquiry and to remove every doubt.

DISCUSSING THE FISHERIES.

Sir George Baden-Powell's Dinner Party—A Letter From Secretary Bayard.

LONDON, March 26.—Sir George Baden-Powell, Conservative M.P., gave a dinner today to Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Lord Stanley of Preston and Lord George Hamilton, First Lord of the Admiralty. The object was to discuss the fishery question.

Riddleberger's Resolution.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Mr. Riddleberger's resolution to suspend the rules for executive session in respect to the Fisheries Treaty was taken up in the Senate to-day and Mr. Riddleberger expressed the hope that the Senate would agree to it.

Mr. Sherman said the treaty was now under consideration of the Committee on Foreign Relations, and that committee might probably report in favor of a public consideration of the subject in the Senate, but for the present he thought it better that the resolution should lie over unacted upon. The Senator from Virginia would undoubtedly have ample notice, so that he could ask a vote on his resolution before the treaty would be considered.

Mr. Gray thought the suggestion of the Senator from Ohio a proper one. He (Gray) was not opposed to the resolution, but expected to vote for it. So far as he understood the sentiments of Senators on his side of the Chamber, they were in favor of the consideration of the Fisheries Treaty in open session.

A Wellington Farmer Burned.

ELMIRA, Ont., March 26.—About 5.15 this morning a little girl of Mr. James White's, lot 16, concession 5, Peel Township, Wellington County, discovered what she supposed to be her father going to the stable with a lantern. The light remaining in the same place, and hearing a crackling noise, she ran down stairs to find the cause of it. Upon opening the hall door leading to the kitchen she was met by smoke and flames. She at once ran to her parents' room and gave the alarm. The fire had made so much headway that it was useless to try to save anything. The building and contents were wholly destroyed, and with it about $125 in cash. The family escaped with nothing but their nightclothes. The fire started in the kitchen, but the origin is unknown. The loss is heavy, with some insurance on the house and effects.

SUBURBAN ACCIDENTS.

A Hamiltonian Loses His Arm in a Planer —Attempted Suicide.

HAMILTON, March 26.—George Potter, who has been for the past twelve years in the employ of M. Brennen & Sons, met with a terrible accident this afternoon at 2 o'clock. He was attending the planing and matching machine, at which he has worked ever since he entered the factory, when in some unaccountable way his left hand came in contact with the machinery and was completely cut and torn from his arm.

As Farmer Robert Johnston was driving to church at Burlington yesterday his horse shied just as he had crossed the bridge on the lake road. There is no railing at the approaches, and the horse and buggy went over the embankment. Mr. Johnston jumped, and in the fall fractured his leg. The injury is all the more serious as the same limb was badly broken some years ago in a similar accident at Lowville, after which the unfortunate man was laid up for four years.

There is considerable excitement in Innerkip over the attempted suicide of Mr. James Isbister. The man is a wealthy farmer, lives in a magnificent stone house and has every comfort that the heart can wish for. A few days ago he attended a meeting of the Farmers' Institute, and left before it was over. According to his own story he came to Hamilton to visit some friends, and while here jumped out of a window in the dead of night and started on foot for home. He walked to Lynden, took the train from there to Princeton and then entered Church's woods, where he made the attempt on his life with a knife. He severed the windpipe completely, but failed to cut the jugular vein, and was living this morning. It is said that Mr. Isbister's mind was unhinged over religious matters.

At the Assizes to-day the case of Routh v. Leslie, for alleged malpractice, was commenced. It will be remembered that the case was tried at last Assizes and resulted in the jury disagreeing.

THE IMPERIAL BUDGET.

Gratifying Statement of the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

LONDON, March 26.—Mr. Goschen, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, introduced the budget in the House of Commons this evening. The total expenditure for the current year had been £87,427,000, showing a saving of £423,000 on the budget estimate and of £612,000 over the preceding year. The revenue also presented a satisfactory account, the total, £89,589,000, being £1,454,000 more than the estimate. [Cheers.]

To sum up, the excess of revenue over the estimate added to the saving on expenditures gave a total realized surplus of £2,165,000, the greatest since 1874. [Cheers.] He had begun the year with a balance in hand of £5,950,000 and had ended it with a balance of £7,488,000. He had a special reason for desiring a handsome balance, his object being to provide for those stockholders who might prefer to be paid off under the Consols Conversion Act instead of taking new stock. These seven millions would meet any emergency.

Coming to the national debt, they had decreased their liabilities during the year by £7,601,000, the largest sum paid off during any year since 1872. [Cheers.]

Dealing next with the estimates for the coming year he said it was calculated that the total expenditure would be £86,910,000, a decrease of £512,000 as compared with the present year. The revenue as estimated would be £89,287,000, giving a surplus of £2,377,000 over the expenditures. They proposed to devote from this amount to the local county authorities the sum of £1,125,000. This would leave a balance of £1,252,000.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Council of the Board of Trade held a session lasting three hours yesterday afternoon, the main subject discussed being bucket shops. The Secretary presented in tabulated form the replies to the circular sent out to the members of the Board of Trade, asking for their opinion on the utility of the bucket shop. These were read, and copies were ordered to be sent to Senator Abbott, who is preparing a bill with a view to the suppression of bucket shops. The Secretary was instructed to give the press an opportunity of perusing the same.

President Matthews called attention to the recent press reports regarding combines and the Board of Trade. After a lengthy discussion it was resolved to defer decided action until the report of the Commons Committee be published.

The Board of Trade Council will join the vessel owners and others of Toronto in petitioning the Department of Public Works to deepen the Eastern Gap.

A meeting of the Free Trade League of Canada was held in the ladies' parlor of Association Hall last night. Mr. E. W. Thompson occupied the chair, and there were present: Messrs. S. Caldecot, J. D. Ivey, W. A. Douglass, R. Kilgour and Wm. Blackly. An executive committee was appointed to make arrangements for the next meeting and to get up topics for discussion. The question of how the tariff affects newspapers was brought up but little was said about it.

Found Dead in Bed.

ST. CATHARINES, March 24.—Mr. Denais Reddy, an old man well known about town, who lived on the Thorold road, was found dead in bed at noon to-day. He had evidently been drinking, as a whisky bottle nearly empty was in the bed.

NEW BAPTIST UNIVERSITY

WILL IT BE ERECTED AT TORONTO OR AT WOODSTOCK?

That is the Question to be Settled by the Special Conference Which Opens at Guelph To-day—Six Hundred Delegates —Prospects of a Lively Time.

TORONTO, March 27.

Six hundred delegates from Ontario and Quebec will attend the Baptist Convention that opens to-day in Guelph. The Convention is called for the specific purpose of deciding where the new Baptist University is to be located. During the session previous to the one just finished the Baptists got a bill through the Local House granting a charter for the erection of a university with degree-conferring powers. The question as to its establishment came up at the annual conference last October, but as it would involve a great deal of discussion it was thought advisable to hold a special conference for this particular purpose alone.

It will be remembered that Hon. William McMaster bequeathed $850,000 to endow McMaster Hall and to establish a university. Having so large a sum at their disposal the Baptists are anxious to proceed at once to the establishment of their university. They are all agreed as to the desirability of establishing such an institution. But there will be a great fight as to its location. The choice lies between Woodstock and Toronto. In the former place the Baptists have a Literary College. In Toronto they have their handsome Theological College, McMaster Hall.

If the University should be located at Woodstock then the Baptists would have their Theological College in one city and their University in another. This would involve a great loss in buildings, in executive management, in inconvenience to students and many other disadvantages that are readily apparent. Were the University located in Toronto both the theological and arts departments would be together. One executive, one library, and possibly one building would answer for the both departments.

The arguments are all in a nutshell: Woodstock has had the college for upwards of thirty years; the memories of Drs. Fife, Torrance and others, and the associations of the alumni are sacred; the country is better than the city for student life; subscriptions were obtained from Woodstock people, and, perhaps, strongest of all, it was Mr. McMaster's intention to place it there. Toronto, on the other hand, holds that city life and its literary facilities and surroundings, more especially the opportunity of taking special courses in the Provincial, are an important factor; further, that the theological department is already there and must remain, and, further still, that Mr. McMaster never intended it should be anywhere else.

Another question that will be considered is that of federation with the Provincial University. There is little doubt, however, that independence will carry by a large majority, as it is considered by many who favor federation the time has not yet come for its discussion. The views of the Baptist body on the question of federation have undergone a surprising change during the past two years. At the annual meeting of the Baptist Union in 1884 the following resolution (among others) was carried after a spirited discussion "with the greatest enthusiasm," as the official report sets out:

That such a Literary College as we need should be situated on the University grounds, in Toronto and be confederated with all other denominational colleges which are now or may hereafter be established in Toronto, and with the Provincial University, provided such federation can be secured on such terms as shall adequately recognize the paramount importance of the Christian element in education and satisfactorily secure to us the control thereof as far as our own denomination is concerned.

The discussion at Guelph will probably continue all week. A lively time is anticipated; in fact it has been suggested that there may be serious trouble in store for the Baptists, with a possible division in the body. The Woodstock party are working like beavers in behalf of that place. The Toronto delegates, 66 in number, will vote as a unit for the Queen City. It will be a big fight, the result of which none of the interested parties seem to be able to forecast.

South Ontario Pacific Railway.

BRANTFORD, March 26.—A meeting of the stockholders of the South Ontario Pacific Railway was held to-day, at which the following directors were elected: T. H. McPherson, Alex. McKay, M.P., E. Martin, Q.C., of Hamilton; J. Sutherland, M.P., of Woodstock; R. Henry, Sheriff Scarfe, Thos. Elliott of Brantford. At the meeting of the board which followed T. H. McPherson was elected President, Robt. Henry, Vice-President, and Thos. Elliott, Secretary.

M. De Lesseps writes that 108,236 new obligations for the Panama Canal have been subscribed for, placing 50,000,000 francs in the hands of the company.

The late Emperor William's will shows that his total savings do not exceed $12,000,000.

The Daily Review.

TUESDAY, MARCH 27, 1888.

A NEW POLITICAL PARTY.

A THIRD—or perhaps the Hon. Peter Mitchell would say a fourth—political party has been organized. At a meeting held last fall the movement was commenced, a committee being appointed to draft a platform. A platform was drafted and published and a convention for organization held last week at Toronto. The platform is as follows:—

1. Righteousness and truth in public affairs as well as in private business, and no compromise with wrong.

2. Equal rights for all creeds, classes and nationalities, but exclusive privileges to none.

3. A national sentiment, a national literature, and in all matters of public policy—Our Country first.

4. The prompt and absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic, as the objective point of temperance legislation; in the meantime honest and vigorous enforcement of the Scott Act, and of all other laws for the repression of vice and intemperance.

5. Retrenchment and economy in public expenditure, with the view of reducing our enormous National debt.

6. Manhood suffrage, with an educational qualification: that is, a vote to every freeman of legal age who can read and write.

7. The extension of the franchise to women.

8. An Elective Senate.

9. Civil Service Reform.

This platform contains, no doubt, a sufficient number of planks, though several of them both the Conservatives and the Liberals profess to believe in and to carry out. The second reads somewhat like a reminder to the Liberal party of the foolish and dangerous position they took in regard to the Riel question. The sixth plank would be a backward step as far as Ontario is concerned, and in such matters the tendency is not to retrogade, but rather to advance.

On the fourth plank, of course, all prohibitionist would agree. But the promoters of the new party seemed to have felt that a party with only one idea would not make headway—and it is just there the weakness of the organization is shown, for in endeavoring to avoid the "one idea" difficulty they ran on another rock. A number of the delegates who went to Toronto to attend the convention left the hall because they would not subscribe to the entire platform, and a division in the ranks was made at the outset. A political party is not easily made to order, as the new party organizers have already found out, and they may learn further lessons in that direction. Men may believe in prohibition, but not in woman suffrage or and elective Senate, and others may object to the educational qualification for the franchise; while there may be some who will not be able to see what a political party has to do in making a national literature. The cause the new party was intended to promote will not, we think, be benefitted by a separate political organization such as was inaugurated at the Toronto convention. The division at the commencement, when such prohibitionists as Messrs. F. S. Spence, J. W. Bengough, the Rev. T. D. Chown and the Rev. Dr. Griffin withdrew, demonstrates the weakness of such a movement.

THE MINISTER OF CUSTOMS.

PERHAPS no Minister of the Dominion Cabinet has received more commendation from persons not connected with the Conservative party than has the Minister of Customs, and the services of none are more appreciated by the party. The Toronto Telegram, an independent paper, says:—

"No Dominion Minister makes fewer errors in the administration of his department than Mackenzie Bowell. He is probably the ablest chief that ever ruled the Customs Department.

"Merchants not in political sympathy with Mr. Bowell will freely admit his efficiency as an administrator. The engrossing cares of his department do not leave him free to spend his powers as a debater in profitless eloquence in Parliament.

"Talking Ministers are numerous in every Government, but working Ministers who are content with careers of quieter but greater usefulness are rare. Mr. Bowell is thoroughly acquainted with his duties, and breadth of intellect gained in newspaper life shows itself in his readiness to protect the mercantile community from the exactions of he aurocratic collectors and deputies."

Mr. Bowell is a careful administrator, and his administration of the large business connected with this department is appreciated by the public, while his economical management has been acknowledged by Sir Richard Cartwright, who is certainly not slow to find fault when he sees a chance to do so. The present Cabinet is a strong one, with a chief most popular, and it possesses the confidence of the public.

CORRESPONDENCE.

While correspondents will be allowed space to discuss questions of public interest, the Review does not hold itself responsible for the opinions expressed.

The Carpenters' Union.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Your Friday issue announces that there has been a branch of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America established in our town. Of this I am very glad, and I hope that every carpenter and joiner that can earn an average day's pay will see to it and become a member of the union.

There is enough insurances benefit provided by the constitution to make it worth any man's interest to belong to it, if there was no other inducement, and there is. Just here let me disabuse the public mind of any desire on the part of those composing this union to cause any undue disturbance of the building trade, so any carpenter and joiner that is of a timid or cowardly nature need not be afraid to join the union, for instead of making his position more trying it will give him that manliness that should actuate him in relation to those who, like himself, are seeking to make a living by the use of chisel and jack plain.

There are a few in this town who claim to be independent workman. I would like to give a few pictures of these men. This is how an independent carpenter and joiner really appears. (Look at him.)

Your employer has no more love for you than he has for the man who belongs to the union, only he hopes that you will help him to break up the union and break down the wages.

You have all the benefits that a union may give to a town and you are pleased to know when any calamity happens to a union or union man, by your holding away from them, you make it harder for them to better their own and your condition, so far as getting a fair wage for fair work. And again the chances are that the unpleasant impost is placed upon them of refusing to work with you, as you are not worthy of the recognition in the work of reforming and bettering your own or their condition.

Think this over, my man. Are you an independent workman, or only a wage slave?

If you would like to be independent, join hands with the rest of the union men and you will be nearer what you would like to be and have the proud satisfaction of knowing that it was through your help that all were bettered.

The world looks on and admires the bands of brave men who help themselves and others, while this lone man trying to pull his neighbor down only gets the world's scorn.

Yours, etc.,
WORKINGMAN.

Correspondence of the Review.

A TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.—A committee composed of the most influential members of the R. C. Church, waited upon the Rev. J. Quirk at his residence, Hastings, last week, and presented him with the following address:

To the Rev. J. Quirk:—

DEAR FATHER,—As the time has come when we are called upon to bid you farewell as our pastor, we cannot allow the opportunity to pass, without expressing in our own humble way, our appreciation of your twenty-six years services as our spiritual adviser and comforter.

We are not unmindful of your Christian courtesy, and kindly interest in our welfare during this time. Your tender sympathy and cheering advice in the hour of trial will long be remembered in many a home. We take pleasure in testifying how earnestly and zealously you have discharged the arduous duties imposed by your holy calling; for during these years you have, by your readiness at every call of duty, no matter at what self-sacrifice, and by the energy and willingness with which you always assisted us in every thing pertaining to our spiritual and temporal welfare, won our deepest love and gratitude. It is to your untiring exertions and generous assistance that we owe the possession of our commodious and handsome church, the estimated value of which is $20,000. That you may live many happy years is the earnest prayer of your sincere friends. Signed on behalf of the Norwood congregation:

WM. MCCARTHY,
MICHAEL MULLINS,
RICHARD WALSH,
DENNIS HURLEY,
JOHN FITZPATRICK.

The rev. gentleman replied in the following terms:—

My Dear Friends and Parishoners:—Accept my most sincere and warmest thanks for your kind and beautiful address. The many kindnesses therein expressed are a special help to me, and my earnest prayer forever in your behalf, is the best mark of gratitude I can offer you.

JOHN QUIRK.

FAREWELL.—A large gathering of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. P. Cope assembled in the Methodist Sabbath school on Wednesday evening for the purpose of bidding farewell to the above named lady and gentleman, on the eve of their departure for Toronto. The interior of the school was gracefully hung with rich lace and damask curtains, and in the centre and at each corner were stands loaded with rare house plants in bloom, which gave the whole a homelike and cosy appearance. Dr. Ford presided with his usual ability. After a musical and literary programme had been well rendered in all its parts, the chairman asked the attendance of the audience, whilst he read a beautifully worded address to Mr. and Mrs. Cope, accompanied by a gold watch to the latter and a handsomely bound volume of the history of the Methodist church to Mr. Cope. The address, after expressing regret at their departure from our midst, commended the recipients for their 20 years service in the Master's vinyard and warmly referred to their kindness of heart and christian sympathy in every effort to advance the interest of the Master's kingdom and closed with an earnest wish and that they might all eventually meet where parting would be no more. Mr. Cope in reply thanked them cordially for their many expressions of good will. He regretted leaving Norwood more than ever after tonight, but duty seemed to call him away. His heart was filled with gratitude. But as he looked over the audience and saw the familiar faces that he was so soon to leave behind, a feeling of sadness would creep over him. Mrs. Cope, in thanking them for their beautiful gift, explained that she had spent some of the happiest, also some of the saddest, days of her life in Norwood, consequently the people of Norwood and its associations would always dwell in her memory. Dr. Ford referred to the farwell gatherings in the past and bore cheerful testimony to the universal esteem in which the recipients were held. Mr. J. Davidson, speaking on behalf of those outside the Methodist Church, referred in eulogistic terms to Mrs. Cope's labors in the interest of temperance and moral rectitude; also of her untiring zeal and sympathy in the hour of sickness or bereavement. Mr. W. H. Stephenson regretted the loss of Mrs. Cope in the Sunday School. He thought that it would be very difficult to get any one to give the same amount of energy and thought to the care of the little ones. The Rev. Mr. Anderson dwelt upon the example of a consistent life. He believed no man was ever more universally respected by the community than Mr. Cope, and explained that the gentleman in question did not put off his Christian principles with his Sunday clothes, but took them into the workshop and made them his guide in daily transactions. He believed that the example of such a life was a standing reproach to mere professors and under some circumstances did more good than preaching. A most pleasant evening closed by the audience singing lustily "We Meet to Part no More."

RINK CLOSED.—The rink was closed here, on the 17th of March, but ever since Jack Frost has been making the best of ice, and the result is the curlers are having a rare time. Perhaps they would like to try Peterborough again ere the season closes.

REPAIRS.—The steamer Esturion, which is lying in the locks here, is being put in first class order for the season.

REVIVALS.—The Rev. Mr. McClure, late of Belfast, Ireland, is still holding special services in the Baptist Church here. Special revival services were also commenced in the Methodist Church of this place last week.

NEW DAM.—A new dam is to be built here, this season, at a cost of about $15,000. It will make things more lively, by giving a large number employment.

Don't use any more nauseous purgatives such as Pills, Salts, &c., when you can get in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, a medicine that moves the Bowels gently, cleansing all impurities from the system and rendering the blood pure and cool. Sold by all Druggists.

THE POST OFFICE.—On Wednesday last Mr. Patrick J. Scollard, our newly appointed post master, signed his obligation along with his securities before Thomas Tellford, our senior J.P. The post office will shortly be removed from Patrick Larmon's to Lahane's old stand, and having undergone so many changes during the last few years, it is hoped it has commenced a more fixed career.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Weather Probabilities.

South-west and west winds; fair, mild weather.

You Can Rely on It.

Some people are so sanguine in this world that they think they can plant a handful of seed in a snowdrift, and gather a car load of strawberries the day after the first thaw. The sanguine housekeeper can—on the other hand—reflect that at fair's the best expectations regarding Carpets, can be realized. Look at the good stock of Hemps, Kidderminsters, Tapestry and Brussels with borders. Floor Cloths, Mattings, Rugs and Squares and Crumb Cloths. All the latest designs in colorings.

The Jubilee.

The special jubilee services of the Salvation Army continued last evening, when an interesting meeting was held at the barracks, that building being crowded to the doors. The services continue this evening and all day to-morrow winding up at night with a grand banquet and hallelujah wedding at the Opera House. At the evening meeting a large number of soldiers and officers from all the places in this division are expected, and the evening trains are expected to bring in some of the leading officers of the Army in Canada.

Died at Ottawa.

Mrs. Sandford Fleming died at her residence, on Daly-st, at Ottawa, on Monday morning, at the age of 57 years. The deceased lady was the eldest daughter of the late ex-Sheriff Hall, who represented East Peterborough in the House of Commons, 1873-8, and sister of Messrs. Jas. A. Hall, Sheriff, E. H. D. Hall and Mrs. Alex Smith. Mrs. Fleming was born in Lanark, in 1830, and was married in 1850, to Mr. Sandford Fleming, the well known engineer, who survives her. She leaves four sons and two daughters. She was an active worker among the congregation of St. Andrew's Church and her help and influence will be much missed.

Baseball.

—A meeting of those interested in the formation of a baseball club in Peterborough, was called for Monday evening, at Dr. Brennan's office. The attendance was small and after those present had talked over matters in a general way, the meeting adjourned as nothing can be done until after the annual meeting of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, this evening, as the baseball club as at present constituted is a branch of that organization and a purely amateur body. There are quite a number of good ball players in Peterborough, the game is an interesting one for spectators when it is well played, and we see no reason why a club could not be formed here that would make a creditable showing with any in the district.

The Town Clock.

The sleet storm of Monday had the usual effect on the town clock. It stopped. This morning caretaker Muncaster put things in running order again and the time piece will probably run all right until the next storm, when the stoppage is sure to be repeated.

One Drunk.

Officer Stewart scooped in a drunk about 3 o'clock this morning. He was not noisy, but was perfectly helpless. He gave his name as T. Magee and pleaded guilty. The Magistrate remarked that it was not a crime to get drunk, except it was in a public place. A fine of $2 was paid.

St. Andrew's Church.

A social will be held in the manse of St. Andrew's Church on the evening of Thursday, the 29th March, at which a good musical programme, vocal and instrumental, will be given. No effort will be spared to make this a most delightful gathering. Tickets 25 cents. Refreshments included. 5d71

Mounted Police Recruits.

A recruiting officer of the Northwest Mounted Police will be at Cavanagh's Hotel, Peterborough, on the 9th, 10th and 11th of April, to engage men for the force. He will be at the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope, on April 3rd to 6th inclusive. Particulars are given in an advertisement in another column.

For Chief.

Mr. Berzell, of St. Catharines, is an applicant for the position of chief constable here. He has had five years experience on the force of the saintly city and rose from private to sergeant. He has recommendations from all the leading men of the city and vicinity. He is personally interviewing the members of the Council to-day.

Evangelistic.

On Monday evening an evangelistic service was held in the school room of the George-st. Methodist church, conducted by the Rev. S. J. Thompson. There were about one hundred and fifty persons present, and the meeting was a very interesting one. Similar meetings will be conducted each Monday, Wednesday, and after service on Sunday evenings, until further notice.

Squeezed.

Mr. Anthony Thomas, one of the fire department drivers, had a tight squeeze on Monday afternoon. He was at the station assisting to train the hose wagon team and was caught and jammed against the side of one of the stalls. The breath was knocked out of him and at first it was feared that he was injured internally, but fortunately the fears turned out groundless, as he was all right again in a few minutes. In future he will not stand so close to the horses.

Is She Correct?

A despatch from Rochester, N. Y., dated March 26th, says:—"A Rochester lady to-night positively identified the remains of the man who committed suicide at Power's hotel a week ago as Hy. Stewart, son of J. Stewart, of Hastings, Ont. The opinion has become almost general that he was drugged and robbed of all his valuables, and shot himself before he recovered from the effects of the drugs. Unless the remains are claimed by relatives they will be buried in Mount Hope cemetery."

The Baptist College.

A special convention of the ministers and laymen of the Baptist church, assembles at Guelph to-day. It is expected to be the largest gathering of the kind ever held in Ontario, upwards of six hundred delegates having been appointed. The object is to consider matters in connection with the site of the McMaster Baptist college, for the erection of which Toronto and Woodstock are claimants. The Rev. P. Clifton Parker and Messrs. S. Curtis, E. Duff, J. C. Turnbull and Wm. Graham are the representatives of the Murray-st. church at the convention.

The Last Opportunity.

The moment Mrs. Scott-Siddons comes before her audience she makes a favorable impression, no less by the ease and grace of her movements than by the beauty of her appearance. Her face is strikingly beautiful and capable of expressing the most varied emotions. Every pose is full of eloquence, and in each effort, no matter how widely different from the preceding one, she is even more successful. Nothing could exceed the interest with which she held her audience.—Cork Examiner, May 6th, 1887. Opera House, Peterborough, three weeks from to-night, Monday, 16th April.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

A Charity Case.

James Wilson writes complaining of an item that appeared in the REVIEW last week. He says he has paid his rent and sundry accounts, but asked the Charity Committee, if he left town now, to pay eight dollars rent which comes due on April 3rd and accounts to the amount of $5, and to give him tickets to the amount of $9, to which they did not consent. He expresses thankfulness for what the committee and others have done for him. The item referred to complained of persons coming here from other other municipalities and being a burden on the town, but said nothing as to Mr. Wilson's character.

A sale of work, and entertainment consisting of music, recitations and kindergarten exercises, will be given by St. Paul's Mission Band, in the school room, on Monday, 2nd April, commencing at 7 o'clock. Admission 15 cents. 4d73.

About the Firm's Name.

Attention is directed to the large advertisement of M. Sullivan & Co., which is now appearing in the Daily and Weekly REVIEW. The firm name is M. Sullivan & Co., not M. Sullivan, as it has already been printed. The firm are doing a slashing trade and have had a crowded store since opening out.

Missing.

Inquiries are being made regarding a married man named George Wright. He was last seen by the police on Sunday morning, but he has not been home since about 8.30 o'clock on Saturday night. It is thought by some of his friends that he has secured a job somewhere outside of the town and will turn up all right.

Calmed Down.

A messenger came to the police station on Monday evening and anxiously inquired for an officer, stating that a Simcoe-st. man was raising a great row at his residence. Officer Adams went down, but found the alleged belligerent as mild and as calm as a sucking dove and of course he left him there.

Will Probably Recover.

Port Hope Times:—"Dr. Salter, from his constant attendance on the little daughter of Mr. J. P. Lawrence, whose sickness with black diphtheria we have noticed, is himself fallen a victim to a mild attack from which we hope he will soon recover. Dr. Salter has displayed considerable skill in his treatment of Mr. Lawrence's daughter, whose recovery is now probable."

Scott Act.

County Police Magistrate Edmison held a court at Norwood on Monday, for the trial of two cases from that village. The defendants were Messrs. O. Brennan and Hugh Drain, jr. The charges were second offences. The hotel keepers pleaded guilty and the usual fine of $100 and costs each was imposed. On Thursday next P. M. Edmison will try a case from Warsaw, a first offence, at the Court House in Peterborough.

—Terry Smith has hung up his snow ploughs for the summer season.

—Overcoats were generally discarded today and the weather was certainly spring like.

—The Episcopal Bishop of Toronto visited Port Hope on Sunday and confirmed eighteen candidates.

—The clerks are already agitating to have the provisions of the early closing bill adopted in Peterborough.

—The ice on the lakes is commencing to honey comb in some places, while in others it is perfectly solid.

—The operations of the men engaged at boring the town well are watched with interest by a large crowd every day.

—Mr. J. A. Nicholls, who spoke here during the Scott Act campaign, is booming prohibition at Kingston and the east.

—With such weather as we have to-day, with a few hours of hot sunshine thrown in, the snow will soon be a thing of the past.

—An incendiary attempted to burn out the office of Mr. H. Corby, at Belleville, on Sunday night. The damage was trifling.

—Chairman McNeil of the Sewage Committee recently appointed by the Town Council is going ahead gathering information.

—The Lindsay curlers have been expected down for several days, but the present condition of the ice will hardly permit of playing.

—The funeral of the late Rev. Dr. Smithett, takes place this afternoon, at Omemee. A number of friends from Peterborough will take part.

Correspondence of the Review.

PRESENTATION.—Before leaving Smith's Falls to come to Keene to reside, Dr. J. C. Moffatt was the recipient of a present and an address. Learning with regret, says the Dominion Oddfellow, of the intended departure of Dr. J. C. Moffatt and wife from Smith's Falls the many members of the Rideau Lodge, I. O. O. F., determined to give their esteemed friend and brother as happy a "send off" as possible. Consequently a large number of the friends of Dr. and Mrs. Moffatt assembled in the Town Hall, and the evening was given up to social intercourse and amusement. Just before refreshments were served the guests of the evening were called to the platform, and Mrs. Moffatt was presented with a beautiful glass and silver biscuit holder, and the doctor with a gold-headed ebony cane, with his initials beautifully carved on the handle, and Mr. J. Orr read a flattering address, in which the many good qualities of the guests were referred to, and the esteem in which they were held, and in which the general good wishes for their future were expressed. Dr. Moffatt replied in behalf of Mrs. Moffat and himself in a few remarks, thanking his many friends for their marked kindness and generosity towards himself and family, and expressing his regret at having to leave so many warm and true friends.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Good gracious, Mona, whom do you mean?" asks he, aghast both at her look and tone.

"Why, Spice, of course," opening her eyes. "Didn't you know. Why, what else could I mean?"

"I don't know, I'm sure; but really the way you expressed yourself, and—Yes, of course, Spice will be company, the very best company for you."

"I think I shall have Allspice too," goes on, Mona. "But say nothing. If Lady Rodney knew it she would not allow it for a moment. But Jenkins" (the old butler) "has promised to manage it all for me, and to smuggle my dear dogs up to my room without any one being in the least the wiser."

"If you have Jenkins on your side you are pretty safe," says Geoffrey. "My mother is more afraid of Jenkins than you would be of a land-leaguer. Well, good-bye again. I must be off."

"What horse are you taking?" asks she, holding him back.

"Black Bess."

"Oh, Geoffrey, do you want to break my heart. Sure you know he is the most vicious animal in the whole stables. Take any horse but that."

"Well, if only to oblige you, I'll take Truant."

"What! the horrid brute that puts back his ears and shows the whites of his eyes? Geoffrey, once for all, I desire you to have nothing to do with him."

"Anything to please you," says Geoffry, who is laughing by this time. "May I trust my precious bones to Mazerin? He is quite fifteen; has only one eye, and has a shameless disregard for the whip."

"Ye—es; he will do," says Mona, after a second's careful thought, and even now reluctantly.

"I think I see myself behind Mazerin, at this time of day, says Mr. Rodney, heartlessly. "You don't catch me at it, if I know it. I'm not sure what horse I shall have, but I trust to Thomas to give me a good one. For the last time, good-bye again, you amiable young goose, and don't expect me till I come."

So saying, he embraces her warmly, and, running down-stairs, jumps into the dog-cart, and drives away behind the "vicious Black Bess."

Mona watches him from her window, as far as the curve in the avenue will permit, and, having received and returned his farewell wave of the hand, sits down, and taking out her handkerchief, indulges in a good cry.

It is the first time since their marriage that she and Geoffrey have been parted, and it seems to her a hard thing that such partings should be. A sense of desolation creeps over her,—a sense of loneliness she has never before known.

Then she remembers her promise to go down to the girls, and abstain from fretting, and, rising bravely, she bathes her eyes, and goes down the marble staircase through the curtained alcove towards the small drawing-room, where, one of the servants tells her, the family is assembled.

The door of the room she is approaching is wide open, and inside, as she draws nearer, it becomes apparent that some one is talking very loudly, and with much emphasis, and as though determined not to be silenced. Argument is plainly the order of the hour.

As Mona comes still nearer, the words of the speaker reach her, and sink into her brain. It is Lady Rodney who is holding forth, and what she says floats lightly to Mona's ears. She is still advancing, unmindful of anything but the fact that she cannot see Geoffrey again for more hours than she cares to count, when the following words become clear to her, and drive the color from her cheeks.

"And those dogs forever at her heels! —positively, she is half a savage. The whole thing is in keeping, and quite detestable. How can you expect me to welcome a girl who is without family and absolutely penniless? Why, I am convinced that misguided boy bought her even her trousseau!".

Mona had no time to hear more; pale, but collected, she walks deliberately into the room, and up to Lady Rodney.

"You are mistaken in one point," she says slowly. "I may be savage, penniless, without family,—but I bought my own trousseau. I do not say this to excuse myself, because I should not mind taking anything from Geoffrey; but I think it a pity you should not know the truth. I had some money of my own,—very little, I allow, but enough to furnish me with wedding garments."

Her coming is a thunderbolt, her speech lightning. Lady Rodney changes color, and is for once utterly disconcerted.

"I beg your pardon," she manages to say. "Of course had I known you were listening at the door, I should not have said what I did,"—this last with a desire to offend.

RYKERT ON RECIPROCITY.

RESUMPTION OF THE DEBATE ON SIR RICHARD'S MOTION.

The Member for Lincoln and Niagara Points Out What the N.P. Has Done for Canada—Letters of Denial From Alleged Commercial Unionists.

OTTAWA, March 26.—In the House to-day Mr. Rykert resumed the debate on Unrestricted Reciprocity. He did not see why the House should be called on to reverse the policy endorsed by the people in the general elections about a year ago. He referred to past utterances of hon. gentleman opposite in favor of the National Policy, and also read from the utterance of a committee which reported on a trade question in 1874, predicting the building up of manufactures as a result of the imposition of a protective fiscal policy. He quoted from speeches of Mr. Paterson (Brant), in which that gentleman had advanced arguments in favor of the adoption of the National Policy.

He went on to point out what the National Policy had done for Canada. Our manufactures had increased, a large amount of money had been expended and home markets had been opened up for farmers. The latter had especially benefited and the production of farms had very largely increased.

Mr. Rykert read telegrams and a letter from Mr. Spaight of Markham and one from Mr. Rosamond of Almonte, emphatically contradicting the statements made by Mr. Paterson in his speech on Friday night.

Mr. Paterson rose to a point of order and claimed that Mr. Rykert, in sending for these telegrams, had misquoted his speech. He asserted the position of Mr. Rykert in this matter was not that of an honorable man.

Mr. Rykert maintained that he had quite correctly quoted Mr. Paterson.

The incident created quite a flurry of excitement, when the speaker requested the hon. gentleman to desist from using language so likely to excite ill feeling, and in making explanations to confine themselves to a simple statement.

Mr. Rykert resumed his speech and read letters from Messrs. Gurney of Hamilton and J. Kerr Osborne, denying that they were in favor of Unrestricted Reciprocity, as had been stated by Mr. Paterson.

He alluded to the numerous changes of attitude by the Liberals on the trade question, and claimed they were insincere in their utterances and changed them from time to time in hopes of catching votes. He read from The London Advertiser, The Brantford Expositor and The Woodstock Sentinel-Review and other prominent Reform papers, taking exception to the stand taken by The Globe on Free Trade. His own view on the question was the same as that expressed in 1875, that this country could go on and prosper without Reciprocity, yet he was willing to agree to negotiations with a view of increased commercial facilities so long as we did not place ourselves as suppliants to the States.

He urged the adoption of a more Canadian-like tone by hon. gentleman opposite. They should not be continually decrying our country in order to manufacture arguments for their Commercial Union fad.

He proceeded to show that to-day Canada was more prosperous than ever she was. He quoted figures showing the growth and expansion of Ontario since 1874, and claimed that no state of America could make such a record. He quoted from a report of Mr. Blue of the Ontario Government staff showing that in the growing of wheat Ontario was ahead of the states of the Union. It was true the debt of the Dominion had been increased, but this had been done largely in the erection of public works, by which the revenue of Canada was increased.

After recess Mr. Rykert continued, entering into an exhaustive argument to prove that Unrestricted Reciprocity would necessarily involve direct taxation and would be a disadvantage to the country.

Mr. Taylor (Leeds) following, spoke in favor of the National Policy. Speaking upon the prices of barley he said if we had Unrestricted Reciprocity the farmers of Canada would not get one cent more for their barley than they do now under the N.P.

Mr. McMullen thought it would be an advantage if the Government granted a sum in the supplementary estimates for the purchase of scrap books and committed them to the flames —alluding to Mr. Rykert's frequent reading from them. He said that they had had a perfect inundation of quotations. He contended that Unrestricted Reciprocity would increase the value of land per acre as the result of increased sales and higher prices. He said that owing to the enormous production of wheat and the competition from India, the price of wheat had been low, and would become inevitably lower. In view of this barley would become our most important product, and if the duty on this grain were removed it would stimulate the exports to American markets.

He stated that lands in Ontario were lower now than in 1882, and being asked the question by Mr. Hesson if that decrease was throughout Ontario, he replied only in certain sections of that province.

He said: "If you don't give us Unrestricted Reciprocity the people will leave and become Americans." After speaking for over two hours, in which he made no new points that had not been fully discussed by previous speakers, the debate was adjourned.

Mr. Ferguson will be the next speaker.

The Manitoba Matter.

OTTAWA, March 26.—Messrs. Greenway and Martin returned from Montreal this evening. While there they had an interview with the members of the Montreal Board of Trade. Sir Geo. Stephen and Mr. VanHorne arrived here this morning and consulted Sir John and the Cabinet in regard to this matter. They had a conference with Premier Greenway this evening.

In the Red Chamber.

OTTAWA, March 26.—In the Senate to-day Hon. Mr. O'Donohue gave notice that he would ask if there was any foundation for the reports in the public press that Senator Smith had resigned his position on the Privy Council owing to his having not been consulted in the appointment to a judicial position in his own province.

The only discussion which took place was the question of granting better accommodation in the Senate Chamber to the general press. The matter was finally referred to a committee.

A Well-Armed Tramp.

OSHAWA, March 26.—Four tramps were brought before Police Magistrate Grierson this morning on the charge of fighting and creating a disturbance near the G.T.R. station here Sunday night. Two of the four had pitched on one individual and badly used him up, while the fourth was a lad who had no hand in the fight. The one who did the hard fighting carried a jackknife, a razor or two and a revolver and was given two months in jail, while his accomplices in the fight were fined $18 or twenty days.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

CRISP CAPITAL CHAT.

The Newfoundland Deputation Not Yet Appointed—Probabilities About Prorogation.

OTTAWA, March 26.—The members who are to be chosen from the Newfoundland Government to form a deputation to wait upon the Government here relative to the terms by which the colony will be admitted into Confederation have not as yet been selected. A difference of opinion exists as to whether the deputation will leave Newfoundland before or after their session there is concluded. No doubt exists that a satisfactory agreement can be concluded with the Government here for the admittance of Newfoundland into the Dominion.

A meeting of the Joint Committee on Parliamentary Library took place in the Speaker's chamber of the Senate this morning. The report of the Joint Committee of the Commons and the Senate was read and approved. The committee was appointed a sub-committee to consider and report upon the advisibility of recommending to the favorable consideration of Parliament a work which Mr. Bourinot has in preparation, viz., a compilation of constitutional documents concerning the several provinces of the Dominion.

A petition was presented by Mr. Wilson (Elgin) to-day, signed by a number of ministers and church dignitaries, asking the Government to pass a measure for the better observance of the Sabbath, especially in regard to the railway and steamboat traffic on that day.

A petition has been presented by McInnes against Mr. Brown's petition praying for an act to amend the act relative to cruelty to animals, making its provisions more stringent. The petitioners say that gun clubs and sportsmen take pains to avoid the practice of any cruelty in regard to birds used in trap shooting, and that if pigeons are not used they will rapidly increase and cause great loss and injury to farmers.

In reply to Mr. Laurier, Sir John Macdonald said this afternoon that he thought there wouldno t be much possibility of coming to a division on the Reciprocity question to-morrow night, and if it was not finished when the House adjourned for vacation on Wednesday, then he would ask that it be adjourned until after the House reassembled. From this it will be seen that the debate has taken up more time than was anticipated. It is now generally thought that as so little business has so far been transacted since the House opened the probability is that Parliament will not be ready to prorogue until the end of May, at the earliest.

Mr. Lynch's work on dairy practice has been so far published in English and French, and has had in these languages an immense circulation throughout every constituency in the Dominion. On Wednesday next Dr. Landerkin will make enquiry if it is the intention of the Government to publish the same in the German language.

Every session inquiries are made concerning the Canadian Pacific Railway, and on Wednesday Sir Richard Cartwright will inquire of the Ministry whether the Government have obtained from the company a statement of the lands sold by them to private individuals or corporations, and whether, if they have not obtained such statements, they intend to take any steps to secure them.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1888.

NORTHWEST GOVERNMENT.

Sir John Introduces a Bill to Change its Form—Features of the Measure.

OTTAWA, March 27.—Sir John to-day introduced a bill to change the form of government in the Northwest. Its chief features have already been foretold in The World. Sir John referred briefly to the principal points.

It provides for a Council of not more than 25 nor less than 21 members, who shall be elected by the people. The schedule of representation of the various districts is still under consideration. Provision is also made for three nominative members during the first term of three years, these members to be legal experts who shall advise the Council and may take part in discussion, but shall not vote. After the first term it is hoped there may be more legal talent in the Territory who may be elegible for election by the people, when it will not be necessary to appoint any members at all. The term of each Council is extended to three years, and household and income suffrage are introduced.

The Lieutenant-Governor will no longer sit in Council but shall be entirely separate. No provision is made for an Executive Council, it being considered that would be a retrogressive step rather than one in advance.

Mr. Mills asked how it was proposed to carry on the executive government and whether the Lieutenant-Governor was to have the veto power. Would the Lieutenant-Governor have no Executive Council to advise him? The present Government have executive and administrative powers, but how were those powers to be exercised under the new law? The powers of legislation and the executive should go hand-in-hand.

Sir John stated that this was hardly the time to discuss the measure. They had a holy horror of an appointed Government in the Northwest. The Legislature would have the same executive powers as the old Council. However, the points taken could be discussed at the proper stage.

Reported Favorably.

OTTAWA, March 27.—The Select Committee on Standing Orders met this morning and reported favorably the following petitions:

Kincardine and Teeswater Railway Company—For an act to reduce the capital stock, and for other purposes.

Central Railway Company of New Brunswick—For an act to confirm a mortgage given by them to the Central Trust Company of New York.

J. R. Booth and others—For an act of incorporation under the name of the Ottawa and Parry Sound Railway Company.

R. G. Hervey and others—For an act of incorporation under the name of the New York, St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway.

Stanstead, Shefford and Chambly Railway Company—For an act amending the several acts relating to the said company.

V. Hudon and others—For an act of incorporation empowering them to construct a railway to connect the several parts of the Island of Montreal with the City of Montreal.

St. Johns and Iberville Hydraulic Company—For an act to confer certain additional powers on the said company.

Sir Alex. Galt and others—For an act of incorporation under the name of the Alberta Railway and Coal Company.

The petition of the Central Ontario Railway Company for certain amendments to their act of incorporation was not allowed to pass, as the promoters had not published the required notice.

The Grand Trunk's Bill.

OTTAWA, March 27.—At a meeting of the Railway Committee this morning, Mr. J. J. Curran, M.P., introduced a bill respecting the Grand Trunk Railway. President Joseph Hickson, Assistant General Manager William Wainwright and Solicitor William Bell were present. The bill is an important one. It will enable the Grand Trunk to consolidate and re-arrange its liabilities. The company proposes to issue perpetual consolidated debenture stock bearing interest not exceeding 4 per cent., and asks for power to acquire by exchange or purchase all securities and charges held by the bondholders. Its total first preferential stock is to become by the proposed increase £9,420,000.

The bill asks for permission to add a clause giving the company the power to acquire steamers for carrying passengers and freight, but the committee suggested that this had better be left to the House. The other clauses were reported favorably.

The Manitoba Question.

OTTAWA, March 27.—There is nothing new in the Manitoba question. Negotiations have not advanced during the past forty-eight hours so far as regards the Canadian Pacific Railway, but Premier Greenway has been in consultation with the Grand Trunk officials with the object of securing a connection for the Red River Valley road with the East via the Northern Pacific and Grand Trunk.

Mr. Greenway does not fall in with the offer of the Canadian Pacific Railway with regard to the purchase of the Emerson branch, as he thinks the company ask altogether too much.

Some important developments are expected in a few days and Mr. Greenway expects to start for home about the end of this week.

A Pugilist in Trouble.

HAMILTON, March 27.—George Forster, the engineer of the snow-plough, who with Conductor Glassford, was held responsible by the jury at the inquest for the recent railway collision on the Northern and Northwestern Railway near Gravenhurst, arrived home last night. His parents live at 72 Lower Catheart-street. He was released from jail on $1000 bail to await the decision of the grand jury at the next assizes there.

Paul Patillo, the scientific boxer and teacher of boxing of Toronto, came to this city yesterday "on business." He took to drinking rather early in the day and in the evening made his way to the house of one Minnie Gallagher. His conduct there was so bad that the woman laid a complaint against him before the Police Magistrate, charging him with being drunk and with threatening. He was found guilty of both charges and fined $7 or thirty days in jail. He was also bound over to keep the peace in $100 and two sureties of $50 each.

The rate of taxation in this city for the ensuing fiscal year will probably be either 15½ mills or 2 cents.

SERIOUS LABOR TROUBLE.

BUILDING TRADES DIFFICULTIES AT HAMILTON.

The Contractors and Master Builders Notify the Unions That all Known Union Men Will be Suspended To-Day —Statements From Both Sides.

HAMILTON, March 27.—The Times this evening says: The trouble between the Laborers' and Bricklayers' and Masons Unions and the Master Builders' Association has assumed a serious aspect, and now threatens to involve carpenters, painters, lathers and plasterers, stone-cutters, and, in fact, every branch of the building trade. The Builders, Contractors and Dealers' Exchange, which was organized here a short time ago, and which embraces in its membership almost all the contractors and master builders of the city, as well as dealers in building supplies, met last night and discussed the situation. They argued that, as the workmen were banded together in a sort of inter-trade union, it was time that they must deal with the whole of the building trades collectively. They therefore passed this, a copy of which will be forwarded to all the unions:

GENTLEMEN,—Whereas certain labor organizations or unions in connection with the building trades have in the past and are now using the power they have acquired by combining together for unjust and arbitrary purposes, having no reference whatever to wages, and whereas serious loss must result to the employer and the building trade generally by a continuance of this abuse of power, the Builders, Contractors and Dealers' Exchange, at a regular meeting held on Monday evening, March 26, resolves that on and after Wednesday, March 28, all known union men, of every branch in the building trade, in the employ of members of this exchange, shall be and shall remain suspended from work until the satisfactory removal of the present difficulty between the Laborers' and the Bricklayers' Unions and the Master Builders' Association, when work will be resumed.

The journeymen bricklayers and masons claim that they have asked for nothing that is not right. They wish to have union men employed in all the branches of the trade, from the laborer up. The trouble, they state, originated in Mr. Hancock discharging all the union laborers from his quarry and taking on non-union men. The union laborers employed on buildings in the city refused to work upon material that was handled at the quarry by non-union men, and as the laborers were not working the bricklayers could not work. Then, the men say, the bosses decided to discharge all union laborers, and on Saturday night last they were paid off. This made it impossible for the bricklayers and masons to work, however they would not work with non-union laborers, and so the matter stands now.

The masters say that they have been unfairly dealt with by the men. They claim that the trouble came about in this way: Mr. Hancock was the only quarry owner in this vicinity who was employing union laborers. He was paying them higher wages than the other quarry owners were paying to non-union men. His union men refused to work ten hours a day as the non-union men were doing in the other quarries, and he discharged them all and took on non-union men. Then the union laborers and bricklayers refused to work with material from Hancock's quarry. The Master Builders' Association took up the subject and it became a matter between that association and the Laborers', Bricklayers' and Masons' Union. The masters say that the union men never kicked against working with stone that was quarried by non-union men in other quarries, but as soon as Mr. Hancock took on non-union men they refused to work. Mr. Hancock's, they say, is the only quarry within the city limits, but stone was used every day by the union masons that came from non-union quarries just outside the city, and never a complaint made. They claim that the Laborers' and Masons' and Bricklayers' Union want to manage the bosses' business. On the other hand, the men claim that they want only what is right, and that their present action is necessary to protect themselves.

The question of wages can scarcely be said to be at issue at all. The masters say they would be willing to pay the wages asked by the bricklayers and masons, 33½ cents an hour, but they object to have the union masons and bricklayers interfere in laborers' hours and work.

TORONTO TOPICS.

It has now been definitely decided that the Young Men's Liberal Club and the Young Men's Liberal Conservative Association will have a joint debate on the evening of April 24, the subject to be "Canadian Independence." At last night's meeting of the Young Conservatives the debate on the Electoral Franchise Amendment Act was resumed by P. W. Ellis for the bill and R. A. Johnston and others in opposition. President Worrell was in the chair, but the attendance was slim.

Six special colonist trains left the Brock-street Depot of the Northern Railway last night bound for Manitoba and further West. There were 300 passengers—men, women and children—and they carried with them 63 carloads of baggage, stock and farming implements. The first train left Brock-street at 10 o'clock, and was followed in rapid succession by the others. Among the passengers were a number of women who, with their children, were going to join their husbands already settled on the prairie.

On Monday night a man giving his name as Peter Ludgate from Cobourg complained to the police that he had been set upon and robbed of $70 and a watch while promenading Simcoe-street that night. He was told to come around again yesterday, but failing to turn up the detectives are inclined to think his story is bogus.

Spots of Sport.

LONDON, March 27.—The Nottingham Spring Handicap was won by Lech's Veracity, Whipps' Tommy Tittlemouse 2d, Hammond's Ripon 3d.

A cablegram was received yesterday stating that the steamship City of Chicago, with the Toronto Lacrosse Club's team on board, arrived at Liverpool yesterday morning. The boys were all in good health and spirits.

A meeting of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club was held on Monday evening, when the nomination of officers for the present year took place. For President Mr. T. Butler and M. Arahill were nominated; 1st Vice-president, M. F. Nolan, elected unanimously; 2nd Vice-president, W. Snow and M. J. Polan were nominated; Treasurer, T. Mace, elected unanimously; Secretary, R. Lennan, elected unanimously; Assistant Secretary, R. J. Cook and W. J. Hinphy were nominated. A meeting will be held next week at which the balloting will take place for the different offices vacant.

The Q Strike.

CHICAGO, March 27.—There was but little change apparent in the "Q" strike to-day beyond the arrival of a number of switchmen from the east to take the places of the strikers. They were from Reading, Pa., and were a portion of sixty more that arrived last night and were distributed between Chicago and Aurora. It is said that the probability of a brakemen's strike is increasing.

The Imperial Parliament.

LONDON, March 27.—The debate on Mr. Balfour's bill to expedite business in the Irish land courts by appointing assessors to assist the judges was resumed in the Commons to-night. The House adjourned until April 5.

The Quebec Resolutions Rejected.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 27.—The Legislative Council has rejected the resolutions of the Quebec conference by a vote of 13 to 4.

GOLDWIN SMITH ABROAD.

He Makes Some Rather Broad Assertions to a Washington Correspondent.

TORONTO, March 28.

The New York Herald's correspondent interviewed Mr. Goldwin Smith at Washington on Monday, and this is what the Sage of the Grange is reported to have said:

"The Tory Government of Canada having a large and safe majority in the present Parliament, the resolution of the Liberal leader Sir Richard Cartwright, in favor of extended trade relations with the United States is sure to be defeated. But this will not prevent the motion and the debate on it from being a great and memorable step in the progress of Canada toward Commercial Union, or, at least, toward closer relations with the United States.

"The growing strength of the movement has emboldened and indeed constrained the Liberal party, after some hesitation, to make it a part of their platform, and the result has been this debate, the most important and significant that has taken place in Canada for many years. The movement was in its origin thoroughly popular and spontaneous, the politicians had nothing to do with it and were inclined at first to hold aloof from it. The fisheries question, the Manitoba railway question and some matters connected with the state of Canadian trade turned the attention of the people to their commercial relations with the United States, and this agitation has been the result.

"Of the force of the movement there can be no doubt whatever. Out of about sixty farmers' institutes in Ontario in existence or in course of formation, over forty have declared in favor of the movement, only two or three dissenting or hanging back, and these manifestly under political pressure. All the great natural industries of the country are on the same side, the only commercial opposition being that of a certain number of our protected manufacturers.

"The present Parliament was elected before Commercial Union had been heard of and upon totally different issues, the principal of which was that relating to the rebellion in the Northwest and the execution of Riel. The Liberal party had for some time been badly led; it took up a disastrous position on the Riel question and underwent a total defeat, so that the Tories have, as has been already said, a large and safe majority in the present Parliament, of which they will certainly avail themselves in voting down Commercial Union. We shall not get anything like a popular verdict on the question till the issue has been submitted to the people at a general election, which, in the regular course of things, will not take place for three years, though under certain circumstances an earlier dissolution may occur.

"In the Provincial Legislatures liberalism and Commercial Union have the upper hand. Commercial Unionists are in the best of spirits, and feel sure of ultimate success unless their opponents can alter or abolish the map of North America."

THE COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

Yesterday's Proceedings—Toronto Delegates Acquit Themselves Well.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The International Council of Women resumed its session to-day Mrs. Harriette E. R. Shattuck presiding. A large and interested audience was present. The first paper of the day was read by Isabel C. Barrows on "The Work of Unitarian Women." Mrs. Laura McNeir, President of the ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic read a paper on "The Limits of Woman's Influence." Isabelle Bogelot, director of the prison reform work of St. Lazare, Paris, followed with a paper upon the work of the society over which she presided. Ednah D. Cheney of Boston, President of the New England Hospital for Women and Children, read a paper on the subject of "Hospitals Managed by and for Women." Interesting papers were read by Harriet N. Morris of Brooklyn on "Missionary Work," and Clara Barton on the "Red Cross Society."

Canada First in New York.

Last week, a correspondent writes us, there was a genuine case of "Canada First" in New York. At a meeting held under the auspices of the Woman's Suffrage Association a Toronto lady, Mrs. Bessie Starr Keefer, came off with flying colors as the orator of the evening. At the close of the proceedings she was surrounded by a great many of the audience who were delighted with her platform abilities. The Times says: "She made the audience noisy with laughter and applause." Mrs. Keefer and Mrs. McDonell were on their way as Toronto delegates to the International Council of Women at Washington.

Toronto Delegates at the Council.

Washington despatch New York Herald: Mrs. Keefer of Toronto, the first woman to get the degree of Bachelor of Arts in the Dominion, made a witty speech, in which she said Canadians did not care on which side of the line the codfish was eaten, and introduced Mrs. McDonnell, another representative of the W.C.T.U. This latter lady, a comfortable looking personage, blushed to the temples upon being brought forward, and through Miss Anthony announced that she was not a talker and must be excused.

Fire in the Oshawa Cabinet Factory.

OSHAWA, March 27.—Shortly after 12 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the cane shop of the Oshawa Cabinet factory. The flames were soon got under control by the fire brigade. The damage to the building is considerable. The origin of the fire is not known.

Fall of a Bridge Span.

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., March 27.—This afternoon at 2 o'clock one part of the last span of the new iron bridge now being constructed by the Hochelaga Bridge Company across the Yamaska River gave way. Several men were at work at the time. The only ones badly hurt are Napoleon Goudreau of Montreal, Vannasse Barbeau and Ambroise Rousseau of St. Hyacinthe. The damage is about $300.

A BLOW AT BUCKET SHOPS

THE LEGITIMATE BUSINESS COMMUNITY DEAD AGAINST THEM.

108 Replies Received by the Board of Trade to Its Circular and Every One Condemnatory—For Dark and Tricky Ways the "Broker Beats the World."

TORONTO, March 28.

The replies to the Board of Trade circular re bucket shops make very interesting reading for the business community, and show to what an extent this system of speculation exists in Canada. Letters have been received from business men, bankers, and private individuals in Toronto, Sarnia, St. Mary's, Barrie, Galt, Chatham, Ottawa, Uxbridge, Meaford, Woodstock, Orangeville, London, Cobourg, Kingston, Goderich, St. Catharines, Tillsonburg, Hamilton, Harriston, Brighton, Owen Sound, Perth, Picton, Winnipeg, Whitby, Pembroke, Aylmer, Collingwood, Clinton, Carleton Place, Port Hope, Parkhill, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Guelph, Napanee, Prescott, Woodstock, Jarvis, Newmarket, Alliston, Dunnville, Paris, St. Thomas, Aylmer West, Walkerton, Thorold, Listowel, Newcastle, Pickering, Peterboro, Brockville, Stratford, Simcoe, Mitchell, Port Arthur, Smith's Falls, New Hamburg, Georgetown, Welland, Cayuga, Belleville, Berlin, Arnprior, Seaforth, Trenton, Paisley and Fergus. In all 108 replies have been received, all breathing the direst anathemas against bucket shop gambling.

Letter No. 1 stigmatizes the system as a public nuisance, one which has been most disastrous, financially and morally, not only to numbers of men engaged in business, but also to young men employed as clerks or otherwise. A writer from Paris says there are no bucket shops in that town, but all the same he has no sympathy with them.

No. 4 states that he could mention several wealthy business men in his town who have been ruined by this kind of speculation. He dubs the business a vicious one. "They are," he says, "little better than gambling hells, and decided hurtful to the community."

No. 11 has a slightly different opinion. "I do not think," he says, "that the bucket shop does so much injury financially to the country as other larger institutions of a similar description, for the reason that the bucket shops generally encourage speculation in produce, railway stocks and oil in the United States, while the others encourage speculation in the very life-blood of the country, viz., bank stocks." No. 16 answers with one word "Bad" in capital letters. No. 19 instances a baker in his town who sold out his business to have money to speculate with and who is now a barkeeper in a country hotel. Another man, a mechanic, after losing all has now taken to drink.

No. 63 says there was a branch of Cox & Co.'s in operation in his town, but the bank warning its customers that it would have nothing to do with any of them who dealt there stopped the evil to a great extent.

Some of the letters are evidently written by those who have been hard hit. No. 66 writes that from the experience obtained a couple of years ago in dealing with Mr. E. Strachan Cox he feels convinced that "for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," the bucket shop broker beats the world.

No. 103 encloses a cutting from The London Daily Telegraph of Feb. 17, 1888, giving an account of the case of Reggio v. Forzett, Stevens & Co., before Mr. Baron Huddleston and Mr. Justice Manisty, in the Queen's Bench Division, in which the plaintiff sues the bucket-shop keeper for moneys deposited with them as "cover" on margins. Both judges said the business was nothing but gambling. Plaintiff had already secured judgment in term, and this was an application for a new trial by the defence, who secured judgment giving them what they sought.

The above quotations are sufficient to demonstrate that the legitimate business community is dead against the bucketshop. Yesterday Secretary Wills mailed a copy of the letters to Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, Government Leader of the Senate at Ottawa, who is framing legislation with a view to the suppression of this system of speculation.

Compliments for Goschen.

LONDON, March 27.—The Standard says a more complicated budget than Mr. Goschen's has never been laid before the House of Commons. On the whole he performed his task well. There is no doubt that, taken altogether, the budget shows great ingenuity and painstaking care, although, doubtless, it will cause many heartburnings. The Times says Mr. Goschen's speech will take a place in the history of the country beside the famous statements of Peel and Gladstone. He exhibited a perfect mastery of the details of a very difficult question.

The Post, Telegraph and Chronicle unanimously approve the budget.

The News says: "It is interesting, ingenious, elaborate and partially sound. The most questionable part of Goschen's scheme is what he terms his local budget. Imposts on locomotion are bad in principle, but on the whole the budget displays great ability."

Jailed for a Debt.

MONTREAL, March 27.—A young man named Jos. Labrauche of Valleyfield was arrested one year ago on a capias at the instance of J. L. Cassidy & Co. He was lodged in jail, where he is now and where he is likely to remain unless he pays up. He was arrested on the ground that he was insolvent and was making preferential payments. The capias was maintained by the Superior Court and this decision was confirmed in appeal to-day.

Ex-President James Faulkner of the defunct First National Bank of Dansville, N.Y., is in jail at Rochester.

The Daily Review.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1888.

MISREPRESENTATION.

One of the practices of the advocates of commercial union or unrestricted reciprocity is to misrepresent the statements or arguments of those who oppose their scheme. For instance, this sentence is put in the mouth of the opponents of the scheme by one of Sir Richard Cartwright's supporters:—

"Unrestricted reciprocity would soon create an international commerce so extensive that Canadians would cling to it even at the cost of annexation!"

Now, that is nothing more or less than gross misrepresentation. Such a statement made by a Conservative or other opponent of unrestricted reciprocity cannot be found. The disloyalty of the scheme is not because it would have any such result—because it would not—but because in itself it is disloyal to Canada and to Great Britain. The proposal made by Sir Richard is to tax highly imports from Great Britain and to admit United States goods free—to treat our own countrymen, the British people, as foreigners whom it would be wrong to deal with, and foreigners, the people of the United States, as those to whom we should give exclusive advantages in trade relations.

Why is it wrong to trade with Great Britain? Why should Canadians who preferred to deal with their countrymen instead of with foreigners, be punished for having that preference? What has Great Britain done to us that she should be excluded from our trade to the advantage of a foreign country? What has the United States done for Canada that the Dominion should rearrange her tariff in the interest of the manufacturers of that country? And why should Canadians sacrifice their independence, their industries, their material and political interests at the bidding of a New York millionaire?

The Mail says that "the journals which regularly support the Premier are of course favorable to the scheme" of admitting Newfoundland to the Confederation. But they are not alone in that, for several leading papers that regularly oppose the Government have also approved of the idea.

Emperor William's will shows that his total savings do not exceed $12,500,000.—News Item.

Most persons would be well pleased if their savings even amounted to a sum represented by the same figures minus the last three.

YOUNG'S POINT.

Correspondence of the Review.

Baseball.—The Y. P. B. B. C. held a meeting on Friday of last week. A committee was appointed to obtain estimates for improving the field. The membership fee was placed at $1; boys under 15, 25 cents.

Removed.—Mr. John Belleglem, the well known shingle maker, has removed to Nassau to take charge of the shingle mill for Mr. J. M. Irwin. He is succeeded here by Mr. James Johnston. The baseball club loses in John its First Vice-President, and a good first baseman, while the village in general loses a good citizen.

The New Steam Boat.—Mr. P.P. Young's new boat is progressing rapidly towards completion and her appearance does not belie what I wrote you before as to her very graceful lines. The material of which she is made is the most durable, while the workmanship is all that could be desired. When completed she will be by all odds the handsomest boat on these waters. Two experienced shipwrights from Kingston have arrived, in addition to those already here. She will be launched in time for the opening of navigation.

Lumbering.—Mr. C. Young has completed the contract for supplying timber for the coffer-dam, stop-logs, piers, etc., being constructed here. The mill is very busy, and I am led to believe that Mr. Young contemplates enlarging it at an early date.

Government Works.—Mr. A. Ross with a large number of men is engaged in putting in new piers, re-painting the locks, etc. at this place. Owing to the high water, Mr. Ross has found it necessary to pump the canal dry by steam. When the stop logs are adjusted it will be an easy matter to empty the lock at any time for repairs or in the fall to prevent formation of ice on the stone-work. Owing to the different works going on our village presents quite a lively appearance.

OTONABEE.

Correspondence of the Review.

From Brandon.—The following is an extract from a letter written from Brandon, Manitoba, by Mr. Thos. Lockhart, formerly of this township, on February 5th, to Mr. James H. Fife:—"With regard to the field of grain that you and I drove out to see, it yielded a little over fourteen thousand bushels, or an average of rather more than thirty-five bushels per acre over the whole of four hundred acres. There has been as much as fifty bushels per acre in several cases here and there through the country and on small fields of extra good, and oats have have run anywhere from 50 to 100, and in some cases even over a hundred bushels per acre. You will see by the newspapers that the whole country is just about blocked with wheat for the want of cars to take it out. Brandon is not entirely blocked yet, but they expect it will be in a few days, as the elevators are just about full and it is coming in faster than they can get cars to ship it. On Wednesday last they got twelve grain cars at 6 o'clock at night and they were all loaded before 12 the same night, and in this country they put 700 bushels in each car, making 8,400. But on the same day they had taken in over 10,000 bushels. This will give you some idea of our grain market, and this has occurred almost every fine day for the last three weeks, which means from 160 to 200 teams loaded with wheat alone coming daily into our city. We have the largest grain market in the Dominion of Canada, and if steps are not taken to give us another through railway almost immediately it will be a great drawback to the settlement of the country. If you meet any of our friends you can say that we are quite well. We have had very cold weather this year for about four weeks, namely the last week of December and the first three weeks of January; but since that it has been beautiful, in fact we had in the last days of January what I have never seen before in that month—a slight thaw with hot sun. This has always occurred every other year from about the 8th to the 15th of February, but it has been quite mild now for over a week. But we have more snow this year year than any other since 1882. It is now about 18 inches, and in 1882 it was fully 24 inches at this date and two big snow storms in March on top of that in that year. Every other year it has not exceeded 8 to 10 inches. You will see that we have had a change of local Governments and we are honored with one of the Ministers. It is not quite seven years since our city was known, so we are not doing so bad. Kind regards to all enquirers."

BIRDSALL.

Correspondence of the Review.

A Railway Need.—The need of a longer siding is greatly felt at this station, on the Grand Junction Railway, as there are several car loads of timber, hop poles, lumber, and posts.

A Saving.—The farmers in this section have had their land plaster brought to this station this spring, saving the trouble of drawing it from Hastings or Peterborough.

A Success.—The Farmers' Institute held at Keene was a grand success. Great credit is due to the two young gentlemen, Mr. McCamus and Mr. Moore, for the interest they took in arranging the musical programme.

Personal.—Mrs. Birdsall, of "Stoneleigh Farm," has just returned from a long visit at the Capital.

Scarce.—Straw is very scarce in this part of Asphodel, as a great deal has been sold to go to the paper mills at Campbellford.

Good Advice.—Now that the time for spring work is drawing nigh, let every farmer have all his machinery ready for operation, so as not to lose an hour when the ground is ready to get on.

New Dwelling.—Mr. James Wood, ex-Councillor for Otonabee, intends erecting a dwelling house on his farm this spring.

Returned.—Mr. Thos. Blezard, M. P. P., has returned from his arduous duties at Toronto. We strongly recommend Mr. Blezard to Mr. Mowat for the vacant portfolio, Minister of Agriculture. Mr. Blezard is a practical, hard working farmer and understands the wants of the farmer.

Spring.—The sleighing on front street is getting very poor, some already preferring to take the wheels.

New Store.—Mr. I. W. Ackerman, hardware merchant, of Norwood, has opened up a branch store in this place.

Death.—On Monday, the 19th inst., infant son of Mr. A. Wallar.

Oyster Supper.—On Friday night last, an oyster supper was given by the employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway at this point. After partaking of a very elegant and rich repast (which the ladies only are capable of providing) a lengthy and well selected programme was put into the hands of the chairman, Mr. McClure. We understand that a very pleasant evening was spent.

Personals.—Miss Nolon, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Cunnyworth, has returned to her home in Carleton Place.... Mrs. Hackie, with her sister, Miss May Spearman, left last Thursday for their new home at Battle Creek, Michigan, where Mr. Hackie has been for some few weeks past. ....The Rev. T. Williams, junior preacher, has returned from a visit to his home at Hoard's Station. He also took advantage of his proximity to Belleville by going to hear the evangelists (Crossley and Hunter) who are now laboring in that place. Bro. Williams reports good progress at these meetings....Mr. Wm. Mallet, sewing machine agent, was in town to-day....Miss Moscoe, of Belleville, is visiting her friend, Miss Ella Wallar of this place.

Postprandial.

"My good man," said the worthy lady who had given the tramp a large plateful of victuals, "pardon me for making the suggestion, but would you not enjoy your repast fully as well, if not better, if you should follow the custom that has always prevailed in this household and invoke a blessing on your food before you begin?"

"Madam," replied the hungry tourist, with his mouth full, "me and Chauncey Depew always does our best talkin' after we've ett."—Chicago Tribune.

BURNT IN THEIR BEDS.

Terrible Death of Three Children at Warminster—The Postoffice Consumed.

Orillia, March 27.—Postmaster Jos. Ball of Warminster with all the adult members of his household, except a young hired man, attended an oyster social in the Methodist Church last night. The hired man retired, leaving a lamp burning on the kitchen table, and five children sleeping in various rooms down stairs. About 11.30 the eldest boy awakened the hired man by calling that the house was on fire. He ran down and saw that the fire was on and about the table, indicating that the lamp had burst, and returned to his room for some clothing. A few moments later he attempted to descend the stairs, but the flames drove him back and he was forced to escape by jumping from an upper window. The infant, a boy of 1 year, was sleeping on its parents' bed with an older sister of six years, who attempted to carry her brother out of the house, but, either from lack of strength or fear, replaced him on the bed. She had a narrow escape, her hands being severely burned and her hair singed. The eldest boy, aged 11, gave the alarm at the church, and those assembled there were quickly on the spot, but though repeated attempts were made to rescue the three children in the burning building they were unsuccessful.

But few things were saved. Mr. Ball got out $300 in cash, but a considerable amount of money was consumed, some of which belonged to Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, late of Ivy, who were staying in the house, and lost nearly all their effects. Mr. Ball's stock was valued at $3000; insured for $1000. Mr. McDonald had just purchased a half interest in the business, and will share his loss. Mr. Dutton, assistant in the store and postoffice, lost his clothing. The entire contents of the postoffice were consumed—a loss difficult to estimate—and which may cause inconvenience to many. The total loss is placed at $5000 or over.

Incendiary Fires at Brantford.

Brantford, March 27.—Last night between 12 and 1 o'clock a fire was discovered in a large frame building on West-street occupied as Montgomery's rag shop. The alarm was sounded, but the fire was put out before the firemen arrived. About 2 a. m. the alarm again sounded. This time a large building on Duke-street, known as the Farm and Dairy Manufactory, was on fire. By the time the firemen arrived the fire had made such headway that it was impossible to save it. The building contained a quantity of machinery, threshing machines, churns, pumps and agricultural implements, all of which are completely destroyed. The property belonged to I. Cockshutt and was valued at $10,000; insured in the Western and Connecticut for $6000. The fires are supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

The Reason.

"Get married," say my friends, and I,
Who've just turned thirty-four,
Join their lament and, sigh for sigh,
My loneliness deplore.

It is not that I fear to speak,
By bashfulness distressed—
In fact, I'm noted for my cheek,
And know the bold are blest.

My reason, then, if I must give,
Is simple, short and clear—
I know that I can't wed and live
On half enough a year.

THE WASHING DAY.

Lines suggested in the office of Mr. W. Roxburgh, while I was on a visit to the village of Norwood: Tune, Auld lang Syne.

A house without a woman's voice
Seems like a prison drear,
Although betimes her pleasant voice
In angry tones we hear.
How husband snaps and snarls, at wife,
When business on them prey;
There would be no end to their rage,
Had they a washing day.

"Then keep your temper down, guid man,
"Let pity bear the sway,
"With patience bear your wife's sour looks
"Upon her washing day."

The breakfast o'er, the dishes washed,
She then starts her arduous toil,
The children dress—the water too
Must be put on to boil;
With tub and washboard—sleeves tucked up,
High flies the soapy spray,
She rubs and wrings your much soiled clothes,
Upon her washing day.

"Don't grumble if the house is not
"Just in its usual way,
"Or if her face don't wear a smile
"Upon her washing day."

When you go home to dinner, sir,
Let looks and words be kind,
Don't stir her ruffled temper up
Like flames fanned with the wind;
Don't take a stranger home to dine,
Or you will penance pay,
Your wife would rather see a ghost
Then a guest on washing day.

"Walk in with pleasant smile, guid man,
"And look both blythe and gay,
"Or you may taste a dish of tongue
"For dinner on washing day."

Though your potatoes feel like stones,
Your beefsteak shocking rare;
Employ your jaws, but guard you tongue,
And neither scold nor swear,
If gravy smells too strong of fire,
Your tea tastes quite astray,
Sup on, guid man, take what you git
Upon her washing day.

"Then keep you temper down, guid man,
"For once a-week, I say,
"And do not burst her smothered wrath
"Upon her washing day."

Though you walk in on floor unscrubbed,
On chair unwashed sit down,
Behold that line of clean washed clothes,
And do not show a frown;
She strives to keep you neat and clean,
Let faults rise as they may;
Show kindness rather then a scrowl
Upon her washing day.

"Then warmly grasp here hand, guid man,
"Your marriage pledges pay,
"Your love and sympathy extend
"To her on washing day."

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Weather Probabilities.

Partly cloudy or cloudy weather with local showers, with rain or sleet; stationary or a little lower temperature.

Fallacies of the Gentlemen.

That the house never requires cleaning; or the table rubbing; or the carpets beating; or the furniture renewing, or the sofas fresh covers; or, in fact, that anything has a right to wear out, or be spoilt or broken; and, in short, that everything ought to last for ever. These fallacies, thanks to fair, are fast disappearing in view of the fact that at the golden lion, for so little money, carpets, cretonnes, floor cloths and home linens, can be expeditiously replaced.

The Bricklayers.

A meeting for the formation of a bricklayer's union was held at the K. of L. Hall, Water-st, on Tuesday evening. Mr. J. J Hartley occupied the chair and there was a fair attendance. Matters relating to the formation of the proposed union were fully discussed and it was deemed best to amalgamate both the bricklayers and stonemasons in the one union. An organizer from Hamilton will be brought here at an early date to perfect the organization.

Calico Ball

In aid of the Protestant Home, on Wednesday, 4th April.

The tickets are now ready and may be be obtained from the following gentlemen, viz:—Messrs. Elliott & Tierney, Sailsbury Bros., A. McNeil, R. W. Muncaster, A. Mercer. Also from Miss Jenkins or the Hon. Secretary. Gentlemen's tickets $1.50 each, ladies $1.00 each, tickets admitting gentlemen and two ladies $3.00. No invitations will be issued, and as only a limited number of tickets have been printed the public are advised to secure them early. Contributions for the supper may be sent to Winch's new hotel, Charlotte-st on Tuesday, the 3rd April, from 12 m. to 6 p. m., or on Wednesday, the 4th April from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. F. J. Lewis, Hon. Sec. 5d72

Music and Readings.

Those who were unable to hear Mrs. Scott-Siddons on her former appearance in Peterborough will have an opportunity of doing so on April 16th at lower prices. The Toronto Empire of Saturday says:—"The triumph of her last appearance is still green in the recollection of those who heard her. Mrs. Siddons is too well known to Torontonians to need any lengthened notice. The programme will receive a pleasing addition in the name of Mr. Henry Waller (Mrs. Siddons' adopted son), who a few years since, as the boy pianist. 'Zeraphael,' won golden opinions in musical circles in both the old and new worlds. Since that time he has been pursuing his studies in Europe, and comes with the endorsement of Rubenstein, whose pupil he has been, and the other great masters." The plan of the hall is at Hartley's music store.

The most Delightful Handkerchief Odor is "Lotus of the Nile."

Hot Cross Buns, Best in the town. Delivered anywhere at 6 o'clock, Good Friday morning. Leave your orders with J. C. Craig, pastry cook. 2d74

The Freshet.

The rush is increasing at the boot and shoe establishment of the late Stenson Bros., since they adopted the strictly cash system. J. T. Stenson. 2d74-1wit

The Carpenters.

The newly formed carpenter's union will hold a meeting for further organization, at the K of L. Hall, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Employing carpenters are requested to be present.

Well Worth Seeing.

Fancy meats of all kinds, sausages, fowls etc., in addition to the finest display of beef, pork, mutton and lamb ever seen in Peterborough, will be shown by Harry Winch, on Saturday. 3d74

No Debate.

The debate on manhood suffrage, by the Otonabee Canoe Club, did not take place last night, owing to the absence of some who were to take part. It will take place on Tuesday evening next.

Personal.

Mr. E. D. Griswold, business manager of Benj. Maginley's dramatic company, was in town yesterday arranging for their appearance here in the Irish comedy, "Inshavogue."

The Popular Soaps

are French Castile, Baby's Own, White Glycerine, Balsamic, Carbolic, Tar, White Oatmeal, Musk, Old Brown Windsor and London Bouquet Toilet Soaps. Also a large assortment of Common Soaps, at W. J. Morrow's, Opera House Block.

The Salvationists.

The Salvation Army had a rousing procession and meeting last night. A number of soldiers and officers from neighboring places were present and assisted in the services. More arrived to-day and still others will reach town on the evening trains.

Police Petitions.

There are half a dozen petitions in circulation asking the Council to appoint officer Adams to the vacant chief constableship and to appoint a couple of others as members of the force. They are all being largely signed and will be presented at the next meeting of the Town Council.

An Iron Bridge.

It has been decided to erect an iron highway bridge with stone piers, across the river at Hastings. Mr. Law, of the Peterborough Iron Bridge Works, was instructed to submit plans and estimates which will be considered at the June session of the Council.

Sale at Lakefield.

The sale of thoroughbred and high grade stock at Mr. R. C. Strickland's, Lakefield, on Tuesday, conducted by Mr. C. Stapleton, was very successful. There were a large number of persons present. There was some very fine stock sold. The cattle sold at high prices and the horses at fair rates.

St. Andrew's Church.

A social will be held in the manse of St. Andrew's Church on the evening of Thursday, the 29th March, at which a good musical programme, vocal and instrumental, will be given. No effort will be spared to make this a most delightful gathering. Tickets 25 cents. Refreshments included. 5d71

LEAP Year Social on Thursday evening next. Pleasant occasion and one likely to be enjoyable.

YOU should attend the social if possible. Refreshments and music. The object is good and merits patronage.

SEE that you have the place fixed. Residence of Mrs. W. Bradburn, London-st. 1d74

The Masonic Concert.

The Masonic fraternity of town have issued invitations for a concert to be given in the Masonic Hall, on Water-st., on the evening of Tuesday next, 3rd April. It is expected that the occasion will be one of considerable interest, and that an excellent programme will be made up, details of which are in the hands of an energetic committee. Among the ladies and gentlemen who will contribute are Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Dunsford, Miss Cottingham, Miss Russell, Miss Vair, Mr. Baguley, Mr. Jacques, Mr. Davis, Mr. Mulligan and Mr. Parker.

Brevities.

—There were no cases for trial at the Police Court this morning.

—Two tramps slept at the police station last evening.

—Still the applications for the position of chief constable continue to pour in.

—The snow continues to disappear gradually and Inspector Pope rejoices thereat.

—The water in the creek does not appear to rise worth speaking of.

—The snowploughs were driven over the sidewalks yesterday to clean off the slush.

—The creek is rising rapidly to-day, but there is not much fear of an overflow.

—That the Salvation Army band is improving is the popular verdict.

—The market to-day was only fairly attended, owing to the bad roads.

—The Port Hope Dramatic Club will present the drama "True Irish Love" here on April 5th.

—Some of the butchers are already showing Easter beef and it is of the finest quality, too.

—The evangelistic services at the school room of the George-st. Methodist Church will be continued this evening.

—The fourth meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institue will take place at Centreville to-morrow.

—Boring operations at the town well were discontinued this morning, owing to the rain.

—The last scene in the dog killing case was played this morning. The fine and costs were paid.

—The street and bridge men are doing good work in clearing the pools off the sidewalks.

If you wish to please your family, flavor your Puddings, Pies, Jellies, &c., with the Royal" Extracts.

AMATEUR ATHLETICS.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE LOCAL ASSOCIATION.

Satisfactory Reports from the Directors and Treasurer—Each Club Elects Officers—the New Board of Directors—Miscellaneous Business.

The annual meeting of the members of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, was held at the rooms over Hartley's music store, on Tuesday evening. There were about forty members present, a successful augury it is hoped for the coming year.

The President, Dr. Burnham, occupied the chair and the Hon. Secretary, Mr. F. E. Bell, occupied his place.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and confirmed.

THE DIRECTOR'S REPORT.

The Hon. Secretary read the annual report of the Directors, as follows:—

In recording the events of thepast year, the close of the third of the existence of the Association, there are reasons for satisfaction in the prosecution of most of the sports. It could hardly be expected that everything could be fully successful, requiring as it does, constant exertion to fairly give each sport its share of attention. With three years' experience and the promise of increased activity, it is expected this season will close with credit to the Association and all concerned.

Cricket has undoubtedly taken the leading interest. The club has been very active, and their record for the season's matches being very good, they having played against some of the best clubs in the country.

In bicycling the number of wheelmen is yet comparatively small. There is no reason why they should not have a field day of their own and invite some fliers and its interest once aroused would develop greatly the club. Belleville having secured the meet this year an opportunity is afforded for all to participate.

Lawn tennis did not incite the players with as much rivalry as in the previous season, when the fortnightly meets were an interesting feature.

The baseball season opened with a good nine, who put in some good practice and played several games during the season. The local matches were well patronized.

The season of football was short, three games being the record. Some of the best players having left town the club found it more difficult to get their team into good practice.

Tobogganing is under a disadvantage, the slides not being as convenient as the grounds, and consequently, this sport has not been well patronized by the members generally.

One new feature was the introduction of night sports by the aid of electric light. Very favorable arrangements were made with the Electric Light Company, who erected four lamps on the grounds.

It is sufficiently annoying for remark the trouble caused by boys climbing over the fence, who wantonly destroy the property and make use of the grounds on Sundays. This calls for attention on the part of the village authorities, who should make an example of some of the offenders.

The Treasurer's report speaks for itself, and although only a small balance is carried forward, the liabilities caused by expenditure of a permanent character have been greatly reduced. The thanks of the Association are due to the ladies and gentlemen who took part in the plays which made quite an addition to the funds, besides the successful entertainment by Mrs. Scott-Siddons in November last.

There is plenty of good material in the club and the directors hope to see this fourth season, the most successful which can be achieved by every person interested doing their share.

Signed on behalf of the directors,

F. E. Bell, Secretary. Geo. Burnham, M. D. President

Mr. J. Morris, Captain of the football club, thought the report was rather severe on that branch of the Association. The club had many adverse circumstances to contend with and had done much better than any person had anticipated. They had considerable new blood in last year's team and had found great difficulty in getting sufficient players over to choose sides. He thought the team did well and deserved credit from thr fact that in 1886 they had been defeated by 60 points, while in 1887 they were only 10 behind.

The report was amended in accordance with Mr. Morris' views and was then adopted.

FINANCIAL MATTERS.

Mr. A St. A. Smith, Hon. Treasurer, read and submitted his report showing the receipts to have been $690.35 and the disbursements $688.35, leaving a balance on hand of $2 with some outstanding liabilities.

The report was received and referred to Messrs. E. A. Peck and A. V. R. Young, as auditors.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Hon. President—Dr. Halliday.

The election of lady patronesses and patrons was, on motion, referred to the directors.

The different clubs then met and elected thefollowing officers:—

Cricket Club.—President, Judge Weller, Vice-Presidents, Messrs. Dr. Burnham and W. H. Wrighton, Secretary, Mr. John Stirling. Committee.—Messrs. W. A. Stratton, R. B. Rogers, Sam Ray, W. J. Minore and J. H. Burnham.

Baseball Club.—President, Dr. Brennan, Secretary, Mr. G. C. Clark.—Committee—Messrs. Dr. Brennan, W. Sailsbury and G. C. Clark.

Foot Ball Club.—President, Mr. R. B. Rogers, Secretary, Mr. G. Schofield. Committee—Messrs. Jas. Morris, A. St. A. Smith and Dr. Brennan.

Lawn Tennis Club.—President, Dr. Burnham, Secretary, Mr. A. St. A. Smith. Committee.—Messrs. F. E. Bell, E. A. Peck and J. H. Long.

Bicycle Club.—President, W. R. Greatrix, Secretary, Mr. Geo. Matthews. Committee—Messrs. V. Halliday, H. Haultain and G. Schofield.

Snowshoe Club.—President, Mr. Jas. Morris, Secretary, Mr. A. V. R. Young. Committee—Messrs. R. B. Rogers, G. Schofield and G. C. Clark.

THE DIRECTORS.

The following gentlemen were elected members of the Board of Directors by the different clubs:—

Cricket.—Messrs. Judge Weller and W. J. Minore.

Baseball.—Messrs. Dr. Brennan and G. C. Clark.

Football.—Mr. R. B. Rogers.

Bicycle.—Messrs. F. E. Bell and W. R. Greatrix.

Snowshoe.—Mr. G. A. Schofield.

Lawn Tennis.—Dr. Burnham.

The foregoing form the executive and will elect the officers, patronesses, patrons, etc.

NEW MEMBERS.

On motion the following new members were elected:—

Messrs. Rev. Parker, F. H. Dobbin, W. R. Greatrix, T. E. Bradburn and L. W. Allingham.

RAISING FUNDS.

Dr. Burnham thought the outlook was cheering. True, the Association was in debt, but the money had been spent in permanent improvements, and if the debt was wiped off he felt confident that in future they could pay their way. Some of the members had spoken of another play and if it was carried to a successful issue it would be a material help.

Mr. A St. A. Smith said that the amateurs had another play in view.

Judge Weller asked if the ordinary revenue would pay ordinary expenses?

Dr. Burnham replied that it had been found sufficient in the past.

Judge Weller offered to give $20 towards wiping out the debt, provided the other members supplemented it.

The Judge's suggestion was received with applause and Messrs. Schofield, Morris and Minore were appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions. They commenced work at once and quite a handsome sum was subscribed by those present.

THANKS.

Moved by Mr. R. B. Rogers and seconded by Mr. W. Sailsbury,—That the thanks of the Association be tendered to the ladies and gentlemen who took part in the private theatricals, the orchestra who furnished the music and Mr. R. M. Roy for his services as director and stage manager.—Carried.

WANT TO COME IN.

Dr. Brennan said he had been authorized to enquire on behalf of the lacrosse club, on what terms the Association would permit the club to join and practise on the grounds?

Dr. Burnham pointed out that the constitution permitted the entrance of any amateur club and it was for the members to consider the request, what effect the playing would have on the grounds, etc.

Dr. Brennan said that the lacrosse players were willing to join as ordinary members or they would rent the grounds for practise on certain nights and match days, if a satisfactory arrangement could be made. He thought lacrosse would pay better than any other game and it could be played with advantage to both the club and the Association.

Dr. Burnham said that the Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. lacrosse club had applied to him for permission to use the grounds in the morning.

Mr. R. B. Rogers thought that both lacrosse and baseball could not be played and he favored the former as it would bring in the most money.

Dr. Brennan could not speak for the base ball club this year, on account of the players who had left townduring the winter, but at the same time he thought there was plenty of room for cricket, lacrosse and baseball.

On motion the matter was left to the board of directors.

THOSE WHO RETIRE.

Moved by Mr. Stirling, seconded by Mr. Hammond,—That the thanks of the Association be tendered to the retiring directors Messrs. W. Sailsbury, G. W. Hatton, J. Morris and A. St. A. Smith for their services during the past year.—Carried.

Each of the gentlemen returned thanks briefly.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The matter of securing a cricket coach and caretaker and new grounds were talked over and referred to the directors.

The meeting then adiourned.

MURDER WILL OUT.

Discovery of the Thieves who Stole the Cigars from Minore's Biscuit Works.

It is an old saying that murder will out and that it is a true one no person can deny. Some months ago it will be remembered that thieves effected an entrance into the Biscuit and Confectionery Works of Mr. W. J. Minore, on Simcoe-st., and carried off a large quantity of cigars. In a couple of weeks afterwards the premises were entered for the second time, and again the shelves were stripped of cigars, the stock taken on this occasion being composed almost entirely of ten cent goods.

Three or four boxes of the first lot taken were found in a shed on Aylmer-st., but no trace of the others was ever found. The finding of the cigars where they were led many to believe that the thieves were local men, but the sequel proves that the job was executed by foreigners.

Now for the sequel. It will be remembered that an attempt was made to burglarize the safe at the office of Mr. T. G. Hazlitt, that the would be burglars escaped by stealing a horse and cutter from Mr. J. J. Howden, which were afterwards recovered at Port Hope. Next came the arrest of three men in Toronto on a charge of being the men implicated in the attempted safe-blowing here. As there was no evidence against them they were discharged. Shortly afterwards the same trio were nabbed at North Toronto, for stealing a hand car at Whitby, tried, convicted and sent to Kingston for five years. Two of them gave their names as Spencer and Greenfield.

Now comes the Minore affair. On the way to Kingston Spencer confessed to the deputy sheriff from Whitby, who had him in charge, that he and his gang had done the job at Minore's.

On the first occasion the cigars were carried down to the C. P. R. depot and placed in an empty car on a west bound freight, the number of the car having first been noted. The thieves went up to Toronto, picked out their car, engaged a carter and unloaded the goods through a "fence," received for them something over $100.

The presence of the few boxes found in the Aylmer-st. shed is accounted for by the fact that the booty was hidden there until they found out how the land lay around the depot.

The scheme worked so well the first time, that they were tempted to repeat it. They did so and successfully, too, as Spencer expressed it, "me and my pals cleaned him out a second time." The cigars were disposed of in the same way as on the previous occasion and their operations were only cut short by the arrest of the gang as related above.

Spencer point blank refused to give the name of the person who purchased the cigars, on the ground that if he gave his name away, he would never deal with them again and they might want to use him when they are liberated from limbo.

From other hints dropped by the men, there is not the slightest doubt that they were the individuals who attempted to "work" Hazlitt's office and stole Howden's horse.

These facts should dispel all rumors current in town ever since the burglaries, that they were committed by local men, and they will remove curtain suspicions that have been held by the police and others.

While correspondents will be allowed space to discuss questions of public interest, the Review does not hold itself responsible for the opinions expressed.

The Chiefship.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I have read a letter in this morning's Times re Chief of Police, criticising the sayings of some of our worthy Councillors, and especially Mr. Moore, which I think was uncalled for. If Mr. Moore wishes to give his views on this important matter, I would like to know who would deny him or any other citizen the right to do so?

As a ratepayer of the town I would like to see a first class man appointed to the position of chief, and in this class our acting chief does not stand. I question if he could qualify as a second class, and I think I can give good and sufficient reasons for assuming such to be the case.

First, our acting-chief has not the slightest knowledge of manual exercises, which is very important in the qualification of a chief.

Second, he is altogether too slow. It takes about half a day to wake him up and when aroused his ideas of working up important cases are, I must say, decidedly crude, and, thirdly, he is totally unfit for the position.

If we are to have a chief by all means let us have a man who understands his business thoroughly, and then the ratepayers will not have reason to complain.

Yours truly,
No. One Ward,

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1888.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"I was not listening at the door," says Mona, with dignity, yet with extreme difficulty; some hand seems clutching at her heart-strings, and he who should have been near to succor her is far away. "I never," haughtily, "listened at a door in all my life. I should not understand how to do it." Her Irish blood is up, and there is a distinct emphasis upon the pronoun. "You have wronged me twice!"

Her voice falters. Instinctively she looks round for help. She feels deserted,—alone. No one speaks. Sir Nicholas and Violet, who are in the room, are as yet almost too shocked to have command of words; and presently the silence becomes unbearable.

Two tears gather, and roll slowly down Mona's white cheeks. And then somehow her thoughts wander back to the old farm-house at the side of the hill, with the spreading trees behind it, and to the sanded floor and the cool dairy, and the warmth of the love that abounded there, and the uncle, who, if rough, was at least ready to believe her latest action—whatever it might be—only one degree more perfect than the one that went before it.

She turns away in a desolate fashion, and moves toward the door; but Sir Nicholas having recovered from his stupefaction by this time, follows her, and placing his arm round her, bends over her tenderly, and presses her face against his shoulder.

"My dearest child, do not take things so dreadfully to heart," he says entreatingly and soothingly; "it is all a mistake; and my mother will, I know, be the first to acknowlege herself in error."

"I regret——" begins Lady Rodney, stonily, but Mona, by a gesture, stays her.

"No, no," she says, drawing herself up and speaking with a touch of pride that sits very sweetly on her; "I beg you will say nothing. Mere words could not cure the wound you have inflicted."

She lays her hand upon her heart, as though she would say, "The wound lies here," and once more turns to the door.

Violet, rising, flings from her the work she has been amusing herself with, and, with a gesture of impatience very foreign to her usual reserve, goes up to Mona, and, slipping her arm round her, takes her quietly out of the room.

Up the stairs she takes her, and into her own room, without saying a word. Then she carefully turns the key in the door, and, placing Mona in a large and cozy arm-chair, stands opposite to her, and thus begins:

"Now listen, Mona," she says in her low voice, that even now, when she is somewhat excited, shows no trace of heat or haste, "for I shall speak to you plainly. You must make up your mind to Lady Rodney. It is the common belief that mere birth will refine most people; but those who cling to that theory will surely find themselves mistaken. Something more is required; I mean the nobility of soul that Nature gives to the peasant as well as the peer. This Lady Rodney lacks; and at heart, in sentiment, she is—at times—coarse. May I say what I like to you?"

"You may," says Mona, bracing herself for the ordeal.

"Well, then, I would ask you to harden your heart, because she will say many unpleasant things to you, and will be uncivil to you, simply because she has taken it into her head that you have done her an injury in that you have married Geoffrey. But do you take no notice of her rudeness; ignore her, think always of the time that is coming when your own home will be ready for you, and where you can live with Geoffrey forever, without fear of a harsh word or an unkind glance. There must be comfort in this thought."

She glances anxiously at Mona, who is gazing into the fire with a slight frown upon her brow, that looks sadly out of place on that smooth white surface. At Violet's last words it flies away, not to return.

"Comfort? I think of nothing else," she says, dreamily.

"On no account quarrel with Lady Rodney. Bear for the next few weeks (they will quickly pass) anything she may say, rather than create a breach between mother and son. You hear me, Mona?"

"Yes, I hear you. But must you say this? Have I ever sought a quarrel with—Geoffrey's mother?"

"No, no, indeed. You have behaved admirably where most women would have ignominiously failed. Let that thought console you. To have a perfect temper, such as yours, should be in itself a source of satisfaction. And now baths your eyes, and make yourself look even prettier than ever. A difficult matter, isn't it?" with a friendly smile.

Mona smiles too in return, though still heavy at heart.

"Have you any rose-watee?" goes on Miss Mansergh, in her matter-of-fact manner. "No? A good sign that tears and you are enemies. Well, I have, and so I shall send it to you in a moment. You will use it?"

ARGUMENTS PRO AND CON.

ANOTHER BATCH OF SPEECHES ON RECIPROCITY.

Dr. Ferguson of Welland Shows up the State and Municipal Debts of the Union, and Mr. Bechard Wins Applause From Both Sides of the House.

OTTAWA, March 27.—After preliminaries in the House to-day, Dr. Ferguson (Welland) rose to speak on the trade question. He said that a meeting had been held in his constituency a short time ago to advocate Commercial Union, and although that meeting was largely of Reformers the motion was carried by only a small majority. He was in favor of a reciprocity treaty, but one that should be fair to both parties. He was emphatically opposed to Unrestricted Reciprocity, as it would injure both our manufacturers and our farmers. He reviewed the charges of trade depression that had been made, and alluded to the strange sight, so often seen, that whenever anything was said against the condition of things in the States hon. gentlemen opposite would jump up to make excuses and try to explain the charge away. It had been said that the farmers of Canada were not prosperous, but Mr. Blue's official report did not bear that out.

He disputed the assertion that farmers would have a better market opened to them under Unrestricted Reciprocity. In 1886 the United States exported various farm products valued at $484,000,000. The great majority of this stuff is raised within as easy access to the Eastern market as it could be in Ontario. He compared our exports to foreign countries and to the United States, showing the former to be vastly larger, and yet we are now asked by Commercial Unionists to give up this foreign market and do all our trade with the States.

He went thoroughly into official figures of the state debts of the various states of the Union, and also the rates of taxation in each state, showing that their taxation is heavier than that of Canada, and that though they are decreasing their national debt they are doing it at the expense of their state and municipal debts.

He believed the object of bringing on this discussion at this time was to strengthen the hands of the opponents of this country at Washington by intimating to them that if they delayed ratifying the treaty at present they would get better terms. He did not like to think this was the object of gentlemen opposite, but he was forced to take that view.

The result of Commercial Union or Unrestricted Reciprocity would ultimately be political union. The States would take us in and consume us. They want to get us into a Commercial Union and then their great combines would pour down on us and extinguish us.

It would cost us to try this experiment about 300,000 artisans, each of whom is worth to this country $1000. We would also lose the millions of capital invested, and we would be looked on with scorn by the outside world.

Mr. Bechard thought the position of the Government very inconsistent in one respect. They had introduced the National Policy, claiming that it would protect manufacturers and farmers, and yet they now said they were in favor of Reciprocity in natural products, which would certainly be an infringement of the National Policy.

As to the statement that had been made of an increasing prosperity of the farming classes, he held that it was not correct, for farmers in times past had invested their money in lands, but recently, finding business dull, they saved their cash and deposited it in banks, thus giving an appearance of increased prosperity. He referred to the hay trade and other businesses of the farmers of Quebec, and said the farmers looked to the Eastern States for their market.

It had been asserted that Unrestricted Reciprocity would result in direct taxation, and if he thought that would be the result he would vote against it, but he did not believe it. Unrestricted Reciprocity would lead us to be more economical. The idea of Canada becoming a slaughter market for American goods he ridiculed, as there would no longer be an American and a Canadian market. Both would be one market.

In conclusion he spoke in enthusiastic terms and amid applause from both sides of the House of his love and admiration for England, but much as he loved England he loved Canada more, and he would do what he thought best for Canada. He did not believe that Unrestricted Reciprocity would result in Annexation.

After recess Mr. Hudspeth indulged in a brief retrospect of Canadian history to show that the country was not in the desperate straits depicted by the Opposition. He accused the Liberals of introducing this measure merely to make political capital. It was absurd to blame the National Policy for any depreciation that had occurred. The whole world had suffered, and Canada was in no worse a position than other nations. He went at considerable length into trade statistics and figures relating to the Dominion's growth.

Mr. Paterson (Brant) rose to make an explanation in regard to the statements made yesterday by Mr. Rykert as to his (Paterson's) remarks about the views of Messrs. Goldie, Massey, Rosamond and other manufacturers. He claimed that Mr. Rykert in his communicating by telegraph with those gentlemen had not properly quoted him, and he called on Mr. Rykert to produce and read the telegrams. A direct misstatement had been made, he said, and he wished his denial to go on record. The gentlemen had evidently been misled by the telegrams sent to them.

Mr. Rykert said that it was impossible for him to produce the telegrams he had sent, but he had stated the purport of them, which was that it had been represented they were in favor of Unrestricted Reciprocity and asking them if that were true.

Dr. Landerkin continued the debate. He announced, amid applause from the Opposition, that Mr. Meigs, the Liberal candidate in Missisquoi, had to-day been returned by a large majority. This, he said, was a clear indication of the sentiments of the people on the question now under discussion, as Unrestricted Reciprocity had been made one of the chief planks of the Liberal platform in the campaign. People now see that the N.P. is a failure and was powerless to build up our industries, and they also now see that if anything were done it must be by a reduction of the tariff. He alluded to the exodus, declaring that the Government's policy with respect to the Northwest had retarded settlement.

Dr. Hickey said Annexation would result from the adoption of this resolution. The people of Canada would not give up their nationality and seek help from a foreign power. It had been shown by a number of speakers that the markets of Canada were fully as good as those of the States. We could live just as well without the United States as they could without us. England had always been true to Canada and Canada should remain true to the Mother Country.

Mr. McIntyre rose to speak at midnight, the chamber being almost deserted, and pronounced himself in favor of Sir Richard Cartwright's resolution, not in the interest of party but in the interest of the country.

Mr. Freeman moved adjournment of the debate until Tuesday next. The motion was carried.

Business accumulating on the order paper since the commencement of the debate will be proceeded with to-morrow afternoon.

A Smash-Up on the C.P.R.

A FEW DOLLARS MIGHT BE SAVED.

It is a positive fact that money is thrown away every week. Why is this? You would imagine any one keen to save money in their purchases and yet they pay prices for goods, that could be bought much cheaper, if bought in the right place.

SHEPPARD

Has Some Very Cheap Goods, his importations for Spring now to hand are fully fifty per cent. cheaper than the same goods has been sold in Peterborough for before. Now if you want LACES go to SHEPPARD'S, or if you want CORSETS in all sizes, starting at 22½ up.

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Both Houses to Adjourn To-Day for the Easter Holidays.

OTTAWA, March 27.—A deputation of the Montreal Junior Conservative Association is here, and will be introduced by Sir Donald A. Smith to Sir John. Their object is to secure assumption by the Government of the St. Lawrence channel debt.

A bill was introduced to-day to incorporate the Montreal Island Railway.

In the House to-day a motion was passed instructing the Speaker to issue a warrant at once for a new election in Russell County.

Mr. Mills inquired when the Government intended introducing the bills referred to in the speech from the throne. The session was advancing and these measures should be placed before members. Hon. Mr. Thompson claimed that never before in the history of Parliament had Government measures been so far advanced as this session. Out of nine bills promised four were already before the House and they had not time to take them up.

The Senate will adjourn at 6 o'clock to-morrow and reassemble on the following Wednesday at 8 o'clock. The Commons will adjourn to-morrow at six and reassemble on Tuesday at 8.

Mr. Prefontaine will enquire to-morrow if it is the intention of the Government to increase the number of judges of the Superior Court for the District of Montreal.

The boy in attendance at the House of Commons bath-rooms to-day relieved Mr. Weldon, M.P. for Albert, of $30 in cash and two checks of $100 each. He was arrested, and a search being made of his father's home the money and checks were discovered.

To-day Messrs. Scott and Christie of Toronto, representing the Western lime burners, waited on Hon. John Costigan and asked for an amendment to the Weights and Measures Act. They were accompanied by Messrs. Small, Cockburn, Denison, Masson, McCullogh, and Henderson. A petition was presented signed by fifteen of the largest burners in Ontario, who ask that a uniform practice of selling lime be observed throughout the Dominion, and that it take the form of weight instead of measurement. The minister promised to carefully consider the representations, and it is thought the amendment will be introduced this session.

Mr. Taylor, M.P., to-day introduced to the Minister of Customs the manager of the Gananoque corset and crinoline wire factory. He asked that brass trimmings for corsets when they are not manufactured in Canada be placed on the free list, also the paper for covering the steel ribs of corsets, for a similar reason.

Mr. Taylor also introduced Mr. Jones, manager of the Jones Manufacturing Company, who asked that the handles of shovels made of ring ash timber be admitted free of duty.

Mr. Taylor introduced Mr. Potter of Mackintosh Mills, Dundas, to Hon. John Costigan to-day. Mr. Potter asked that some change be made in the stamping of small measures.

Devoted to Music.

He (to Miss Breezy, of Chicago)—Which do you prefer, Miss Breezy, the Italian or German school of music?

Miss Breezy (hesitatingly)—Well, I hardly know what to say, Mr. Waldo. When I hear "Sweet Violets" from the hand organ I think nothing can be sweeter than the Italian, and then again the strain of "White Wings" from a little German band will leave me in doubt which I prefer. I am passionately fond of both schools.—New York Sun.

CAPITAL NOTES.

The Lake St. Peter Channel Debt—The Fisheries Protective Fleet.

OTTAWA, March 28.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Sandford Fleming took place to-day and was largely attended. Among those present were Sir John A. Macdonald and Hon. Messrs. Mackenzie Bowell and Carling.

A deputation from the Junior Conservative Club of Montreal this morning waited upon Sir John Macdonald to urge that the Government should assume the Lake St. Peter debt and ask that a grant of money might be made for the further improvement of the harbor. The deputation was introduced by Sir Donald Smith. Sir John Macdonald said the question of the assumption of the Lake St. Peter debt would have the favorable consideration of the Government. The subject of a grant for harbor improvements was another matter altogether, and would have to be dealt with separately. The grant for the harbor will depend upon the action of the City Council and the amount it is prepared to contribute towards the harbor burdens. The total debt is $2,750,000 and the interest $110,000, which will be applied in reducing charges and providing increased harbor accommodation.

The fisheries protection fleet will go into commission on May 1 along the Atlantic Coast and the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Lt.-Col. Harwood, D.A.G., Montreal, has been retired with an allowance of $3200. He will, as has already been intimated, be succeeded by Lt.-Col. Lamontagne, D.A.G., Ottawa, whose office will be abolished.

Nova Scotia members want the Dominion Exhibition held this year at Halifax and a subsidy for steam communication between Halifax and the West Indies.

It is stated to-day that Mr. Radenhurst of Perth is likely to be appointed junior judge of Carleton County in the place of the late Judge Lyon. There is also a rumor current to the effect that Judge Ross has asked for superannuation, so that the county courts of the three counties will have to be reorganized.

The amount of money received by the Department of Interior for the sale of lands in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories between Jan. 1 and March 1 of the present year was $100,068.04.

The select Committee on Standing Orders to-day considered the divorce bill of Elonora Elizabeth Tudor. It was agreed to report it to the House.

To-day Sir Donald A. Smith entertained the members of the Montreal deputation at a champagne luncheon at the Russell House.

An amusing incident occurred in the Senate this afternoon. Senator Alexander had just concluded a half hour's speech, when, picking up a resolution, he said: "Mr. Speaker, I move, seconded by —," having forgotten the seconder's district he turned around to point to him, at the same time adding, "by my honorable friend who is asleep by my side."

It will be remembered by many that during the years 1867-68 and 69 a portion of the first battalion of the rifle brigade the Prince Consort's Own were stationed in Ottawa under command of their Colonel, Lord Alex. G. Russell. At the time of the regiment leaving Ottawa some of the men secured their discharge and remained here, and others who returned with the corps to England, subsequently obtained a discharge, and came back to Canada and settled in Ottawa. Meantime the gallant and popular soldier who commanded them has gone on serving his country and gaining promotion, and is now at the age of 67 a C. B. and Lieutenant-General commanding Her Majesty's forces in Canada. He leaves the position to go on the retired list after a long and creditable career and with the best wishes of the men who served under him. Those of his old corps resident there were determined he should not terminate his military service without some memento from them to show that absence had not killed the remembrance of or kindly feeling or him and to-day there has been forwarded o him an address and a gold-headed cane.

The Manitoba Premier Happy.

OTTAWA, March 28.—Premier Greenway expects to start for home at the end of the week. He is now satisfied that a settlement of the entire monopoly question will be reached. The Manitoba Premier appears to be on the best of terms with Sir John. He asked yesterday for an advance on provincial swamp lands, and as a result thinks he is likely to receive $100,000.

Railways and Canals Committee.

OTTAWA, March 28.—The Committee on Railways and Canals met to-day, Sir Hector Langevin presiding. The first item taken up was an act respecting the River St. Clair Railway Bridge and Tunnel Company. Mr. Kingsmill (Toronto) explained that the object was to have the time for commencement and completion of works extended respectively three and six years from the passing of the act. Mr. Kingsmill said the charter was not interfering with any other corporation and the clauses referred to placed all railways on the same footing.

The bill was ordered to be reported as was also an act to enable the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Company to run a ferry between Beecher Bay and British Columbia to a point on the Straits of Fuca within the United States of America. Also one incorporating the Shuswamp and Okanagon Railway and permitting them to issue bonds at the rate of $25,000 per mile, another extending the limit for the construction of the Nipissing and James Bay Railway and one in relation to the Sudbury Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, giving permission for the bond limit of $30,000 per mile to be extended to $30,000 and allowing the company to issue debenture stock in lieu of bonds.

The N.S. Legislative Council Won't Go.

HALIFAX, March 28.—The Legislative Council this afternoon by a vote of 11 to 8 defeated the bill providing for its abolition passed by the House of Assembly.

Whence Did It Come?

PARIS, March 27.—The commander of the French squadron denies that any shot was fired in the direction of the Italian steamer.

GOSCHEN'S GREAT SCHEME

ENGLAND'S ENTHUSIASM OVER THE GIANT OF FINANCE.

Lord Randolph Churchill and Mr. Gladstone Among the Chancellor's Eulogists—The Tide With the Government—A Gladstonian Elected in Glamorganshire.

LONDON, March 28.—Mr. Goschen's budget is thought as a whole to justify the most sanguine expectations of his friends. His bitterest enemy in the press describes it as ingenious, elaborate, and partially sound. The impression on the House was altogether good. The crowded audience sat immovable during the speech of 3¼ hours. Lord Randolph Churchill himself, whose affection for his successor in the chancellorship of the exchequer has not been supposed to be warm, was among Mr. Goschen's eulogists. So was Mr. Childers, and so, I hear, was Mr. Gladstone. The feeling of the House and of the financial world is that since Mr. Gladstone himself England has had no finance minister equal to Mr. Goschen, either in theoretical or practical knowledge.

A stock exchange friend tells me that the national debt conversion scheme was hailed in the city with enthusiasm, because, apart from all other merits, it simplified, or rather unified, existing securities. "Never," cried he, "have we had so good a stock to deal in as the new two-and-three-quarter per cents. They are magnificent." He went on to predict that they would presently rise to 103 or 104. Grateful operators have already christened them "Goschens." This, however, is also for convenience's sake, to distinguish them from the existing two-and-three-quarter per cents. My friend doubted whether they would be known permanently by this name.

It was among other things the striking success of this gigantic conversion scheme which raised so high men's expectations of Mr. Goschen's financial statement. It was known that he a had surplus of over £2,000,000, but that all this and more would be wanted to float the new local government scheme. He had, in fact, framed two budgets: one for the ratepayers and one for the taxpayers. He was expected to find means to do all this, and yet remit a penny from the income tax also. Where was he to find the money? These and many other questions he answered, on the whole, to the satisfaction of the House, and seemingly to the country.

To-day's meeting of the Liberal party at the Spencer House has been reduced in dimensions, and is a meeting of the leaders only. It cannot be a cheerful gathering. The flowing tide is for the moment with the Government, not with the Opposition. Mr. Gladstone himself, I hear, is in his usual spirits. His followers certainly are not. They separate for the Easter holidays with the conviction that both in Parliament and the country the Tory ministry is stronger to-day than at any time since its formation.

A Gladstonian Elected.

LONDON, March 28.—The election in the Gower division of Glamorganshire, to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the death of Frank A. Yeo, was held yesterday and resulted in the return of David Randall (Gladstonian), who received 3,704 votes, against 3,358 cast for J. F. D. Llewellyn. At the last election Yeo was unopposed.

Fresh Proposals About Bulgaria.

LONDON, March 28.—Lord Salisbury had a prolonged interview with Baron De Staal, the Russian ambassador yesterday, at which fresh proposals with regard to Bulgaria were discussed. It is reported the result of the conference was an approach to an entente.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

Boyle's Horses at Monmouth Park—Lacrosse Points—Splashes From the Oar.

LONG BRANCH, N.J., March 28.—No man's horses could look better than Boyle's Canadian string stabled at Monmouth Park. Old Springfield looks as fresh as paint, and is hard, fit and clean all over. As he has shown no signs of lameness, which used to trouble him from being cut down at Baltimore, he will probably go through the season all right and win races, too. Queen of Elizabeth, one of his champions, does not carry so much flesh as the old horse, but she is as bright as a star, and looks very healthy in her coat, so we may expect to hear from her early, since she is quite forward in condition. Another good mud mare is Letretia. She is on a much bigger scale than Queen of Elizabeth, and she looks A 1. Boyle jumped from the frying pan into the fire when he left Canada for Monmouth Park, because he was enabled to do good out-of-door work before he came here, but he has now been stopped for about a fortnight.

Splashes From the Oar.

A proposition has been made that the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen and the Canadian Association join together and offer an extra inducement to the champion four this year that in 1889 they shall go to England as the representative crew of America, each organization undertaking to raise its share of the expenses.

Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph: Teemer will likely be challenged by O'Connor in a few days. San Francisco sporting men who backed O'Connor, the famous Canadian carsman, in his race with Peterson, the Pacific slope champion, and won a large sum, claim that the Canadian can outrow Teemer. They propose to back him against the champion for a three-mile race at Alameda, and to allow the McKeesport carsman expenses to come to the Pacific coast.

Teemer, McKay and Hamm will row a three-mile straightaway race in front of Jacksonville, Fla., within two weeks.

The Tecumseh's Exhibition Games.

LONDON, March 28.—Manager Powers expects to return home this evening from Philadelphia and Washington. The Tecumsehs have arranged to play an exhibition game on July 12 at Toronto with the Torontos. The Buffalos will play here with the Tecumsehs on Emancipation Day Aug. 1, and bring with them Grant, their colored second baseman. The Detroits have named Sept. 19 for a game with the Tecumsehs in this city.

La Blanche to Challenge Fell.

DETROIT, March 28.—When La Blanche, the Marine, was in Detroit last week he had a talk with a friend interested in sporting matters about a challenge for a fight which Jim Fell, the Canadian, issued two months ago. This challenge was a general one, and invited any middle-weight pugilist in the country, Marine preferred, to meet him in the ring for any amount that could be mutually agreed upon. As Fell's challenge was not in regular form the Detroit friend suggested to the Marine to publish a formal challenge. The Detroit man will be backed for $1000 for a fight to a finish with Fell to take place as soon after May 1 as preliminaries can be arranged and the fight to be within 150 miles of Detroit. The Marine's challenge will be made shortly and will be backed by Detroit.

THE COMBINES COMMITTEE.

Thanks From Farmers' Institutes—An Ottawa Grocer's Evidence.

OTTAWA, March 28.—The Committee on Combines met this morning. Chairman Clarke Wallace being unavoidably absent, Mr. Guillet was asked to preside. Several resolutions were read from Farmers' Institutes thanking the chairman for the work the committee were doing.

Mr. Patrick Baskerville of Baskerville Bros., Ottawa, said they were at one time members of the Guild, but they were subsequently struck off the list. They conducted a wholesale and also a retail business, but were giving up the retail. The action of the refinery had been a great injury to the firm. He belonged to the Kingston branch of the Guild. He was in England when his brother joined the Guild, but he then thought it was merely to make a uniform rate and to prevent undue cutting so as to give the wholesaler and retailer a fair profit without bearing too unjustly on the consumer. From what had recently been made public he understood it possible for combinations to do an injustice.

When they organized to unreasonably advance the price of sugar the firm's name was taken off because they did a retail business. They now paid ⅛ of a cent more than the Guild people for sugar, and he thought they were also subject to a long discount. Sugar now sold at a fixed price. The cutting was not going on to the same extent. He had not purchased much sugar since being cut off the list. He had heard that some other merchants interested as his firm were had been left on the list. This he considered an injustice. He thought the object of the Guild originally was to enable the wholesalers to get a fair price for sugar. He did not know of any combine in pickles. The only other one he knew of in Ottawa was in tobacco.

Mr. Fisher read a letter from a friend in Montreal, expressing surprise that no Montreal coal dealer had been summoned to give evidence, and suggesting the name of Mr. Geo. F. Hart and Messrs. Evans Bros. as men who understood the details of the trade. It appears that Montreal is no better situated than is either Toronto or Ottawa.

It was decided to summon Messrs. Hart of Montreal, A. Hargraph of Cobourg and Wm. Bowman of London, to give evidence on the coal combine. This will complete the list of witnesses to be called in that connection.

Favorably Reported.

OTTAWA, March 28.—The select Committee on Standing Orders met this morning and reported favorably the following petitions:

Gananoque, Perth and James' Bay Railway Company—For an act granting them certain additional powers.

Thousand Islands Railway Company—For an act to declare their road a work for the general advantage of Canada.

W. R. Bell and others—For an act of incorporation under the name of the Ontario, Manitoba and Western Railway Company.

K. F. Burns and others—For an act of incorporation under the name of the Tobique, Gypsum and Colonization Railway Company.

Alex. Mutchmor and others—For an act of incorporation under the name of the Emerson and Northwestern Railway Company.

Moncton Harbor Improvement Company—For certain amendments to the act of incorporation.

Bank of London—For an act to empower them to wind up their affairs.

H. D. Troop and others—For an act of incorporation under the name of the Keystone Fire Insurance Company.

Joseph Martin, Attorney-General for the Province of Manitoba—For the passing of an act empowering the Executive to construct two railway and passenger swing bridges across the Assiniboine River.

The Banque Nationale.

OTTAWA, March 28.—The sub-committee of the Banking and Commerce Committee took evidence to-day with closed doors with reference to the cause which led to the losses sustained by the Banque Nationale and the necessity for reducing the capital 33⅓ per cent. A reporter to-day interviewed the local manager, who said the whole matter was fully ventilated at the general meeting of the shareholders of the bank held in Quebec, at which time it was unanimously decided to ask Parliament for the present legislation. The $231,000 of unproductive assets which appear as allotted to Ottawa are bad debts and depreciation in value stretching over a period of ten or twelve years between 1873 and 1884. The bad debts include failures, cases where parties have absconded and many others. These assets ought to have been wiped off the books year by year and never allowed to accumulate for a period of ten years. The business of the Ottawa's branch of the bank is in a flourishing condition now and all the unproductive assets mentioned are of long standing.

An Awful Blunder.

Druggist (in alarm, to boy)—James, run to Mrs. Smith's at once. I've made an awful mistake!

James (seizing his hat)—Morphine—quinine—arsenic—poison——

Druggist—No, no; she sent for ten cents' worth of one cent stamps, and I sent her ten twos!—New York Sun.

Mr. Parnell will not visit Ireland during the Easter recess, but will go to the south of England for his health.

THE BAPTIST UNIVERSITY

TO BE LOCATED IN THE QUEEN CITY OF CANADA.

Woodstock Has Many Friends in the Convention at Guelph But Toronto's Advantages as an Educational Centre Secure a Majority of 84 Votes.

GUELPH, March 28.—The educational convention of the Baptist Mission Society of Ontario and Quebec called for the purpose of deciding questions connected with McMaster University, met again in the Baptist Church this morning. The church was filled to overflowing there being between seven hundred and eight hundred present.

At the opening of the afternoon session, Rev. Mr. Dempsey made a long speech, in the course of which he paid a glowing tribute to the work done at the Woodstock College, and offered this resolution:

That this convention affirms as its judgment that the efficiency of Woodstock College should be maintained as a collegiate school, and the details of its organization arranged so as to increase its efficiency, and thus make it one of the best schools in Canada, and that this convention affirms that the best interests of the denomination will be served and the greater success of McMaster University rendered possible by locating the Arts Department in Toronto.

Mr. Dryden, M.P.P., seconded the resolution.

Dr. MacVicar moved a motion similar to the main motion, but recognizing the moral obligation to the subscribers of Woodstock and the duty of the Board of Governors to meet those obligations in an honorable and equitable manner. There was a moral obligation to Woodstock, he admitted, but it was not so great as some persons supposed.

Rev. Mr. McDermott supported the amendment.

At the evening session an attempt was made to introduce the closure by fixing the time for the vote on location, but the motion was not pressed.

Mr. Holman regarded the matter of higher education as a legitimate part of the work of the church. He was a graduate of Cobourg, to which he paid a high tribute, but he said it was a mistake to establish a university beside a preliminary school. For years there had been an agitation among the Methodists to remove the college from Cobourg, and now they were coming, boots and baggage, to Toronto for federation. He pointed out the advantages of Toronto compared with Woodstock. He moved the following resolution:

That in the event of the Arts College being located elsewhere but at Woodstock this convention affirms that it recognizes fully a moral obligation to the subscribers to the $36,000 fund, who made their subscriptions on the understanding that Woodstock College would in the course of time be developed into a degree-conferring college at Woodstock, and affirms that it is the duty of the Board of Governors to meet this and all other existing bona fide obligations in an honorable and equitable manner, and this convention pledges itself to sustain the governors in the performance of this duty.

Prof. McGregor, as a graduate of Woodstock, would blush with shame to dishonor Woodstock, but Woodstock College should blush to say that any of her sons should not in the future rise to higher things.

Rev. Mr. Ware and Mr. T. McGillicuddy gave short addresses, Mr. Craig, M.P.P., advocated the claims of Toronto and said that competition should not be shunned or feared.

Mr. Holman's amendment to the amendment was carried by an almost unanimous vote

Prof. Farmer moved an amendment to the main motion to the effect that Woodstock be chosen as the site and forcibly advocated its claims.

A standing vote was taken on the amendment for Woodstock, when the chairman declared the amendment was lost.

A vote was taken upon the original motion for Toronto, when the chairman ruled that the main motion was carried.

Upon the yeas and nays being called for the figures showed: Toronto 336, Woodstock 252. Three-fourths of the ladies voted for Toronto. A motion to make the vote unanimous was carried amid great enthusiasm, the delegates spontaneously breaking into "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

A vote of thanks to the hospitable people of Guelph was cordially carried. The convention then dissolved.

A Passive Policy.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 28.—The Novoe Vremya publishes an interview with Count Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador to Germany, regarding the situation in Europe. He says that no power now threatens Russia. Only a Russian attack upon Austria would force Germany to take the field. Russia, he said, must pursue an independent and passive policy. Germany's future was secured by her excellent military organization which would not be altered by any change of rulers.

The Daily Review.

THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 1888.

AMATEUR SPORTS.

The Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association is a comprehensive society, embracing a variety of forms of sports and affording its members deversified amusement. It encourages and manages sports of a healthy and commendable character, such as will physically develop those who take part in the games, and will, as all healthy and manly sports do, benefit them mentally and morally, while at the same time the games and matches carried out under the auspices of the Association afford entertainment for those of the public who appreciate manly games in amateur sports. Among the forms of sports embraced in the Association are the favorite games of cricket, and baseball, foot ball, bicyling, snowshoeing and lawn tennis, and lacrosse will probably be added. In addition, other athletic exercises, such as running, etc., are introduced on special days and the training they require is thus encouraged.

The operations of the association are not discontinued during the winter months, as snowshoeing is then taken up, and pleasing entertainments with gratifying results have been held. But it is during the summer season that their field for carrying on the sports is widest, and it is gratifying to know that the prospects for the coming summer are good. The management of the Association and of the several branches is in good hands and the spirit shown at the annual meeting foreshadows a vigorous season.

In the larger cities such associations have been found advantageous and have been successful, and the two years' history of the Peterborough Association shows that the plan is will adapted for larger towns.

The proposal to purchase grounds for the use of the members of the Association brings forward an important undertaking for the consideration of the directors, and if it is carried out it will add to the stability of the Association and be an additional guarantee of its permanency, though its success up to the present time has been such that its continuance and increased prosperity and usefulness are assured.

Few will deny that amateur sports, and an Association such as this one for the encouragement of such games, are worthy of patronage; and as the Association brings to Peterborough clubs of renown and provides entertainments of the best character in the line of amateur sports, it is hoped that the public will appreciate their efforts more, and show their appreciation of manly exercises and contests by patronizing the entertainments. They will thus attain the double object of being entertained and of assisting the Association.

A HALLELUJAH WEDDING.

A Knot Tied With the Tongue That Cannot be Untied With the Teeth.

The special jubilee of the local corps of the Salvation Army that has been in progress since Saturday night wound up on Wednesday evening in a fashion that must have pleased the promoters.

All day Wednesday the members of the Army were busy, and after forming in procession and parading through the principal streets of the town, they marched to the C. P. R. depot and met the evening express from Montreal, having on board a number big guns from Toronto. These were escorted to the concert room of the Opera House, where they and a large number of others sat down to a bounteous spread, served by Salvation lasses, attired in red and blue dresses, sashes and jaunty, melti-colored caps.

After tea another procession paraded the streets, bringing up at the Opera House, which was packed as it seldom was before, the fair sex largely predominating.

Shortly after 8 o'clock Chief of Staff Bailey, Staff-Captain Morros, Adjutant McHardy, Captains Ludgate, Midge, Drew and Crosby, all of Toronto, and who were on their way home from the great celebration at the opening of the Ottawa barracks, Captains Leonard, Lindsay; Cornell, Omemee; Addy, Lakefield; Rawlings, Port Perry; Pople, formerly stationed here, Lieutenant Clark, Hastings, and Adjutant Bolton and Captain Woodgate, of Peterborough, entered and took seats on the stage, which was soon filled with visiting soldiers from the neighboring towns and villages.

Music was provided by a brass band, a piano, two concertinas, a violin and innumerable tambourines.

When Chief of Staff Bailey and the other officers appeared on the stage the shouts were almost deafening, volley after volley being "fired" under the direction of Adj. Bolton.

The chief officer at once assumed command and announced a song, after calling on D. O. Morros to lead in the singing. "I've foung a friend in Jesus" was the song selected and it was sung with a will. This was followed with prayer and more singing.

A noteworthy feature was the prayer of Captain Drew, a female officer from Toronto, who spoke in a loud, clear tone, in a fluent manner and who could be distinctly heard in the remotest part of the large building. Later on she delivered an excellent address.

Songs, solos, prayers and testimonies followed in quick succession for over an hour, all of the visitors and some of the local soldiers taking part.

Mark Spencely's solo "Come away to Jesus," with a catching air and refrain, was repeated no less than seven times.

Chief of Staff Bailey shortly before 10 o'clock advanced to the front and apologized for the absence of Commissioner Coombs, who was announced to be present, but who had been called away to the Northwest at the last minute. He concluded by announcing that the promised wedding would follow.

Then a change came o'er the scene. Where all was noise, was now subdued excitement and the entire audience stood on tiptoe to catch a glimpse of the couple, whose names were known only to the select few.

Their curiosity was soon gratified as Adjutant Bolton walked in from the files, followed by Mr. Chas. H. Pashley and Miss Victoria Hartley, who were followed in turn by Captain Rawlings and Miss Emma Baker, who assisted the principals through the trying ordeal.

Then the roof fairly shook so loud were the huzzas and salvos of applause that greeted the wedding party.

The groom was a strapping six footer, with black whiskers, while the bride was only of medium height and instead of the blush which is always supposed to overspread the features of the bride, she was as pale as the proverbial ghost, caused as one of the officers explained by recent illness and nervousness on account of the crowd. Both were dressed in the regulation army uniform.

Evoything being ready the chief of staff read the articles of marriage, proscribed by the Salvation Army. There are seven articles in all, requiring that the marriage is for the purpose of better serving God and the army, that it will not lessen the devotion of the contracting parties to God and the army, that each may do so they wish to help God and the army, that they will do all they can to promote the salvation of the world, that they will train up their household in the proper way, that they will protect their home at all times and that whoever remains, if one should die, will carry out all the promises made.

Both parties having acquiesced and the captain of the local corps being satisfied from the past life of the two, that they would abide by and carry out the promises made, the Rev. Mr. Tovell was called on to perform the marriage ceremony according to the rites of the Methodist Church.

Rev. Mr. Tovell came forward and pronounced Chas. H. Pashley and Victoria Hartley man and wife amid an impressive silence.

The groom kissed the bride first, and then placed the ring on her finger.

The ceremony being ended the audience broke out with loud cheers, after which D. O. Morros offered up a prayer.

Captain Crosby, of Toronto, then commenced to sing a solo. As soon as she commenced the wedding party started to leave the stage and the effect of the song was utterly spoiled by the wild applause of the spectators.

Order being restored the proceeding continued, with songs and prayers, followed by a social and the gathering did not break up until a late hour.

Have you a cough? Sleepless nights need no longer trouble you. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will stop the cough, allay the inflammation and induce repose. It will, moreover, heal the pulmonary organs and give you health.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether rising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

The Energetic Priest.

The Norwood correspondent of the Hastings Star says:—"Father Conway, the newly appointed parish priest at Norwood, is having a number of new pews put in the church. The rev. gentleman seems fully alive to the requirements of the people under his charge, and he will put some life and energy into the congregation, and wake up some of its drowsy members. We understand a new parsonage is to be erected for his accommodation during the coming summer."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Hurt the Milling Business.

Among the replies to a circular sent by the Empire to all the members of the Toronto Board of Trade was the following from a gentleman well known here:—"Sir,—I am opposed to Commercial Union strongly. It would be detrimental to the milling business, in which I am engaged —J. D. Flavelle, Lindsay."

Music and Readings.

Those who were unable to hear Mrs. Scott-Siddons on her former appearance in Peterborough will have an opportunity of doing so on April 16th at lower prices. The Toronto Empire of Saturday says:—"The triumph of her last appearance is still green in the recollection of those who heard her. Mrs. Siddons is too well known to Torontonians to need any lengthened notice. The programme will receive a pleasing addition in the name of Mr. Henry Waller (Mrs. Siddons' adopted son), who a few years since, as the boy pianist, 'Zeraphael,' won golden opinions in musical circles in both the old and new worlds. Since that time he has been pursuing his studies in Europe, and comes with the endorsement of Rubenstein, whose pupil he has been, and the other great masters." The Return Match.

The orators of the Lindsay Y. M. C. A have written proposing either April 13th or 20th as the date when they will come to Peterborough for the "return match" in debating. The subject proposed is "manhood suffrage," and the Lindsay young men being of a conservative turn of mind will take the negative side and oppose such an extension of the franchise. They will be accompanied by a quartette to furnish music.

Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all diseases of the Lungs, are cured by using Allen's Lung Balsam.

At the Charlotte-st. Methodist Church at 11 a.m., when the Rev. E. F. Torrance, M. A., will preach. At the Mark-st. Methndist Church, Ashburnham, at 11 a.m., conducted by the Rev. J. C. Wilson.

A Novel and Interesting Easter Entertainment

will be given at the residence of Mrs. D. W. Dumble, on Tuesday evening, April 3rd. Jollity, mirth and music will be the order of the evening. Tea is to be served in the Japanese tea room by the veritable Yum Yums. Little fairies will sell bouquets, and a number of native artists will do the shadow pantomine, while the orchestra will make things generally lively. A small 5 cent bit will admit you to the chamber of horrors and another little bit will let you out and give a cup of tea to any who feel faint. The back door will be bolted, but by putting down an English shilling you can be let in by the front way. Those who do not report themselves will have to explain the reason why. 2d75

AT NO. 385 GEORGE-ST.

Mr. John Hackett Returns to His Handsome Premises.

For some time past carpenters, painters, decorators, etc., have been engaged in refitting the store on George-st., No. 385, occupied by Mr. John Hackett, Mr. Hackett having temporarily vacated it for that purpose. He is now returning to the handsome premises and on Saturday will open out again in his old stand.

Many changes, all improvements, have been made in the store. The front has been improved by the addition of two plate glass side lights, and the space for show-room in the windows has been increased and is now over ten feet deep, with the sides painted pure white. Splendid new curtains, of sage green with gold spangled dado, of rich design, have been added. One of the gas jets in the window is so shaded that the light will be thrown down on the goods, giving a good view of them in the evening. A new door, grained walnut and with birds-eye maple panels, has also been put in.

Inside the store the stairs have been removed, giving more space. The depth of the store is 120 feet, and on each side are new counters 80 feet long. The counters are finished in cherry with walnut tops. New shelving, the full length of the store, has been put in on each side. It is of grained walnut, with moveable turped spindle supports, and with an ornamental top. The shelving is conveniently arranged so that the goods can be easily reached by the obliging clerks. A new hardwood floor has been laid, and is being oiled, and a new ceiling has been put in, which is pannelled and painted a pleasant drab and terra cotta. The cove of the ceiling is grained Italian walnut. The walls have been covered with a handsome paper that harmonizes with the painting. At the rear a spacious office has been fitted up, 23 by 15 feet, divided from the store by an ornamental screen finished in walnut and cheery with enameled glass.

The store will be one of the best—or the best—lighted on the street. In the front are the large plate glass windows, and in the opposite end plate glass is being added. In the roof, a little back of the centre of the store, a large sky light, about 24 by 12 feet, is being put in, and under it in the ceiling there is an opening of the same size, formed like a gallery, and this will let a flood of light into the store below. For the evening illumination, forty gas gets have been provided.

Among the other improvements will be a cash railway system, with six stations, and three beautiful show cases, with silver frames. The counter yard sticks are a patented kind, with raised brass pieces instead of nicks at the yard end and at the fractional points.

The improvements have been made by the owner of the building, Mr. Geo. A. Cox, who appreciates a good tenant, and has expended $1,500 upon the store. They were made carefully and expeditiously under the superintendence of Mr. James McLennan, while Mr. H. W. Watson did the painting and decorating with his usual taste and skill.

Mr. Hackett now returns to one of the best equipped, handsomest, convenient and best fitted up stores on the street,

To a Crowded House.

The Mail of the 27th inst says.—"Benjamin Maginley and his company appeared to a crowded house last night in Florence's drama "Inshavogue.' The piece was well put on the stage and went very smoothly. Mr. Maginley won a great success in the title role, and was applauded enthusiastically again and again. The singing and dancing introduced were popular features of the performance." Opera House, Peterborough, Tuesday evening, April 3rd.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

IN GASTRITIS AND NERVOUSNESS.

Dr. W. J. Harris, Resident Physician, Good Samaritan Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., says: "It has achieved great results in several chronic cases of gastritis, and afforded great relief very many cases of extreme nervousness resulting from debility of the digestive organs."

Holy Thursday.

This is one of the most important holy days in the Roman Catholic church. This morning the ceremony of blessing the holy oil was performed by Bishop Dowling. The following clergymen of the diocese were present:—Vicar-General Browne, Port Hope, and Fathers O'Connell, Dogro; Kellty, Ennismore; Conway, Norwood; Larkin, Grafton; Casey, Campbellford; McCloskey, Victoria Road; Bretherton, Lindsay, and Fathers McEvay and Rudkins, Peterborough, and also Chancellor Twomey, Kingston, and Father Davis, Madoc, of the Kingston diocese. The ceremonies were very impressive.

The First Symptoms

Of all Lung diseases are much the same: feverishness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be well, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping Consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Oh, yes, thank you," says Mona, who is both surprised and carried away by the other's unexpected eloquence.

"And now a last word, Mona. When you come down to dinner to-night (and take care you are a little late) be gay, merry, wild with spirits, anything but depressed, whatever it may cost you. And if in the drawing-room, later on, Lady Rodney should chance to drop her handkerchief, or that eternal knitting, do not stoop to pick it up. If her spectacles are on a distant table, forget to see them. A nature such as hers could not understand a nature such as yours. The more anxious you may seem to please the more determined she will be not to be pleased."

"But you like Lady Rodney?" says Mona, in a puzzled tone.

"Very much indeed. But her faults are obvious, and I like you too. I have said more to you of her than I have ever yet said to human being; why, I know not, because you are (comparatively speaking) a stranger to me, whilst she is my very good friend. Yet so it rests. You will, I know, keep faith with me."

"I am glad you know that," says Mona. Then, going nearer to Violet, she lays her hand upon her arm and regards her earnestly. The tears are still glistening in her eyes.

"I don't think I should mind it if I did not feel so much alone. If I had a place in your heart," she says. "You all like me, I know, but I want to be loved." Then, tremulously, "Will you try to love me?"

Violet looks at her criticisingly, then she smiles, and, placing her hand beneath Mrs. Geoffrey's chin, turns her face more to the fading light.

"Yes, that is just your greatest misfortune," she says, meditatively. "Love at any price. You would die out of the sunshine, or spoil, which would be worse. You will never be quite happy, I think; and yet perhaps," with a faint sigh, "you get your own good out of your life, after all,—happiness more intense, if briefer, than we more material people can know. There, shall I tell you something? I think you have gained more love in a short time than any person I ever knew. You have conquered me, at least; and, to tell you the truth," with a slight grimace, "I was quite determined not to like you. Now lie down, and in a minute or two I shall send Halkett to you with the rose-water."

For the first time she stoops forward and presses her lips to Mona's warmly, graciously. Then she leaves her, and, having told her maid to take the rose-water to Mrs. Rodney, goes down-stairs again to the drawing-room.

Sir Nicholas is there, silent, but angry, as Violet knows by the frown upon his brow. With his mother he never quarrels, merely expressing disapproval by such signs as an unwillingness to speak, and a stern, grave line that grows upon his lips.

"Of course you are all against me," Lady Rodney is saying, in a rather hysterical tone. "Even you, Violet, have taken up that girl's cause!" She says this expectantly, as though calling on her ally for support. But for once the ally fails her. Miss Mansergh maintains an unflinching silence, and seats herself in her low wicket chair before the fire with all the air of one who has made up her mind to the course she intends to pursue, and is not to be enticed from it.

"Oh, yes, no doubt I am in the wrong, because I cannot bring myself to adore a vulgar girl who all day long shocks me with her Irishisms," goes on Lady Rodney, almost in tears, born of vexation. "A girl who says, 'sure you know I didn't,' or 'Ah! did ye now,' or 'Indeed I won't, then!' every other minute. It is too much. What you all see in her I can't imagine. And you too, Violet, you condemn me, I can see."

"Yes, I think you are quite and altogether wrong," says Miss Mansergh, in her cool manner, and without any show of hesitation, selecting carefully from the basket near her the exact shade of peacock blue she will require for the cornflower she is working.

Lady Rodney, rising hurriedly, sails with offended dignity from the room.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Jenkins, the antediluvian butler, proves himself a man of his word.—There are, evidently, "no two ways" about Jenkins. "Seeking the seclusion that her chamber grants," about ten o'clock to-night, after a somewhat breezy evening with her mother-in-law, Mona descries upon her hearth-rug, dozing blissfully, two huge hounds, that raise their sleepy tails and heads to welcome her, with the utmost condescension, as she enters her room.

Spice and Allspice are having a real good time opposite her bedroom fire, and, though perhaps inwardly astonished at their promotion from a distant kennel to the sleeping apartment of their fair mistress, are far too well bred to betray any vulgar exaltation at the fact.

A BUSY DAY IN THE HOUSE.

THE TIME DEVOTED TO ADVANCING A NUMBER OF BILLS.

Peter Mitchell Raises a Lively Breeze and is Called to Order for Unparliamentary Language—Ministers Furnish Valuable Information to Anxious Enquirers.

OTTAWA, March 28.—This was a day of work in the House. The long-continued debate on Unrestricted Reciprocity has been laid over till after the Easter recess, and the time to-day was devoted to pushing forward a number of bills.

There was a lively incident when Hon. Peter Mitchell, before the orders of the day were called, rose to call attention to a matter which is occupying considerable space in the public press. He referred to that clause in the act of 1879 by which provision is made that whenever any or all of the articles therein mentioned were authorized by the United States to be imported free, the Government of Canada may also place such articles on the free list for importation into the Dominion. A number of articles had recently been placed on the United States free list, but no reciprocal action had been taken by our Government. He wished to know whether any and what correspondence had taken place between the two Governments, and whether the Canadian Government had taken any steps to meet the just claims of the States. The American Government had good ground to find fault with Canada for repudiation of the offer made in the statute referred to.

Sir John said no application had been made by the United States Government.

Mr. Mitchell wanted to know why, even without application, the Government had not fulfilled its pledges instead of repudiating them. The Government had been guilty of gross breach of faith.

Sir John denied most emphatically that there had been any breach of faith, and asked the protection of the House against the unparliamentary language of Mr. Mitchell.

Mr. Mitchell again rose and very excitedly repeated his assertions that there had been a breach of faith.

He was called to order and the speaker explained that there being no motion before the House he was violating the rules in going on to make a speech.

Mr. Mitchell stated that he had informed the Speaker of his intention to bring this matter up and was going on with his speech, but was interrupted by loud cries of "Order." He became very excited and said they could not put him down.

Mr. Laurier thought the Premier had given an evasive answer to Mr. Mitchell's question.

Sir John (emphatically): "There has been no communication on the subject."

Mr. Laurier thought more was necessary. Government was bound by statute in the matter.

Sir John maintained that the clause referred to was permissive not compulsory. The word "may" was used, not "shall." Moreover there were infinitely more items on our free list than on that of the States.

Mr. Davies took exception to that construction of the statute and contended that while the word "may" was always used with reference to action to be taken by the Government, yet it was understood to mean a positive assurance and was so explained at the time of passing this act. [Cries of "No, no," from the Government side.]

Hon. Mr. Thompson said that certainly "may" was always used. The discretion of the Crown is never taken away. Whenever a matter is given to the Crown to do it is left to the discretion of the Crown on the advice of the ministers. It was no breach of faith to decline to let the United States say that those articles should go on the free list which would benefit them.

Mr. Charlton thought if the Government did not intend to apply this clause they had better expunge it. Even granting that this is merely a permissive clause, it would be better to act in accordance with the implied provision.

The subject then dropped.

Mr. Weldon (St. John)—What has been the cost of the Railway Commission to the present date, and what amount is it estimated will be the whole cost?

Sir Hector Langevin: "Up to date $26,415.21, and $1000 more estimated."

Mr. Weldon (St. John)—What has been the cost of the Labor Commission to the present date, and what is the estimate of the whole cost of the Commission?

Hon. Mr. Bowell: "Up to March 19, $34,137.05. The whole cost depends on the length of time of their sitting."

Mr. Lister—Has Henry Smith at any time during the past year been in the employ of Government, if so in what capacity and at what salary? How much has he been paid? Is he still in the employ of the Government, if so, in what capacity; if not, when were his services dispensed with?

Hon. Mr. Carling: "Smyth was engaged in obtaining information in Dakota and Minnesota during the emigration season at $100 per month and was paid altogether $1800. His services were dispensed with Nov. 15 on the termination of his specific duties."

Mr. Edgar—Is it the intention of the Government to introduce an insolvent act during the present session or any legislation in that direction?

Sir John Macdonald: "No."

Mr. Watson—Is it the intention of the Government to establish and bring into active operation experimental farms in the Province of Manitoba during the coming session?

Hon. Mr. Carling: "It is under consideration."

Mr. Landerkin—Have any sums of money been expended by the Government in payments of any sort to persons in Dakota to induce them to remove to Manitoba?

Hon. Mr. Carling: "No."

Mr. Wright—Does the Government intend to cause such a geological survey to be made in the County of Ottawa as will afford all necessary information with regard to the mineral and phosphate interests of that section of country?

Hon. Mr. Carling: "Such survey was commenced last year and will be continued with special reference to this subject."

Mr. Wright—Is it the intention of the Government to send a dredge at the opening of navigation to Papineauville to remove all obstructions from the harbor?

Sir Hector: "Yes."

Mr. Prior—Is it the intention of the Government to appoint a commission to accurately define the boundary between British Columbia and Alaska; and if so, when?

Sir John: "Diplomatic correspondence is now going on on this matter."

Motions were passed for returns in several matters and the House adjourned till next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Beautiful BLACK and COLORED HOSE, two pairs for 25 cents.

A Circular Pillow Cotton, cheapest in town. White Cottons and Shirtings marked very low. Don't you buy anything in Spring Goods before making a bee line to Peterborough's Great Cheapside.

SHEPPARD

George Street, Peterborough, Town Clock overhead.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

CHEMISTRY AND THE FARMER.

Prof. Schultz Testifies Before the Committee on Agriculture.

OTTAWA, March 28.—The Committee on Agriculture and Colonization met to-day, Mr. Peter White in the chair. Prof. Schultz, Government chemist in connection with the experimental farms, was the only witness examined. He went into an explanation of the work being performed by the branch over which he presided and explained the value of the results to be obtained from chemical experiments.

As an instance of the necessity of care in supplying animals with pure water he gave the results of an analysis of samples of water taken from a farmer's well. The farmer observed that it had a peculiar taste, and was anxious to know if it had medicinal properties. It turned out to be nothing less than diluted sewage, a positive injury to man or beast. Good milk or healthy animals could not be expected without a supply of pure water.

He was at work investigating the composition of the various kinds of hard and soft wheat grown in Canada. He was also analyzing the various kinds of fodder and grasses, some of the varieties tested being from Japan and other countries. The dairy experiment includes analysis for butter and cheese making.

In the matter of fertilizers an experimental plot of virgin soil would be set apart during the coming season for testing the relative strengths of fertilizers, which come under the head of phosphoric acid and nitrogen. A bulletin would eventually be published giving the results, and as well photographs of the growth of the crops. He would also introduce to the notice of farmers a bulletin explaining the elementary theories of the science of agriculture. It was well that they should know the relationship between chemistry and agriculture, and this bulletin would enable him to explain matters more satisfactorily when lecturing before the Farmers' Union and kindred organizations throughout the country.

At the close of his statement Mr. Schultz answered a number of questions explanatory of the relative exhaustive conditions of root crops and cereals. The former were more exhaustive to the soil, and he advised a rotation of such crops.

A Matter of Business.

Tailor—No, sir, I won't let you have this suit of clothes until you pay for it.

Customer—But, my dear sir, if I can't have the clothes to wear I can't pay for them.

"Don't see any sense in that."

"You don't, eh? Well, you've got a mighty poor head for business. How do you suppose I'm to borrow enough to pay for them if I have to go around among my friends in the ragged suit I've got on?"—Omaha World.

OLD AGE AND YOUTH IN THE LONELY COMMONS CHAMBER.

Leading Up for Tuesday—A Darling of Society—Pat Purcell's Luck—The Member for Glengarry Sets 'em Up for the Boys—Booming Winnipeg.

OTTAWA, March 30.—To-day the House of Commons chamber resembled Goldsmith's "Deserted Village." Two Parliamentary videttes kept a lonely watch, the stillness being occasionally broken by the pattering of pagely feet. In these twin sentries old age and youth were aptly illustrated.

Patriarch Freeman, the broad-visaged and hoary-headed member for Queen's, N.S., who has "the floor," was intently engaged in materializing his speech for Tuesday next. His face wore the lines of wide experience, and if the Opposition do greet him on rising with the loud "amen" there is just enough force, determination and confidence in the old man not to be confused by such an irreverent exclamation.

His companion was Mr. T. M. Daly, the youthful and handsome member for Selkirk, a man whose presence never fails to create a flutter among the eligible young ladies in society. He wore one of Scrim's most "scrumptious" boutonnieres and gazed on the white hairs of his colleague, evidently wondering how soon the relentless hand of time would tinge the raven blackness of his own luxuriant growth and how much gratitude the general public extend to the men who toil for their constituents and defend their country's rights.

The all absorbing topic in the Russell rotunda is Mr. Pat Purcell's luck. Pat himself, it is said, has not yet been able to realize the situation. His friends assure him, however, that he is confirmed in his seat, and in this connection a good story is related of him. An Opposition member, it appears, first broke the news gently to him in the Commons restaurant. Pat looked him straight in the face, and then, in measured tones, replied: "Look here, old fellow, you cant fool me on a first of April joke."

Having punished "the joker" he proceeded to set 'em up for the boys.

Mr. Archibald McNee of Winnipeg is in the city with a view of inducing intending settlers in Manitoba to take up lands in the immediate vicinity of Winnipeg. Half a million acres of halfbreeds' lands within a radius of twenty miles of the city have been withheld from settlement, having passed into the hands of speculators and land companies during the "boom." Through the co-operation of the City Council and the Board of Trade an arrangement has been come to by which they are to be put in the market at prices ranging from $2.50 to $25 per acre according to location. Ald. McNee feels that they will all be taken up within a reasonably short time and as a result it is claimed that the city's prosperity will be greatly enhanced.

Bulletin No. 3 of the central experimental farm has been issued. It deals with the smut affecting wheat, by Mr. James Fletcher, etymologist and botanist.

To-day being Good Friday the public departments were closed.

A consignment of Ladoga Russian wheat grown in a latitude 840 miles north of Ottawa, and a few bags of barley and winter rice from within the Arctic circle 1260 miles north, have been received by the experimental farm and will be sent to the territories, British Columbia, Manitoba and the eastern provinces for experimental purposes, and will also be tested at the experimental farm. Professor Saunders says the samples are fine.

A LETTER FROM THE PREMIER.

Sir John Assures the Manitobans That Disallowance Will Cease.

OTTAWA, March 30.—Premier Greenway and Attorney-General Martin left for home to-night. They have received a letter from the Premier in which, after going into a lengthy statement in support of the Governments action, he assures the delegates that in future disallowance of railway charters would cease, not only in Manitoba but as well in the Northwest Territories.

The statement is likewise made that if the Red River Railway bill was passed by the Manitoba Legislature, there should be no interference with it, and the work of construction could go on without being interrupted by the Federal power.

The substance of the letter was to-night telegraphed to the Provincial Treasurer. It is said there is an understanding that the full text is not to be published until the necessary legislation has been enacted. It was forwarded through Mr. Alloway.

Both delegates before leaving expressed themselves as thoroughly satisfied with the result of their mission. Of course they have not been informed of the basis of agreement arrived at between the Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

INGERSOLL, March 30.—A fire occurred here this morning about 5 o'clock, almost totally destroying the Grand Trunk Railway station, supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

BANK WRECKERS CAUGHT.

TWO NORTH CAROLINA BANK OFFICERS ARRESTED IN TORONTO.

Both Men High Up in Church Circles—Dr. Fulton and the Nunneries—A Letter From the Archbishop—Central Bank Dividend.

TORONTO, March 31.

The great topic yesterday was the arrest of Samuel C. White and Charles E. Cross, the cashier and president respectively of the State National Bank of Raleigh, North Carolina. It now transpires that both men are closely related, Cross' mother-in-law being White's sister.

So far as known the amount of cash carried away by them aggregates $42,000, but in addition to this there is missing close on $300,000 of deposits, made by farmers and business men residing in various parts of the state. Of the $42,000 known to have been carried away $10,000 was secured from Norfolk, $10,000 from Richmond and $17,000 from Washington, D.C., one week ago yesterday, White signing the express receipts. A further sum of $5,000 deposited on the following Saturday was added to the pile, making the sum total $42,000. In addition to this $10,000 in bills left for safe keeping in the vault of the bank by the executors of an estate, is also missing, but it is supposed that this sum was hypothecated some time before the flight.

The comparatively small amount, $34,000, found on the prisoners when arrested, is accounted for by the fact that previous to his departure Cross made lavish purchases of diamonds, jewelry and clothes, which were paid for over the counter of the bank in cash.

Bank Examiner Tate who has charge of the institution at present, has discovered that the statement made on Feb. 14 was a crooked one, and false in almost every particular. Up to the time of the absconding it was thought that the bank was one of the most flourishing in the South, and Cross and White enjoyed the unbounded confidence of the community. The circulation was only $35,000, and the stockholders' list was composed of the most wealthy in the state. Both men were high up in church circles, and prominent in all the revival services which were held in Raleigh. Mrs. Cross is completely prostrated at the news of her husband's disgrace, and her danger is aggravated from the fact that just two weeks before she had become a mother.

Cross has ruined his mother-in-law, Mrs. Williams, who held three-fourths of the stock of the National. Cross' father put in $60,000 when his son was elected president, but he will not suffer, as it was withdrawn before the collapse. So great is the excitement in Raleigh that business, even in the courts, is suspended, and people, mostly victims, are flocking from all quarters. The feeling against the absconders is intense.

The following letter has been received by His Worship Mayor Clarke:

TO HIS WORSHIP THE MAYOR OF TORONTO—

Dear Sir: I most respectfully invite you and four aldermen whom you may wish to take with you to visit our convents and interrogate the nuns as you please.

Christian delicacy would not permit our inviting to those sanctuaries of purity and female modesty so vile a character as Fulton's lectures show him to be.

I am, my dear Mr. Mayor, yours faithfully.

JOHN JOSEPH LYNCH, Archbishop of Toronto.

St. Michael's Palace, March 29.

Mayor Clarke was seen at his residence on Harbord-street yesterday afternoon regarding the letter from Archbishop Lynch, inviting His Worship and the aldermen to pay an official visit to the convents in this city. His Worship said the letter had been sent up to his house on Thursday night and he was somewhat surprised to see a copy of it in a daily paper, as he had not shown it to anyone.

"Do you intend to visit the convents, Your Worship, in company with a committee of aldermen?" asked the reporter.

"I have not considered the matter yet," was the reply, "but so far as I know it is not a part of the duties of either myself or any aldermen to visit convents."

"Then you will not go?"

"I intend answering His Grace's letter tomorrow, but as I have not considered the matter I cannot say anything more just now. No doubt my reply to His Grace will be made as public as his letter to me."

The Mayor laughed heartily at the suggestion of Deacon Cameron that four such stalwart Orangemen as Ald. McMillan, Johnston, Irwin and Bell should accompany him, and remarked that if the four gentlemen named went with him but few would be found to say that the inspection was not a thorough one.

Dr. Fulton was interviewed last night, and on being shown a copy of His Grace's letter, he read it and started to talk: "The whole thing is an evasion on the part of the Archbishop. The Mayor and four or five aldermen referred to are gentlemen dependent on votes, and he has as good a chance to get them under his control as anybody else. If the Archbishop does not want me to go and visit his nunneries, the thing for him to do, in my opinion, is to let some other good Baptist minister go.

If he wants me to make a suggestion I would be glad to make the suggestion that a good Baptist minister, or Presbyterian minister, or any other minister go and make thorough work of it.

The Master-in-Ordinary has intimated to the liquidators of the Central Bank (after seeing their statement (that he will authorize the payment of a dividend of 33⅓ per cent. to the creditors of the concern. The money will probably be paid next week.

PROPOSALS OF PEACE.

King John Tired of War—A Scarcity of Provisions in the Abyssinians' Camp.

ROME, March 30.—It is officially announced that last evening an Abyssinian officer applied at the Italian outposts for permission to speak with General San Marzano. An interview was granted, and the officer delivered a letter from King John, asking for peace. The Government has instructed General San Marzano to facilitate a settlement as far as is compatable with the dignity and interests of Italy. To-day the Abyssinian outposts retired to their camps.

The overtures made by King John are said to be in a great measure due to a great scarcity of provisions among his people.

Strange as it may seem, more people enter Russia than come out of it. Between 1879 and 1881 the number of emigrants was 6,000,000, and the number of immigrants 6,650,000.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

How the Torontos Won Their First Game Teemer Will Row O'Connor.

LONDON, March 30.—The Canadian Lacrosse team, who played their first match at Didsbury yesterday, showed great superiority over their opponents, the Owens' College team of Manchester. Immediately after the beginning of the game the Canadians laid siege to the home goal and within three minutes from the start Sewell scored the first goal. Eckardt scored the second, and soon after two more were scored in quick succession by Schofield and Eckardt. The play was afterward spelled by visitors passing and repassing between the contestants; The Canadians subsequently secured another goal. The college men played a plucky game, but only scored one point.

Teemer Will Row O'Connor.

The Turf, Field and Farm says: John Teemer is champion of America, with an ambition to be champion of the world. If William O'Connor, who has just defeated Peterson, thinks that the road before him to future conquests is not strewn with difficulty, he is mistaken. John Teemer writes as follows to The Turf, Field and Farm:

PABLO BEACH, Fla., March 28, 1888.

The San Francisco correspondent for The New York Herald in comments on the O'Connor-Peterson boat race, stated that Hanlan told me, immediately after our single sculling match on Toronto Bay last season, that he had a boy he would match against me the next day for one thousand a side. That statement is utterly misrepresented. The words that Hanlan used were that he would put O'Connor against me if I would concede him ten seconds start, which I declined to do. He is also mistaken when he states that O'Connor is only 24 years old. It can easily be proven that he is past 27.

I certainly wish O'Connor all the credit due him, for he needs it. But he shall not get any more if I can help it, unless it is based on facts. Another thing I should like O'Connor's friends to understand, and that is that he need not go begging any length of time for a boat race, as he can get one with me any time he wishes and on any course but Toronto Bay. JOHN TEEMER.

FREDERICK'S OUTING.

An Hour's Drive—The Dowager Empress Visited—Their Majesties Cheered.

BERLIN, March 30.—The Emperor was accompanied by the Empress in his outing yesterday. The drive was through fir woods and plantations, and occupied an hour. On their return great crowds lined the streets and Their Majesties were enthusiastically cheered. The drive had a good effect upon the Emperor's spirits.

There was a thunderstorm last night and the weather is now warmer.

A Visit to the Dowager Empress.

BERLIN, March 30.—Emperor Frederick and Empress Victoria drove in a half-open carriage from Charlottenburg to Berlin today and paid a visit to the Dowager Empress Augusta. They received enthusiastic greetings along the road.

The Imperial family attended morning service in the castle chapel at Charlottenburg.

Dr. Mackenzie Justified.

BERLIN, March 30.—Mr. Kasper, aged 35 years, formerly a member of the Prussian Diet, has died at Breslau from a partial excision of the larynx at the hands of skilful surgeons, despite the fact that he had previously undergone the operation of tracheotomy which greatly diminished the risk of the former operation. Within six months two such cases have terminated fatally. In one of the cases where Dr. Bergmanns operated the patient died in four days. The result in these cases is considered to justify Dr. Mackenzie's opposition to the excision of the Emperor's larynx.

In Favor of Pat Purcell.

OTTAWA, March 29.—In the Supreme Court this morning judgment was delivered in the Glengarry controverted election case, confirming Patrick Purcell's return as member, and dismissing the petition of Donald McMaster, Q.C., the defeated candidate, on the technical ground that it did not come before the court within six months of the returning officers' report. Judge Gwynne considered that Mr. Purcell should be disqualified and unseated, and dissented from the judgment of the Court. Chief Justice Sir William Ritchie also ruled that the judgment carries no costs in the court below against either party. Mr. Purcell is at present absent from the Capital at his home near Cornwall.

Passenger Rate War.

CHICAGO, March 30.—The Chicago and Grand Trunk in retaliation for the action of the Michigan Central in cutting rates to Montreal and other Canadian points has notified that company that it will reduce local passenger rates to all of the principal Michigan local stations. The Michigan Central in retaliation will make a slash in the rates to Toronto, Montreal and all or the points common to the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific. The through rate to Buffalo is also reduced 50c., by making the rate from Chicago to Detroit $6.50.

A Vote of Confidence.

BUCHAREST, March 30.—The Chamber of Deputies to-day rejected a motion censuring the Government for arresting members of the chamber implicated in the recent riots, and adopted a vote of confidence in the ministry 87 to 36.

A Royal Gift.

LONDON, March 30.—The Queen has presented to Mr. Chamberlain her photograph with her autograph in recognition of his services in connection with the fisheries settlement.

THE SWITCHMEN'S STRIKE.

VIOLENCE OF A MOB OF SYMPATHISERS AT CHICAGO.

A Train Crew Roughly Used by a Crowd of Tough Citizens—Pinkerton's Men Put to Flight—A "Q" Official Badly Beaten—The Present Situation.

CHICAGO, March 30.—The first encounter between the sympathizers of the striking switchmen and the men who have replaced them took place at 4.30 this afternoon, when a "Q" switch engine and its crew attempted to transfer some freight cars to the Northwestern tracks. A crowd of switchmen of other roads were about the place and began to jeer at the new men on the "Q" engine. When the train reached Kinzie-street and Western-avenue it ran off a switch that had been turned and a number of cars were ditched. The mob then set upon the crew of the train and the fireman and engineer took to their heels, getting numerous cuffs as they escaped. The new switchmen followed suit and were pursued and roughly used by the crowd, which was made up of the toughest kind of citizen. The Pinkerton men, of whom there were six or eight on the train, attempted to protect the trainmen, but the mob set upon them with savage glee and disarmed them in a twinkling. They were powerless, and after making a few efforts to defend themselves took to flight to escape the drubbing they were receiving at the hands of the furious mob. Several of the Pinkerton men were hurt and one of them is thought to have sustained serious injuries.

On the same train was Division Superintendent Besler of the Burlington road. When the trouble commenced he hurried to the front and someone in the crowd recognized him. The disclosure of his identity was the signal for the mob to fall on him and beat him. The attack came from all sides and it was only after having been badly used up that he escaped and ran to a switch house where he locked himself in and escaped further punishment.

The riot created great excitement and the Pinkerton men and officers flocked to the scene. The mob quickly dispersed, however, and only one man was arrested. His name is Quirk, a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul switchman. His arrest precipitated a strike of 171 switchmen, twenty-eight engineers and twenty-eight firemen on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road.

The strike came to an end as quickly as it had begun. At 6.30 two officials of the St. Paul Company succeeded in having Quirk released on bail, and it was speedily resolved that a resumption of work was the proper course to pursue.

Taking Hold with a Firm Grip.

CHICAGO, March 30.—The Burlington engineers and firemen practically cut away from their leaders and their Grievance Committee yesterday, and took hold of the strike with a firm grip. They appointed committees and sent them out to work. Every road running into Chicago was visited, and pledges were obtained from all the switchmen and engineers that under no circumstances would they move a Burlington car.

The Burlington Company received information to-day that fifty of their switchmen at Creston, Iowa, had struck. Their places are reported to have been filled by conductors and brakemen.

Dangerous Missiles.

CHICAGO, March 30.—This morning at 9 o'clock a train of stock cars left the "Q" yards at Western-avenue for the stock yards. There were fourteen Pinkerton men guarding the train. As the train was passing a Chicago, St. Louis and Pittsburg engine a brakeman on the latter picked up two coupling pins and threw them at the crew of the "Q" engine. One struck W. W. Thomas, a fireman, on the right eye and knocked him senseless.

As the train was passing the Chicago and Alton crossing somebody threw a coupling pin as the switchmen on top of the cars. It struck one of the men on the head, but glanced off and inflicted no serious injury.

Switchman Quirk, who figured prominently in yesterday's riot, was fined $5 to-day and released.

Special Policemen For the St. Paul.

CHICAGO, March 30.—The St. Paul officials have taken matters into their own hands right from the start. This forenoon a squad of special policemen of the St. Paul road reached the yards from Milwaukee and intermediate stations and were given quarters in the freight house and sleeping cars. They will be fed in dining cars and kept on the ground night and day. The force numbered 165.

About a dozen engineers have been picked up among the freight conductors and of some of the outside stations and put to work. The strikers were driven off the ground by the police this morning. They held a meeting and clinched their determination to stand out. They straggled back later, and at noon were hanging about the tracks.

Chief Arthur left this evening for Cleveland, where he will call the Executive Committee of the Brotherhood together and lay a general assessment for the prosecution of the present strike.

SATURDAY, MARCH 31, 1888.

Received Well Deserved Applause.

"Inshavogue," as performed at the Toronto Opera House last night, was a decided success. A crowded house greeted Mr. Benjamin Maginley and his talented company, and loud applause was accorded the many good points of the play. Mr. Maginley himself took the dual part of Bryan Maguire, the Irish rebel, and "Inshavogue," and in his rendition of his difficult character showed himself an actor of the first merit. He has a good stage presence, and throughout the entire performance showed to the best advantage. Mr. Elmer Graudin, as Ulick Burke, made as satisfactory and bold a villain as could be desired, and his death in the last act by his falling into the trap he had prepared for others was greeted by tumultuous applause from the "gods." Mr. Bryan O'Lynn proved himself an actor of no mean order as Thady Blake and Skipper O'Reardon, and assisted by Miss Belle O'Lynn, added materially to the success of the play in Irish songs and dances. Miss Julia Billings is a charming young actress and well deserved the applause accorded her in the trying parts of Nora Maguire and Ellen Brady. The rest of the company were well up in their various characters and showed evidences of careful training. The scenery of the company is worthy of special mention. The waterfall in the last act is a beautiful creation of the scene painter's art and was admired by all who saw it. Besides the usual matinees there will be an extra one on Good Friday.—Toronto Empire, March 27th, 1888. 1d76

If you require a spring medicine, if you are suffering with languor, debility, pimples, boils catarrh, chronic sores, scrofula, or loss of appetite, or any disease arising from impure blood, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the safest and most economical of all blood purifiers.

Brevities.

—A report of the Farmers' Institute meeting is held over.

—Mr. C. J. Logan, of Galt, the well known cricketer, is in town.

—The well on the market square is down 35 feet. There is lots of water.

—The Finance and Charity committee meet this evening at 8 o'clock.

—The regular meeting of the Town Council takes place on Monday evening.

—One drunk was the guest on Thursday night. None were taken in on Friday.

—A statute labor case was on the Police Court docket this morning. The defendant paid up and the charge was withdrawn.

—Chief of Police Hindes, of Trenton, is an applicant for the position here. He is one of the best officers in Ontario.

—The store occupied by Mr. Johnston Carey is to have a new and stylish front. The work of putting it in will commence on Monday.

—Peterborough is growing. Two ladies who lived in the town for years went to the South Ward to attend a meeting and had to enquire their way back.

—Rev. I. Tovell will speak at the Gospel Temperance Song service to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon in the W. C. T. U. Hall. Service to begin at 4 o'clock.

—Quite a number of visitors from other places were here on Good Friday and quite a number left town to spend the day with friends at a distance.

—"A new and handsome building is to be erected this summer on Kent-st., by John MacDonald & Co.," is the way the Lindsay Post refers to the building of the new post office in that town.

—The March number of the Y. C. T. U. paper, "Apple Blossom," is in circulation. Its pages are filled with original matter and a spacy column is headed "Apple Pips." The manuscript is a credit to the lady editress, Miss K. B. Annesley.

Right now is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

Leap Year Social.

A Leap Year Social under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George-st. Methodist Church took place at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Bradburn, on Thursday evening. There was a large attendance and the receipts netted a handsome sum. Refreshments were served and all who were present spent a delightful evening. Between the two parts of the programme, there was five minutes "Mum," that is any person who spoke during that period paid five cents for each time he or she uttered a word. It was very amusing and the exchequer was considerably the richer of it. The following was the programme:—

Instrumental Solo.....Prof. Dingle
Solo.....Miss Schofield
Quartette.....Y.M.C.A. Harmony Club
Instrumental Duet, Violin and Piano. Messrs. [C. McKee and A. Duff

Five Minutes Mum.

Reading.....Mr. Nugent
Solo.....Miss M. Bradburn
Solo.....Mrs. Brodigan

Prof. Jacques and Mr. V. Halliday played the accompaniments for Miss Schofield.

They tell of a dealer named Kidd,
As famous as Saracen Cid,
For the rubbers he sold
Shed water and cold;
And the people all glorified Kidd.

SHEEHY'S SHOW SHOP.

Mr. J. J. Sheehy's Store Enlarged and Improved.

Another of the business premises in Peterborough that has been considerably improved is the store occupied by Mr. J. J. Sheehy in Mr. Lech's block. An enlargement has been made, by which the depth of the store has been increased by twenty-two feet. This addition is also wider than the other portions of the store and is well adapted for the carpet show room, one of the purposes for which it is used.

A new counter twenty-two feet long has been put in, finished in cherry, and also twenty feet of new shelving in the new portion, devoted to men's furnishings. A neat office for the proprietor has been fitted up at the rear of the store.

In addition to the enlargement, the whole store has been brightened up by the work of the painter and decorator. The walls have been neatly frescoed, the shelves and fittings repainted and the front of the store painted and grained. Additional light has been provided for the evenings. The bronzed gas pipe runs along above the counter and is used as a show line for goods, while the jets, shaded with frosted globes, are extended on bent arms and are placed at equal distances from each other, giving a uniform light. The plate glass window and large beveled side-light let in a good supply of light and provide good show room for the display of goods.

Mr. Sheehy has now a neat and handsome store, in which the attractive goods are displayed to advantage.

Have you a cough? Sleepless nights need no longer trouble you. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will stop the cough, allay the inflammation, and induce repose. It will, moreover, heal the pulmonary organs and give you health

A Great Scoop

Three rinks of Lindsay curlers paid a visit to Peterborough, on Good Friday, and now they wish they had remained at home. Twelve stalwarts from the local players met them and drubbed them in great shape, defeating them by 21 points, a terrible defeat considering the calibre of the visitors. This is how it was done:—

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether rising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

The Fire Harness.

The maker of the collars for the new double swinging harness for the fire department was in town to-day and he fitted the collars to the necks of the hose wagon team in a short time. The harness is now ready to hang and that will be done in a day or two, all the necessary equipments being at the fire hall. Mr. W. J. Devlin, the maker of the harness, has done his part of the work in a first-class manner and deserves credit for it. Our department can now boast of having as good harness, both single and double, as can be found in any fire station in the country.

Give them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you you may depend upon this for certain.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,

BANKERS.—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce
SOLICITORS.—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITERS.—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent, either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS.—The five and ten years five per cent debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS.—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be paid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Moderate to fresh winds; fair weather; stationary or a little higher temperature.

For Spring and Summer.

The new French sateens and Scotch ginghams we are showing for spring wear are our notion of prettiness and stylish goods. So fresh are they than one can almost detect the perfume of the Fleur de Lis about the sateens and feel the biers of the thistle on the Ginghams. These goods are destined to be strong favorites. We have ordered largely in anticipation of a bright trade. Already we are feeling the good effects for the goods are in great demand. Ladies should see these lines which are very choice—at the golden lion.

Cricket.

Mr. Day, of Toronto, a professional cricketer, lately from England, was in town to-day. He is an applicant for the position of coach to our cricket club. He has splendid testimonials and a good record as bowler and batsman.

REMEMBER the date of Hall, Innes & Co's millinery opening, Tuesday and Wednesday, 3rd and 4th April. 3d76

New Dwelling.

Mr. William Fitzgerald has been awarded the contract to erect a handsome new dwelling at Springville, for Mr. Goodfellow. The building will be one of the best in that section of the country.

Well Worth Seeing.

Fancy meats of all kinds, sausages, fowls etc., in addition to the finest display of beef, pork, mutton and lamb ever seen in Peterborough, will be shown by Harry Winch, on Saturday. 3d74

Music and Readings.

Those who were unable to hear Mrs. Scott-Siddons on her former appearance in Peterborough will have an opportunity of doing so on April 16th at lower prices. The Toronto Empire of Saturday says:—"The triumph of her last appearance is still green in the recollection of those who heard her. Mrs. Siddons is too well known to Torontonians to need any lengthened notice. The programme will receive a pleasing addition in the name of Mr. Henry Waller (Mrs. Siddons' adopted son), who a few years since, as the boy pianist, 'Zerapheel,' won golden opinions in musical circles in both the old and new worlds. Since that time he has been pursuing his studies in Europe, and comes with the endorsement of Rubenstein, whose pupil he has been, and the other great masters." The plan of the hall is at Hartley's music store.

To Remain in Town.

We hear that Mr. Johnston Carey has decided to remain in town, and to carry on his boot and shoe business. Having been unable to dispose of the business en bloc, he has not been in a position to remove to another locality, but now proposes to put new spirit and energy into the trade. About $5,000 worth of new goods will be added to the present stock in the course of a few days.

Counting their Chickens, Etc.

The Lindsay Post is a poor prophet and this proves it: "Three senior rinks go to Peterborough, to-day (Good Friday). It will likely be the last foreign match of the season, and it is whispered they intend to make it memorable by inflicting an awful defeat upon Peterborough."

Burned Out.

At Whitby, on Friday morning a house adjoining the Model school, occupied by express messenger Strain, of the Midland, caught fire from a defective stove pipe. The flames were extinguished before much damage was done. Mr. Strain is well known here where his parents live.

Fruits, Fruits.

Just received California evaporated Peaches, Apricots, Plums, Pears, &c., &c., at the Palace Grocery.

A Bold Thief.

On Thursday evening, about 7 o'clock, Mr. Frank Trotter, employed at the town clock grocery, lost a good silver watch, in a rather curious manner. He left his vest containing the watch on a pile of biscuit boxes at the rear end of the shop, while he waited on a customer in front. He heard one of the side doors open, saw a man pop in and immediately go out again. Trotter went to the door and saw the man running away and found that his watch was gone. He indentified the man and informed the police, but up to the time of writing the only track they have of the watch is the fact that the suspected individual, endeavored to dispose of it at the Hunter-st. hotel. It was worth about $20.

Baptists,

and all others, will remember the Baptist S. S. entertainment, to be held in their school room on Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock. A good programme has been prepared. 2d75

Scott Act Cases.

On Thursday, John Morgan, of Warsaw, pleaded guilty to a first offence against the Scott Act and was fined $50 and costs.... There are two Scott Act cases, both second offences, against town hotel keepers, for trial at the police court on Monday.

An Evening with the Young People

A sale of work, and entertainment consisting of music, recitations and kindergarten exercises, will be given by St. Paul's Mission Band, in the school room, on Monday, 2nd April, commencing at 7 o'clock Admission 15 cents. 4d73

Fine Easter Beef.

All the butchers this year make a fine display of easter beef. At the market and at some of the shops the stalls were nicely decorated.

Where Money Can Be Saved.

Just received at the City Clothing Store, twenty-five pieces of pants goods, bought at a large reduction on the wholesale cost. The patterns are neat and the goods fine quality. We will make up pants to order for $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50. Those who require garments should call at once, as from $1.00 to $2.00 can be saved. A good fit guaranteed. H. LEBRUN. 2d75

The Gun Club.

The regular weekly match of the gun club was shot at the Riverside Park, on Friday afternoon. The scores were, R. Tivey, 7, H. Calcutt and H. Nell 6, R. Tivey Jr., 4, G. S. Miller and H. W. Kent, 2.

Well Pleased.

To G. B. Sproule, Photographer, Peterborough,

BENSPORT, March 28th, 1888.

SIR,—I received the photographs on Saturday, on the 24th March, and we are very well pleased with them. I think they are very much like Laura and I don't think they could have been any better.

Yours respectfully,
Mrs. H. WOOD.

At St. Andrews.

On Thursday evening a social was held at St. Andrew's manse. The residence of the pastor was filled and the receipts were very satisfactory. Refreshments, parlor games and a fine programme of vocal and instrumental music, etc., served those present to spend and enjoyable and profitable evening. The following contributed towards the programme:—The amateur orchestra or eight pieces, Misses Lech, Misses Brodie, duets, Misses Yokome and M. Edmison, violin dugt, Mr. Herbert King, song, Mr. C. Brown, reading, and Miss Heuback, song, accompanied by Miss M. Edmison on the violin.

A Novel and Interesting Easter Entertainment

will be given at the residence of Mrs. D. W. Dumble, on Tuesday evening, April 3rd. Jollity, mirth and music will be the order of the evening. Tea is to be served in the Japanese tea room by the veritable Yum Yums. Little fairies will sell bouquets, and a number of native artists will do the shadow pantomine, while the orchestra will make things generally lively. A small 5 cent bit will admit you to the chamber of horrors and another little bit will let you out and give a cup of tea to any who feel faint. The back door will be bolted, but by putting down an English shilling you can be let in by the front way. Those who do not report themselves will have to explain the reason why. 2d75

The Directors Meet and Elect the Officers for the Current Year.

A meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association was held on Thursday afternoon. There were present Messrs. Judge Weller, Dr. Burnham, G. A. Schofield, W. J. Minore, G. C. Clark and R. B. Rogers.

Dr. Burnham occupied the chair and Mr. W. J. Minore acted as Secretary.

After routine, the following officers were elected.

PRESIDENT.—Dr. Burnham.
1ST VICE-PRESIDENT.—Judge Weller.
2ND. VICE-PRESIDENT.—R. B. Rogers.
SECRETARY.—F. E. Bell.
TREASURER.—G. A. Schofield.
PATRONESSES.—Mrs. Judge Weller, Mrs. (Hon. R.) Hamilton, Mrs. Dr. Burnham and Mrs. Dennistoun.
PATRONS.—Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., D. W. Dumble, Dr. Boucher and R. A. Morrow.

Applications for the position of caretaker and cricket coach were received from Messrs. Wright, of England, and Day, of Toronto. A motion was passed that a caretaker be employed and the matter of his selection was left to Mr. John Stirling.

It was decided, on motion, to take steps to prosecute all boys and others who trespass on the grounds and destroy the club property.

The meeting then adjourned to the call of the President.

The Finest Yet.

No pains or money have been spared by Harry Winch to please the most fastidious for Easter. 3d74

Peterborough Lodge S.O.E.

The new lodge of the Sons of England Benevolent Society was organized on Thursday evening. It was at first intended to give the lodge the name of Stanley, but a lodge of the same Order in Ottawa having taken that name, the new lodge here was named Peterborough, and will be known as Peterborough Lodge No. 64, S.O. E. The charter members of the lodge assembled in the Foresters' Hall, George-st. The lodge was instituted by Bro. Wm. Brundrett, District Deputy, who was authorized to act for the Worthy Grand President, assisted by Bro. F. Brownscombe, as W.G.V.P., Bro. C. W. Forbes as G.S., and Bro. A. Clegg as G. Chaplain. The ceremony was performed smoothly and expeditiously under Bro. Brundrett's direction, and afterwards the officers were installed by the District Deputy, the offices being filled by the following members:—

Bro. I. Richardson	W.P.P.
" W. Brundrett	W.P.
" F. Brownscombe	V.P.
" C. W. Forbes	R.S.
" H. W. Stock	F.S.
" F. L. Somerville	Treas.
" A. Clegg	Chaplain
" J. Earl Jenner, M.D	Surgeon
" J. H. Stephens, Jr.	1st Guide
" W. P. Adamson	2nd "
" J. H. Yelland	3rd "
" Benj. Yelland	4th "
" Wm. Stock	5th "
" Wm. Rundle	6th "
" F. J. Davis	I.G.
" D. Spence	O.G.

Bros. Wm. Brundrett and Wm. Stock were appointed trustees, and Bros. J. Carlon, F. J. Davis and D. Spence, auditors. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a hall to meet in, which most probably will be the hall in which the lodge was instituted.

The People's best friend is Perry Davis Pain-Killer, because it is ever ready to alleviate suffering.

The Carpenters.

A meeting of the Carpenters Union was held in the K. of L. Hall, Water-st., on Thursday evening. Several new members were elected. The officers of the union were duly installed by Mr. T. M. D. Croly, but we are not at liberty just yet to publish the names.

Headache, Billiousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion relieved and at once by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. Try it. Samples free.

Good Friday.

Good Friday passed off in an exceedingly quiet manner as far as Peterborough was concerned. The services in all the churches were well attended, particularly at the Anglican and St. Peter's Cathedral.

The Popular Soaps

are French Castile, Baby's Own, White Glycerine, Balsamic, Carbolic, Tar, White Oatmeal, Musk, Old Brown Windsor and London Bouquet Toilet Soaps. Also a large assortment of Common Soaps, at W. J. Morlow's, Opera House Block.

Easter Beef.

Harry Winch has secured for his Easter trade the finest animals that he could get for love or money. See his display on Saturday. 3d74

At Home.

You're right, I am at home! I secured a home of my own on JOHN CARLISLE'S easy and safe plan. d76

Prepare to Laugh.

Mr. James Fax, who appears with the Beethoven Quartette at the Opera House next Friday evening, April 6th, is said to be the cleverest humorist in Canada. Don't fail to hear him. Tickets, 25 and 35 cents. Plan at Hartley's. Secure seats early. 1d76

Services To-morrow.

The following is a list of services in the several churches to-morrow:—

Obituary.

We regret to learn of the death, which occurred at Lindsay on Monday afternoon, of Mrs. Matchett, wife of Mr. Thos. Matchett, Treasurer of the County of Victoria. The deceased lady was stricken with paralysis the Monday previous and never recovered. She was a faithful and consistent member of the Methodist Church of that town and will be much missed. Interment took place at the Omemee cemetery to-day.

We regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Jameson, wife of Mr. Samuel Jameson and mother of Mr. F. J. Jameson, of the Examiner office, which occurred on Friday night. Mrs. Jameson was 65 years of age. The funeral will take place at 3.30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, from the family residence, Harvey-st.

Hear Chas. Kelly.

The well known basso sings at the concert in the Opera House, Friday evening next. Mr. Kelly is one of the best male vocalists in the Province and never fails to please. For a good honest song well sung and sure to please, hear Kelly. 1d76

DIED.

JAMESON.—In Peterborough, on Friday, 30th of March, 1888, MARY, wife of Mr. Samuel Jameson, aged 65 years.

Funeral to-morrow, Sunday, afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock, from the family residence, Harvey-st.

Food for Consumptives.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is a most marvelous food and medicine. It heals the irritation of the throat and lungs, and gives flesh and strength quicker than any other remedy known. It is very palatable, having none of the disagreeable taste of the crude oil. Put up in 50c and $1 size.

CRYSTAL BLOCK.

The First Symptoms

of all Lung diseases are much the same; feverishness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be well, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping Consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

Dulness the Prevailing Feature—A Hopeful Feeling in Every Quarter.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Dun, Wiman & Co.'s weekly review of trade will say: Dulness is the feature in business, but dullness with a hopeful feeling in almost every quarter. The monetary pressure which has almost invariably commenced about this time does not appear, and the dangers which were by experienced bankers apprehended seem to have vanished. There is just now so little anxiety about the money market that little is said of the delay of the bond purchase bill, by amendments, in the Senate which may possibly defeat it. The possibility of gold exports does not seem visibly nearer than it seemed weeks ago and considerable purchases of securities on foreign account are reported. Money on call at New York has ruled at 2 to 2½ per cent., and foreign exchange has declined from $4.88 to $4.87½. The more pacific advices from Europe render the outlook more satisfactory. But the prevailing dullness is everywhere felt. Many attribute it to recent storms and unfavorable weather, which doubtless affects some trades materially. Many feel the influence of existing or recent strikes. The railroad difficulty at the west does not abate. But the feature most widely observed is the disposition of customers to act with great conservatism in buying only as they are compelled to buy and this appears in many of the leading branches of trade. It is in part the fruit of expectation that prices may go lower and in part due to perception that the demand for consumption has slackened and may diminish still more.

The failures of banks or bankers in North Carolina, Mobile and Newburg has caused no disturbance, though it is recognized that many weak spots must be always found after a period of extraordinary speculative activity. Yet in the aggregate, failures are not more numerous nor more important than those of the last, or the previous year, which clearly indicates greater soundness in legitimate commerce, since the number of failures of speculative origin have increased.

Prices are maintained with remarkable steadiness. For many years it has not happened that the general level of prices has changed as little as it has during the first quarter of 1888.

Hard pan seems to have been reached in the iron busines, in the judgment of one of the most successful concerns, for the Thomas Company at last announces $20 as its contract price for the year, for best anthracite. Rates for lake ore are not yet announced but are expected to be about $6.25 for No. 1 Bessemer. The complete collapse of the coke pool with reduction of the price to $1.10 at ovens, and a lowering of rail rates, gives producers a better chance in Western Pennsylvania, but rail rates are also reduced from Alabama, and it is calculated that the price at furnaces for best mill iron averages $12.65 at Birmingham. Bar iron is unsettled, and sales of best refined at $1.85 are reported, with no eastern sales of rails. At western mills $33.50 is quoted. The anthracite companies, it is reported, have "no legal agreement," but will maintain rates through the year, now about $4 for egg.

The dry-goods trade reports fairly satisfactory sales, and the Arlington auction realized fair prices for cotton, but, it is reported, loses on woollens.

The jobbing trade is irregular, but storms and unseasonable weather, with difficulties both as to deliveries and collections in Western districts affected by railroad strikes, are named as causes.

The drug trade is in unfavorable shape, purchases being reduced as far as possible, and similar features appear in the markets for sugar and many other products which may be affected by a change of duties.

The wool market, however, though dull is steady for the better grades, while other qualities sell moderately at concessions.

Reports from various parts of the country show a general feeling of confidence, though a lack of present activity is commonly noticed with some closeness in the money market and tardiness in collecting in the Northwest.

Rates for money are about 6 per cent. at Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Chicago, at the latter strong.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 179 and for Canada 42, or a total of 221 failures, as compared with a total of 242 last week and 228 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week in 1887 the figures were 223, being 196 in the United States and 27 in Canada.

Their Trip Cut Short.

MONTREAL, March 30.—Yesterday afternoon Antoine Laframboise, aged 24, and Annie Morrison, 23, were arrested on a charge of larceny. It is alleged that the pair were boarding in an Ottawa boarding-house and stole $40 from the proprietor and came on to Montreal on the spree. They were arrested in a restaurant on St. Catharine-street, and in the pocket of the male prisoner was found the purse of the prosecutor, with the name N. A. Daigle inside it.

Revenue Reduction Recommended.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The report of the majority of the Ways and Means on the tariff bill, which will be brought into the House on Monday, begins by the statement that the surplus for last year was $55,250,000; for the present year, closing July 1, it will be $81,000,000, and on July 1 the total surplus in the Treasury will be $150,000,000. The report goes on to point out that there are but two ways to pursue to prevent a financial disaster by the accumulation of money in the Treasury—one to increase the expenditures greatly and wastefully, the other to decrease the taxes. The committee have determined to recommend a reduction of the revenues from both customs and internal taxes.

Dairymen at Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 30.—A meeting in the interest of dairymen was held here to-day. Among those present were: Prof. James Robertson of the Model Farm, Guelph; J. K. McCargar of Belleville, President of the Dairymens' Association of Eastern Ontario; D. Vandervoort and J. Haggerty, directors; James Whitton, H. A. Hodgson of Montreal; J. Y. Warrington of Belleville and all the principal buyers and makers of the district.

Prof. Robertson gave an address on the care and feed of a dairy cow and also on cheesemaking. Different makers also gave their opinions, and questions being asked Prof. Robertson made explanatory replies.

The Inspector Condemned.

SOUTH VALLEJO, Cal., March 30.—The coroner's jury in the case of the explosion of the boiler of the steamer Julia on Feb. 27, whereby the vessel was wrecked and 17 lives lost, finds that the boilers were not sufficiently strong to carry the amount of the steam registered and that the United States inspector of boilers was careless and negligent in not making a proper examination of the thickness of them. It also condemns the use of petroleum as fuel.

FROM HAMILTON TO STRATFORD.

The G.T.R. Shops to be Removed About Aug. 1—A Painful Accident.

HAMILTON, March 31.—There is little doubt that the Grand Trunk shops will be removed from this city to Stratford about Aug. 1. The rumors circulated for the past few days are to this effect: About 580 men are employed here, about 300 of whom are married and have families. Of this number nearly 550 will be removed to Stratford about Aug. 1; in fact all the departments except a few blacksmiths. This means the exodus of over 2000 persons from the city. A reporter interviewed Mr. Stiff, Mr. Domville and some of the employes to-day regarding the rumors and, in a general way, they neither denied nor affirmed them. Mr. Stiff said that he had no official notification regarding the removal of the shops; that it all lay with Mr. Hickson, and that anything reported about it must necessarily be the most vague rumor and hearsay. Mr. Stiff also said that the number of men to be removed might depend upon the way in which the city acts with regard to the South Ontario Pacific.

Yesterday afternoon an alarm of fire called the firemen to the residence of Mr. David J. Miller, 63 Bay-street. The firemen lost no time in getting the chemical to work, and soon put out the fire without having to lay hose. The fire originated through having a paper cover to a pipe hole. A lounge, sideboard and carpet were burned, the loss being estimated at $150. A hole was burned through the ceiling, the damage to the building being about $100. The house was a one-story frame, owned by Mr. Springate.

Yesterday afternoon a lad named Charles Peebles was badly injured by an unexpected explosion of gunpowder which he was setting off. His face and hands were badly burned, and to-day he was blind. It is not expected, however, that he will lose his sight.

Arrangements are in progress for a four nights' debate in this city between Charles Watts of Toronto and Thos. Williams of Waterloo, Ia. The subject of the debate will be: The Bible versus Secularism.

A special meeting of the Board of Education is to be held on Tuesday evening to consider the $100,000 building fund question.

A farewell meeting of the Hamilton Young Men's Christian Association to Mr. F. Lonsdale, the retiring Secretary, was held in St. Paul's Church school-room last night, and was very well attended.

In the assizes to-day the crim. con. case of Gibbons v. Forster was dismissed and the suit brought by Matilda Miller against her husband, Robert Miller, for alimony was settled out of court, a judgment of consent vesting the title to certain lands in plaintiff being entered.

The duties collected at this port during March were $61,076, a decrease of $22,232 as compared with the corresponding month last year.

Canadian Foresters at Deseronto.

DESERONTO, March 31.—A Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters has been organized here called Court Quinte No. 1. Bros. John Waddell, C.R., Wm. Moore, D.H.C.R., J. E. Hapkirk, S.W., and W. A. Mitchell, of Court Stanley No. 199, Kingston, assisted Bro. D. Stewart in the organization. These officers were elected: James Stokes C.R., W. J. Mallay V.C.R., A. R. Weese Chap., M. L. Barton R.S., R. Howell F.S., W. J. C. Kenney Treas., Dr. L. D. Vandervoort Physician, C. Benton S.W., J. H. Walker J.W., R. J. Paul S.B., J. D. Monahan J.B. After the ceremony the Foresters were entertained in the Connor House.

Independent Foresters at Pickering.

PICKERING, March 31.—A court of the Independent Order of Foresters was organized here last night by Dr. Oronhyatekha, S.C.R., and A. H. Dixon, D.S.C.R. The name of the new court is Queen Victoria, No. 315, and these officers were elected: C.R., Geo. Kerr; V.C.R., Robert Davidson; R.S., Richard Bunting; F.S., Wm. Logan; Treas., J. N. Richardson; S.W., J. Gordon; J.W., D. Annan; S.B., J. M. Palmer; J.B., W. J. Miller; P.C.R., Chas. Ley; Chaplain, Rev. W. S. Westney; Physician, J. H. Eastwood, M.D.

Closing Day of the Women's Council.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—An address by Mrs. John P. Newman and the singing of a hymn by the entire audience opened the exercises of the National Council of Women to-day. Matilda Joslyn Gage spoke on "Women in the Early Church, and was followed by the Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell, whose text was "Science and Religious Truth." Addresses were also made by Elizabeth Boynton Harbert and Isabella Beecher Hooker. The session of the council was concluded to-night with an address by Zerelda G. Wallace on "The Moral Power of the Ballot" and the closing address by Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

No Cholera at Nantucket.

NANTUCKET, April 1.—There is absolutely no truth in the reports of cholera at this place. The death alluded to of a sailor on the British steamer Canonbury, which ran ashore on the island, it is found occurred from Chagres fever, from which the victim had been suffering several days before the steamer struck.

The Danish Ministry Defeated.

COPENHAGEN, April 1.—The Danish ministry has been overthrown on a financial bill.

A REVOLUTION BREWING.

PEACE SAID TO BE IN THE THROES OF A DANGEROUS CRISIS.

In it the Republic's Army Career May Terminate—Gen. Boulanger the Commanding Figure in the Scene—A Situation Full of Menacing Omens.

LONDON, March 31.—The defeat of the French Government on so vital a question as the revision of the Constitution puts France into the throes of a crisis as serious as that brought about by the resignation of President Grevy. A Ministry nominated by the Extreme Left would have to introduce a measure in the direction indicated by M. Laguerre's motion, and this would certainly be rejected by the Senate. Altogether, the task of governing France at present is a herculean one. It is estimated that there are now in the French Chamber no fewer than seventeen parties of Royalists alone split into five groups, and even the Bonapartists, although sadly reduced in numbers, are split into three. The crisis gives increased importance to Gen. Boulanger, whose address to the electors of Nord is freely criticised and is held to furnish further confirmation, if any were needed, of his political manœuvres.

Journalists in the confidence of M. Tirard declare that it is not true that Boulanger was watched by the police while at Clermont. According to them, some days after the four elections in which Boulanger appeared as a candidate the first time, M. Logerot, the Minister of War, sent for him and asked for a frank and private explanation. Boulanger protested that he was quite a stranger to what had been done, and was a soldier and nothing but a soldier. Some days afterwards Gen. Boulanger, coming to Paris in defiance of express orders to the contrary, was met accidentally in the Lyons terminus by a military officer. The officer reported the fact to M. Logerot, adding that Gen. Boulanger wore dark spectacles.

It is difficult as yet to estimate Boulanger's chances of success at Nord. Much depends on whether he can persuade the peace-loving agriculturists of the north that he really favors only a defensive military policy.

The early dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies is imminent. It is reported that M. Floquet has intimated that he has no desire to occupy the position of Premier, and, although it is stated that he has not given any specific reasons for his hesitancy in accepting the honor, the reason is quite obvious, since the man who in the present circumstances assumes the responsibility of the office can see no hope of retaining his place. MM. Ribot and Rives are prominently mentioned as the probable selections of President. Carnot in the event of M. Floquet's declination or ill-success in forming a Cabinet.

A reported attempt to assassinate Gen. Boulanger at midnight, last night, the Boulanger organs, as well as other Paris newspapers deny, but even the rumor that such means of ridding France of its chief cause of unsettled political progress has created a feeling among the Proletariat against the opponents of the General that augurs woe to the detected promoters of any disaster which may befall the popular idol.

Commenting upon the French situation The London Daily News says it is not surprised that Gen. Boulanger should have a large following. The last two days have shown him to be a leader of men. His distinct and strong individuality and his faith in himself and his star represent a vague but widespread distrust, possibly only with the administration, but possibly with the entire constitutional system. Even this is a matter of small importance if it shall prove that the man represents only a spirit of dissatisfaction and should fail to give satisfaction after all; but of the truth of the one nobody is convinced, and of the other, of course, no one can know. Cromwell and Napoleon understood the nature and the direction of national impulse. If Boulanger possesses the same genius, he is the coming man of France. He may do irreparable mischief or great good, but as things are shaping themselves now he must have his day.

ALARM AT BERLIN.

The Peace of Europe Threatened—German Official Circles Gravely Disturbed.

BERLIN, March 31.—The sudden change in the position of the French political parties has reawakened apprehensions for the immediate future. Gen. Boulanger is now felt to be no spectral shadow but a substantial force threatening the peace of Europe. To-day's Paris advices gravely disturbed official circles. No reliance is placed upon any possible ministry that M. Floquet, Mr. Clemenceau or any other man may form, for the maintenance of peace. What Germany looks forward to is the voice of the French nation on appeal. If dissolution of the Chamber produces a strong Boulanger party it will be taken here as equivalent to a popular vote for war, and the convenience of the French to begin it will not be awaited.

The entire press of the country realizes the dangers of the position. The National Veitung hopes that the Chamber of Deputies will yet find a way to save the state from the war party, but despairs of the republic unless President Carnot can obtain a strong ministry having a program of peace without an arriere pensee.

The Vossische Zeitung recognises in President Carnot a prudent statesman who is conscious that Boulanger means anarchy, which will lead to an electorship, and, unless the Republicans are able to support Carnot with solid government ideas, a triumph which will invoke the overthrow of the Republic and the extinction of the nation.

No paper in Germany or Austria, however Radical, has the slightest sympathy with the Boulanger movement. The Neue Freie Presse of Vienna joins in the general strain in predicting ruin for France unless she has the wisdom to chase "that unscrupulous adventurer" out of the country.

Fire in Gravenhurst.

GRAVENHURST, March 31.—Last night about 9 o'clock a lamp exploded in the house of Mr. H. J. Evans, Muskoka-street. The family were all in an adjoining room and did not notice the fire until the house was all in flames. The dwelling and most of the contents were burned. Loss about $800; insured for $400 on building and $200 on contents.

Hotel Fire at Parry Sound.

PARRY SOUND, March 31.—The Calvery Hotel, owned by Jas. Calvery of this place, was totally destroyed by fire at noon to-day. Loss about $1200; no insurance.

The last private residence in the city of London, 21 Austin Friars, has been pulled down to be replaced by other buildings.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

The Canadian Oarsman Returns—Another Victory for the Lacrosse Team.

TORONTO, April 2.

Oarsman William O'Connor's friends were surprised to hear that the Toronto sculler had arrived home from California on Saturday morning. He was not expected back till the afternoon along with Mr. Joseph Rogers, his backer. During the day O'Connor held an informal reception at his brother's hotel, his admirers calling in big numbers to congratulate him upon his victory and to welcome him home. He told them he had had a fine time in California, and had made money by defeating Peterson. To a reporter O'Connor willingly accorded an interview. The Alameda course, he said, upon which the race was rowed, was, he believed, the finest in the world. It is only 200 yards wide with stone walls on either side extending the full length of the course. Fully 40,000 people witnessed the race. The gate money was big, but it would have been twice as much if the crowd had not broken down the fences and taken possession of the ground reserved for those paying for the privilege. Of Peterson he expressed a high opinion, both as a sculler and a gentleman. The Californian went off when the word was given at 39 strokes, and got away so fast that he (O'Connor) didn't think he was in the race, although he pulled 36 strokes himself, or 2 more than his usual stroke. Peterson pulled a game race throughout, and in his opinion was a better sculler than the California people imagine.

Another Victory for the Torontos.

LONDON, March 31.—A game of lacrosse was played to-day between the Canadian and South Manchester teams, which resulted in a score of seven goals to none in favor of the Canadians.

The Canadians appear to be ahead of the English players at all points.

Gordon scored the first, second, fourth and sixth goals, Schofield the third goal and Eckhardt the fifth. Jimmy Garvin caught finely and saved a good shot from the Manchesters, who played well but were unable to obtain an opening.

Baseball Games on Saturday.

At the Polo grounds in New York a game was played between the Jasper Club of Manhattan College and a nine made up mostly of New York players. The New Yorkers won by a score of 9 to 3.

At Baltimore the first game of the season was played between the home team and the Philadelphia league club, resulting in a victory for Baltimore by a score of 4 to 3.

Memphis again defeated the St. Louis Browns by a score of 4 to 3.

At New Orleans the Detroits beat the home club, the score being 2 to 1.

At Philadelphia the Athletic Club opened the season with the Yale College team, defeating the collegians by a score of 25 to 4.

HE WILL NOT RESIGN.

Arthur Will Stick to His Position and Has Hopes of Victory.

CLEVELAND, March 31.—To a Plain Dealer representative at 7 o'clock this evening Chief Arthur said, in answer to an inquiry whether or not he intended to resign his office owing to the revolt of the radical element in the Brotherhood: "No, sir; the radical element, as you term it, represents but a small percentage of the Brotherhood. The vast majority of our members sustain the course of the executive officers. Until such time as the opposition may gain the ascendancy, the officers will stick to the men and do their duty. I have no intention of resigning."

"What is the status of the strike?"

"There is no change. The Burlington Company is not doing at the present moment ten per cent. of their regular business. It is simply a question of endurance; how long will the stockholders of the Burlington road submit to the ruinous policy pursued by the president and general manager of the road? Even if the strike should be ordered off to-morrow it would be a year before the Burlington could recover its normal traffic, which has been diverted to other roads. The stockholders have vast financial interests at stake and it is not probable that they will deliberately wreck the prosperity of the valuable property to achieve a hollow victory over the engineers."

"Do you think that the strike will become general?"

"I do not think that it will. If we had listened to the importunities of the hot heads every road in the country would have been tied up to-day. It lay in the power of the executive officers to stop railroad traffic in the United States entirely, but we refused to do so. These new strikes in Chicago are mostly local, and affect business in Chicago. The men are acting on their own responsibility and will not receive a cent from the treasury of the Brotherhood unless we sanction their conduct."

In conclusion Chief Arthur repeated: "I do not intend to resign. We expect to freeze the Burlington Company out. We have not ordered any new strike. We do not approve of strikes. We have received assurance from members of the Brotherhood all over the country that they will furnish us financial aid. It is simply a question of endurance."

THE JANITOR IN THE JUG.

JOHN GRIFFITHS ARRESTED ON HIS RETURN TO RALEIGH.

Released on Bail—He will be Used as a Witness Against President Cross and Cashier White—Arraigned in the Police Court—An Officer Coming After them.

President Cross and Cashier White of the Raleigh State National Bank were arraigned before Magistrate Denison in the Police Court on Saturday morning and remanded until to-day, pending the arrival of the people from Raleigh. Mr. Bigelow represented the prisoners, who both looked careworn and dispirited.

Cross especially seemed to have lost all heart, and had the appearance of a man without hope. Neither opened his mouth, their lawyer doing all the talking. The Magistrate in giving the remand remarked that the necessary papers would have to be hurried through as the police had no authority except the telegrams on which to hold the absconders. Remands will be granted from day to day until a reasonable time has elapsed for Chief Heartt and his witnesses to arrive.

It was thought that the Raleigh people would have been able to get in on Saturday night or Sunday, but last night's 7.45 train from the West arrived without them. It is probable that the detour they were compelled to make via Washington to secure the necessary papers from the U. S. authorities has caused the delay.

On Friday afternoon Janitor John Griffiths, who left Toronto for Raleigh a few hours before the principals were arrested on Thursday, was arrested on the train near that city and lodged in the jail. He says he left Raleigh on Saturday a week ago with Cross and White. The latter had two very heavy valises. He declares that he did not know the contents of the valises. They all went to Greensboro; thence via Washington to New York, stopping in the latter city only twenty minutes. They went thence to Toronto, via Niagara Falls, where they passed the custom officers without trouble. They arrived at Toronto early on Monday morning. Griffiths says that both Cross and White were drunk all the time they were on their way to Toronto, and all the time he was with them in that city. When they got beyond Washington City he was badly scared and thought that they were going to sell him into slavery. He was not told anything until after he had crossed the Niagara River, and then Cross told him that the bank had been broken for three years, and that he and White were compelled to leave or they would be put in the Penitentiary.

Solicitor Argo had an interview with Griffiths and came to the conclusion that he was innocent of any knowledge of the fraud, and subsequently had him released on bail and will use him as a witness.

The Toronto detectives deny positively the statement made by Griffiths that Cross and White were drinking. When arrested they were perfectly sober, and neither smelled nor had the appearance of men who were in the habit of using intoxicants.

The Raleigh Grand Jury sat on the case all last Friday. It found a true bill against C. E. Cross, charging him with forging names of W. H. Avara and B. T. Barbour of Johnston County on a note for $7500. True bills were also found against C. E. Cross and S. C. White on the charge of forging the names of D. H. Graves and W. H. Saunders of Johnston County for $6250. An indictment was also found against S. C. White individually for forging the names of Avara and Graves. Avara died Jan. 27 last and the forgery was committed March 7. The evidence is plain and unmistakeable, and Mr. Argo is in hopes of bringing the two to a speedy trial, probably this week, if the prisoners remain steadfast in their determination to go back without giving trouble.

Cross' Raleigh attorney says he knew for some time back that the bank was rotten, and advised him to close it up the day before he and White fled. They told him they must go along until the Monday, and would then close as they were completely tied up. He further asserts that he had no idea that they intended to abscond, and was greatly surprised when he learned that they had done so. It is said that they left behind them $75,000 worth of forged paper, the fogeries being of the most clumsy description, showing undoubted collusion between Cross and White.

The officers left Raleigh for Toronto on Friday night. Before starting Chief Heartt received the following despatch from White: Come after us. We will go home with you. Ten years is the limit for forgery in North Carolina.

On their Way to Toronto.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—District Attorney Busbee and Chief of Police Hearit, of Raleigh, N.C., passed through Washington to-day on their way to Toronto after the defaulting officers of the State National Bank of Raleigh, and while here had a short conference with Comptroller Trenholm in regard to the affairs of that bank.

ADVANTAGES OF INDUSTRY.

A LETTER from Mr. T.D. Ledyard appears in another column on the iron industry and commercial union. It will be noticed that he does not take exception to the artical in the REVIEW to which he refers, because in that article, so far as we then quoted his remarks we agreed with him, and that was to the extent that manufacturing industries were a benefit to the farming community. Mr. Ledyard took that ground, and we repeat what we then said, that it would be well if commercial unionists would always bear in mind that fact.

In the sense in which commercial unionists use the words "restrictionist papers" that term and Conservative papers are almost synonymous, because all the Conservative papers oppose commercial union and all but a few Liberal papers advocate that scheme or its counterpart, unrestricted reciprocity with the United States. But as a fact the terms are not synonymous, because the commercial unionists are the real restrictionists, as they would restrict our trade with all countries except one.

Mr. Ledyard is right in saying that the chief object of the REVIEW is to promote the interests of this county, and he might have added of the country generally. Anyone could easily see that the prosperity of the county would benefit the REVIEW (even taking that selfish view of the matter) far more than would the advancement of any political party, and we would have no interest in advocating a course that would be detremental to the county or to the Dominion. But Mr. Ledyard and the REVIEW differ as to the best means by which that object may be attained.

We do not intend to dispute the richness of much of the Canadian iron ore, and do not begrudge Mr. Ledyard the advertisement of his lot which is introduced in his letter to prove that part of his statement. But the chief difference in our views lies in the fact, shown clearly and unmistakably by Mr. Ledyard's language, that he looks to the developement of the Canadian mines solely for the purpose of supplying furnaces in the United States. "Our only market," he says, referring to the ore, "is in the United States." Commercial union, however, would not give us a market for all our iron ores. The richest, such as is used in the manufacture of steel, might find a market there to a certain extent, but any but the richest would not be required and the only result—to put the best face upon the matter—would be the stripping and exporting of the selected best of the ores, while all the rest would remain in the earth. Mr. Ledyard formerly wrote a letter in a United States paper to show the manufacturers there that they could get iron ore in Canada, and, as he says now, tried to convice them that they could import it advantageously from here. But there was not in that letter, nor in his present one, any attempt to show that, with no protection, the manufacture of iron could becarried on here and while still in its infancy compete in their own markets with the immense concerns of the United States. While unrestricted reciprocity would not lead to the manufacture of iron here, nor to the general developement of the mines, it would be highly injurious to the iron industries already established. When the ore is taken to Pennsylvania, manufactured into iron there, the iron brought back to Peterborough and made into complete articles, how could the Peterborough manufacturer pay the additional freight into the United States and compete with manufacturers there, when his expenses have already been so much heavier than those of his United States competitors? Why, under such a system the foreign manufacturer would have a considerable advantage over the home industry even in the Canadian market.

This state of affairs would be remedied by making the iron here. True, Mr. Ledyard thinks that this cannot be done profitably. But the instance he cites does not prove it. If two charcoal furnaces could supply all that kind of iron needed for car wheels, they could at least find a sufficient market for their product in the manufacture of such wheels, and while a mixture is needed for the wheels, it is not a mixture from different charcoal furnaces. The furnaces the mixture would be required from would find extensive markets in other directions. In a country where in ten years over 7,000 miles of new railway has been built, and new roads are being projected and will be needed, and where such large quantities of iron are used in various manufactures as is being constantly made up in Canada, it is useless to talk of no iron being needed and of there being no market for iron. The demand for the railways alone, the rails and the rolling stock, would of itself be very large.

Commercial union would not only injure the iron industries of Canada and of Peterborough. It would operate against other manufactures. A system of trade that would lead to the export of our natural produce and the importation of our manufactured articles might be a better one for some dealers and speculators, but it would be injurious to the solid industries and to the country as a whole. Remembering the advantages of industries to the farmers, which Mr. Ledyard so graphically described, we cannot do otherwise than oppose commercial union or unrestriated reciprocity in the interest of the farming community, as well as in the interest of the manufacturers, mechanics, merchants and other branches of industry and of trade.

CORRESPONDENCE.

While correspondents will be allowed space to discuss questions of public interest, the Review does not hold itself responsible for the opinions expressed.

Commercial Union.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—In a recent number of the REVIEW, you were good enough to notice my paper on "The Mining Interests of Canada," in an article headed "The advantages of Industry." You could not have chosen a more appropriate heading and I rejoice that we are so far of one mind.

I must, however, correct your statement that I quoted from a Conservative paper, and differed from it. I did not say Conservative, but I said a "Restrictionist paper," and trust that the words are not yet synonymous. I am myself and always have been a Conservative; half the members of the Executive Committee of our commercial union club are Conservatives, and members of that party are joining us daily, a late notable example being your much respected fellow-townsman, Mr. Claxton.

We are sorry to differ from influential members of our party, but there are evidently numbers of Convervatives who, being fully persuaded that unrestricted reciprocity will greatly benefit the largest portion of our people, have made up their minds in this case to prefer the good of the country to party interests, and when the time comes will vote for reciprocity and make that great question the leading plank of their political platform.

Now, as the chief object of the REVIEW is doubtless to promote the welfare of the county of Peterborough, and as your county is rich in minerals, chiefly iron ores, and our only market for these is in the United States, will you kindly tell your readers how this industry is to be be promoted without reciprocity?

It is utterly useless to think of developing our iron mines for the Canadian market, which is too small to induce capitalists to put up the expensive works required for iron smelting. Two ordinary sized charcoal furnaces would supply the whole of Canada with that kind of iron, and even if we had these and were confined to our own market, they would not pay, because in making car wheels, which is the principal use for charcoal iron, several mixtures of iron are required, generally the produce of 3 or 4 furnaces, and a mixture from 2 furnaces only would not be suitable.

There are ores in your county equal to any in the world. A recent analysis from Lot 19 in 1st Con. of Belmont gives metallic iron 68.88, phosphorus 0.006, silica 3.12, titanium none, sulphur none, and is as perfect Bessemer ore as can be conceived, being exceptionally free from impurities and extra rich in iron.

The Americans know what our iron ores are and appreciate them, and were it not for the duty, our mines could be worked as profitably as theirs.

The Cleveland Iron Trade Review, an influential journal and the organ of the Lake Superior ore producery, in an editorial on my paper, after quoting my statement that without the duty our ores could be delivered to American Lake Ontario and Lake Erie ports cheaper than Lake Superior ore, says, "Just so; there is no doubt of it, and it is easy to see that the free admission of Canadian ores would close our mines."

From the mouth piece of American ore men, this is the best certificate of the value of our ores and of the cheapness with which they can be delivered to market.

Ontario has a much larger mining territory than Michigan, with ores equally as good; yet while there were mined in Michigan last year nearly 4 million tons of iron ore, Ontario produced less than 25,000 tons.

In mining and shipping to market the Michigan ores, nearly 20 millions of dollars were paid out in wages and freight in the one year 1887, benefitting that State more than any other industry.

The duty only prevents us doing the same as Michigan; if we had the American market, as they have, we could annually distribute millions of dollars among our people as the result of working our iron mines.

Now, as the development of this industry will benefit the mining portions of Ontario and particularly the county of Peterborough more than anything else, surely the REVIEW will advocate reciprocity in iron ores, or if you cannot do so, give us your reasons for opposing it.

Yours, &c.,
T. D. LEDYARD.

The Norwood Concert.

The following reference to those from Peterborough who took part in the Oddfellows' concert at Norwood is from the Norwood Register:—"The chairman then introduced Dr. Bell, of Peterborough, Grand Warden of Ontario, who delivered an address on Oddfellowship. The Doctor's address was a very able one, well delivered, and listened to with rapt attention. He instituted the Norwood Lodge in December last and has since taken a great interest in its welfare, aiding the brethern by his wise counsel and friendly sympathy. Mr. Roy, who has won a provincial reputation for his skill in legerdemain, then produced a wonderful mystery. His performance throughout was unique and excited a great deal of interest. The celebrated Harmony Club then appeared on the platform. The club is well named and made up of four good-looking fellows whose songs fairly 'brought down the house.' They were loudly cheered each time and always good-naturedly responded. The chairman then announced a change in the programme and Mr. Dixon, the well known ventriloquist, was called to the platform. He is a jolly-looking fellow and a favorite at sight. His performance was amusing. We hope to have the privilege of seeing and hearing him again sometime. Mr. Miller, the mind-reader, was called upon and performed some strange feats. Mr. Miller is a very clever young man and his performance was loudly applauded. In our opinion he is quite the equal of Stewart Cumberland. Mr. Mulligan's solo, entitled 'The Death of Nelson,' was loudly applauded and he was brought back amid shouts of applause from all parts of the hall."

Officer Stewart got his baptisim, as it were, on Saturday night. A young man named Napoleon Guerin was disorderly near Dolan's corner. The officer warned him to move on, but he refused and the cop arrested him. A row resulted and after some difficulty the prisoner was landed in the cells. At the court this morning he was fined $5 and also paid $10 to officer Stewart for a coat that was torn.

Pancakes in Variety.

On cold winter mornings pancakes of all kinds hold an important place at the breakfast table; the buckwheat cake the most cherished of all. When properly made, this is the most delicious of all the griddle cakes, but it has been against it when made from yeast or risen over night that it was difficult to make light and sweet, and that disagreeable effects frequently followed its eating. It is found that by the use of the Royal Baking Powder to raise the batter these objections have been entirely overcome, and that buckwheat cakes are made a most delicious food, light, sweet, tender and perfectly wholesome, that can be eaten by anyone without the slightest digestive inconvenience. Once tested from the following receipt no other will be used:—Two cups of buckwheat, one cup of wheat flour, two tablespoons of Royal Baking Powder, one half teaspoonful of salt, all sifted well together. Mix with milk into a thin batter and bake at once on a hot griddle.

The purest and richest syrup is made by dissolving sugar in the proportion of three pounds of sugar to one pint of water. Many persons prefer the flavor of syrup made of Orleans sugar to that made of the white.

Rice griddle cakes are very delicious. The rice is cooked until perfectly soft, drained dry, mashed with a spoon until the grains are well broken up. For each cupful of rice take two eggs, one pint of milk, one heaping teaspoonful of Royal Baking Powder, one half teaspoonful of salt, and flour enough to make a thin batter.

For hominy cakes take two cupfuls of cooked hominy, and crush it with a potato-masher until it is a smooth mass. Add one level teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of Royal Baking Powder, and one cupful of flour. Stir together; then add by degrees one quart of milk, and lastly three well beaten eggs. Bake in thin cakes.

Very delicate and delicious cakes are made by allowing two teaspoonfuls of Royal Baking Powder and one-half teaspoonsul of salt to one quart of milk, and sufficient corn meal, mixing all into a smooth, thin batter; no eggs or butter are used for these. The cakes bake quickly to a rich deep brown and are extremely tender and light.

A very delicious, sweet pancake is made by taking one pint of sweet milk, four eggs, two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one teaspoonful of Royal Baking Powder, and flour enough to make a moderately thin batter. Beat the eggs, whites and yelks separately, until well frothed, stir the butter, sugar, and one cupful of flour, into which the baking-powder has been mixed, into the yelks, then add milk. If needed add more flour. Bake in small cakes, butter each one as it comes from the fire, place four in a pile, with very thin layers of any kind of sweet jelly between, and powdered sugar over the top. They should be baked very thin and four served to each person.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Weather Probabilities.

Fresh to strong north-east backing to north-west winds; partly cloudy weather; with showers of rain and sleet in some localities; not much change in temperatures.

In the Near Future.

We are compelled to defer our millinery open until next week. We had ordered a very fine stock of the newest mantles, mantle goods and new trimmings and expected that the goods to hand before this. They are on the way and as soon as received will be opened up. Our friends and customers will excuse the delay, and we ask them to wait for our opening before deciding on spring purchases. The golden lion is bound to lead the trade in millinery and mantles.

The Lakefield Chronicle says:—"On Tuesday an interesting event occurred at the residence of Mr. James Baptie, 5 con. of Smith—the marriage of Miss Jane Baptie to Mr. Jno. Bickell. Rev. Jno. McEwen performed the ceremony; the bride being assisted by Miss Kate Irwin of Peterborough, and the groom by Mr. Jas. Lillico of North Monaghan. The presents were numerous, and the happy couple left for Peterborough their future residence, with the well wishes of a large assemblage of relatives and friends."

About the Newest Trimmings.

All the newest trimmings to be worn this season in the leading cities are in stock at Turnbull's. Among these are the new "shot Silks," Shaded Ribbons and "Rosebuds," very new and particularly stylish. Ladies can note the charming effect attained in viewing these trimmings by inspecting our patterns on opening days, Wednesday and Thursday, April 4th and 5th. 1w13-3d78

Cricket.

Mr. H. Day has been engaged as coach and groundsman for the Peterborough cricket club for the coming season. Mr. Day was in town on Saturday and created a very favorable impression. He comes excellently recommended as a fine fast bowler, good steady bat and excellent field. He was engaged last year by the Folkestone, Eng., club and had a batting average of 16 for the season and secured nearly a hundred wickets. The club is preparing a long programme for the season, and it will no doubt be a successful one. Among the old reliables there are good players, and many of the younger members are coming forward fast, and will doubtless make good progress with Mr. Day's coaching.

CHURCH NOTES.

Easter Services in Various Churches—Baptist Anniversary Sermons.

The Easter services in connection with the Mark-st. Methodist church, Ashburnham, have been very successful this year. On Good Friday at 11 a.m., a good congregation was present when the pastor, the Rev. J. C. Wilson, preached from "The Rending of the Veil," showing, 1st, that the rending of it was a miracle; 2nd, it showed the doing away of the Levitical economy; 3rd, the rending of the veil allowed the glory to shine forth, so the rending of Christ's body was the breaking of the box of precious ointment, the fragrance of which is filling the world. On Easter Sunday there was a prayer meeting from 10 a.m. until 11. The public service then began. The sermon was on the resurrection of Jesus Christ, in which was noted the time of his resurrection, the different theories respecting it and the comfort to all believers that this same Jesus will go with them through death. The fellowship meeting was then held and was one of great profit. In the evening again a large congregation was present when the lessons from the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ were noted by the speaker. The death of Jesus was the most wonderful fact of the universe, rendered necessary in order that it might be possible for God to save man, and that he might present unto man a motive, by which he would be induced to draw nigh unto God. The attraction was love. God's love was never so seen as in the empire of human redemption. To be benefitted by the great scheme of salvation all must come personally and cast the burden of our guilt and daprarity upon the great "Sin Bearer." He closed with an earnest appeal to all present, who had not done so, not to leave the place until they had prayed "God be merciful to me a sinner," and thus go home justified. The choir which was present added greatly to the interest and success of all the services in the wise selections and the very efficient manner they performed their part. The church was elaborately and most beautifully decorated with plants and flowers, reflecting great taste and credit on the young ladies of the congregation. A tide of prosperity is flowing in on this church, as seen in the enlarging congregations and increasing interest manifested in all the services. Prominent among these is the great advance the choir has made of late, under the efficient leadership of Mr. Hiram Armstrong, and Miss Emma Smith, organist. The Sunday School is also prospering under the able superintendency of Mr. A. D. Russell.

The anniversary sermons of the Murray-st. Baptist Church were preached on Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Reddick, of Port Hope, who occupied the pulpit at both the morning and evening services. In the morning he took his text from Galatians, vi., 14:—"God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ." Some things, he said, were attractive at first, but were deceptive. Sin was especially deceptive in its character. Many things did not attract at first sight, because they had to have an acquaintance with them to know their worth. Among the latter were the Bible, Christ and the crucifixion of the Saviour. To the world the crucifixion was not an attractive event, yet in it there was value to all eternity to those who would view the crucified Lord as their Saviour. Wherein did the glory of Christ's crucifixion lie? Like the light of the sun, it was all around, but he would point to some of the bright rays of glory. The glory of Christ's death was seen in the great salvation it provided for mankind. The preacher dwelt on this idea, and said if they could tell the difference between the misery of the lost and the bliss of the redeemed, they would be able to measure the glory of the crucifixion. Its glory was also shown in that it revealed the character of God. He pointed out how it showed God's wisdom, power, justice, love and all the attributes of God. It was shown in the unity of Christians. They served in different companies and regiments, but they all fought under the one flag of the cross. Time would fail to tell all the glory of the cross; eternity would not reveal it. Angels looked down and called this "the world of the cross." When man's highest wisdom was reached, no truth would be so great as that of the cross. Christ was the solid rock upon which the church stood. When the saved saw the glory revealed they would exclaim, "God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of the Lord Jesus Christ." The sermon was highly interesting throughout and was delivered to a large and attentive congregation.

The Rev. Mr. Thompson officiated at the George-st. Methodist Church on Easter Sunday. In the morning a special service was held for the children, who were present in large numbers and occupied the centre seats. The service, in addition to the regular routine, included responsive readings, recitation of the Apostle's creed, repitition of the Commandments and reading of psalms. The attendance at each service was large and the evangelistic service in the evening was attended by many.

At St. Peter's Cathedrial the usual services were held. In the morning Pontifical High Mass was held, the Bishop officiating, with Father Evay as Deacon and Father Rudkins as sub Deacon. His Lordship preached at both services, morning and evening. Professor Doucet and Oliver, with violin and clarionet, assisted the choir.

The attendance at St. Luke's, Ashburnham, was extra large, at each of the three services held. A special feature was the childrens' service in the afternoon. A large number was present and the young folks sang several Easter carols in an acceptable manner.

Miss Harriette Dingle, of Oshawa, who is visiting her brother here, sang the solo "Flee as a Bird" during the offertory at the George-st. Methodist church last evening. Miss Dingle has a good contralto voice, and sang with taste and feeling.

The usual Easter services were conducted at St. John's, by the Rev. Mr. Beck. In the afternoon the children of the Sabbath School occupied seats in the church and a special service was conducted for them.

At the morning services in the Charlotte-st. church on Sunday six children were baptised by the Rev. I. Tovell. Mr. Tovell's subject for next Sunday evening will be "Christianity in Relation to Pleasures."

Special services will be conducted at the school room of the George-st. Methodist church on Monday and Wendesday evenings each week.

Rev. J. C. Wilson, of Ashburnham, will fill the pulpit in the George-st Methodist church on Sunday next.

Brevities.

—The Lindsay Central Fair will be held on Oct. 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

—The regular meeting of the Ashburnham council takes place this evening.

—The butchers report an extra large demand for Easter beef this year.

—The cricket club have arranged for a match with Rosedale on Dominion Day.

—Mr. T. Hurley's business is extensive. He has some of the most eligible property on Kent-st., Lindsay, for sale.

—A number of vocalists from town took part in the services at the Roman Catholic Church, at Norwood, on Easter Sunday.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education will take place at 7.45 to-morrow evening.

—The True Blues hold an assembly this evening and they expect quite a number of visitors from the neighboring towns and villages.

—Fenelon Falls Gazette:—"Rev. Mr. Logan has been confined to the rectory for more than a week by a violent cold and bilious attack, but is now out again."

—Mr. Beckett, of the Hamilton file and saw works, is in town. He likes us and if encouragement was given he would establish business here.

—A regular meeting of the Town Council will take place this evening at 7.30 o'clock. The matter of appointing police is not likely to come up, as many replies are still being received from all over the country.

—Messrs. J. H. C. F. Fisher, Bailieboro, P. McNaughton, Norwood, J. A. Fitzgerald, of Millbrook, and H. J. Meikeljohn and John Brown, of Campbellford, have graduated as M. D's. at Trinity University, Toronto.

—During service at St. Paul's Church on Sunday evening a vagrant bat found its way into the auditorium and flitted about to the consternation of ladies near whom it happened to pass. It was an intruder that the vigilant sexton could not overtake.

REVIEWS.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for April is an admirable number, replete with interesting and instructive literary matter and profusely illustrated. Among the special articles is "Acting and Actors," by C. Coquelin, the famous French actor; "A Winter in Algiers," by F. A. Bridgeman; "The Leavenworth School," by Chas. King. All of the above are well illustrated. Chas. Dudley Warner continues his admirable papers on "The Great West," while the special departments of fiction and poetry are fully up to the high standard of this magazine.

CRYSTAL BLOCK.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 2½ years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reestablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

MONDAY, APRIL 2, 1888.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

Indeed, it is probably a fear lest she shall deem them unduly elated that causes them to hesitate before running to greet her with their usual demonstrative joy Then politeness gets the better of pride, and, rising with a mighty effort, they stretch themselves, yawn, and, going up to her, thrust their soft muzzles into her hands, and look at her with their great, liquid, loving eyes. They rub themselves against her skirts, and wag their tails, and give all other signs of loyalty and devotion.

Mona, stooping, caresses them fondly. They are a part of her old life, and dear, therefore, to her own faithful heart. Having partly undressed, she sits down upon the hearth-rug with them, and, with both their big heads upon her lap, sits staring into the fire, trying to while away with thought the hours that must elapse before Geoffrey can return to her again.

It is dreary waiting. No sleep comes to her eyes; she barely moves; the dogs slumber drowsily, and moan and start in their sleep, "fighting their battles o'er again," it may be, or anticipating future warfare. Slowly, ominously, the clock strikes twelve. Two hours have slipped into eternity; midnight is at hand.

At the sound of the twelfth stroke the hounds stir uneasily, and sigh, and opening wide their huge jaws, yawn again. Mona pats them reassuringly, and flinging some fresh logs upon the fire, goes back once more to her old position, with her chin in the palm of one hand, whilst the other rests on the sleek head of Spice.

Mona shivers. Getting up from her lowly position, she draws back the curtains of her window and looks out upon the night. It is brilliant with moonlight, clear as day, full of that hallowed softness, that peaceful serenity that belongs alone to night.

She is enchanted, and stands there for a minute or two spell-bound by the glory of the scene before her. Then a desire to see her beloved lake from the great windows in the northern gallery takes possession of her. She will go and look at it, and afterwards creep on tiptoe to the library, seize the book she had been reading before dinner, and make her way back again to her room without any one being in the least the wiser. Anything will be better than sitting here any longer, dreaming dismal day-dreams.

She beckons to the dogs, and they, coming up to her, follow her out of the room and along the corridor outside their soft, velvet paws making no sound upon the polished floor. She has brought with her no lamp. Just now, indeed, it would be useless, such "a wide and tender light" does heaven's lamp fling upon floor and ceiling, chamber and corridor.

The whole of the long north gallery is flooded with its splendor. The oriel window at its farther end is lighted up, and from it can be seen a picture, living, real, that resembles fairy-land.

Sinking into the cushioned embrasure of the window, Mona sits entranced, drinking in the beauty that is balm to her imaginative mind. The two dogs, with a heavy sigh, shake themselves, and then drop with a soft thud upon the floor at her feet,—her pretty arched feet that are half naked and white as snow, their blue slippers being all too loose for them.

Below is the lake bathed in moonshine. A gentle wind has arisen, and little wavelets silver-tinged are rolling inward, breaking themselves with tender sobs upon the shore.

"The floor of heaven
Is thick inlaid with patines of bright gold."

The floor is pale, nay, almost blue. A little snow is sifted lightly on branch, and grass, and ivied wall. Each object in the sleeping world is quite distinct.

"All things are calm, and fair, and passive; earth
Looks as if lulled upon an angel's lap
Into a breathless, dewy sleep: so still
That we can only say of things, they be."

The cold seems hardly to touch Mona, so wrapped she is in the beauties of the night. There is at times a solemn indefinable pleasure in the thought that we are awake while all the world sleepeth; that we alone are thinking, feeling, holding high communion with our own hearts and our God.

The breeze is so light that hardly a trembling of the leafless branches breaks the deadly silence that reigns all around:

"A lone owl's hoot,
The waterfall's faint drip,
Alone disturb the stillness of the scene."

Tired at length, and feeling somewhat chilled, Mona ronses herself from her reverie, and, followed by her two faithful guardians, moves towards the staircase. Passing the armored men that stand in niches all along the walls, a little sensation of fear, a certain belief in the uncanny, runs through her. She looks in a terrified fashion over her left shoulder, and shudders perceptibly. Do dark fiery eyes look upon her in very truth from those ghastly visors?—surely a clank of supernatural armor smote upon her ear just then!

MONOPOLY SURRENDERED,

MANITOBA TO BE ALLOWED TO BUILD HER ROAD.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Indemnified by a Government Guarantee on Fifteen Millions of the Company's Land Bonds—Saturday's Cabinet Council.

OTTAWA, March 31.—A meeting of the Cabinet Council was held to-day, lasting from 11 o'clock a.m. until 6 o'clock p.m. The ministers lunched in the Chamber, Caterer Sam Cassidy about 1 o'clock knocking at the portal of the room within whose sacred precincts so many schemes are hatched and so much policy moulded and thunder prepared wherewith to scare off the Opposition. Sam is about the only man in Canada, barring Messenger Macnaughton, who has seen half a century of service, who would dare to unceremoniously present himself before Her Majesty's Privy Councillors, but Ministers of the Crown, being moulded on the same plan as ordinary human beings, must eat, and of necessity step down from the high pedestal when the caterer drops around.

The question under consideration during the day is understood to have been the details of the agreement between the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Government. The legal aspect of the case must have occupied considerable attention to judge by the ringing of electric bells and the bustle and activity with which the Department of Justice was charged. For an hour or two everything was on the jump, all of which would indicate that there has not yet been a ratification of the arrangement.

When the Council rose at 6 o'clock The World correspondent waylaid Sir John and explained how deeply he should like to enter into his confidence touching the all-absorbing topic. The "G.O.M.'s" face presented unusual evidence of fatigue. There was an absence of color in his cheeks, and his lips looked parched. It was quite evident that he had put in a busy day, and even in the young members, as they filed out, the elasticity of step which characterized some of them, seemed to have gone "on strike."

"Well," said the Chieftain with a bright twinkle of the eye, "I'm not taking anybody into my confidence just now on that subject. No final conclusion has as yet been reached." Then gazing intently at your correspondent as though mentally wondering if he had said enough, he suddenly gave a characteristic toss of the head and added: "You can say the matter is still under consideration."

Sir John said he felt that the Manitoba delegates had gone home thoroughly satisfied with the shape things had taken and that as soon as the Legislature had been called together they would present the result of the negotiations. Until that time he did not consider it poltic to interfere with what was their evident right to first present the solution of the difficulty to the Legislature.

Sunday Night, April 1.—It is probable that there was truth in the report circulated in London, Eng., and which must have emanated from the Canadian Pacific Railroad offices there, that the proposed method of settling the Manitoba difficulty was for the Canadian Government to cancel the monopoly clause of the C.P.R. charter applicable to Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia, leaving it a question for the Canadian Government only, in all future time, and irrespective of the C.P.R., to allow railways between the C.P.R. and the American boundary, as the national interests might seem to dictate.

In consideration of this concession from the Canadian Pacific Railway the Canadian Government, as stated in London, would have been willing to guarantee 3 per cent. interest on about fifteen millions of dollars' worth of C.P.R. land bonds. The lands on which these bonds are issued are now subject to a lien of only about half value. Canada would, therefore, be incurring no real liability, and the only benefit to the C.P.R. would be the difference between the value of the bonds with and without a Government guarantee.

There is reason to believe that this was contemplated, but if the Canadian Pacific Railway were willing to purchase peace, and the advantages of peace in the way of settlement of the country and its freedom from agitation, for so small a consideration it would go to prove that the railway company has not been the stumbling block in the way of an earlier solution of the difficulty.

There seems now to be some hitch again in the proceedings; but what it is I do not learn for certain. From a trustworthy source I gather, however, that the London press got hold of the right story, so far as the Canadian Pacific Railway were concerned. The present hitch must be between the Dominion and Provincial Governments therefore. The Globe's Friday article is read here to mean that the Reformers cannot believe in the extraordinary moderation of the Canadian Pacific Railway claim, and would have had the wind completely taken out of their sails if the negotiations had gone on upon the alleged basis. The Globe, however, seemed to think that they were bonds on the Canadian Pacific Railway road and not bonds on their lands, which makes the "sell" all the more complete.

CAPITAL NOTES.

The British Fisheries Plenipotentiaries Thanked by the Queen.

OTTAWA, April 1.—Official information has been received that a communication has been addressed to the British plenipotentiaries at the recent Fisheries Conference expressing the Queen's approval and that of the British Government, at the manner in which they conducted the negotiation for a settlement of the difficulty on the Atlantic coast of North America, in transmitting the instructions of the Colonial Office, and special acknowledgement of Her Majesty's Government of the ability and knowledge which Sir Charles Tupper brought to bear on the discussion of the question. Sir Charles acknowledged these complimentary messages.

Col. Twitchell, the American consul at Kingston, has just been notified that Canadian sailors who ship on American vessels are entitled to all the privileges accorded American sailors and are regarded as American citizens. A Canadian sailor who leaves an American vessel as an American or foreign port is recognized as an American while he remains on shore, but does not engage in any other business and till he again reships on an American vessel. When he ships on a Canadian craft then he forfeits the privileges referred to.

The Marine Department will probably expend $100,000 on a lighthouse and for alarm improvements at Cape Traverse, on the lower St. Lawrence.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether rising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

The Locomotive Split the Rock.

OTTAWA, April 1.—As the Winnipeg train coming east was approaching Rentrew at a very high rate of speed, on account of trying to make up time, and while rounding a curve, the engine struck a rock weighing over a ton lying across one of the rails, splitting it in two. Fortunately both pieces flew off the track, as had they fallen between the rails a serious accident and large loss of life would have undoubtedly ensued. As it was the only injury sustained was by the locomotive, which is considerably battered at the spot where it struck the rock.

How Two Lives Were Lost.

OTTAWA, April 1.—A horrible accident is reported at Schreiber, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, on Friday, by which two men lost their lives. Four men were engaged in shoveling the snow from the track in a cut just west of Schreiber when the express came along. Two of the men scrambled into a place of safety, but the other two attempted to climb the snowbank at the cutting. The snowbank fell, carrying them with it and on to the track just in front of the engine. Both were horribly mangled.

McMaster University.

TORONTO, April 2.—The establishment of McMaster University now rests with the Board of Governors appointed by the convention last October. Rev. Joshua Denovan is chairman of the Board. Nothing will be done in the way of organizing a staff for some time, and when the university is a going concern it will be somewhat confined in its operations, as it will only have first year students to begin with. If the university is organized for the coming fall it is altogether likely the students will be provided accommodation in McMaster Hall or in some rented building. It is not the intention of the Board of Governors to build this year, and perhaps not next. The Baptist body have about $1,200,000 under their control for educational purposes. This is as much as the combined endowments of Queen's, Victoria and Trinity Universities. A prominent member of the Board said on Saturday that while their university would not cover so many courses as the Provincial University, yet there was no reason to doubt McMaster University would have as good professors for the limited courses it would decide upon as could be found in any college, and there was no reason why the students pursuing such courses should not be as thoroughly educated in them as the students of Toronto or any other university. The first work the Board will undertake will be in increasing the efficiency of the Literary College at Woodstock.

The project to establish shipbuilding in Spain by English capital seems now to be perfect. It will begin at Bilbao.

A PROPOSITION TO THE "Q"

THE BROTHERHOOD MAKE AN OFFER TO ARBITRATE.

They Suggest That the Dispute Be Referred To Three Railway Managers—A Row in the Northwestern Yards—5000 St. Paul Men Laid Off.

CHICAGO, April 2.—There was a row in the Northwestern yards this morning on account of the appearance of a Fort Wayne engine manned by Master Mechanic Ormsby as engineer and a "wiper" from the Fort Wayne shops as fireman. They hauled a Pullman car over to the Northwestern, but upon their arrival a lot of Northwestern switchmen jumped on the engine and threw Ormsby and his helper off and after subjecting them to considerable ill-treatment drove them out of the yards. The engine was then blown off and the fire damped.

It is stated here that unless the St. Paul switchmen are at their posts to-morrow morning ready for work they can never obtain employment on the road again. The suburban service of the St. Paul was resumed this morning. A number of the old passenger engineers here decided not to join the strikers.

This afternoon an attempt was made to get a train of twenty freight cars from the Q road to the Chicago and Alton. As the trains passed the viaduct at Sixteenth-street the engineers of other roads refused to allow the train to go by. They stopped its progress by crossing and recrossing the tracks which intersect the road at this point. These tactics were kept up for two hours, and the Q train was finally taken back to the Western-ave yards.

The Rock Island managers declined once more to-day to risk a tie up of their road by attempting to receive freight from the Burlington.

An effort towards a compromise of the strike on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy was made this evening by the Brotherhood of Engineers and firemen. A card embodying a concise statement of the situation from the men's standpoint but giving no new facts was issued by them. The meat of the document is the concluding paragraph which involves a fresh offer of arbitration, this time on an entirely new basis. The idea is that the arbitrators instead of coming partly or wholly from outside roads or other professions be selected from among the Burlington's own employes. An offer is also made to submit the trouble to three railroad presidents or general managers. Marvin Hughitt, President of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, is named as a man who would be an acceptable arbitrator to the Brotherhood, the Burlington Company to name a second arbitrator, who, in common with Mr. Hughitt, should choose the third.

St. Paul Men Laid Off.

MILWAUKEE, April 2.—The St. Paul Company has laid off 5000 yardmen and switchmen along its lines until the present trouble is over. The yards in this city are deserted and no business is being done.

Recruiting for the Burlington.

PHILADELPHIA, April 2.—Capt. Dougherty of the Pinkerton Detective Agency of this city, who is recruiting for the Burlington Road, today engaged fifty men and will send them west at once. He says he can get all the men he wants. Those hired to-day are chiefly Reading strikers and are experienced men.

The Boycott at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, April 2.—The boycott on Burlington freight went into effect in the yards here promptly at noon. A Fort Scott switch engine had just backed up to some Burlington cars, but 12 o'clock struck and the men left the cab and refused to haul it. Orders were issued by the Fort Scott road this afternoon that Burlington freight must be treated the same as any other freight. This will probably precipitate a strike of switch engineers and firemen and switchmen on that road.

President Depew Interviewed.

NEW YORK, April 2.—President Depew, of the New York Central, was asked yesterday whether he thought the railroad strike would extend to the eastern roads. He said: "I see no reason why it should. There are no circumstances existing, so far as I am aware, that would seem to warrant such a step."

"If it should become general, or extend to the eastern road, what, in your opinion, would be the effect?"

"It would depend upon its extent, character and causes. There are no two strikes alike. Still, some of its effects would be this: Coal and food would give out, everybody would be out of employment and the working class would be the greatest sufferers. Chicago could be starved to death in that way, for it would be shut off from the outside world."

"How do you regard strikes generally?"

"As a very poor way of reaching results."

"Do you favor arbitration?"

"I do. That is, unless the strikers want to get the entire management of the road. Then you can't arbitrate."

"As a railroad man, what course do you think would be the best to adopt under the present and in similar circumstances?"

"I don't like to advise others, but my way is to keep my door constantly open to our employes, see their grievances when it is possible to do so, and when the demands are reasonable. The main elements of success in this world are good sense, good temper and minding your own business. That's how we kept out of the fight in 1887."

"What is your opinion of the Brotherhood of Engineers?"

"I always found them a very intelligent body of men, and Arthur I look upon as a man of good sense and courage, to whose wisdom the Brotherhood owes its present strength."

Notes of the Fray.

CHICAGO, April 2.—A westbound Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul passenger train was derailed between Western and Oakley avenues shortly before midnight. The wreck is believed to have been caused by strikers.

Last evening a special policeman patrolling his beat at the Wood-street crossing of the Burlington tracks was assaulted and severely beaten by three men who he says were strikers.

Chas. Green arrived in Chicago yesterday with twenty-four new switchmen for the Burlington. At Lima they were set upon by the emissaries of the strikers. The contingent showed up at Chicago in pretty bad shape, some of the men having their eyes blackened.

All the freight brakemen on the Kansas City, St. Joseph and Council Bluffs Road struck yesterday. They assign as a reason, danger to their lives in working with "scab" engineers.

General Passenger Agent Carpenter of the St. Paul Road has sent this despatch:

MILWAUKEE, April 2.—No passenger trains on our line have been discontinued on account of any strike. Nor do we anticipate any trouble with our through trains. A. V. H. CARPENTER, G.P.A.

HAMILTON'S LABOR TROUBLE.

Little Change in the Situation—The Miller Liquor Case—Reception of Nuns.

HAMILTON, April 2.—The Exchange does not meet until Tuesday to take into consideration the resolution passed at the meeting on Saturday, in reference to the lockout of union men. In the meantime there is little change in the situation. A number of union bricklayers commenced work on two or three jobs this morning. They propose doing the work themselves and employing union laborers. There may be some difficulty in securing material, but the men think they will have no trouble about that. A notice has been forwarded to some of the dealers in builders' material that if they supply these men they will lose the patronage of the members of the Builders' Association. A prominent contractor said to-day: "We do not want to keep the union carpenters, plasterers, tinsmiths, painters and glaziers out of work. When we suspended them we believed that they were federated and bound to support the laborers if the Trades Council so ordered it. Now, as soon as the members of these unions prove to us that they will not support the laborers, they will be allowed to return to work."

The charge against James Miller for a breach of the Liquor License Act was investigated at the Police Court this morning. Miller had a contract to supply the hospital with liquor and it is claimed by the prosecution that he has delivered whisky since his license expired, while he asserts that another firm has been doing the business and he has simply been acting as their agent. The Magistrate took the case under advisement until Thursday.

At St. Joseph's Convent this morning these sisters, having completed their noviciate, made their final vows: Sister Mary Arma (Miss Harte), Sister Mary Cuthbert (Miss E. Foster), Sister Mary Louise (Miss M. Malone), Sister Mary Bride (Miss E. Cleary) of Hamilton, and Sister Mary St. Thomas (Miss E. Flanigan), Dundas.

John Brass was at the Police Court this morning charged with stealing, about six weeks ago, a number of carpenter's tools belonging to John Mills. After the tools, which were found in Wright's shop, had been identified, and Wright had sworn that Brass sold them to him, Feb. 18, for 60 cents, the case was adjourned.

During March there were 107 births, 16 marriages and 55 deaths in the city, as against 117 births, 10 marriages and 68 deaths in March, 1887.

The ball and supper of the employes of The Times Printing Company took place in the new building this evening, and was largely attended.

Immigrants For the Northwest.

MONTREAL, April 2.—The tide of immigration to Manitoba, the Northwest and British Columbia is heavy this spring, and promises to surpass all previous records. The boom is on now. Last Tuesday 500 immigrants arrived by the Parisian. Of these 250 went straight through to the Northwest, the balance going to Ontario. Of the whole 500, only forty were destined for American points. On Thursday night there arrived at Boston, via Beaver line, 120 Belgian farmers, all destined for the Canadian Northwest. These immigrants are all of very industrious habits and desirable in every way. Four hundred and fifty immigrants arrive to-morrow via steamship Sarnia, and of these perhaps one-half will take up farms in Ontario, the balance going through to Manitoba. It is estimated that fully 5000 farmers are leaving Ontario this spring for the Northwest, and a large number are going through to British Columbia. The vacancies caused by this minor hegira from Ontario are at once filled by new comers.

Sorry He Went.

HAMILTON, April 2.—Quite a little colony of Hamilton people, including a number of young mechanics, are now in Los Angeles, Cal., waiting to get rich in that glorious climate. When they went out last fall they wrote back glowing letters about the plentitude of work, gloriousness of the afore said glorious climate and other things. A gentleman in the city got another letter from one of them to-day. The writer has been down for five weeks with fever and ague, which dropped in while the glorious climate was off on its winter vacation. He now finds himself, in company with a number of other Hamilton mechanics, out of work, wages away down, land boom busted and the city full of smallpox, thirty-two cases being in the pest house. He says 1100 tradesmen left last week, and the exodus appears to be setting backward.

An Ottawa Elopement.

OTTAWA, April 2.—Ottawa has a small-sized Easter elopement. Detective Montgomery was around early to-day looking for a young girl named Josephine O'Farrell, aged 15, daughter of the keeper of the Geographical Museum. The father says that this morning about 3 o'clock his daughter eloped with a young man named John Shea, and he is almost distracted over the affair. Shea is about 20, and is employed as proofreader on a daily paper. He had been fired by the old man from around the house. The girl left a letter for her father stating that she felt Shea had been badly treated. She loved him, and had decided to go and stay at a friend's house in Lower Town. At all events the pair are not to be found, and the police say they went to Prescott. It is rumored, however, that they have gone to Toronto.

Fire in The New York Tribune Building.

NEW YORK, April 2.—At 3 o'clock Sunday morning fire was discovered in the city editor's room of The New York Tribune. Not ten minutes before the night city editor and his assistants had left the room without being conscious of a fire beneath them. In less than half an hour after they had gone the room was a ruin, together with half of the reporters' room, which adjoined it. Every combustible was burned up, including the desks of the city editor and his assistants, the desks of several reporters, the letter boxes in which was standing the mail of the whole city staff, and an oil portrait of Horace Greeley. The financial loss was not, of course, heavy, but the inconvenience caused by the destruction of property of no value except in a newspaper office can hardly be estimated. This property included the "blotters," "assignment books," records and library of the city editor, numberless blue pencils, pens, paper, letters from a "Constant Reader," "Subscriber," and other cranks; free passes over the railroads; invitations to banquets and balls; poems on Spring; bottles of ink and mucilage; scissors, revolvers and the manuscript of an exclusive story giving the original and only solution of the Keely motor.

English Racing This Week.

Although the regular season began two weeks ago at Lincoln and Liverpool, and although there was a slight break for the last days in Holy Week in the cold that fairly froze visitors on the first days at Lincoln, many of the regular English followers of racing decided to stay at home until the Easter meetings, which began yesterday. Easter Monday is a general holiday in England, and there is racing both "on the flat" and steeplechasing at a score of places. To-day is the second and last day of the Newcastle and Gosforth Park meeting with The Killingworth Stakes as the feature. The Northampton and Pytchley Hunt meeting of two days begins to-day, of which the Earl Spencer's Plate of 600 sovereigns is the attraction and The Great Northamptonshire Stakes of 400 sovereigns the feature to-morrow. Catterick Bridge meeting, commencing on Thursday and continuing on Friday, has The Zetland Plate for 2-year-olds on the first day, and The Oran Plate, also for 2-year-olds, on Friday. The Leicester spring meeting which lasts two days beginning on Friday, is no doubt the most important of the week including as it does the Excelsior Breeders' Foal Plate of 1000 sovereigns for 2-year olds and the Portland Stakes of 7000 sovereigns for 2-year olds which is the largest 2-year old stake of the spring meetings, being worth over $30,000 to the winner. Both events will be decided on Friday. On Saturday the Wigston Plate of 500 sovereigns for 3-year-olds and The Leicestershire Handicap of 1000 sovereigns are the attractions. There are also a dozen or more hunt steeplechase meetings during the week, Easter being taken advantage of to give the people of the country in which they have hunted all winter a day's sport, either over a regular course or in the shape of "point-to-point" steeplechases.

THE ABSCONDERS FROM RALEIGH.

Where They Got the Money, and Their Methods of Pilfering.

TORONTO, April 3.—The Raleigh bank case is assuming a peculiar form. It is developing into a triangular fight of considerable magnitude and special interest. The police authorities here have the prisoners, the Raleigh authorities intend to bid high for them, and the Norfolk National Rank have a claim on a portion of the boodle found on the prisoners that they purpose putting in practical shape unless their claim is speedily satisfied. Mr. Caldwell Hardy, cashier of the Norfolk National Bank, arrived in the city yesterday to look after the interests of his institution. It appears that White, the day before he and Cross flitted from Raleigh, telegraphed to the Norfolk National Bank for an advance of $10,000 on a consignment of cotton and tobacco to New York, promising to send in return a bill of exchange on New York the next day. The banks had been accustomed to obliging each other in this way, so the request was not unusual. The amount wanted was duly forwarded and received by White, who pocketed the package and with Cross flitted. He also squeezed two other banks under similar pretences—the Richmond, Va., National Bank for $10,000 and Raleigh Bank for $5000. This was all the money they took away with them. The Norfolk cashier proposes to secure his $10,000, and will, if necessary, prefer an information against the pair of boodlers, charging them with bringing stolen money into Canada, to which it is probable they will plead guilty, they having, it is reported, admitted their culpability.

The parties from Raleigh, who are en route, had not reached this city at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hardy says he spent two whole days in a vain effort to straighten out the tangle in the books of the Raleigh Bank, but had to give up the undertaking in despair. He thinks it probable that one of the prisoners at least will be given safe conduct across the lines in order that he may put the books and affairs of the wrecked bank into proper shape.

EASTER VESTRY MEETINGS

Held at the Episcopal Churches on Monday Evening.

On Easter Monday evening the regular vestry meetings were held at the Episcopal churches.

ST. JOHN'S.

The meeting at St. John's was held in the school room. The Rev. Mr. Beck occupied the chair, Mr. F. E. Bell acted at Secretary and there was a fair attendance.

The financial statement was a highly satisfactory one, showing that the monetary matters were in a healthy condition and that the current expenditure was fully met by the revenue. During the year the debt in the church was reduced by about $500 and about $700 of overdue interest was wiped off.

The report was referred to the Auditors.

The following officers were elected:—

CHURCHWARDENS, by the congregation, Mr. C. H. Sheffield, and by the Rector, Dr. Geo. Burnham.

AUDITORS.—Messrs. H. A. Hammond and W. H. Budden.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.—Messrs. Judge Weller, H. A. Hammond, Edg. Pearse, Wm. English, Robert Fair and Dr. Halliday.

MUSIC COMMITTEE.—Messrs. A. P. Poussette, Q. C., H. A. Hammond and W. H. Budden.

LAY DELEGATES TO THE SYNOD.—Messrs. Judge Weller, Dr. Halliday and H. A. Hammond.

The old sidesmen were all re-appointed.

Some discussion took place as to who were entitled to vote according to the law of the church, but the matter was allowed to drop.

On motion of Messrs. Edg. Pearse and A. P. Poussette, Q. C., a complimentary vote of thanks was tendered to organist Seward and the members of the choir, for their efficient services during the last year.

The meeting then adjourned for two weeks.

ST. LUKE'S.

The Rev. Mr. Bradshaw presided at St. Luke's, with Mr. E. A. Peck as vestry clerk. The attendance was larger than usual.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Reports were received from the Superintendent of the Sunday school, from the Rector and from the Churchwardens. All were highly satisfactory, showing that the financial condition of the parish is sound, the balance being on the right side of the ledger.

The following officers were elected.

CHURCHWARDENS, by the people, Mr. H. T. Strickland, and by the Rector, Mr. John Burnham.

ASSISTANT CHURCHWARDENS.—Messrs. R. Mead and H. C. Rogers.

SIDESMEN.—Messrs. A. Ingram, F. Adams, H. Lush, W. Manlece and B. Everett.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.—Messrs. E. A. Peck, R. Mead, F. Adams, J. J. Rooney, F. Burt, R. Manlece, W. G. Bain and R. B. Rogers.

AUDITORS.—Messrs. W. G. Bain and R. Mead.

LAY DELEGATES TO THE SYNOD.—Messrs. R. Mead, H. C. Rogers and John Burnham.

Vote of thanks were tendered to the Misses Stills for the gift of a memorial window, to the Rector and Churchwardens, to the Organist and members of the choir, to the C. E. T. S. and the Ladies Auxiliary Society and the Sunday school for substantial aid towards the building fund, and to the Kilburn sisters for their gift of a handsome alter cloth.

A resolution was adopted approving of the purchase of the proposed new organ for the church.

The meeting then adjourned.

Mission Band Social.

The following programme was on Monday evening presented by the Mission Band to a highly appreciative audience in the school room of St. Paul's Church. The special feature was the Kindergarten songs of the children, which were so pleasantly rendered as to elicit hearty applause and an encore appearance. The Harmony Club comprising Messrs. Stevens, Miller, Baguley and Henderson also excelled themselves, delighting the audience, who recalled them every time and twice on the last occasion. The character dialogue "Pies of the Nations," accompanied by a solo by Miss Eva Carey, was well presented and afforded much amusement to both hearers and performers. The room was tastefully decorated, two side rooms being furnished as bazaar stalls, which appeared to be doing a thriving business. The young ladies who had charge of the entertainment are to be congratulated on the result of their effort. The following was the programme:—

Chorus.....Mission Band

THE FOURTH MEETING

OF THE WEST PETERBOROUGH FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

None of the Big Guns File an Appearance and Local Men Fill up the Time With Some excellent Addresses and Papers.

The fourth meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held at Centreville, on Thursday, the 29th of March, at the Agricultural Hall.

At the morning session the attendance was very slim. On motion, Mr. Robert Lang, jr., took the chair and called the meeting to order. He stated that the object of the meeting was for hearing an interchange of views and for considering the project of forming an Institute for the township. He concluded by calling on Mr. T. M. Willan for an address.

FARMING TOPICS.

Mr. T. M. WILLAN spoke extempore and on general topics. He regretted the small attendance, but he expected a number of gentlemen from Peterborough on the noon train, who had prepared papers, and the authorities at Guelph had promised to send a Professor if possible. He had attended all the meetings of the Institute so far and he had learned considerable. By attending these meetings the man who thinks he knows all about farming is sure to meet some person who can give him information on some points. Merchants, manufacturers, and in fact all other classes of the community, except farmers, have found the value of combines and organizations to fix prices. He did not believe in combines for the purpose of extorting money from the public, and he thought the Government should crush them, but he did believe in combines for mutual protection. Farmers constitute 75 per cent. of the population, but they do not possess one tenth of the influence, simply because they do not look after their own interests as they should. He gave instances of persons who had been greatly benefitted by attending the Institute meetings. Some practical farmers find fault with the theories of writers and justly so, as often the writers are not practical men. A great deal depends in farming on the seasons and thorough cultivation so that we can obtain the best results. He gave as an example of good cultivation the fact that he had obtained off four acres a far greater crop than a neighbor had obtained off ten. He advocated ploughing in wide ridges and breaking up with a spring tooth harrow. He found it just as good to summer fallow to kill thistles in the fall as at any other season. A rotation of crops must be fallowed to obtain good crops and keep the land in good heart. He sowed clover largely and kept the land good instead of summer fallowing. Barn yard manure properly applied is the best fertilizer. He applied it in the fall, on the surface.

Mr. HENRY EARL had tried turning manure in the yard, but he found that it dried up.

Mr. D. ARMSTRONG thought it best to keep it in the yard, until it was well rotted. If straw was applied as a top dressing he wanted it well rotted.

Mr. MEAD thought that a benefit was obtained sooner if the manure was applied on the top of the land, but a great deal depended on the soil.

Mr. TELFORD asked if manure was ever injurious to turnips?

Mr. MEAD said he had got a great crop of heads, but very few roots.

Mr. TELFORD said that in the old country turnips were drilled and the manure then spread on the drills. He tried that plan in this country, using the very best of manure. They came up well. He thinned them out and when a dry spell came all his turnips were killed. He concluded that for turnips the manure should be spread in the fall and well worked into the ground. He sowed broadcast and used the harrow, as it killed the foxtail and opened up the ground. He would harrow when the turnips were about four inches high.

The CHAIRMAN said it stood to reason that the turnips would obtain more moisture, if they were on the flat. They might be sowed flat in drills.

Messrs. MEAD and ARMSTRONG grew the best turnips when they were sowed in drills.

Mr. WILLAN asked what plan was the best to sow spring wheat, broadcast or with a drill?

Mr. ARMSTRONG found broadcast the best and Mr. Earl had also concluded that that was the best plan after trying both on the same field.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the afternoon meeting the attendance was somewhat larger than in the morning. Owing to the absence of Messrs. R. E. Birdsall, W. Collins, Thos. Blezard, M. P. P., Dr. Fisher, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., T. E. Bell, F. J. Bell, J. Coyle Brown and Dawson Kennedy and other prominent agriculturists who were down for papers the discussion was confined to local men.

Mr. LANG presided and opened the meeting with a few remarks.

GENERAL FARMING.

Mr. JOS. BARNARD spoke on the above topic. The objects of farming were to advance the science of farming, one of the most scientific professions to-day, and a profession which is yet in its infancy. Very few farmers know what the soil is composed of and what constituents are necessary to promote good crops. He started to prepare his land as soon as the crops were off. He started with a gang plough, instead of ploughing twice. Then he would harrow well and plough in the fall with wide ploughs, making a good seed bed. He advocated top dressing, but objected to summer fallowing on the ground that it did not pay to keep the land for two years for one crop. He would sow clover to kill the weeds, ploughing it down. He favored roots for feeding stock and thought each farmer should raise at least 2,000 bushels of roots. Roots can be chopped and fed with straw. The animals will thrive on it. In ploughing he made wide ridges and ploughed as level as possible. Roots are easy to raise. He ploughed and manured in the fall and ploughed and top dressed in the spring. Then cultivated frequently and kept the earth around the roots.

Mr. GEO. BERRY objected to ploughing in wide ridges except on the side of a hill. Early crops do the best now and unless narrow ridges are ploughed on low and level land, it will be a week later before the crop can be put in. He was always an advocate of clover, but at the same time he was a believer in summer fallowing for a hoe crop.

Mr. JNO. STOTHART thought that if the work was put on a root crop, that is now put on a summer fallow, it would pay better and the land would be better manured. For milking cows he recommended Jerseys or Guernseys and for beef the Durhams or Herefords.

Mr. BERRY said that some of the best milkers were general purpose cows of no particular breed.

Mr. J. LIGHTFOOT said that one of the best breeders in this section of the country purchased his Ayrshire cows to raise his thoroughbred calves.

THE CHAIRMAN said that our native cattle have sprung from some of the best breeds of all countries and hence we sometimes find good milkers among the scrub or native cattle.

A POEM.

MR. WM. TELFORD, in response to a call from the chairman, read a poem on farming topics, which we will publish in another issue.

STATUTE LABOR.

Mr. MARTIN PARKER had been asked to talk on statute labor. He thought the present system was too expensive for the benefits derived. He favored the contract system. On his road beat $72 was expended on two miles of road. Twenty rods of road were turnpiked and about one hundred yards of gravel placed on it. The actual value of the work done was only about $40 the other $32 was literaly thrown away in doing the work by statute labor. He thought if the statute labor was commuted at 50 cents per day, it would pay better. The roads in the winter are almost impassibles. At present a man gets half the cost of the wire if he erects a wire fence. Very few take advantage of it and he thought a law should be passed compelling farmers living along the road to put up wire fences or remove their wooden fences in the winter.

Mr. TELFORD said wire fences were a failure in the township of Smith. A wire fence acts like a track across a lake and a snow blockade results.

Mr. STOTHART said a wire fence was bad where there was much traffic. If people would take the sides of the road and beat it all over, the wire fence would be a good idea.

Mr. JOS. TULLY asked if the pathmaster is obliged to keep the road clear in the winter?

Mr. STOTHART said that a council must pass a snow by-law like the Town of Peterborough, before they could order the pathmaster to clear the roads.

Mr. BERRY had found wire fences useless. He thought the trouble might be obviated by making the track along the south side of the road.

Mr. STOTHART advocated commissioners to keep the roads in condition, as the present system of pathmasters was a perfect farce.

Mr. BERRY disagreed with the previous speaker on the ground that the appointments would be given to political favorities.

ALL FOR A QUARTER.

Mr. JOS. BARNARD announced that those who were not members of the Institute, by paying 25 cents now would be made members for 1888-9 and in addition they would received the annual reports of the experimental farms.

RAISING CALVES.

Mr. JOHN STOTHART said that calves from poor animals should not be raised. Raise none but the best as it will pay in the long run. Feed properly or half your work is thrown away. If for beef fatten from the first. If for milk give only good bone making feed. Begin at two years old to develop its milking qualities. If beef, have it fit for the block at three years of age. If you send milk to a factory have the calf weaned in time to send the milk to the factory. Cows should be fed properly. Straw, pollards and bran with a small quantity of oats and peas, makes a good feed for milk. For beef he used oats and peas mixed. For calves he warmed the milk and mixed a little oil cake with the chop. He fed cows twice a day and did not believe in cooked food.

RAISING HORSES.

Mr. T. M. WILLAN read a paper on raising horses, the same as he read at Lakefield. As we published a summary of it at the time, it is not necessary to repeat it.

GENERAL.

Mr. WM. RUTHERFORD had destroyed yellow weed by gang ploughing, and preferred that plan to summer fallowing. He would rather grow roots than summer fallow, as a crop was saved.

MORE POETRY.

POET TELFORD read his poem on the "Pioneer's retrospect."

After a few remarks from the chairman stating that there would be no evening meeting, the assemblage broke up.

A slight cold often proves the forerunner of a complaint which may be fatal. Avoid this result by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the best remedy for colds, coughs, and all throat and lung diseases.

A Rare Musical Treat.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Would you be good enough to give a passing stranger space to record one of many favorable impressions. On previous visits I have noted the thrifty and city-like air which characterizes Peterborough, but never till last night had I the pleasure of worshiping with your citizens. A friend invited me to go with him to evening service at the beautiful and church-like church of St. John's. I found the service impressive, the lessons read, not mouthed, and the sermon good, but I was more than delighted with the musical portion of the service. I was lost in admiration by the delicate and sympathetic touch of the organist, and the skill he must have shown in placing, as it was evident he had done, his large and well balanced choir in musical rapport with himself. The anthems and hymns were splendidly rendered in every respect, and with an executive finish, which was creditable to both choirmaster and choir. I was particularly well pleased with the "Nunc Dimittis," the hymn, "Come see the Place" (No. 134), and the soul-stirring anthem, "This is the Day." The latter, especially, had the joyous and triumphant spirit of Easter singing in every note. They were all admirably sung, and I was somewhat surprised to learn after service that they were composed especially for the occasion by the organist, who must be a more than ordinary musician, as I can testify by hearing that he is a more than ordinary performer, and he must be indispensible to the successful presentation of the musical service of the church. I have been accustomed to hear good music in city churches, but it is a long time since I heard any musical services so generally and uniformly excellent and as pleasing as those I heard at St. John's on Easter Sunday night.

Yours,
Da Capo al Fine.

REVIEWS.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR APRIL completes volume 15. What we should do for our boys were St. Nicholas to stop publication it is hard to prophecy. It is so full of boy love, of boy wisdom, of boy story of boy heroes and brave deeds; so thoroughly a boys journal of thought and action that the boy who reads it gets a good education in things of every day life that cannot but be beneficial. The April number is cheerful and bright, happy and mirthful, crammed with clean thoughts and jolly incidents. Truly St. Nicholas is well named "the boy's Magazine."

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE for April is exceedingly fresh, bright and tempting. All that large capital, wide experience and cultivated taste can accomplish in creating a magnificent periodical is here displayed. The typography is superb and the literary excellence admirable. The paper on "Gibraltar" is a graphic description of the old fortress, whose rocky heights have echoed the strife of nations for two centuries. "The Campaign of Waterloo," by J. C. Ropes, is a careful and thorough account of the great events that culminated in the fall of the First Napoleon. Many other splendid contributions go to fill the number which is one of the most interesting yet published.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE promises for succeeding numbers a series of articles on railways. It is significient of the thoroughness with which the great magazines are sweeping the field of literary effort that they take up and give us able treatment of subjects that we fancy we are thoroughly familiar with. The "Railway Series" includes papers on "The Building of a Railroad," "Engineering Feats," "Locomotives and Cars," and others, all by writers who are specialists in their line. The papers will no doubt be widely read not only on account of their literary merit but because they will contain information of great interest on technical points.

Mr. Geo. Gumpricht is in town. Orders may be left at Mr. T. Menzies' or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's stores. d77

Battery Men.

The Port Hope Times of Monday says:—"About the first of January, twelve men of the Durham Field Battery went to Kingston to take a three months' course in battery work. They returned home yesterday morning, and are to-day painting the town in their natty blue uniforms, looking smart and soldierly. They are: Bombadiers Burt, Wood and Reynolds, of Port Hope, and Hutchinson, of Peterborough, and Gunners Ferguson, Bowen, Brundrett, Tait and Lambly, of Port Hope, and Montgomery, Webster and Belcher, of Peterborough."

About the Newest Trimmings.

All the newest trimmings to be worn this season in the leading cities are in stock at Turnbull's. Among these are the new "shot silks," shaded Ribbons and "Rosebuds," very new and particularly stylish. Ladies can note the charming effect attained in viewing these trimmings by inspecting our patterns on opening days, Wednesday and Thursday, April 4th and 5th. 1w13-3d78

Food for Consumptives.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is a most marvelous food and medicine. It heals the irritation of the throat and lungs, and gives flesh and strength quicker than any other remedy known. It is very palatable, having none of the disagreeable taste of the crude oil. Put up in 50c and $1 size.

Now Going On.

Grand sale of Silks now going on at M. Sullivan & Co's. Such rare values seldom offered. Positive bargains in every line. The brightest and prettiest stock in town. Splendid chance to get a silk dress for the price of an ordinary goods costume. 3d78-1w14

True Blues Assembly.

The True Blues held an assembly at their hall, Simcoe-st., on Monday evening. There were forty-four couples present and they enjoyed themselves until a late hour to the excellent music furnished by Armstrong's orchestra of six pieces. Supper was served at Mr J. C. Craig's restaurant.

Opening days at Turnbull's.

Turnbull's Millinery Opening Days are Wednesday and Thursday April 4th and 5th. A complete change in the styles of Millinery this season. See the magnificent display of new and stylish pattern Bonnets and Hats at Turnbull's on the opening days, Wednesday and Thursday, April 4th and 5th. 1w13-3d78

A New Industry.

Mr. Russell, of Millbrook, says the Port Hope Times, who has secured the control for the Dominion for the new patented non-exhaust steam engine, was in Port Hope on Thursday looking up members of the Manufactures' Committee, with a view to establishing the manufacture of the engines in Port Hope. Nothing was done, the committee not having been re-appointed for 1888.

Transfer Committee.

The Western Section of the Transfer Committee of the Methodist Church meets this week in Toronto, to decide such transfers as may be advisable to effect, with regard to ministers of the church, and the conference to which they shall belong. It is probable that some decision will be reached in connection with the filling of the pulpits of the George and Charlotte-st. churches, at this meeting of the committee.

An Assembly.

An assembly under the auspices of the tailors of the town, was held in the Parlor Roller Rink, Water-st., on Monday evening. The attendance was large, it being estimated that fully fifty couples were in the hall and took part in the dancing, to the music supplied by Prof. Doucet's orchestra. Mr. W. H. Bowman, the well known caterer, had charge of the supper, which was served in the Knights of Labor hall.

Yum! Yum! Yum!

Little boy.—Mamma, what is a Yum-yum?

Mamma.—My dear, a Yum yum is something imported from Japan, or China, or the Cannibal Islands.

Little boy.—There are to be two at Mrs. Dumble's Easter festival to-night.

Mamma.—Yes, my dear. She imported them specially for the occasion, and we are going to see them. You shall go with us and you shall see all the beautiful flowers and the pantomime and drink a little cup of the fragrant tea.

Little boy.—And can't we see the Chamber of Horrors?

Mamma.—Hush, my dear, that is only for grown people who don't have the nightmare; but you shall see the doctors saw the poor man's leg off at the pantomime

Little boy.—Thanks, Mamma, ever so much.

From the City.

"The following is the programme for Mrs. Scott-Siddons' reappearance at Association hall, Toronto, to-morrow, Tuesday. "Two Scenes from the Merchant of Venice," Shakespeare; "Mrs. Bean's Courtship," Anonymous; "The Drinking of the Potion from Romeo and Juliet," Shakespeare; Mrs. Scott Siddons. Ballade in A flat, Chopin; Rhapsodie Hongroise, No. 2 Liszt, Mr. Henry Waller. Interval of five minutes. Second part: "The Child Wife from David Copperfield," by Dickens; "The Masquerade," by John G. Saxe; Mrs. Scott Siddons; melody in F. and March, "Ruins of Athens," by Rubenstein, Mr. Mr. Henry Waller. The seats are being rapidly taken up at Nordheimers', and those who wish to obtain good ones should lose no time in securing. It is reported that nearly 1400 tickets have been sold." This charming artiste will appear here again on Monday, 16th April, accompanied by her adopted son, Mr. Henry Waller, Rubenstein's pupil, in an entirely new programme and new costumes. The price of the tickets have been placed within the reach of all. This will in all human probability be the last opportunity the people of Peterborough will ever have of hearing this accomplished lady, as she goes from here to Ottawa and Montreal, thence to Halifax, from which city she sails for England.

Improvements.

The Dickson Co. intend to make considerable improvements at the old Otonabee flour mill, Ashburnham. Work will be commenced in about a month. The present capacity of the mill is about 125 barrels per day and when it is remoddled it will turn out about 200 barrels. It is also the intention to erect an elevator, with a capacity of 30,000 bushels, just east of the present mill. Mr. Mulhern will continue in charge.

Rightnow is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

Thieving at Port Hope.

The Port Hope Times:—Mr. J. J. Turner, of Peterborough, was in town on Saturday. He bitterly complained of the numerous raids made on his boat houses at the harbor, the latest depredation being the removal of a carpenters' bench. Mr. Turner thinks while he is a tax-payer in town the authorities should bestow a little attention in an endeavor to ascertain who the theives are. The chief will likely give the matter his attention.

Particularly Attractive & Dressy

Are the new patterns we are showing in Dress Goods. They are the nicest materials ever opened out. We have 12 new shades in Henrietta Cloths and Ombre stripes, and other desirable lines. Merveilleux dress goods in ample variety. Ladies will have the opportunity to inspect these during our opening days next week. Turnbull's Gerge-st. Our dressmaking department is fully equipped and under the direction of skillful artists who will give every attention to all orders. 1w13-3d78

Hull-less Oats.

The Belleville Intelligencer says that a number of farmers in that vicinity purchased seed hull-less oats at $10 per bushel, season before last, the sellers promising to buy the product at $7.50 per bushel. They did return and buy the oats at that figure, paying in notes from farmers to whom they had made further sales at $10 per bushel. Others were thus induced to venture and now the country is flooded with seed oats for which the farmers have paid by note at the rate of $10 per bushel. In the township of Thurlow, farmers have notes out for at least $5,000, and in Belleville there is probably $20,000 or $30,000 of oat notes "shaved" by money-lenders.

Energy will do almost anything, but it cannot exist if the blood is impure and moves sluggishly in the veins. There is nothing so good for cleansing the blood and imparting energy to the system as Ayer's Sarsaparilla Price $1. Six bottles, $5. Sold by druggists.

Rollicking Fun and Hilesian Humor.

Refering to the great theatrical success, "Inshavogue," the press generally speaks in terms of high praise. The play will be placed on the boards at the Opera House, Peterborough, this Tuesday evening: The Toronto World says:—"Inshavogue" was played to a large and highly pleased audience at the Toronto Opera House last night by Mr. Ben Maginley and his company. It is an improvement on the average Irish drama, full of rollicking fun and Milesian humor, and a plot that interests the audience from beginning to end. Irish songs and dances, executed in first-class style, are liberally introduced. The piece is well staged, the glen scene in the last act being exceptionally praiseworthy. Mr. Maginley's supporters received plenty of applause. Matinee this afternoon" The Toronto Globe says: "The keenly interesting and laughable Irish play "Inshavogue" opened to a good house last evening at the Toronto Opera-house. It is full of thrilling incidents plentifully dashed with a bright and pleasing humor, and will, no doubt, draw well all the week." The Pittsburgh Bulletin says: "The drama is strong, filled with human interest, and is enlivened with singing and dancing. Novel scenic effects, an Irish glen by moonlight, with cascade of running water, said to be a very marvel of stage art." 1d78

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

Councillor MOORE said that Councillor Kendry, the Chairman of the Committee on Appointments, was not present and he handed to the clerk 29 applications for the position of chief constable.

JOHN DENIES IT.

Mr. JOHN MCNAUGHOTN on motion was heard. He had been charged with dispensing charity for the purpose of making votes. He denied the charge and wound up with endorsing Mr. R. H. Adams' application for chief constable.

The MAYOR said that he felt confident that Mr. McNaughton had acted only in the best interest of the town and without any object of making votes.

FINANCE REPORT.

Councillor DAVIDSON read a report from the Finance Committee, recommending payment of the following accounts:—

E. C. Hill	$ 1 25

The report was adopted.

CHARITY REPORT.

Councillor HALL read and submitted a report from the Charity Committee announcing that the expenditure for March was $197.65, divided as follows:—1st Ward $76.65, 2nd Ward $62 00, 3rd Ward $30.00 and 4th Ward $29 00.

The report was adopted.

BILLIARD LICENSES.

A by-law was given its several readings and passed, fixing the price of billiard licenses at $40 for each table, Councillor Douglas being in the chair.

POLICE MATTERS.

Moved by Councillor MOORE, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS,—That this Council is of the opinion that it will be in the best interests of the town to constitute a board of commissioners of police, under the provisions of the Municipal Act, and the Clerk is hereby directed to have prepared the proper by-law in this behalf for the next meeting of this Council.

Councillor MOORE in support of the motion said that the present system of appointing policemen was not a good one, and his idea was that the County Judge, the Police Magistrate and the Mayor would be the proper body to select and appoint the police officers. The law provides for it and if commissioners were appointed the selection of officers would be removed from the arena of municipal politics.

Councillor LANGFORD wanted the matter considered, as it was sprung on the Council.

Councillor MCNEIL objected to the motion on the ground that the commissioners could pay whatever salary they chose.

Councillor HARTLEY was opposed to the motion on account of the salary question.

Councillor DOUGLAS favored the resolution, as the three men who would act as commissioners had common sense and the matter of salaries would be perfectly safe in their hands.

Councillor CAHILL had every confidence in the commissioners, but he thought the Council was the proper body to appoint police. The members of the Council are directly responsible to the ratepayers and are elected each year. He looked on the resolution as a vote of want of confidence in the Council.

Councillor MOORE thought the resolution was a move in the right direction and the legislature in passing the act recognized that fact. He had every confidence in the commissioners, as fixed by statute. He felt confident that they would not waste the people's money and if any fault was found with them the Council could by motion dissolve the commission.

Councillor KELLY wanted the matter considered as it was brought up suddenly.

Councillor YELLAND was in favor of keeping things as they are at present.

Councillor CAHILL had every confidence in the proposed commissioners, but he thought the members of the Council were fully competent to deal with such matters.

The motion was referred to the Committee on Appointments.

CHIEF COP.

Moved by Councillor MCNEIL, seconded by Councillor KELLY,—That Mr. R. H. Adams be appointed chief of police at a salary of $550 per annum, that the regulations of the by-law previously passed apply and that the motion have the force of a by-law and be signed by the Mayor and Town Clerk.

Councillor MCNEIL spoke in favor of his motion and held that Mr. Adams was fully competent to discharge the duties of the position.

Councillor MOORE objected to the motion on the ground that it was not legal.

Councillor DAVIDSON wanted the matter held over. He did not consider the motion in good taste, on the ground that the chairman of the committee was not present, being detained by business.

After some discussion the motion was withdrawn.

DOG TAGS.

Moved by Councillor MOORE, seconded by YELLAND,—That the Clerk under the direction of the Chairman of the License Committee, obtain the usual supply of dog tags. —Carried.

INSPECTOR POPE.

Moved by Councillor MCNEIL, seconded by Councillor HALL,—That Mr. Robert Pope be appointed Street and Bridge and Building Inspector at a salary of $600 per year, from the 1st day of January, 1888.—Carried.

THANKS.

Moved by Councillor MCNEIL, seconded by Councillor KELLY,—That the thanks of this Council be tendered to his Worship Mayor Stevenson for the present of a painting of the British coat of arms.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned for two weeks.

Brevities.

—There were no cases for trial at the police court this morning.

—The Benjamin Maginley Co. are registered at the Grand Central Hotel.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education will take place this evening.

—Stolen or strayed from the door of the shop next to Neill's shoe store, one thermometer. The police as yet have no clue.

—Building Inspector Pope entered upon his duties as such this morning. All plans of new buildings must be submitted to him.

—Owing to the fact of the vestry meetings taking place on Monday evening, there was no meeting of the Ashburnham Council.

—The attendance of spectators at the Council meeting on Monday night was the largest we have yet seen in the present chamber.

—The regular weekly meeting of the Otonabee Canoe Club will take place this evening. The election of officers will be the principal business.

—Applicatians for the position of Chief Constable are still coming in. Five were received on Monday and two this morning. They come from all parts of the Dominion and even from the United States.

—The Cobourg World says the paragraph going the rounds, stating that Mr. Crossen intends to remove his car works from Cobourg to Lindsay, during the coming summer, is "utterly and absolutely untrue."

—Port Hope Times:—"A report is heard on the street that the school's will not be opened this week on account of fear of diphtheria. Members of the Board say there is no truth in it. The doctors say the diphtheria scare is without foundation, that the disease is by no means prevalent."

The Boat Club.

The annual meeting of the Boating Club was called for Monday evening, but at the appointed hour sufficient members to form a quorum were not present. The meeting will take place in two weeks.

CRYSTAL BLOCK.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reestablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

TUESDAY, APRIL 3, 1888.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

She hastens her step, and runs down hurriedly into the hall below, which is almost as light as day. Turning aside, she makes for the library, and now (and not till now) remembers she has no light, and that the library, having its shutters carefully closed every night by the invaluable Jenkins himself, is of necessity in perfect darkness.

Must she go back for a candle? Must she pass again all those belted knights upon the staircase and in the upper gallery? No! rather will she brave the darkness of the more congenial library, and—but soft—what is that? Surely a tiny gleam of light is creeping to her feet from beneath the door of the room towards which she wends her way.

It is a light, not of stars or of moonbeams, but of a bona fide lamp, and as such is hailed by Mona with joy. Evidently the thoughtful Jenkins has left it lighted there for Geoffrey's, benefit when he returns. And very thoughtful, too, it is of him.

All the servants have received orders to go to bed, and on no account to sit up for Mr. Rodney, as he can let himself in in his own way,—a habit of his for many years. Doubtless, then, one of them has placed this lamp in the library with some refreshments for him, should he require them.

So thinks Mona, and goes steadily on to the library, dreading nothing, and in expressibly cheered by the thought that gloom at least does not wait her there.

Pushing open the door very gently, she enters the room, the two dogs at her heels.

At first the light of the lamp—so unlike the pale transparent purity of the moonbeams—puzzles her sight; she advances a few steps unconsciously, treading lightly, as she has done all along, lest she shall wake some member of the household, and then, passing her hand over her eyes, looks leisurely up. The fire is nearly out. She turns her head to the right, and then—then—she utters a faint scream, and grasps the back of a chair to steady herself.

Standing with his back to her (being unaware of her entrance), looking at the wall with the smaller panels that had so attracted him the night of the dance, is Paul Rodney.

Starting convulsively at the sound of her voice, he turns, and, drawing with lightning rapidity a tiny pistol from his pocket, raises his arm, and deliberately covers her.

CHAPTER XXIX.

For a second Mona's courage fails her, and then it returns again with threefold force. In truth, she is nearer death at this moment than she herself quite knows.

"Put down your pistol, sir," she says, hastily. "Would you fire on a woman?" Her tone, though hurried, is not oppressed with fear. She even advances a few steps in his direction. Her words, her whole manner, fill him with admiration. The extreme courage she betrays is, indeed, worthy of any man's laudation, but the implied trust in his chivalry touches Paul Rodney more than anything has ever had power to touch him before.

He lowers the weapon at her command, but says nothing. Indeed, what is there to say?

"Place it on the table," says Mona, who, though rich in presence of mind, has yet all a woman's wholesome horror of anything that may go off.

Again he obeys her.

"Now, perhaps, you will explain why you are here?" says Mrs. Geoffrey, speaking as sternly as her soft voice will permit. "How did you get in?"

"Through the window. I was passing and found it open." There is some note in his voice that might well be termed mocking.

"Open at this hour of the morning?"

"Wide open."

"And the lamp, did you find it burning?"

"Brilliantly."

He lifts his head here, and laughs aloud, a short, unmirthful laugh.

"You are lying, sir," says Mona, contemptuously.

"Yes, deliberately," returns he, with wilful recklessness.

He moves as though to take up the pistol again; but Mona is beforehand with him, and, closing her finger round it, holds it firmly.

"Do you think you are stronger than I am?" he says, amusement blended with the old admiration in his eyes.

"No, but they are," she says, pointing to her two faithful companions, who are staring hungrily at Rodney, and evidently only waiting the word from Mona to fling themselves upon him.

She beckons to them, and, rising slowly, they advance towards Rodney, who involuntarily moves back a little. And in truth they are formidable foes, with their bloodshot eyes, and bristling coats, and huge jaws that, being now parted, show the gleaming teeth within.

"On guard!" says Mona, whereupon both the brutes crouch upon the ground right before Rodney, and fix him seriously and menacingly with their glistening eyes.

To be Continued.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

THE ANCIENT COLONY AND THE DOMINION.

The Announcement of the Details of the Monopoly Surrender Fully Confirmed—Curiosities of the Commons—Increase in Parcel Post Matter.

OTTAWA, April 2.—The announcement of the details of the settlement between the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Government in the matter of the monopoly clause is fully confirmed to-day.

The question of Newfoundland becoming one of the provinces of the Dominion has given rise to considerable talk in political circles here, and as the time of the arrival of the delegates, who are expected to arrive here the first of next month, draws near the subject becomes more and more interesting. The next great question which will occupy sir John and his ministers is Newfoundland affairs. The general impression is that Newfoundland will enter the Dominion. It is well known that a large majority of the electors of that island now are ready to cast in their lot with the Dominion. The British Government desires that she may be admitted into the union, and Sir John likewise will be made happy and contented when the union is consummated. Not many days will now have to go by before the important question will be brought up for discussion in Parliament, and by this time next year no doubt exists that she will form part and parcel of this Canada of ours.

The House of Commons, with the consent of the Mace, will take on its official robes to-morrow (Tuesday) evening. Mr. Freeman, after routine, will resume the debate on Unrestricted Reciprocity. It has been arranged that the Fisheries Treaty will be taken up as soon as a division on this issue has been reached. Then will come the consideration of the disallowance correspondence. It looks as though the debate might be dragged out until the close of the present week.

Invitations have been issued for private theatricals at Government House on Thursday and Friday evenings next. Lord Frederick Hamilton and Lady Evelyn Fitzmaurice will take part.

In his despatch to the Governor-General Sir Charles Tupper acknowledged the valuable assistance he received on the Fisheries Commission from Hon. Messrs. Thompson and Foster.

The exports of lumber to the United States from Ottawa for the quarter ending March 31 amounted to $223,455.

During the absence of a Sandy Hill mechanic in the United States his wife transferred her affections to a tailor and, it is said, eloped with him. When the former returned home on Sunday he found his house locked up and the faithless wife could nowhere be found.

Chief Engineer Secret of the Northwest Central Railway has gone to Brandon to superintend the construction of the line to Battleford. Work will be commenced by the Clemow syndicate as soon as the snow leaves the ground.

Many and varied are the curiosities of the Commons: There is the Hon. David Mills of philosophic fame, for instance; Mr. Pat Purcell of uncontested notoriety, and Mr. McMullen of unrestricted verbosity. But the greatest curiosity of the session has been on exhibition all day at the entrance to the west lobby. It took the shape of an infant with twelve digits and an equal number of toes. The child was carefully examined by Dr. Ferguson, M.P. for Welland, who pronounced all perfectly formed and unusually shapely. When the infant is old enough to vote he will come under the protective wing of Mr. Alonzo Wright, "The King of the Gatineau," whose subject he is. The paternal name of the lusus naturo is Filiatreault; the child hails from Buckingham and his age is 8 months.

The Postoffice Department reports a marked increase in the quantity of parcel post matter since the new postal arrangement came into affect between Canada and the United States. The United States Government recently intimated to Postmaster-General McLelan that American seedsmen were sending their parcel business by express to Canadian postoffices from which points they were mailed at a much lower rate for delivery to customers in the United States, thus defrauding the United States Postal Department of a large sum of money. A clause covering this contingency was inserted in the international arrangement and the authorities here have taken active measures to have the fraud discontinued. The American rate is one cent per ounce, but in Canada a special charge of one cent for four ounces prevails.

Another indication of the growth of trade along the line of the Canadian Pacific is furnished in appeals forwarded to the Postmaster-General for increased postal car accommodation on through trains between Montreal and Vancouver. The Postmaster-General has in consequence decided to grant the prayer of the application, and the same facilities that are provided between Montreal and Winnipeg will be continued throughout the journey to Vancouver.

Sir Charles Tupper hopes to be able to take his seat to-morrow night.

To-day being a statutory holiday the public departments were closed.

SENATOR ROLLAND'S WILL.

A $500,000 Estate—Forger Gillispie—Montreal Street Railway on Strike.

MONTREAL, April 2.—The will of the late Senator Rolland was read to the family to-day. It is understood that the deceased leaves about $300,000 in the Rolland paper mills at St. Jerome, besides between fifty and sixty houses in the city and real estate in several sections of the country. The estate is estimated at about $500,000.

A warrant for the arrest of Samuel W. Gillespie, the Chicago forger, arrived here to-day. It charges the prisoner with having raised one check from $6 to $600. The total defalcation according to the accused's own statement does not exceed $4000, but information from Chicago makes it nearly $30,000. Papers necessary for extradition will arrive here from Washington to-morrow.

The whole Point St. Charles Salvation Army corps were arrested yesterday afternoon and kept in durance for two hours for marching on the sidewalks. The trial occurs to-morrow.

On account of the impassable and dangerous condition of the roads the Montreal Street Railway Company has made good its threat and withdrawn its vehicles from St. Lawrence, Bleury and St. Catherine streets until further notice.

Eight Japanese gentlemen arrived in town to-day. Several of the party are young noblemen in their own country and are going to New York to pursue their studies.

It is understood that friends of Fahey and Parent, both confined in St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, are endeavoring to secure their release.

A meeting of the creditors of the late Senator Seneeal was held this morning, when it was announced that the liabilities were over $600,000 and assets $300,000. A committee was appointed to confer with the creditors with a view of allowing Mrs. Seneeal to liquidate the estate under the provisions of the will, provided she is not held responsible for any deficiency.

Tired of Being a Fugitive.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., April 2.—Boodler McGarigle has been in this city and left Saturday for Canadian points. He spent most of his time here in the Canadian Soo. He says he hopes to go back to Chicago and fix things up as he is tired of being a fugitive. He looks worn and haggard and registered as McFarland.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Board of License Commissioners has received 61 new applications for hotel licenses in addition to the 150 persons who hold licenses at present. There are 15 new applicants for shop licenses. The commissioners will have their hands full this month trying to satisfy everybody.

The York Shrievalty plum has fallen into the mouth of Dr. Joseph Henry Widdifield, M.P.P. for North York. His appointment has not yet been officially announced, but it may be expected any of these days.

At the Civil Assizes yesterday Curry v. C. P. R. was disposed of. Plaintiff met with an accident at Sharbot Lake on May 24 last, and sued for $5000 damages. In attempting to jump on a moving train he was thrown under the cars. His left foot had to be amputated. A verdict for $2000 was given. Hall v. Couch, an action to recover $231 under the mechanics' lien law, was taken up but not finished.

Harriett Ackright, who claims to be a school teacher from Port Huron, lies in Ward 10 in the General Hospital suffering from the effects of nervous prostration. She says she was enticed from her home to this city two weeks ago by a drummer who travels for a Montreal gents' furnishing house, under promise of marriage. He was very attentive to her, but on Thursday last she discovered that he was married, having a wife and one child here. After upbraiding him for his base conduct, she left the house where she was boarding, and wandered around the city until she fell in a fit, and was picked up and sent to the Hospital by the Police.

Last night the coal trade branch of the Board of Trade held a grand gathering under the chairmanship of Ald. Bell. Big Wood Smith was there with a large clean sheet and his hair highly oiled. Elias Rogers, J. T. Bailey, Mr Gibson of the Conger Company, Mr. Crane and the other big importers sat in front seats. The action of the Executive Committee in taking proceedings against The News for libel was endorsed. Quite a lively interest was manifested over a motion to investigate certain dealers who had been delivering short weight, and others who had taken a sack off loads after they had been weighed. It seems that some of the smaller dealers had contracted to deliver coal at $6, and being unable to do so profitably had endeavored to get even on the weight. The secretary was directed to investigate the charges fully and report at next meeting. Big Charley started up the doxology at the close. Over 50 members were present.

A Printers' Strike Ended.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 2.—The printers' strike here, both against the job and newspaper offices, was declared off yesterday and the men will go to work wherever they can get a chance.

The Mills Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—In the House to-day Mr. Mills, chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, reported the Mills Tariff Bill, and it was referred to the committee of the whole. Mr. McKinley submitted the minority report. The committee amended the bill this morning by the addition of provisions slightly increasing the sugar duties so as to equal a net reduction of twenty per cent. on the existing duty, authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to classify as woolens worsted cloths, and guarding against interference with existing treaties

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

Baron M. de Tuyll's b.h. Bolero, a., by Bonnie Scotland—Waltz, 157	3
Five others ran.

The Northampton and Pytchley Hunt meeting opened to-day. The Althorp Park Stakes for 2-year-olds was the juvenile event and resulted in a dead heat between Mr. W. Burton's filly Deceit and Mr. Leopold de Rothschild's colt Eros, the Duke of Portland's colt Deschamps being a length away third. The race for Earl Spencer's Plate for 3-year-olds and upwards was won by Gen. Owen Williams' filly Shimmer from a field of seven, Felix finishing second and April Fool third. The summaries follow:

THE ALTHORP PARK STAKES of 10 sovs. each, with 300 added, for 2-year-olds; colts, 124 lb.; fillies, 121lb.; a winner of 200 sovs. to carry 3lb.; twice, or of 400 sovs. 7lb. extra; entrance 3qrs., the only forfeit if declared to Messrs. Weatherby, or to the Clerks of the Races, by the first Tuesday in February 1888; five furlongs—32 subs.

The string all look well, and will commence active work at once.

Baseball Games Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 3.—The baseball game here to-day between the home team and the Buffalos was witnessed by a large crowd. The game was called on account of darkness at the end of the tenth innings with the score a tie. In batting and fielding the Buffalos led the league team, and Williams, Buffalo's new catcher, taught the Washington fellows that attempts at stealing bases weren't profitable. The score was as follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Washington	2 2 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—6	9	7
Buffalo	0 1 0 0 2 0 2 0 0 0—6	11	6

Batteries: Gilmore and Mack, Walsh and Williams.

BALTIMORE, April 3.—The Philadelphia League team were defeated here to-day, the Orioles batting Buffinton hard at times. The score follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Baltimore	0 0 1 1 2 3 0 1 1—9	16	2
Philadelphia	0 0 3 0 0 0 2 0 0—7	10	5

THE STRIKING ENGINEERS.

The Michigan Central Employes Return to Work, Surrendering Unconditionally.

CHICAGO, April 3.—At 2 p.m. the Michigan Central yard employes returned to work. Upon what terms the strike was declared off they would not say. An officer of the road said that the strikers went back unconditionally. It was stated at the company's offices that the train of Burlington freight which has caused all the commotion would be forwarded.

When the Burlington Railway asked Judge Gresham for an order to compel the Rock Island to handle "Q" freight the Rock Island answered by charging that the present strike was simply a part of the Burlington program to force the other lines into joining a railway "trust" which the Burlington was said to desire. H. B. Stone, General Manager of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, makes answer to these charges in an affidavit which was filed this afternoon. The affidavit denies in detail all the charges of the Rock Island, which it pronounces as scandalous and false. It says the rate war was initiated by the Rock Island and other lines against the most earnest efforts of the Burlington. The "trust" story is pronounced utterly false.

A Congressional Enquiry.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The House Commerce Committee has ordered a favorable report on the resolution to provide for a Congressional enquiry into the engineers' strike in the West.

Took their Places Again.

KANSAS CITY, April 3.—At a meeting of the switchmen here last night it was stated that the Santa Fe company would not force the men to handle "Q" freight. The meeting thereupon ordered the yardmen on that road, who went out last evening, to resume work to-day. In accordance with this the men all took their places again this morning.

THEY WILL NOT COMPROMISE.

The Laborers' Union Holding Out Against the Masters' Association.

TORONTO, April 4.

The action taken by the Builders' and Contractors' Association Monday night was officially communicated to the Laborers' Union yesterday morning. It was carefully put away for the time being and submitted to the Union's meeting in Temperance Hall in the evening.

No overtures of any kind were made by either of the factions. In fact they don't speak as they pass by, though Mr. John Lucas was heard to say that he had been hissed by a laborer as he was on his way down to his office in the morning.

Both appeared to be resting on their oars, confident that the other fellows would give in. Neither side, however, would acknowledge that it was disposed to weaken or compromise except upon the terms already given. A few of the men are working for the 15 cent rate.

"The laborers, I see by the papers, claim that our action is a lockout. This is not so. You might call it a go-as-you-please or a tie-up. We want the men to work and will give them 19 cents," said a member of the Bosses' Association yesterday.

There was a big meeting of the laborers in Temperance Hall last night. The resolution adopted by the bosses was read. No attention, it is said, was paid to it. The Executive Committee which has been acting for the union in the negotiations was given full power to take whatever action it may see fit. The union took no stand in regard to the men who are working for the 15-cent rate. The men can work or not, as they may wish.

It is probable a conference will be held this morning by the bosses and the men with a view of making a last effort to settle the difficulty.

Lathers and Plasterers.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lathers Union was held last night in Simcoe Hall, President David Adams in the chair. The lathers' agreement with the bosses extends till April, 1889; the plasterers' agreement till June, 1889, and the plasterers' laborers' till the same date. There can therefore be no strike in these unions this year.

Mrs. Bennett's Complaint.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Mrs. James Bennett of Kentucky, made an address before the House Judiciary Committee to-day upon the subject of woman suffrage. She referred to the disadvantages women are under at present socially, legally and politically, and declared that if she went to heaven after death and found women there to be in the same condition of subordination to men she would quit.

Dust From the Diamond.

Manager Mutrie fathers the statement that Crane is the speediest pitcher in the country.

Manager Ted Sullivan was in Troy last week making arrangements for extensive improvements at the ball grounds. Sullivan says he has engaged Dealey of last season's Washingtons.

There are evidences of a base ball boom in Syracuse this season. A request has been written by Oswego people asking the Star Association to induce the D.L. and W. road to run a special train from Oswego, promising that from 100 to 150 Oswego people would avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing ball games.

The Torontos play their first game of the season to-day at Columbus, Ohio, with Cleveland.

Vice-President McConnell of the Torontos is in Washington, D.C. He has arranged to get the score by innings of to-day's game at Columbus.

Norman Baker, the ex-Toronto pitcher, is already showing his ability under the new rules. Only one hit was made off his delivery by the Brooklyns on Sunday. The New York Sun says: Baker of the Newarks is a hummer, and his slow ballsout the Brooklyns all at sea, and they were mowed down about as fast as they came to the bat.

The Toronto Win Again.

LONDON, April 3.—The lacrosse match between the Canadian and Yorkshire and Cheshire teams was played at Bradford to-day, the Canadians winning 8 goals to 3.

Broken Up Peds.

NIAGARA FALLS, April 3.—All of the peds put in an appearance on the track here at 2 p.m. with the exception of M. Hager. Green fell out with a pain in his side after covering five miles more to his score and Sullivan left the track at 5 p.m. with sore legs after going 11 miles. Garlow, the Indian, after covering two laps, withdrew from the contest. Zinnermaker's big score of 50 miles yesterday told on him, and from 2 till 6 p.m. he added 20 miles to his score and was five miles in the lead of all competitors when he finally had to withdraw from the race. The betting is about even on Potter, Fowler and Johnson. At the close to-night the score was as follows:

Miles.		Miles.
W. Potter	90 Eli Zinnimaker	70
The Pawley	88 J. Sullivan	51
Wm. Galley	81 B. Green	47
John Johnson	80 H. Garlow (Indian)	41
C. D. Graham (unknown)	75 M. Hager	27

At the finish of the "go-as-you-please" tonight a 3-mile heel and toe walking match took place between M. Breen of St. Catharines, Charles Moore of Drummondville and a stonecutter by the name of Dennis from Markham. The Markham ped was an easy winner by 2½ laps. Time 22 minutes, Breen second and Moore third.

THE FRENCH PROGRAMME.

M. FLOQUET READS A STATEMENT TO THE DEPUTIES.

The United Republican Sections Appealed to for Support—The Ministry Desire the Adoption of Well-Considered Reforms and the Maintenance of Peace.

PARIS, April 3.—MM. Ricard, Loubet and Legrand have retired from the new Cabinet, being unable to agree with the Government program. It is announced that Senator Ferrouillat and M. Delaune-Montaud, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, will become Minister of Justice and Minister of Public Works respectively.

The Cabinet met at the palace to-day to discuss the address to be presented to the Chamber of Deputies by Premier Floquet, President Carnot presided.

In the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon M. Floquet read a statement setting forth the policy that would be pursued by his Cabinet. He appealed to the united Republican sections for their support, and asked them to leave to the Government the question of revising the constitution. The Ministry, he said, sincerely desired the adoption of well considered reforms and the maintenance of peace.

It is stated that Gen. Boulanger will not go to the Department of the Nord, where he is a candidate for the Chamber of Deputies, to canvass in his own behalf.

The Journal des Debats and Republic Francaise violently attack the new Cabinet.

A Big Breach.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The Times' London correspondent says: M. Floquet has consented to step into the breach, but thus far his presence only serves to help people to realize how big the breach is. It is no exaggeration to say that the present crisis is attracting deeper attention in Europe than even the retirement of President Grevy and the election of his successor. That, like every Ministerial upheaval since 1877, was a personal crisis; this is parliamentary. The others affected politicians; this, it is felt, is likely to affect the structure of the Republic itself. Nobody seems to believe that Floquet can command a working majority in the present Chamber. He will have the Right against him. He will have as opponents, too, the several moderate groups, of which Ferry is the natural leader. He has apparently chosen to combat Boulangerism, for the Boulanger papers are attacking him, and it is even held that he is uncertain if he can rely on the support of his whilom ally, Clemenceau, who is regarded as likely to gravitate now toward the Extreme Left, and if Floquet falls the Chamber must fall too. Already one hears rumors of dissolution.

The reports of the composition of the Ministry which reach London are not considered to augur strength or success. One of the weakest acts of the Cabinet will be the dismissal of Flourens from the Foreign Office, in which under three Ministries he has admitdoly done admirable service. But he committed the error of opposing his candidature to that of a Radical at the recent Hautes Alpes election, and to punish him this Radical throws him out now and tosses the Foreign portfolio along with the others into a grab bag of faction politics. Neither Lockroy nor Goblet will lend popularity to the Ministry, while De Freycinet will be a positive embarrassment. It seems probable that Floquet will make a bold bid for Ministerial life by pushing forward a plan for the revision of the constitution with the avowed aim of limiting the powers of the executive and Senate and providing for the election of the latter by a direct vote of the people and universal suffrage. But between the Right, who want no Republic of any kind, and the Extreme Left, who demand the abolition of the Senate, this seems doomed to fall to the ground. There is also a possibility that Floquet may strive to catch the popular fancy by an obvious effort to bring about a Russian alliance.

THE VILLAGERS SLAIN.

Abyssinians Massacre all the Inhabitants of a Town Friendly to the Italians.

ROME, April 3.—Advices from Massowah state that the Abyssinians have captured the village of Malental, the inhabitants of which were friendly to the Italians and have massacred all the men women and children in the place.

It is believed that King John is preparing fresh proposals of peace.

Abyssinian Troops Disband.

LONDON, April 3.—Massowah advices say the Abyssinian troops have disbanded with the exception of 10,000 men who are watching the frontier. The Abyssinians further expect that the Italians will attack them or intend to attack the Italians.

The annual smallpox epidemic in Shoa, a state of Abyssinia, has begun. Ras Muheca, the heir to the throne of Shoa, and three other members of the royal family have died of the disease.

Roumania's New Cabinet.

BUCHAREST, April 3.—The new Cabinet is announced:

Premier and Minister of the Interior—M. Rosetti.
Minister of Foreign Affairs—M. Carpe.
Minister of Finance—M. Shermani.
Minister of Public Works—M. Stirbey.
Minister of Justice—M. Margholoman.
Minister of War—M. Barozzi.
Minister of Commerce and Instruction—M. Majoresco.

Deputies Fleva, Filipesco and Costofore have been released and have returned here. On their arrival they were tendered an ovation by the people.

People have found out that fancy ornamental thermometers are no criterion of the temperature.

THE MACKENZIE BASIN.

Agricultural, Mineral and Timber Possibilities of a Vast District.

OTTAWA, April 3.—Senator Schultz's special committee to consider the agricultural, mineral and timber possibilities of the great Mackenzie basin, the northern territory of the Dominion, commenced their investigation today. It is proposed to examine missionaries, Hudson Bay officials and others who have either resided in or explored any part of the vast district watered by the Athabaska, Mackenzie and other rivers, so as to obtain accurate data.

To-day the only witness called was Capt. Craig of Prince Albert. He dealt with the country north of the Saskatchewan, which was flat and alluvial, interspersed with wood, chiefly spruce, poplar and tamarac, large enough for building purposes. He had never known a blizzard there. He considered the country well adapted for settlement by the Scotch crofters and thought they would be happy and contented there.

Spring opened early in April, and he had sown wheat on April 17. The earliest frost he had known was on Aug. 17, but the grain crop was so heavy that it was not affected.

The present population of the district was over 5000. If they had railway communication and a year's notice, with their present appliances, they could produce for export, after satisfying the home consumption, about 500,000 bushels. Ploughing generally ran into the second week in November. Grain was usually sown with the frost still in the ground, the moisture from the gradual thawing doing good work until the rain showers set in. He had grown successfully vegetables and all kinds of grain.

He had heard of a chain of navigable lakes 100 miles north of Prince Albert, the outlet of which was the Churchill River. Fish abounded there: lake trout weighing as much as forty pounds each.

The district was sadly in need of railway accommodation. There was abundance of coal, iron, petroleum, asphaltum and brick clay. He had seen gold himself and a rich find was reported on the Yucan, about 200 miles from the boundary between British Columbia and Alaska.

TORONTO TOPICS.

This morning a little after 9 o'clock, about the time the Montreal express was pulling out from the Union Station, a pale-faced, black-haired woman of about 30 entered the Grand Trunk first-class waiting-room, carrying a babe on her arm. The woman wore a bread-brimmed hat of brown straw, a black jacket and a brown skirt. She laid the child down upon one of the lounges and soothed it to sleep. Shortly afterward the crying of the child attracted the attention of the caretaker of the waiting-room. Then it was discovered that the woman was gone. Search was made for her, but without avail. It is not known whether she took a train or not. The infant is about 4 months old. It was completely dressed. It was turned over to the care of the police and taken to the Infants' Home.

The election of a trustee for the Separate School Board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Trustee H. J. Nolan will take place on April 24, the nomination being a week previous. There will be a hot time. Mr. J. Culleton is the Archbishop's candidate and Mr. Samuel Dunbar the candidate of those who have been opposed to His Grace in the recent ballot controversy. This is the first time the matter will be put "before the people," and the result will be watched with interest.

Something Like a Fight.

TAUNTON, Mass., April 3.—A fight took place here yesterday morning between George Mickle, a middle-weight bruiser of this city, and Mike Sheehan, "The Barber," a Boston youth of grit and Celtic pedigree. The stakes were $300 and a supper for the principals. Forty feet of clothes line made the ring. The first round was a tame affair, ending in a clinch and a claim of foul, but under the pressure of cries from the spectators the second round became somewhat exciting. Mickle reached his antagonist in the most approved and telling style, dazing him and drawing first blood by a neat upper cut. While Sheehan sprinted about the ring, turning occasionally to face his man, Mickle rained in his blows thick and fast on face and body, and when time was called the Boston man was pretty weak. In the third round Mickle did the best work, Sheehan getting in one good face blow, but when time was called the latter was very limp. It looked like a picnic for the native in the fourth round, but Sheehan's second claimed a foul on a blow struck by Mickle while the men were clinched. Matters grew interesting at once. A few epithets were hurled back and forth by the friends of the two men, and then these were dropped for bricks and other more persuasive articles. A man who held the lantern at the side of the ring next the road threw it against the referee's head. The lantern broke and the referee dropped. A general rush was made for the ring. It was then anybody's fight. In about five minutes the Taunton crowd had cleaned out the Boston man and his backers. Then all went back to pick up neckties, watches and hats. On adjourning to an hotel the referee was revived and declared the fight "a draw." At daylight the police came and the men dispersed.

Spanish Army Reorganization.

MADRID, April 3.—The Government and the opposition have agreed upon a bill for the reorganization of the army. Instead of the conscription system, service in the army will be obligatory upon all citizens. The peace establishment will consist of 100,000 men. This force may be increased to 260,000 by mobilization.

FRENCH POLITICS.

The numerous parties or factions into which the French are divided renders it a difficult matter for any Cabinet to hold office long. Some twenty Governments in a less number of years have held office, and another has been forced to resign. A resolution calling for a revision of the constitution, for which all dissatisfied parties who wished a change could vote, was carried, although opposed by the Government, and again the Ministry resigned. As each such crisis occurs a revolution or some disturbance is expected, but it is probable that, as before, the crisis will pass away and a new Ministry will take charge of affairs.

The action of Gen. Boulanger, in re-entering politics, is agitating not only France, but other European nations. Being looked upon as the leader of those who desire to avenge the result of the war with Prussia, it is feared that his ascendancy would mean a great war, and all Europe, especially the German portion of it, views uneasily political changes that give him an opportunity to gain a place of prominence. The popularity of Boulanger can not be accurately estimated, but it is certain that while not long ago it was believed his star had finally set, it is now causing a commotion in the political firmament.

At one time, when Mr. J. M. Ferris was M.P.P. for East Northumberland, it was said he had his eye on a position in Mr. Mowat's Cabinet, but although changes were made in the Government Mr. Ferris did not get the coveted position. As he could not be Provincial Treasurer, he has accepted the Police Magistracy of the county and his appointment has been gazetted.

OFF FOR THE CAPITAL.

MEMBERS OF THE TOWN COUNCIL WILL GO TO OTTAWA.

To Interview the Government and Present a Memorial Regarding the Sawdust Nuisance in the Lake and River.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday evening.

Mayor Stevenson presided and Councillors Cahill, Davidson, McNeil, Hall, Moore, Douglas and Langford were present.

The reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

His Worship explained that the object of the meeting was in connection with dredging the sawdust out of the Little Lake and using the material to fill up Spaulding's Bay and the proposed embankment around Crescent-st., from the Cemetery point westward. The minister had promised to dredge out the lake if the Council would prevent the sawmill men from allowing sawdust to run into the river. At the time it was understood that such was being done, but a government Inspector came here and found that the sawmill men were actually wheeling it into the river, instead of allowing only that which fell through the pitman hole.

Councillor Cahill pointed out that the mill owners had not carried out their agreement.

His Worship the Mayor stated that the town mill owners were not the worst offenders, but the northern mills were those that the greatest fault was found with.

Councillor Hall found the Lakefield and Young's Point mills very bad.

The Mayor said that the Inspector referred particularly to the Nassau mills, and no money would be granted for dredging purposes until the sawdust was stopped.

The Clerk read a memorial to the Dominion Government, prepared by the Town Solicitor, asking that the law regarding the protection of the fisheries and navigation as well as the health of the public be strenuously enforced by the Dominion authorities, as far as Peterborough and vicinity are concerned, the petitioners undertaking to enforce the law as far as lies in their power.

Councillor Cahill thought the presen was a good time to go ahead with the work.

The Mayor said the Town had granted $4,000 towards improving the shores of of the lake and he had no doubt that the Government would supplement the amount. He felt confident that if a dredge was sent here a large amount of good work would be performed, including the filling of Spaulding's Bay.

The memorial was read in committee, with Councillor Langford in the chair, and was duly passed, signed, sealed and forwarded for presentation at Ottawa.

Moved by Councillor McNeil, seconded by Councillor Hall,—That the Medical Health Officer prepare an opinion, in writing, of the effect the deposit of sawdust, etc., in the Little Lake has upon the general health of the people of the town and that the opinion be forwarded to Ottawa with the memorial.

Councillor Moore had doubts as to whether it was proper to forward such an opinion, on the ground that the Government were not justified in expending the public money for such a local purpose.

It was finally decided to present the opinion of the medical man in an incidental manner.

Moved by Councillor Cahill, seconded by Councillor Davidson,—That as many members of the Council as can find it convenient to go down, visit Ottawa, present the Town's memorial and impress upon the Government the necessity of acting upon the representations made, the Town Treasurer to pay the necessary disbursements of the deputation.—Carried.

His worship the Mayor said he was leaving for Ottawa that evening and he would make arrangements with the Minister for an interview, this week, if possible, and he would inform the clerk of the date and hour selected.

The Council then adjourned.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Sunday School's Anniversary Tea and Entertainment.

The anniversary tea and entertainment of the Sunday school of the Baptist church was held on Tuesday evening. Early in the evening the children were entertained at tea in the school room, and later the parents and friends in large numbers partook of the beatiful repast so tastefully prepared.

At about 8 o'clock all assembled in the church, and the pastor, the Rev. P. Clifton Parker, took the chair. After devotional exercises, Mr. Parker gave a short address. He spoke of the progress of the school, the average attendance at present being 155, while a year ago it was 100. In another year he expected that it would be at least 200. He dwelt on the importance of Sunday school work. It was in the interest of humanity and the children would grow up to be the best citizens of the town. He urged parents to assist the teachers, and to send the children to the school prayerfully, that they might be trained in the principles of Christianity. He amusingly contrasted the Sunday school of some years ago with the school to-day.

The small children of the school then sang a chorus, in good time and tune, and were liberally applauded. The Y.M.C.A. brass band, a new organization, were warmly received and played a selection so correctly and so well that the audience was delighted. Miss M. Stratton gave an instrumental solo, a fine piece of music well executed. A dialogue, "Beware of the Dog," followed, in which Misses G. Robinson, S. Kelly and A. Aldridge, and Masters H. Kidd, J. Duncan and E. Hall took part, and each one sustained her or his part very well. Miss N. Wrighton gave a pathetic recitation, "Little Mabel," and recited it with feeling and good expression, showing high elocutionary talent. Masters Charlie McKee and Albert Duff played a duet, on violen and piano, and received well deserved applause, both playing well and the violen being especially well handled. A tableau, "Morning, Noon and Night," represented by Misses E. Stratton, A. Aldridge and G. Robinson, in appropriate and pretty costumes, was very successful. Mrs. and Miss K. Duff gave an instrumental solo, remarkably well executed, considering the tender years of Miss Duff. The Y.M.C.A. band gave another selection, and a dialogue, "Blowin," a school scene, followed. The boys in the dialogue, Masters S. Matthews, M. Mowry, R. Anderson, T. Plummet and J. Duncan, and a number of school boys, took their parts very creditably. Miss N. Wrighton played an instrumental solo, in an admirable manner, and the children followed with another pretty chorus, "Twinkle, twinkle, Little Star." Mr. E. Duff sang a song and the Y. M. C. A. band gave another selection. Another tableau followed, "The Lord's Prayer." When the lights were thrown on little Miss Maudie Wallace was seen on the platform in a devotional attitude, while a hidden chorus chanted the Lord's prayer. It was very effective. The entertainment concluded with the singing of the doxology, after thanks had been tendered to the Y. M. C. A. band, to Mr. and Mrs. Duff for the piano and those who had taken an interest in getting it up.

Altogether the entertainment was very successful. The Sunday school is making good progress under the superintedency of Mr. E. Duff, assisted by the Rev. P. C. Parker. The other officers of the school are, secretary, Miss M. Strattnn; assistant secretary, Mr. H. Webber; librarian, Mr. G. Matthews; assistant librarian, Mr. Loucroly.

A Shame.

A half witted young man from Port Hope, named James Graham, a bootblack by occupation, was knocked down and kicked by some person unknown, on Tuesday evening. Graham was cut slightly and received a black eye. He was not able to give the police any information as to who assaulted him or where it occurred.

Two Splendid Singers.

For Tenor and Baritone no finer vocal selection has appeared than "The Fishermen," by Gabussi. Mr. Sims Richards and Mr. Chas. Kelly will do justice—ample justice—to this duet at the concert on Friday evening. Opera House. Tickets 25 and 35 cents. 1d79

About the Newest Trimmings.

All the newest trimmings to be worn this season in the leading cities are in stock at Turnbull's. Among these are the new "shot Silks," Shaded Ribbons and Rosebuds," very new and particularly stylish. Ladies can note the charming effect attained in viewing these trimmings by inspecting our patterns on opening days, Wednesday and Thursday, April 4th and 5th. 1w13-3d78

Inshavogue.

Benj. Maginley and his fine company presented "Inshavogue" at the Opera House on Tuesday evening to a crowded and delighted audience. The drama is of the romantic Irish character, always so popular. The plot is a good one and well worked out. Songs and dances by Bryan and Belle O'Lynn, bag pipe solos, Irish ballads, and the singing of the Imperial quartette were special features that particularly pleased the audience.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

OUT-DOING ANYTHING EVER DONE BEFORE.

How is it to be done? Well that's our business, and what's our business is nobody else's business--and if we tell others how we get our clothing to sell so low, they would be as shrewd as we are. Sheppard is not caught napping in that way--All the dear public care to know is that Sheppard's clothing is the cheapest on earth. That he has no traffic in shoddy, and you can always get what he advertises.

NOW THEN, ABOUT CLOTHING.

Boy's Suits, 3 pieces, 95 cents. How does that catch you? For another just a little longer in the legs, a boy who has seen more Xmas puddings, Sheppard will give you a $2.75 suit worth double the money and a pair of pants for this dear boy for 75 cents. These are nice goods, although you may not think so—so cheap—well I should say so. You want a hat for him don't you? Certainly you don't want to see him bareheaded; not much. Sheppard has the best value. See his cheap Hats.

For the young man. A nobby suit in several patterns $3.95, worth at least $7.50. This is the line that has excited the Town and rattled the trade; hurry, make haste. Secure this suit before they are all done. Motherly advice this.

We are talking to you because you are out of your teens, although you may not be as old as Methuselah's goat. We have a suit for you at $1.95, this is not all wool and a yard wide.

Charged Too Much.

At the last Council meeting the treasurer of the Protestant Home sent in a bill charging the Town with $150.48 for the board of an indigent named Rosa Malone. On Tuesday the Mayor received another letter stating that the amount should only be $27, at the rate of $8.66 per month.

You Can Hear It.

"When the Wind blows in from the Sea" is one of the best vocal duets ever composed and written. By attending the Beethoven Quartette concert on Friday evening next, you will hear this excellent vocal selection. Miss Morell and Mr. Chas. Kelly are the artistes who will render the selection. Opera House. Tickets 25 cents and 35 cents. 1d79

Personal.

Mrs. J. C. T. Lacey, of Toronto, is in town on a visit. She pleasantly surprised her friends of the Baptist Church by coming on Tuesday evening for the Sunday school anniversary.

Mr. Jas. Stratton, Collector of Customs, arrived home on Tuesday evening from Detroit. We are pleased to learn that he is much improved in health and is in good spirits, the rest having been of benefit.

Abusive Language.

A young man named John Brown, a riverman, was arrested on Tuesday evening on a charge of using gressly insulting and abusive language towards Mrs. Armilida Kearns, of Lake-st. The prisoner, who pleaded not guilty, was defended by Mr. E. B. Edwards. It appeared from the evidence that the prisoner went to the residence of complainant on Good Friday, ostensibly to get some washing done. He offered the complainant $1 for a kiss and was ordered out. The evidence was of a contradictory nature, but the prisoner was found guilty and fined $5 and $4.10 costs, which he paid.

From the City.

"The following is the programme for Mrs. Scott-Siddons' reappearance at Association hall, Toronto, to-morrow, Tuesday. "Two Scenes from the Merchant of Venice," Shakespeare; "Mrs. Bean's Courtship," Anonymous; "The Drinking of the Potion from Romeo and Juliet," Shakespeare; Mrs. Scott Siddons. A Ballade in A flat, Chobin; Rhapsodie Hongroise, No. 2 Liszt, Mr. Henry Waller. Interval of five minutes. Second part: "The Child Wife from David Copperfield," by Dickens; "The Masquerade," by John G. Saxe; Mrs. Scott Siddons; melody in F. and March, "Ruins of Athens," by Rubenstein, Mr. Mr. Henry Waller. The seats are being rapidly taken up at Nordheimers', and those who wish to obtain good ones should lose no time in securing. It is reported that nearly 1400 tickets have been sold." This charming artiste will appear here again on Monday, 16th April, accompanied by her adopted son, Mr. Henry Waller, Rubenstein's pupil, in an entirely new programme and new costumes. The price of the tickets have been placed within the reach of all. This will in all human probability be the last opportunity the people of Peterborough will ever have of hearing this accomplished lady, as she goes from here to Ottawa and Montreal, thence to Halifax, from which city she sails for England.

THE MASONIC CONCERT.

A Pleasant Musical Evening in the Blue Lodge Room.

The concert given under the auspices of the local Masonic fraternity on Monday evening was very successful. Counter attractions, to some extent, lessened the attendance, though the large main hall was comfortably filled. Very careful preparation had been made for the comfort and accommodation of the audience who were present in response to cards of invitation issued. The programme numbered eleven pieces, one of which was withdrawn, owing to business engagements of the gentleman taking part in it. Through the kindness of Mr. R. E. Wood, who loaned the piano for the occasion, the instrumental selections were especially satisfactory, and the accompaniments, given by Mr. Parker, unusually excellent. The piano duets were a brilliant feature of the programme and were admirably played by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Dunsford, who were warmly applauded. The vocal solos by Miss Vair and Miss Russell were encored, as they well deserved, while the solos given by Mr. A. Davis, Mr. Mulligan, Mr. Jacques and Mr. Baguley were well received, the latter obtaining an encore. With the solo given by Mr. Jacques, a novel effect was introduced, the choral obligato, as an accompaniment, being sung in the distance by Miss Vair, Miss Russell, Miss Cottingham and Mr. Baguley. Miss Cottingham and Miss Vair contributed a vocal duet, which was, in response to applause, repeated. Miss Russell, Miss Cottingham and Miss Vair sang a vocal trio charmingly and were warmly encored. The accoustic properties of the hall are very good and the vocal selections throughout the programme were heard to advantage. Following is the programme as rendered:—

PROGRAMME.

Canoe Club Debate.

The regular debate of the Otonabee Canoe Club was held on Tuesday evening. Mr. Gordon Smith, B. A., occupied the chair. The subject was manhood suffrage. Messrs. J. Willis, A. Clegg and John Miller, B. A., supported the affirmative, while Messrs. T. Barrie, W. H. Hill and A. Tebb upheld the negative. The chairman decided in favor of the negative, that is that manhood suffrage is not desirable. The subject for next week is resolved "That Morality increases with Civilization." The election of officers was deferred until Monday next.

A slight cold often proves the forerunner of a complaint which may be fatal. Avoid this result by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the best remedy for colds, coughs, and all throat and lung diseases.

Evangelistic.

Mr. R. S. Winch, of Cobourg, well known here, spoke at the evangelistic meeting in Belleville on Monday evening. The Intelligencer says:—"The interest of the meeting centred in the experiences related by Mr. F. W. Casey, barrister, of Brighton, and Mr. R. S. Winch, butcher, of Cobourg, and before they spoke special prayer was offered for them, which no doubt made them feel that the large audience were in touch with them." Mr. Winch spoke for some time. He had attended Messrs. Crossley and Hunter's meeting at Cobourg and was greatly impressed. "He then described the long struggle he had," says the Intelligencer, "vowing one night he would never go to the meetings again, and then being unable to stay away, his annoyance at people speaking to him, and finally his conversion as he was driving along the road from Peterborough to Cobourg. Mr. Winch described this so graphically that the audience could see the road; the rising moon; the woods on one side of the road and the forest on the other; and the man in the waggon, praying for the first time in thirty years." After Mr. Winch got home, on Sunday he told of his conversion.

AN EASTER FESTIVAL.

The Yum Yum Social at the Residence of Mrs. D. W. Dumble.

An Easter festival and Yum Yum social, in aid of the funds of the George-st. Methodist Church took, place at the residence of Mrs. D. W. Dumble, on Tuesday. It was probably the most unique entertainment ever given in Peterborough and the large number who were present were highly delighted with the novelty and worth of the affair. The Peterborough Amateur Orchestra were present in full force and played several pieces in a highly artistic manner. Prof. Jaques was also heard to good advantage in several solos. One of the rooms was fitted up as a flower room and here a number of young people of both sexes sold button hole and other bouquets to all comers at nominal figures. The decorations were tasteful and handsome, making the place a veritable bower of bloom. In another room the "Yum, Yums" presided in genuine Japanese style, the room set apart as a tea room being decorated in the highest style of art known to the subjects of the Mikado. Japan tea and other refreshments were served by Misses Dumble and Munson and Masters Dumble and McClennan, who were all properly costumed for the occasion. Probably the greatest drawing card of all was the chamber of horrors, where Messrs. W. A. Dixon, Charles Brown, Geo. Schofield and W. Johnston, repeated their shadow pantomime no less than four times, so great was the anxiety of the people to see it. A large white cloth was stretched across the room and by means of a strong light the performers were enabled to give a series of scenes that both amused and puzzled the spectators. The principal features were a dentist, pulling and filling teeth, the amputation of a man's limb at the knee joint, the limb being afterwards presented to the audience for inspection, a fishing scene during which gigantic bullfrogs and fish were caught, and a grand march of dudes. The receipts must have reached a handsome figure and the promoters certainly deserve credit for the manner in which the entertainment was conceived and carried out.

Will Oppose It.

The property owners along the river bank, from Sherbrooke-st, to Hunter-st, do not look kindly at the attempt of the C.P.R. to run a spur line up to the mills and factories along the Dickson race and a petition has been forwarded to Ottawa protesting against the granting of the charter asked for. The Boating Club and Mr. Wm. English are the principal persons interested and we understand that a deputation will proceed to Ottawa on Friday to oppose the granting of the charter.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"You are certainly too strong for me," says Rodney, with a frown and a peculiar smile.

"As you have refused to explain your presence here to me, you shall remain where you now are until help arrives," says Mona, with evident determination.

"I am content to stay here until the day dawns, if you keep me company," replies he, easily.

"Insolence, sir, is perhaps another part of your role," returns she, with cold but excessive anger.

She is clad in a long white dressing-gown, loose, yet clinging, that betrays each curve of her svelte, lissome figure. It is bordered with swan's-down, and some rich white lace, that sits high to her neck and falls over her small hands. Her hair is drawn back into a loose knot, that looks as if it would tumble down her back should she shake her head. She is pale, and her eyes are peculiarly large and dark from excitement. They are fixed upon Rodney with a gaze that belies all idea of fear, and her lips are compressed and somewhat dangerous.

"Is truth insolence?" asks Rodney. "If so, I demand your pardon. My speech, no doubt, was a bêtise, yet it came from my heart."

"Do not trouble yourself to make any further excuse," says Mona, icily.

"Pray sit down," says Rodney, politely; "if you insist on spending your evening with me, let me at least know that you are comfortable." Again the comicality of the whole proceeding strikes him, and he laughs aloud. He takes, too, a step forward, as if to get her a chair.

"Do not stir," says Mona, hastily, pointing to the blood-hounds. Allspice has risen—so has the hair on his back—and is looking thunder-claps at Paul. A low growl breaks from him. He is plainly bent upon reducing to reason whoever shall dispute the will of his beloved mistress. "The dogs know their orders, and will obey me. Down, Allspice, down. You will do well, sir, to remain exactly where you are," continues Mona.

"Then get a chair for yourself, at least, as you will not permit me to go to your aid," he entreats. "I am your prisoner,—perhaps," in a low tone, "the most willing captive that ever yet was made."

He hardly realizes the extent of his subjection,—is blind to the extreme awkwardness of the situation. Of Geoffrey's absence, and the chance that he may return at any moment, he is altogether ignorant.

Mona takes no notice of his words, but still stands by the table, with her hands folded, her long white robes clinging to her, her eyes lowered, her whole demeanor like that of some mediæval saint. So thinks Rodney, who is gazing at her as though he would forever imprint upon his brain the remembrance of a vision as pure as it is perfect.

The moments come and go. The fire is dying out. No sound but that of the falling cinders comes to disturb the stillness that reigns within the library. Mona is vaguely wondering what the end of it all will be. And then at last the silence is broken. A noise upon the gravel outside, a quick rush up the balcony steps; some one emerges from the gloom of the night, and comes into the room through the open window. Mona utters a passionate cry of relief and joy. It is Geoffrey!

Perhaps, just at first, surprise is too great to permit of his feeling either astonishment or indignation. He looks from Paul Rodney to Mona, and then from Mona back to Rodney. After that his gaze does not wander again. Mona, running to him, throws herself into his arms, and there he holds her closely, always with his eyes fixed upon the man he deems his enemy.

As for the Australian, he has grown pale indeed, but is quite self-possessed, and the usual insolent line round his mouth has deepened. The dogs have by no means relaxed their vigil, but still crouch before him, ready for their deadly spring at any moment. It is a picture, almost a lifeless one, so motionless are all those that help to form it. The fading fire, the brilliant lamp, the open window with the silent night beyond, Paul Rodney standing upon the hearth-rug with folded arms, his dark insolent face lighted up with the excitement of what is yet to come, gazing defiantly at his cousin, who is staring back at him, pale but determined. And then Mona, in her soft white gown, somewhat in the foreground, with one arm (from which the loose sleeve of the dressing-gown has fallen back, leaving the fair, rounded flesh to be seen) thrown around her husband's neck, is watching Rodney with an expression on her face that is half haughtiness, half nervous dread. Her hair has loosened, and is rippling over her shoulders, and down far below her waist; with her disengaged hand she is holding it back from her ear, hardly knowing how picturesque and striking is her attitude, and how it betrays each perfect curve of her lovely figure.

THE C.U. DEBATE RESUMED

PARLIAMENT GETS DOWN TO WORK AFTER THE HOLIDAYS.

The Members for Queen's (N.S.) and Lennox Speak Against Sir Richard's Unrestricted Reciprocity Motion—Possibilities of the Mackenzie Basin.

OTTAWA, April 3.—It was expected that the veil would at last to-day be lifted which has now for some weeks enshrouded the negotiations between the Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Montreal Gazette's article was unquestionably inspired, and though it said no more than I was able to forward to you myself, it at all events was corroborative of my information. From the same source I learn that the points unsettled are the amount of land bonds to be guaranteed, the rate of interest, and the time the bonds are to run. Important as these details are, they sink into insignificance in presence of the great fact that monopoly is dead, and the country is not called upon for even "another ten thousand." Before the bonds mature the security will be tenfold its present value. I have heard it stated that Lord Lansdowne brought his influence to bear on his ministers, and strongly urged the concession to the Winnipeg agitators, which is embodied in the promise to stop vetoing their railway bills.

The House of Commons resumed to-night after the Easter Holidays, when Sir Charles Tupper introduced a bill to amend the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act, the object of which is to increase the salary of the Auditor-General.

The following bills were read a third time:

Act respecting the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada—Mr. Curran.

Act to amend the act incorporating the Hereford Branch Railway Company, and to change the name of the company to the Hereford Railway Company—Mr. Hall.

Act respecting the River St. Clair Railway Bridge and Tunnel Company—Dr. Ferguson (Welland.)

Act to enable the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Company to run a ferry from Beecher Bay, in British Columbia, to a point on the Straits of Fuca, within the United States of America—Mr. Baker.

Act respecting the Lake Nipissing and James' Bay Railway Company—Mr. Cockburn.

Act to amend the act incorporating the Shuswap and Okanagan Railway Company—Mr. Mara.

Act respecting bonds and branch lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company—Mr. Small.

The following bills were read a second time and referred to various committtes:

Act to amend the act to incorporate the Kincardine and Teeswater Railway Company—Mr. Rowand.

Act to incorporate the Ottawa and Parry Sound Railway Company—Mr. Ferguson (Renfrew).

Act to incorporate the Keystone Fire Insurance Company—Mr. Weldon (St. John).

Act to wind up the Bank of London in Canada—Mr. Mills (Bothwell).

Act to incorporate the Ontario, Manitoba and Western Railway Company—Mr. Macdowall.

Act to amend the Act to incorporate the Moncton Harbor Improvement Company—Mr. Wood (Westmoreland).

Act to incorporate the Ottawa, Morrisburg and New York Railway and Bridge Company—Mr. Hickey.

Sir John, in reply to Mr. Laurier, said that the writ for the county of Russell would be issued at once, and in reply to Mr. Mills that the writ for the county of Kent had been issued.

Mr. Freeman resumed the adjourned debate on Sir Richard Cartwright's Unrestricted Reciprocity resolution, and said that Canada owed her present position to the National Policy, which had replated the treasury and restored to the people the confidence in their country which they had lost during the Mackenzie regime. The National Policy had nothing to do with the tide of immigration from the Maritime Provinces to the States. Emigration from the Maritime Provinces had always flowed in that direction, and no policy of any kind would absolutely prevent it, although the N.P. had undoubtedly modified it.

A great parade was made by the Opposition of the great dimensions of our national debt, but $40,000,000 of it had been incurred under the Mackenzie Government, and $109,000,000 at the time of Confederation. The debt had added to the wealth of Canada in the shape of public works for the advancement of commerce.

Although the Americans got the best of the bargain under the old reciprocity treaty still they were dissatisfied with it and would not renew it on any terms. With Unrestricted Reciprocity our market would be loaded with American manufactures and our own industries wiped out. The United States wanted a market for her surplus products and the Canadian market was the most available. We might as well have political as well as Commercial Union with the States and it would undoubtedly end that way. What voice would 5,000,000 of Canadians have among 60,000,000.

He believed as a representative of the people that when a question of this sort came up before the House every member should first consider how it would affect the people in his own immediate district. He said that owing to the destruction of our shipping thousands of Canadians unable to obtain situations in this country were obliged to go to the United States.

A great deal had been said about a home market, and certainly the increase in population of our cities increased the consumption of home products, but as this was at the expense of the country he did not think it amounted to anything.

The question of interprovincial trade had often been referred to, but he contended that it was wholly due to throwing down the tariff barriers between different provinces, and he thought some good results would attend the abolishment of the tariff wall between Canada and the United States.

Mr. Wilson said Americans had already refused to make such a treaty as proposed in the resolution, but the Opposition had long been wanting a cry to go to the people with and no doubt they considered it would be a popular cry. Under the N.P. our exports had increased over $73,000,000 over our imports or 3½ times greater increase than under the Mackenzie Government.

The Opposition tried to make out that our farmers were dependent on the United States, but they only consumed 10 per cent. of Canadian products while the home market took 73 per cent. People who exported annually $500,000,000 of farm produce were not likely to want much of our produce. Mr. Charlton had told them that the farmer paid duty on both exports and imports, but he (Wilson) thought a common sense view of the matter was that as a rule the consumer pays the duty.

He was not willing to accept Unrestricted Reciprocity or Commercial Union, and unless we can get extended trade relations by fair terms he was not prepared to enter into a treaty at all. Political union had followed Commercial Union in Germany, and the result would be the same on this continent. Those who supported the movement on the other side of the line thought of it only as a step towards Annexation. He was quite prepared to leave the question in the hands of the present Government, who had done so well for Canada.

Mr. O'Brien moved adjournment of the debate and the House adjourned at 11.55.

Coal Road Rates.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The coal roads to-day fixed the rates of transportation on north and west bound business for the opening of the spring trade at the same rates as prevailed last spring. This is a reduction of 25 cents a ton to Buffalo from the winter rates.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver s misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this said business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Customs Seizure of Chemicals—The Prescott and Russell Judgeship.

OTTAWA, April 3.—Special Customs Officer Walters has reported to the Customs Department the seizure at Detroit of a quantity of chemicals which were smuggled into Canada from Detroit.

The united counties of Prescott and Russell are to have a French Canadian judge. Mr. L. A. Olivier, barrister of this city, has received the appointment, which will probably be gazetted on Saturday. The judgeship has been vacant for over a year past. The two favorites from the start were Mr. Peter O'Brien, barrister of L'Orignal, and Mr. Olivier. The claims of both were represented by various deputations. The French element predominates in the district.

Mr. Smith, Deputy Minister of Marine, has received photographs from Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Bergne, the latter of whom was secretary for the British plenipotentiaries on the Fishery Commission. Accompanying his photo was a letter from Mr. Chamberlain, in which that gentleman stated that he was much pleased with his reception on his return to England and with the accounts he had heard of the way in which the fishery treaty was received in Canada.

On Saturday next Mr. Justice Burbidge will hear witnesses in the case of Fraser v. the Queen. The plaintiff, Alex. Fraser, claims $5000 as compensation for the expropriation by the Government of land owned by him on the Riviere du Lievre. The claim was referred from the official arbitration to the court.

The sitting of the Exchequer Court at Quebec to hear claims in connection with the St. Charles branch of the Intercolonial Railway, has been postponed until April 17.

Mr. W. F. Whitcher, ex-Commissioner of Fisheries, died last night after an illness of several months. He was perhaps more conversant with the literature, not only of the Canadian, but the American fisheries than any other authority. He was highly respected at the Capital, where he has always been regarded as one of the cultured social lights. He did good service for Canada when the fisheries clauses of the Washington Treaty were under discussion. A post mortem examination of the body was held to-day and it was ascertained that the deceased had died from the effects of a cancerous formation in the stomach. Mr. Whitcher requested shortly before his death that a post mortem should be held in the interests of medical science.

The meeting of the Reformed Episcopal Church Vestry yesterday was a stormy one. The pastor, Rev. Wm. Walsh, said he had been hindered from doing his duty to find by poisonous influences, in the Sunday-school and right among the congregation. In fact, men living in open sin, one of whom was charged with adultery, had threatened to him how he should carry on the work of the Lord. The statement created a profound sensation and the vestry requested Mr. Walsh to withdraw his resignation, which he subsequently did.

Sir Chas. Tupper occupied his seat in the House this evening.

A Conservative convention will be held at Duncanville, Russell County, on April 11, to select a candidate.

THE "Q." BOYCOTT RAISED.

ALL STRIKES ON OTHER ROADS TO STOP FORTHWITH.

The Contest to be Henceforth Strictly Confined to the Burlington System Which is to be Overwhelmed with Business—Violence to be Discontinued.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Five thousand delegates, representing the engineers, firemen and switchmen of all the roads leading to Chicago, held a meeting yesterday, and resolved that the men of each road be allowed to use their own judgment in all questions growing out of the strike.

The final result of the meetings of the employes of the various roads in this city which began yesterday afternoon, and lasted until a late hour last night, was announced this morning in the declaration that the boycott of "Q" cars has been permanently raised, and that henceforth the contest will be confined strictly to the "Q" system. This raising of the boycott means that all strikes now on except on the "Q" are to stop forthwith, and that all those which were imminent are to be averted. The business of Chicago is to be restored and maintained by the strikers with strict decorum. Other roads are absolved from the requirement of neutrality and violence is to be discontinued according to the well-known policy of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The arrangement agreed upon, it is stated, is directly due to the exertions of Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Engineers, Grand Master Sargent of the Firemen, Grand Master Monaghan of the Switchmen's Association, Mayor Roche and Mark Crawford, who also represents the switchmen. The final decision was hastened by a mass meeting held with closed doors last evening which was addressed by General Manager Jeffrey of the Illinois Central Road.

The engineers will afford every aid in interchanging all the freight possible with the Burlington. By thus overwhelming the Burlington with business the men argue the fact will soon be demonstrated that it is by no means prepared to handle it with the new hands now in its employ. The plea of the Burlington that the places of the strikers have all been filled, and consequently that it has nothing to arbitrate, the engineers think will be demolished and that company be compelled to arbitrate the question at issue.

A LETTER FROM THE EMPEROR.

He Expresses Thanks for the Universal Sympathy Shown Him.

BERLIN, April 4.—The Reichs-Anzeiger publishes a letter from Emperor Frederick expressing his thanks for the universal sympathy shown him and for the congratulations offered him upon his accession to the throne.

The North German Gazette says: "Except that the Emperor's rest is more disturbed by expectoration his condition on the whole is satisfactory."

Frederick and Victoria.

BERLIN, April 4.—Emperor Frederick was better yesterday. He ordered that the horse he used in the Franco-Prussian war be brought before him, and expressed his pleasure at the excellent condition the animal was in.

The Empress has received from Gotha a basket of lilies of the valley and violets, accompanied by an address from the ladies of that place, expressing the hope that the Empress will reap the reward of her devotion and solicitude by the speedy recovery of her husband. Similar addresses are being prepared in Breslau and elsewhere.

Prof. Esmarch arrived here yesterday and visited the Emperor. He was surprised at the healthy appearance of His Majesty.

An Embarrassing Gift.

LONDON, April 4.—The King of Dahomay has considerably embarrassed the invalid King of Portugal by sending him a present of a consignment of half a dozen negro girls, with a message that they had been selected from the prettiest and plumpest damsels in his dominions. On reaching Lisbon these nymphs were attired much after the fashion of the garden of Eden, but they have since been decorously dressed by order of King Louis. They were first sent to the marine barracks, where they were kept for a few days in a carefully guarded wing. But this arrangement caused both scandal and inconvenience, so they were relegated to a house in the botanical gardens, where they still remain.

The Hamilton Lock Out.

HAMILTON, April 4.—The Builders' Contractors' and Dealers' Exchange met last night and took into consideration the resolution passed at the meeting held in St. George's Hall on Saturday. It was decided not to rescind the resolution passed a week ago suspending all union employes. There was a meeting this afternoon of the members of the exchange and brickmakers, for the purpose of inducing all the latter to come into the exchange, and thereby shut off the supply of bricks to the union men. The latter, however, claim that they have all the brick they need for months to come, and that some of the work has already been commenced by the union men on their own account.

A Capital Sensation.

OTTAWA, April 4.—In the Police Court to-day Emma Palmer and Flossie Allen for keeping a disreputable house were remanded till to-morrow. The court room was crowded, as it was known that summonses are to be issued to an alderman, an ex-alderman, a merchant and an important civic official and others. The latter has left the city. Twenty witnesses are subpœnaed.

KINGSTON, April 4.—At noon to-day Mr. James W. Higgins, of Gurney & Co., Toronto, and Miss Strachan, daughter of Martin Strachan of this city were married in St. George's Cathedral by the Rev. Buxton Smith, acting rector.

THAT RETALIATION BILL.

DISCUSSED IN THE HOUSE FOR A COUPLE OF HOURS.

Sir Charles Does All the Fighting for the Government.—The Order-in-Council Proclaiming Certain Articles on the Free List to Appear in Next Gazette.

OTTAWA, April 4.—Somewhat of a bomb fell in the House this afternoon, when a couple of lively hours were put in discussing the Retaliation Bill passed by the United States Congress. Sir Richard Cartwright asked if the Government had had its attention drawn to this measure and if it had taken any cognizance of the same. Sir Richard said the measure was attracting a great deal of attention throughout the country.

The discussion that followed Sir Richard's question was of the most animated nature and delayed, much to the relief of the galleries, the debate on Sir Richard's Unrestricted Reciprocity resolution on which Col. O'Brien was to be the first speaker. Sir John Macdonald was not in the House when the question was put, and Sir Charles had to do all the fighting for the Government, none of the other ministers evincing any desire to help the Minister of Finance out. The Opposition was in high feather over the result of the afternoon's fight, the leaders claiming that it was a complete backdown for the Government, because it had virtually repudiated its contentions of last Wednesday on the trade relations between the two countries.

Concerning the retaliatory measure, Sir Charles said it was evident that the bill was caused by a suspicion that the Government did not intend to reciprocate the action of the United States Government in regard to the admission of articles free, but the action of the Government of Canada showed this was not so. Both sides of the House had always been in favor of reciprocity in regard to natural products. As soon as the Government had received an intimation from Sir Lionel West that certain articles had been placed on the free list by the United States, the Canadian Government at once followed suit, and an order-in-council was passed proclaiming them, which would appear in The Gazette on Saturday. Sir Charles then read his dispatch to the British Minister at Washington as follows:

OTTAWA, April 3.—Sir Lionel Sackville West, Washington: Immediately on receipt of copy of your despatches from Lord Salisbury inclosing memorandum from the Department of State of the United States calling attention to the admission of certain articles free of duty by the United States, an order-in-council was passed admitting all the articles mentioned, when imported into Canada, free of duty. Proclamation will issue in next Gazette. The Canadian Government await further legislation by Congress in the same direction. CHARLES TUPPER.

Mr. Paterson (Brant) wanted to know just what the articles referred to were. Was barley included?

Sir Charles said barley and straw were not included. Congress had somewhat modified the duty on barley but raised it on malt much to the disadvantage of the Canadian maltster.

Mr. Mills then made an onslaught on the announcement which the Finance Minister had just made. He said it was in direct opposition to the policy and declaration of the Government on the day of adjournment last week.

Sir Charles said that this was an unfair way to treat the matter. He held that the policy of the two great political parties in Canada had always been to obtain reciprocity in the natural products of the two countries. The late Hon. George Brown had fought for these principles, so had Sir John Macdonald in repeated endeavors to obtain a renewal of the treaty of 1854.

Then Mr. Davies of Prince Edward Island arose and began to dance all round the Finance Minister's statements. It was merely an action, he thought, that the Government was beginning to see the error of its ways and would eventually adopt the teachings of the great Liberal party and come to Unrestricted Reciprocity. He (Mr. Davies) believed that Sir Charles himself honestly believed in Sir Richard Cartwright's motion and would vote for it.

The debate was nearly half over when Sir John Macdonald dropped in. It kept the Premier busy for fifteen minutes denying to this one and that one that he had said one thing on Wednesday last and meant another. During his remarks he looked over at Mr. Davies and said that he hoped some day to see him (Mr. Davies) a Chief Justice.

All of which caused the Kingston knight to protest against such an attempt to alienate the allegiance of the gentleman from Prince Edward Island from his political friends by such a paltry offer.

The Minister of Justice introduced a bill to abolish forfeiture for treason and felony and to otherwise amend the law relating thereto. He explained that it was desirable to adopt several of the provisions of the English law abolishing forfeitures but providing for the administration of the property of convicts during the terms of their imprisonment and also making provision for compensation out of their property to the parties injured.

The Minister of Justice also introduced a bill respecting the election of members of the House of Commons. Several clauses of the bill are the same as those under discussion last session referring to the quality of paper of which ballots shall be composed and also relating to polling booths, etc. The bill also provides that a member whose agent may have exercised undue influences may excuse himself by showing that such acts were done without any authority from him or his regularly appointed agent, that they were trivial and that in other respects the election was free from corruption. Another provision of the bill makes uniform the time for holding the elections in British Columbia and other places where, owing to the difficulties of communication, they have heretofore been held later than in other parts of the Dominion, these difficulties now having been removed. In addition to the present penalties more severe disqualifications shall attach to parties guilty of committing fraud of any kind. Other provisions are as to secrecy, safety of ballot boxes, etc.

In answer to Mr. Laurier Sir John Macdonald said the writ for the Russell election had not yet been issued. "The reason why it has not been issued," said the Premier, "is that so far we have not found a suitable person to act as returning officer."

The debate on Sir Richard Cartwright's unrestricted trade relation motion continues to grow very "tired." The House had a great dose of it to-day, and when the adjournment took place at 12.40 fifty members had spoken since the debate opened. The speakers to-day were Col. O'Brien, Mr. Haggart, Mr. Amyot, Mr. Masson, and Mr. Bowman, and Mr. McKeen of Cape Breton wound up by reading a thirty minute speech. It is generally supposed that it is a breach of parliamentary procedure to "read" a speech but whether this be so or not it did not bother Mr. McKeen any.

Mr. Laurier moved the adjournment of the debate.

Sir John Macdonald said he took it from the hon. gentleman moving the adjournment they were to have the pleasure of hearing him. He was glad of that. The Premier then remarked that it was about time the debate was wound up. The House had given fifteen days to it. These days, no doubt, were well spent, but as the busy season was at hand he hoped an arrangement could be arrived at to close the debate to-morrow night.

Mr. Laurier said he could give no pledge to that effect, but would do all he could to have the debate closed this week.

Sir John said it would be necessary then to sit very late to-morrow night.

Mr. Laurier expressed his gratitude for the assistance the Government had offered. He would consult with the First Minister to-morrow on the subject.

SPORTING EVENTS.

To-day's Ball Record—Toronto's Prize Dogs at Boston.

COLUMBUS, O., April 4.—Clean hits by the Toronto players were wanting in the game at Recreation Park to-day. Otherwise the contest might have had a different result. The Canadians in their first public essay as reorganized did good work in fielding but were unable to solve the delivery of either of Cleveland's pitchers. The score was as follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland.....1 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 2—	5	10	3
Toronto.....1 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0—	3	5	4

Batteries: Cleveland—Crowell and Goodfellow; Bakeley and Zimmer. Toronto—Atkisson and Decker.

Three Errors Beat Toronto.

The following despatch was received last night from Manager Cushman: "Cleveland 5, Toronto 3; Atkisson pitched great ball; three errors beat us; Hartnett a great man; Rurke and Kearns very brilliant.

Washington Again Beats Buffalo.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 4.—With Gibbs in the box for the Buffalos, the Bisons were an easy picnic for the Senators here to-day. Almost from the start Gibbs' delivery was pounded by the home team while the Bisons were unable to do much with Dailey. The score was as follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Washington.....1 3 0 4 1 5 2 2 3—	20	18	2
Buffalo.....1 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 0—	3	6	8

Dust from the Diamond.

The Rochesters will report for duty to-morrow.

The Troys will play their first game on Saturday at Philadelphia.

Rochester has been after Cleveland's third baseman Allen who was released by that club, but his figures were too high.

The Beaver Club of London have elected the following officers: W. Reid, president: J. C. Trebilcock, first vice; Jerry McDonald, second vice; F. O'Hara, manager; C. Efner, secretary-treasurer; F. Farnsworth, captain.

Syracuse has arranged two games with Cleveland on June 8 and October 5.

Toronto Prize Dogs at Boston.

BOSTON, April 4.—The bench show which opened in the Mechanics' Fair Building is one of the most successful ever undertaken in New England. It has over 1200 entries, valued at over $300,000, and is particularly distinguished by the very unusual number of Canadian dogs on exhibition. Following is a partial list of Canadian winners: G. C. Taylor, Toronto, greyhound puppy Milo, second prize; Robert Junor, Toronto, greyhound bitch puppy, Straying Away, second prize; George Hall, Toronto, wire-haired fox terrier dog, Braxton-Tantram, first prize, and Morceau, the wire-haired fox terrier bitch, first prize; Dandy Dimont, terrier bitch, Lady Wallace, second prize. Bedlington terriers, open class, dogs or bitches, Blue Bell second prize; open class greyhound dogs, Milo highly commended. Wm. Scully, Toronto, Irish terrier bitch puppy, Killarney Maid first prize, and Poppy III., Irish terrier bitch, second prize. Evictor, Irish terrier dog, second prize in open class. W. S. Jackson, Toronto, Bedlington terrier champion dog, Tynesider, second in open class; Domino received first.

Lacrosse Points.

The Torontos will meet to-morrow evening to appoint delegates to attend the Canadian Lacrosse Association meeting at Paris.

It is said that an effort is being made to organize a lacrosse club at Merritton to compete for the Niagara junior district championship.

It looks as if the Brantfords will have to dispense with the services of their Indian players, as three of the senior clubs have given notice to have the rules amended so that Indians will be ineligible to play on an amateur team.

Ottawa's New Lacrosse Club.

OTTAWA, April 4.—The amalgamation of the Capital and the Ottawa Lacrosse Clubs has been concluded, and the new organization will be called the Ottawa Lacrosse Club. The officers elected were: Hon. President, James Isbester; President, R. J. Devlin; First Vice-President, J. R. Booth; Second Vice-President, G. B. Brophy; Secretary, H. Morrison; Treasurer, H. McRae; Committee, Messrs. E. King, J. R. Armstrong, Col. McDonald, Dr. Cousens, J. Simpson, G. L. Foster, Jacob Erratt and A. Seybold. Messrs. Hector McRae, G. B. Brophy and A. Seybold were elected delegates to the convention of the National Lacrosse Association.

The Ten-Mile Record Broken.

NIAGARA FALLS, April 4.—The "go-as-you-please" race is still drawing large crowds here. When the gong rang at 10 p.m. the score stood as follows:

W. Potter	131	J. Johnson	115
W. Galley	120	Graham's Unknown	109
Ike Powley	115	E. Zinnermaker	105

At the finish of the "go-as-you-please" this evening M. Brean of St. Catharines, on trial to break the record of Canada, running 10 miles in an hour, covered 10¼ miles in the specified time, much to the surprise of the spectators, who enthusiastically cheered him. Breen for a long distance runner is undoubtedly one of the best in Canada. He showed but very little exhaustion when he finished.

Hanged for a Double Murder.

LOCKHAVEN, Pa., April 4.—Luther J. Shaffer was hanged here this morning for the murder of Isaiah Colby and his wife at Cherry Run last August. Mrs. Colby was outraged before she was murdered. Shaffer belonged to a good family.

R. & C. S. Milliken, members of the New York Stock Exchange, have failed with large liabilities.

THE NEW FRENCH CABINET

STRONG IN NAMES, BUT WEAK IN ARRANGEMENT.

Premier Floquet a Friend of Boulanger—M. Flourens Deprived of the Portfolio of Foreign Affairs—A Position Full of Dangers.

LONDON, April 4.—The formation of a new French Cabinet in a couple of days augurs well for its duration, but only on the condition that you do not look beneath the surface. M. Floquet, the new Prime Minister, is a fairly able man, distinguished by his deportment as presiding officer of the Chamber of Deputies. He is a Radical, and enjoys M. Clemenceau's friendship. He is even on good terms with the Municipal Council of Paris. He has collected a Cabinet strong in names, but M. de Freycinet, the strongest of all, is likely to be a source of weakness, because in the wrong place. He is Minister of War, and the army does not like a civilian as supreme ruler. M. Goblet, as Foreign Minister, is another mistake, chosen, as it were, to make M. Flourens' departure still more regretted. There is nothing of the diplomatist in M. Goblet. He is hot-tempered, and devoid of experience in foreign affairs.

M. Floquet will have against him the strongest and most compact of the Republican sections—the Opportunists—who are a majority of the whole, with M. Ferry, the ablest of parliamentary leaders, at their head. Moderates of every shade will be against him, and the Conservatives of course. He has been the friend of General Boulanger, and he will now have to chose between the support and the enmity of the Boulangist party. Each, at the moment, is equally dangerous. He will have to attempt to carry on the Government in the presence of a Chamber completely discredited with the country, and under a President who has won nobody's confidence. These are not circumstances which seem to promise long life to the new Ministry.

Elected by Seniority.

PARIS, April 4.—M. Meline, member of the Chamber of Deputies from the Vosges, was to-day elected President of the Chamber. He received 168 votes. M. Clemenceau received the same number of votes, but M. Meline was declared elected owing to the fact that he had served a longer time in the Chamber. The Senate passed a resolution that in view of the situation a too lengthy proroguing of the Chamber would be attended with great inconvenience. The Chamber will re-assemble on May 19, after the session of the Council-General.

Boulanger Interviewed.

LONDON, April 4.—A correspondent of The Pall Mall Gazette had an interview with Gen. Boulanger at the Hotel Louvre in Paris last evening. There was a long string of visitors in the corridor waiting for an audience with the General. The interviewer found General Boulanger to be a slightly bent, full-bodied man of medium height, with iron grey hair which is turning silvery. He has a kindly, honest face of the bourgeois type. His countenance shows no evidence of keenness or cuteness, on the contrary it has a weary, sleepy and overburdened appearance.

In regard to his candidacy for the Chamber of Deputies for the Department of the Nord and his reasons for not going there to conduct his own canvass, he said that he was not like an ordinary candidate, he did not appeal to the electors on petty departmental questions, but as the representative of a great principle, therefore his presence in the department was not needed, victory being certain. The principle he represented, he said, was the revision of the constitution. The Chamber of Deputies had been stricken with impotence and no longer represented the people. In dissolution of the Chamber and revision of the constitution was the only remedy for the evil.

Being asked to explain the basis of his plan of revision he said: "That is my secret, which I shall keep to myself. That is my policy." He refused to explain his plans because he feared they would be criticised and thwarted before there was a chance to put them into execution. He said he would wait until the time was ripe and then reveal them. He declared decisively that no ministry formed now could last long. Three months would be the utmost limit of its life. In the meantime he intended to reserve his plans and wait.

GREENWAY IN WINNIPEG.

He Announces the Complete Success of His Mission—The Delegates Banqueted.

WINNIPEG, April 4.—Premier Greenway and Attorney General Martin returned to-night and amidst pelting rain were escorted with brass bands to the centre of the city where they addressed a large crowd.

Mr. Greenway announced that his mission was completely successful, and that three independent railway lines were endeavoring to reach Manitoba by Dominion Day. The Red River road would be completed and direct competition had with the Canadian Pacific before that time. A general election would be held, and he asked if the Government redeemed its pledges that it should be sustained.

Mr. Martin also spoke.

The delegates were banqueted at Emerson and presented with an address at Dominion City.

Railway Purchases.

MONTREAL, April 4.—The Canadian Pacific Railway authorities have completed the purchase of the Waterloo and Magog Railway, which runs from Waterloo to Sherbrooke. Papers for the transfer have been signed. It is rumored that the Grand Trunk has secured the Stanstead, Shefford and Chambly Railroad, which runs from St. Johns to Waterloo.

There were five fair sisters, and each had an aim:
Flora would feign be a fashionable dame,
Scholarly Susan's selection was books,
Coquettish Cora cared more for good looks,
Anna, ambitious, aspired after wealth,
Sensible Sarah, sought first for her health and recommended her other sisters to try the La Parisienne Corset, which is certainly as good as any $1.25 corset in Peterborough.

Ladies, you can get the famous La Parisienne Corset for 99c. per pair at

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

MR. A. F. JURY, OF TORONTO, SPEAKS BEFORE THEM

On Several Topics of Great Interest to the Organization, in a Fluent Manner and is Rewarded with Applause and a Vote of Thanks.

A meeting of Knights of Labor and others favorable to the cause was held at the K. of L. Hall on Wednesday evening

There was a very good attendance and Mr. Robert Weir acted as chairman, and in a few appropriate remarks introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. A. F. Jury, of Toronto.

Mr. Jury, who was received with applause, explained that he was on his way to Ottawa, where he was watching the interests of the laboring men according to a resolution passed by the general assembly of the Knights of Labor. He referred to former visits here and expressed pleasure at meeting a Peterborough audience. He explained that there was really no difference between the Knights of Labor and Trades Unions, as both are seeking for political purposes, not in a party sense, to obtain legislation to place the workingmen on an equal footing with all other classes, such as protection for life and limb and proper sanitary arrangements, while at work; to compel children to attend school until they reach a certain age, and a proper bureau to statistics, so that the government would have proper data to act on when political and social questions came before them. The K of L wish to raise wages, but not by means of strikes, but by proper organization. The K of L will "enjoin a repression' to prevent the reduction of wages. It was now a well known fact that the law of supply and demand regulates the price of labor. To apply a remedy for an evil it is first necessary to find out the cause of the evil. If there is labor for 90 men and 100 want it wages will come down, but if there is labor for 110 men and only 100 to do it competition to secure the men will raise wages. He favored 8 hours per day and pointed out that 100 men working 8 hours per day provided work for 20 per cent. more men than the same number of men working 10 hours per day. It was well known that short hours and high pay went together all over the world. He spoke against strikes and said that supply and demand would regulate labor. He instanced the fact that in June tomatoes were worth 20 cents per pound, while in September they were only worth 20 cents per bushel, the prices being regulated by supply and demand. Such men as bankers and lawyers did very little work, but received big pay, as they understood the fact that those who had the most leisure, at the same time had also the most pay. Instead of keeping men on charity or sending them on tramp, he would divide the labor. There was not as much necessity now for long hours of labor as there was some years ago, as modern machinery had multiplied the producing power from 10 to 50 per cent. Fewer hours of labor add to a man's life, as proven by English statistics. When short hours were adopted the men are more sober and industrious. Another important principle of the K. of L. was that no lands should be given away to railway companies or monopolies of any kind, but should be kept for the people. He strongly advocated the George-McGlynn plan and explained it in detail. All land monopolies should be abolished and all taxes made fair and equitable according to the value of land. He had found that on buildings and on income the workingman paid taxes up to the last cent, while the wealthy men paid far below what they should contribute and this state of things existed all over the country. He also referred to rack rents in Toronto and held that under the plan proposed, the farmers would get off easy and those residing in the cities would have to contribute the bulk of the taxes. In order to succeed and raise themselves up, he said the workingmen must study and discuss the political and social problems of their times. They should not put their trust in the political heelers and hacks of any party, but they must read, discuss and understand the social and political laws that surround them. No community can rise higher than the average man in that community and if the workingman will read the labor and other papers they will be able to lift themselves up and raise to a higher plane their standard, and thus be able to choose men for members better fitted to represent them in the parliaments of the country. About 95 per cent of the population of Canada is composed of farmers, laborers and fishermen, but the time of the parliaments is taken up almost altogether in passing laws for the benefit of the remaining 5 per cent, who are organized, while the others are not. He found considerable fault with the doctors and surveyors, who were very hoggish when looking after their own interests, but who almost invariably opposed legislation that would tend to assist the workingman. He pointed out the great changes that had been wrought in 40 years and said that in Canada to-day we enjoyed nearly all the points asked for by the chartists of 1848. He wanted workingmen elected to parliament as they were the great producers, while all other classes were simply consumers or middlemen, the latter being the leeches of society, through whose hands nearly all productions passed and stuck there. The workingmen do not want new laws, but they do want the bad ones repealed. He was greatly in favor of the co-operative system and pointed out that the workingmen's co-operative societies of Great Britain last year did a business of $150,000,000. He admitted that in many cases such societies were failures and he had lost money personally by them falling through. This he ascribed principally to the fact that the working people had no business experience. As a successful concern of this nature he instanced one formed in 1848, at Rochdale, England, which started with twelve members who put in one shilling each and which now had soap, shoe, blanket, woollen, buscuit and fustian factories, did a business of $500,000 a year, and out of the profits had presented a costly public library, better than the one in Toronto, for the free use of all the citizens of the city. If workingmen spent more time at K of L meetings, discussing and reading matters of interest to them, instead of in front of bars and on the street corners, it would be a good deal better for them. As a giant monopoly he referred to the coal barons of the United States, four or five of whom control the the supply of anthracite coal for the American prices, and who regulate and fix prices at their own sweet wills. These combines understood the law of supply and demand and profited by that knowledge. He referred to the the great mineral wealth of Canada and said that it properly belonged to the residents of the Dominion and their descendants and held that not one acre of that land should be sold or given to the railway companies or other monopolies. He thought that the civilization so much boasted of in this age was but the thinnest vineering and that the aboriginals were ahead of us in this respect. The workingmen were entitled to the first place in the country for honesty, sobriety and integrity and industry, and he felt confident that there was more common honesty in the ordinary man than in all the Jay Goulds on earth. (Applause).

On motion of Mr. Geo. Ball, seconded by Mr. Jas. Crossley, a vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker, who replied briefly, as did the chairman, for a similar vote, proposed by Mr. Francis Fairen and seconded by Mr. John O'Brien.

The meeting then adjourned.

ASPHODEL.

Obituary.—On Monday morning, March 26th, from her home in Asphodel, Mrs. Ann O'Shea, widow of the late Michael O'Shea, was called to her rest at the age of 73 years. In her death her family has been bereft of a kind and loving mother, and from the neighborhood an old landmark has been removed—another of the links joining the present generation with the past has been severed. The deceased was born in the parish of Donerail, Cork, Ireland, in 1815, and at the age of ten with her parents sought and found a home in the then impenetrable wilderness of Asphodel. The long, tedious journey by land and sea, in those days, the innumerable hardships undergone, can only be understood by those who bore the brunt in wresting from nature the happy homes which dot the fertile fields of the county of Peterborough. Married at an early age, Mrs O'Shea was the mother of eleven children—six sons and five daughters—all of whom knelt tearfully around her death bed. She survived her husband seventeen years, and whether as wife, mother, or widow, her obligations were fully understood and always well performed; while as a friend and neighbor, all who had the happiness of knowing her will sincerely mourn her loss. In addition to her own children the deceased witnessed the birth of thirty-three grandchildren, thirty-one of whom are living; she also leaves two brothers and one sister. Though brief was the summons, (she had been taken sick on Saturday, 17th March,) the dread messenger found her fortified with that Christian resignation which was characteristic of her whole life. The funeral took place at 9 a. m., on Wednesday of last week, the remains being first taken to the R. C. Church, Norwood, where the full ritual and impressive ceremonies, of the faith she loved so well, were rendered by the Rev. Father Conway, and who, at the close, preached an eloquent sermon on the virtues of the esteemed deceased. The six sons were the pall-bearers, and as the immense cortege wended its way to the cemetery it was not only an imposing demonstration of respect to the deceased but served well to show the high esteem in which the relatives are held by all classes.—Star.

BENSFORT.

Correspondence of the Review.

A Long Way Round.—The ice bridge across the river is now considered dangerous. The farmers in the vicinity of Bensfort and further east, who could easily reach Peterborough market within eight or ten miles by crossing the river, will now have to enjoy a drive of fully double that distance to reach there.

Cheese Factory.—Messrs. Pue are busy making preparations for their new cheese factory. They have the greater portion of the material already on the ground.

Building Operations.—Mr. D. Truscott is also busy making preparations for the large barn that is to be erected upon his premises this coming summer. I understand that Mr R. Nimmo has secured the contract for the carpenter work. Mr. John Mein, of Otonabee, is to build the stone work. Mr. W. R. Morrison intends raising, enlarging and otherwise improving his buildings in the summer.

Accident.—Mr. Edward Kerr, while assisting to unload some logs from a sleigh last week, received a very severe blow across the face from the accidental springing back of a hand spike with such force as to cut quite a gash in his cheek and badly bruising his face, stunning him for a time. I am glad to know that he is fast recovering from his injuries.

Personal.—Mr. John Moyse, jr., of Tyrone, passed through this vicinity last week. He expressed himself as noticing a great change in this part of the county since he left here some twenty-six years ago.

Literary Society.—The Bensfort Literary Society held their last meeting of the season on Thursday evening. The entertainment given was more in the nature of a concert, there being no debate in the programme. The programme consisted of readings, recitations, songs, quartettes, songs in character, instrumental music, organ and violin, etc. Mr. J. C. Finlay, from Gore's Landing, assisted in the programme. He gave two recitations and kept the audience convulsed with laughter while rendering some of his comic songs. The other parts were all taken up and well given by local talent. This meeting, although not so interesting as some of the previous meetings of this society, was very enjoyable and a very pleasant evening was spent.

ever exhibited in Canada, including all the novelties of the season. Our unparelleled display of Felt Hats, newest style, at 45c. each is an important item in itself, but the agitation of the day is how GOUGH BROS. the Wonderful Cheap Men, can sell a beautiful suit, Man's size, worth $5.00 wholesale for $2.50. Men's Working Pants for 25 cents, worth three times the money. Men's Sunday Pants worth $2.25 for $1.25.

Buyers are pleased and astonished at our low prices, and frequently show their gratification by asking how do you sell so Cheaply? Well it is wonderful how we do, but we do and though Napoleons and Kaisers pass away, the Great GOUGHS still remain as firm as rocks and will continue to sell "The Cheapest Goods on Earth." Don't forget the Great Petley & Petley Bankrupt Stock. Sale now Roaring. Give us a call, whether you want to buy or not, and see one of our Men's $2.50 never wear out Suits. Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth It relieves the little suffer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

HASTINGS.

Personal.—Lieut. H. W. Fowlds completed his course of instruction in the military school and returned home on Friday. We are pleased to hear that Harry passed a successful exam.

That Suicide.—The good people of Rochester, N. Y., endeavored to foist upon us, willy, nilly—the body of a man who committed suicide in that city last week, as Henry Stewart of this village, four witnesses having sworn to his identity at the coroner's inquest. Now, as we have our Henry still in the flesh, the case is evidently one of mistaken identity. On the suicide's shirt and a white silk pocket handkerchief were marked "H. H. S." which no doubt gave rise to the supposition that it was Henry Stewart of our village.—Star.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Weather Probabilities.

Fresh to strong east to south-east winds; fair, followed by cloudy weather, and local rains to-night; stationary or higher temperatures.

Serviceability a Big Factor.

One of the most important factors in carpets is serviceability. Very frequently housekeepers are compelled to sacrifice somewhat of this quality in consequence of being short of funds, or on account of some special pattern they like. We handle none but the leading makes, and by carrying a large assortment, combine choicest designs with durability of fabric, and level the prices to suit the pocket of a customer. Housefurnishings in all lines, very attractive and cheap. For the next few days we shall offer a large line of fine carpetings at price that will at once stamp themselves as unapproachable bargains. Call and look at them. The golden lion.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. Gumpricht is in town. Orders may be left at Mr. T. Menzies' or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's stores. d77

Y. M. C. A. Band.

The Young Men's Christian Association brass band is a creditable organization—creditable to the association, to the leader and to the members of the band. As it appeared at the Baptist Anniversary it comprises seven players and instruments, as follows.—Messrs. John Miller (leader), cornet; Wm. Holland, clarionet; Best, Cornet; R. Shelton, alto; Wm. Mann, tenor; H. Holland, tenor, and Herb. Allen, bass. Another cornet will be added. The band was organized last fall, and although changes took place in the membership, under the leadership of Mr. John Miller it has made good progress and more will be heard of it at entertainments. The instruments are owned by the players.

Park Property.

At this time when there is talk of a park for the town of larger dimensions than any it possesses, public attention might be called to the lot containing thirty-five acres offered for sale at the south of the town, being part of the estate of the late James Howden. It lies east of the Agricultural Ground, with front on the river. It is a desirable piece of property and would, in many respects, be well adapted for a public ground.

to effect sales it is necessary to offer great inducements in boots & shoes. That is being done effectually at the extensive cash boot & shoe establishment of James T. Stenson.

They Must Go.

At Cobourg.

The Town Council of Cobourg is about to enter into a contract with a Watertown, N.Y., firm, to lay down a system of waterworks. There will be about seven miles of pipes and 67 hydrants, for which the council will pay $3,000 per year.

Now Going On.

Grand sale of Silks now going on at M. Sullivan & Co's. Such rare values seldom offered. Positive bargains in every line. The brightest and prettiest stock in town. Splendid chance to get a silk dress for the price of an ordinary goods costume. 3d78-1w14

He Got Off.

"Samuel Detcher, you are charged with being drunk and disorderly in a public place, on Wednesday night," said Mr. Thomas Menzies J P., acting as P. M. this morning. "Are you guilty or not guilty?" "Guilty" replied the prisoner, who was a young man and not our old and well known citizen of the same name. The presiding magistrate said it was a bad business to get drunk and get one's face out up, but as the prisoner had never been before the court before, he was discharged with a caution.

Acknowledgement.

The committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home thankfully acknowledge the following donations for March:—Mrs. Bruce Ferguson, bread tickets; John Lang, M. P., bureau; Mrs. Gilmour, membership fees, $3.00; Mrs. Vernon, membership fees, $5.00; Mrs. Dunlop, membership fees, $5.00; Mrs. Hazlitt, membership fees, $5.00; Mrs W. J. Green, preserved fruit; from ship social, cake and bread; from a friend, $1 worth bread tickets; Mrs. John Carlisle, basket apples and milk; Miss Beckett, reading matter; Mrs. Stevenson, canned tomatoes; from a friend, parcel clothing; Mrs. McGill, currant loaf and cross buns; from a friend, cross buns; Mrs. W. Bradburn, cakes.

A Brilliant Reception.

The Toronto Empire of to-day, says in reference to Mrs. Scott-Siddons and Mr Waller:—"When Mrs. Scott Siddons came on the stage of Association hall last night she was greeted by the largest and most fashionable audience that that hall has ever contained. Not a seat was vacant, and several hundred paid for permission to stand. Mrs. Siddons was enthusiastically received, as she always is. Her programme was a very entertaining one, and displayed her marked ability as a reader. She favored the audience with:

Two scenes from "The Merchant of Venice"—Shakespeare.

Mrs. Bean's Courtship—Anon.

The Drinking of the Potion, "Romeo and Juliet"—Shakespeare.

The Childwife. "David Copperfield"—Dickens.

The Masquerade—John G. Saxe.

A feature of the evening was the appearance of young Mr. Waller, who will be remembered as the boy pianist, Seraphael, who visited Canada a dozen years ago. Since then he has been studying in Germany under Liszt and other great musicians." Opera House, Peterborough, Monday 16th April, at prices within the reach of all. In all probability this will be the last opportunity the people of this place will ever have of hearing this wonderful and brilliant artist, as she sails for England early in May.

FIRST IN THE FIELD.

The Riverside Lacrosse Club Ready for the Coming Season of 1888.

The annual meeting of the members of the Riverside Lacrosse Club was held at the Hub, on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Ed. Brown, President, occupied the chair and there was a fair attendance.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

After routine the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. C. J. Phelan, was called on to read his annual report, which he did as follows:—

To the Officers and Members of the Riverside Lacrosse Club.

GENTLEMEN,—The season of 1887 was a very successful one as far as matches were concerned, but not financially. The number of matches played was eight, of these five were won, two drawn and one lost. The most important of the competing clubs were the "Young Torontos" and "Orillias," however, our boys succeeded in defeating them. It is to be hoped that a greater number of games will be played this year, and that the members will begin practise as soon as possible. It is also expected that those who are lovers of the national game will contribute more generously than formerly to add in purchasing new suits for the team. The club joined the Canadian Lacrosse Association last year, and it is for the members to consider would the same be done this year. Some foreign players, and several of the old Peterboroughs have signified their intention of becoming members, therefore Peterborough may look for a first-class team during 1888.

The receipts during the year 1887 were $109.95, all of which was expended.

On motion the reports were received and adopted.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:—

HON. PRESIDENT.—Mr. H. Calcutt.
PRESIDENT.—Mr. E. Brown
VICE-PRESIDENT.—Mr. H. Neil.
CAPTAIN.—Mr. A. Rose.
SECY.-TREAS.—Mr. C. J. Phelan.
FIELD CAPTAIN.—Mr. M. Tierney.
COMMITTEE.—Messrs. E. Brown, C. J. Phelan and W. Pakenham.

C. L. A.

It was unanimously decided to join the Canadian Lacrosse Association this year, as the club was well used last year by that body.

AT PARIS.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson was appointed the club's representative at the annual meeting of the association, to take place at Paris, on the 17th of April.

After some minor matters had been discussed the meet adjourned.

Their Next Debate.

On Monday evening next the members of the Otonabee Canoe Club will debate the subject, "Resolved, That Morality increases with Civilization." Mr. J. E. Willis will preside, Mr. W. H. Hill will act as critic, Messrs. A. Tebb and Jas. Little will support the affirmative and Messrs. Gordon J. Smith, B.A. and W.H.Stevens the negative.

Military Matters.

Nothing is definitely know yet as to whether the Victoria Rifles of Montreal and the 43rd Battalion, of Ottawa, or either of them will visit Peterborough on the coming 24th of May and there appears to be a disposition on the part of many of the officers and men of the 57th to take a trip to some of the neighboring places, on that day.

To Chemong Lake.

The G. T. R. Engineers are still at work laying out the junction of the main line and the Chemong Lake road, north of Smith-st. The company evidently mean to go ahead with the work of building the line at an early date, as ties are now being distributed along the road, between Peterborough and the lake.

THE CALICO BALL.

In Aid of the Funds of the Peterborough Protestant Home.

The calico ball in aid of the funds of the Peterborough Protestant Home, took place on Wednesday evening at Winch's new hotel, opposite the market square. The spacious dining and billiard rooms, as well as some of the others adjoining, were handsomely decorated for the occasion with flags, banners, festoons of gaily colored cloth, evergreens, flowers, etc., making the premises look about as well as willing hands and artistic taste could possibly do it.

The dining room was utilized as a ball room, supper was served in the billiard room, while up stairs were large dressing rooms for ladies and gentlemen.

The music was supplied by the Fire Brigade Band Orchestra and the programme included 24 dances.

The attendance was not as large as was anticipated or as the object deserved, but the 70 or more couples who were present unanimously agreed that the calico ball was the social success of the season.

The toilets of the ladies were something extra fine, they having been prepared expressly for the occasion and some were even imported from Toronto and Montreal.

During intermission, supper, prepared by the ladies of the town, was served, and seldom it is that better spread tables are seen anywhere, a fact that speaks volumes for the culinary ability of the ladies of Peterborough.

A great deal of the credit for the success of the affair is justly due to Mr. F. J. Lewis, of the Bank of Montreal, the Hon. Secretary, who was untiring in his efforts.

The lady patronesses were Mesdames Beck, Boucher, G. Burnham, J. Burnham, Belcher, Blackwell, Dennistoun, Dunsford, Grubbe, Hamilton, Halliday, R. B. Lundy, Lewis, Orde, Geo. Rubidge, J. R. Stratton, Shaw, Stethem, C. Stapleton, Wood, Winch, White.

The following gentlemen who acted as Stewards are also deserving of credit:—Messrs. R. Stevenson, H. W. Kent, A. V. R. Young, W. Johnston, A. St. A. Smith, J. H. Burnham, C. H. Clementi, F. Clementi, C. S. Shaw, Alex. Elliott, A. Mercer, J. Morris, W. D. Parker, R. B. Rogers, A. Macdonald and—Heathcote.

The edibles left over from the supper were forwarded to the Home and the proceeds of the ball, which will amount to quite a handsome sum, will be devoted to the same good object.

For Europe.

Mr. John Stirling, headmaster of the South Ward school, leaves for a two month's trip to Europe, this evening. Mr. L. W. Allingham will take charge of the school during his absence.

Tableau Vivants.

The Civic Deputation.

The civic deputation to visit Ottawa, re the sawdust question, will probably go down on Monday night next, per the Canadian Pacific. An interview could have been had with the minister to-day, but it was not known untill too late.

Baseball.

A meeting of the members of the baseball club was held at the office of Dr. Brennan on Wednesday night. There were seven of the nine players of last year present. Matters of interest to the club were talked over and it was decided to go on with practise as soon as the season opens. Dr. Brennan will captain and Mr. G. C. Clark, will manage the team; and the out look is as bright for an amateur team as it has been for some years.

The Opera House.

The Rutland, Vt., Daily Herald, of Jan. 5th, 1888, says:—"A large audience greeted the Sawtelle Company at the Opera House last evening, when 'Monte Cristo' was presented. The change from such plays as 'A Tangled Life,' and 'A Wife's Secret,' to 'Monte Cristo' was an abrupt one, and one well calculated to put the ability and versatility of the company to a severe test; but it was met very creditably. Mr. Sawtelle has a presence well suited to such a role as that of Monte Cristo; and his activity was marked by a force and skill that at once found recognition. His abilities were shown more plainly than in the previous plays. He was called before the curtains; and he certainly proved himself an actor of no ordinary merit. Miss Cornell deserves only praise for a painstaking effort, and her work in the fourth act was admirable. Space forbids detailed reference to the remainder of the company; and it can only be said that the leading rolls were given a well-deserved and well-balanced support." This company will appear in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday evening in "A Tangled Life."

A Bequet of enchanting sweetness—"Lotus of the Nile" Perfume.

Brevities.

—The new swinging harness at the hall has been placed in position.

—Mr. J.P.Menzies was acting P.M. to-day, in the absence of Mr. Dumble.

—It is about time that the town watering carts were got ready for service.

—One tramp hailing from Norwood was a tenant at the police station last night.

—Sleighs from the country are still seen on the streets, but the snow is about gone.

—Mr. Wm. Glass fell from a wagon, at Port Hope, on Tuesday, breaking three of his ribs.

—Ameeting of the Carpenters' Union, takes place at the K. of L. Hall, Water-st this evening.

—Mr. Dingle, organist of the George-st. Methodist Church, is on a visit to Oshawa, his former place of residence.

—The charters of the K. of L., moulders, carpenters and printers ornament the K. of L. hall. The latter is the handsomest of the lot.

—Officer Stewart made another arrest last night. The victim was a man who was d and d at the corner of George and Simcoe-sts.

—Stonemasons commenced work this morning at the north end. Their great enemy, the rain, made them suspend operations at an early hour.

—Ore from the Richardson gold mine at Eldorado yields $23 to the ton. One piece of rock over one foot square recently taken out is valued at over $100.

—Dr. Clark, Medical Health Officer, has sent in a report on the effects the rotten sawdust in the river and lake has on the health of the people of the town.

—Whilst Robert Tippet, jr., son of Mr. Robert Tippet, lot 8th, 6th concession Hope was chopping in the woods on Monday, a tree fell upon him, breaking his left leg between the knee and ankle.

—A case against a man for carting without a license was dismissed at the Police Court to-day, as the defendant had procured the necessary license before he was served with a summons.

RE-OCCUPIED

JOHN HACKETT

Has again occupied his former premises next door to Fortye & Phelan's Hardware Store.

The Store, which has been undergoing extensive alterations and improvements, is now a model place of business, and the public are invited to call and take a look through the premises.

The increased accommodation and convenience afforded us for doing business will no doubt help to compensate us and our customers for the inconvenience caused by our removal during the alterations and we hope to see all our friends back again in our handsome new premises.

JOHN HACKETT

Spring Millinery.

I wish to announce to my lady friends that my spring stock is now complete and I am prepared to attend to the wants of my old customers, and as many new ones as will favor me with their patronage. As my stock has been selected with great care, you will find it will compete favorably with the largest houses in the trade. In addition to the Millinery I have added a nice assortment of ladies' and children's underwear, at low prices. Don't forget the place, one door south of Sailsbury's Book Store.

S. ARMSTRONG.

Our Stock of Spring Hats is now complete at FAIRWEATHER & CO., the Leading Hatters, corner of George and Simcoe-sts.

What a Time

People formerly had, trying to swallow the old-fashioned pill with its film of magnesia vainly disguising its bitterness; and what a contrast to Ayer's Pills, that have been well called "medicated sugar-plums"—the only fear being that patients may be tempted into taking too many at a dose. But the directions are plain and should be strictly followed.

J. T. Teller, M. D., of Chittenango, N. Y., expresses exactly what hundreds have written at greater length. He says: "Ayer's Cathartic Pills are highly appreciated. They are perfect in form and coating, and their effects are all that the most careful physician could desire. They have supplanted all the Pills formerly popular here, and I think it must be long before any other can be made that will at all compare with them. Those who buy your pills get full value for their money."

"Safe, pleasant, and certain in their action," is the concise testimony of Dr. George E. Walker, of Martinsville, Virginia.

"Ayer's Pills outsell all similar preparations. The public having once used them, will have no others."—Berry, Venable & Collier, Atlanta, Ga.

THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1888.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

"Now, sir, speak." she says, at length, in rather tremulous tones, growing fearful of the lengthened silence. There is a dangerous vibration in the arm that Geoffrey has round her, that gives her warning to make some change in the scene as soon as possible.

For an instant Rodney turns his eyes on her, and then goes back to his sneering examination of Geoffrey. Between them the two dogs still lie, quiet but eager.

"Call off the dogs," says Geoffrey to Mona, in a low tone; "there is no longer any necessity for them. And tell me how you come to be here, at this hour, with this—fellow."

Mona calls off the dogs. They rise unwillingly, and, walking into a distant corner, sit there, as though still awaiting a chance of taking some active part in the coming fray. After which Mona, in a few words, explains the situation to Geoffrey.

"You will give me an explanation at once," says Geoffrey, slowly, addressing his cousin. "What brought you here?"

"Curiosity, as I have already told Mrs. Rodney," returns he, lightly.—"The window was open, the lamp burning. I walked in to see the old room."

"Who is your accomplice?" asks Geoffrey, still with studied calmness.

"You are pleased to talk conundrums," says Rodney, with a shrug. "I confess myself sufficiently dull to have never guessed one."

"I shall make myself plainer. What servant did you bribe to leave the window open for you at this hour?"

For a brief instant the Australian's eyes flash fire; then he lowers his lids, and laughs quite easily.

"You would turn a farce into a tragedy," he says, mockingly. "Why should I bribe a servant to let me see an old room by midnight?"

"Why, indeed, unless you wished to possess yourself of something in the old room?"

"Again I fail to understand," says Paul; but his very lips grow livid. "Perhaps for the second time, and with the same delicacy you used at first, you will condescend to explain."

"Is it necessary?" says Geoffrey, very insolently in his turn. "I think not. By the bye, is it your usual practice to prowl round people's houses at two o'clock in the morning? I thought all such festive habits were confined to burglars, and blackguards of that order."

"We are none of us infallible," says Rodney, in a curious tone, and speaking as if with difficulty. "You see, even you erred. Though I am neither burglar nor blackguard, I, too enjoy a walk at midnight."

"Liar!" says Geoffrey, between his teeth, his eyes fixed with deadly hatred upon his cousin. "Liar—and thief!"—He goes a few steps nearer to him, and then waits.

"Thief!" echoes Paul, in a terrible tone. His whole face quivers. A murderous light creeps into his eyes.

Mona, seeing it, moves away from Geoffrey, and, going stealthily up to the table, lays her hand upon the pistol, that is still lying where last she left it. With a quick gesture, and unseen, she covers it with a paper, and then turns her attention once more upon the two men.

"Ay, thief!" repeats Geoffrey, in a low voice, but fierce. "It was not without a purpose you entered this house to-night, alone, uninvited. Tell your story to any one foolish enough to believe you. I do not. What did you hope to find? What help towards the gaining of your unlawful cause?"

"Thief!" interrupts Rodney, repeating the vile word again, as though deaf to everything but this degrading accusation. Then there is a faint pause, and then——

Mona never afterwards could say which man was the first to make the attack, but in a second they are locked in each other's arms in a deadly embrace. A desire to cry aloud, to summon help, takes hold of her, but she beats it down, some inward feeling, clear, but undefined, telling her that publicity on such a matter as this will be eminently undesirable.

Geoffrey is the taller man of the two, but Paul the more lithe and sinewy. For a moment they sway to and fro; then Geoffrey, getting his fingers upon his cousin's throat, forces him backward.

The Australian struggles for a moment. Then, finding Geoffrey too many for him, he looses one of his hands, and, thrusting it between his shirt and waistcoat, brings to light a tiny dagger, very flat, and lightly sheathed.

Fortunately, this dagger refuses to be shaken from its hold. Mona, feeling that fair play is at an end, and that treachery is asserting itself, turns instinctively to her faithful allies, the bloodhounds, who have risen, and, with their hair standing straight on their backs, are growling ominously.

Cold, and half wild with horror, she yet retains her presence of mind,—and beckoning to one of the dogs, says, imperiously, "At him, Spice!" pointing to Paul Rodney.

To Come.

THE BUCKET SHOP BILL.

Animated Discussion in the Senate Over Mr. Abbott's Measure.

OTTAWA, April 4.—The Senate resumed its session to-night and sat till 10.30 p.m. A couple of hours were spent in routine and considering bills sent up from the House.

Then there was an animated discussion on the second reading of Senator Abbott's bucket shop bill. Mr. Abbott made a lengthy defence of the measure, which he said he had introduced by the encouragement of such influential bodies as the Toronto Board of Trade. Mr. Abbott in his speech exhibited a thorough knowledge of the working of the bucket shop and its evils. He further said that he had been approached by several Senators to postpone the second reading of the bill for a time. He had no objection to this, but he thought the feeling of the House was that it should receive its second reading to-night.

Senator Ogilvie of Montreal and Mr. Innes of Hamilton strongly opposed the bill.

Senator Alexander said the bucketshop was the direct cause of many of the financial wreck with which the country had been cursed.

The bill was then read a second time.

NORTH OF THE SASKATCHEWAN.

The Country Suited to Agriculture and Grazing—Indications of Coal.

OTTAWA, April 4.—The special committee of the Senate to enquire into the resources of the Saskatchewan examined Dr. Bain of Prince Albert to-day. He had travelled about a hundred miles through the country north of the Saskatchewan. He described this district as certainly well suited to grazing and probably suitable to agriculture. That this country is well suited to agriculture is shown by the fact that the Indians are the most prosperous agriculturists among the Indian population of the Territories. They raise sheep, cattle and swine and grow wheat, oats, barley, potatoes, turnips, carrots, peas, beets, parsnips, strawberries and a small species of Indian corn.

Indications of coal have been discovered, but no attempt has been made to develop it.

The numerous rivers and lakes teem with fish, the principal species being whitefish, weighing from three to twelve pounds, and lake trout, weighing from five to forty pounds. Wheat ripens in the district 100 miles north of the Saskatchewan in ninety days.

THE RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

The Act to Confirm the Charter of the Great Northwest Central Discussed.

OTTAWA, April 4.—Sir Hector Langevin presided at a meeting of the Railway Committee this morning. The Act relating to certain agreements made between the Grand Trunk Railway Company, the Canada Southern and the London and Port Stanley Railway Company was passed.

The Act incorporating the Chinook Belt and Peace River Railway Company again came up for consideration. It was explained that there was some difference of opinion regarding the bill, as it was thought it would interfere with the rights of another company already incorporated. The bill was allowed to stand until Friday, in order to allow of a rider being framed which would consult the interests of all parties.

A little disussion ensued when the act to confirm the charter of incorporation of the Great Northwest Central Railway was called. Mr. Daly, who had the bill in hand, pointed out that the company had paid $45,000 of their debts, had constructed thirty miles of road and had purchased the necessary material for the building of another fifty miles. The opposition to the bill came from Mr. James Beaty and others interested in the Northwest Central, but these gentlemen would not be able to show any reason why the petitioning company should not have their charter confirmed by act of Parliament. The fact of the seal of the company being affixed to the petition was sufficient evidence that it was poorly organized. A precedent for the application made in the bill was to be found in the case of the Temiscaming Railway which was last session allowed to confirm its charter. As to the bona fide character of the charter, those who had it in hand deposited on July 5, 1886, $50,000, $30,000 in deposit receipts and the remainder in marked checks, and that deposit had been used by the Government. Mr. Beaty not being present, the consideration of the bill was adjourned until Thursday next.

The bill incorporating the Pontiac and Renfrew Railway provides for the building of a bridge for railway purposes over the Ottawa River, and Mr. Peter White thought if the company intended to use the bridges for toll purposes a schedule of tolls should be added. The promoters promised to draw up a schedule of tolls subject to the revision of the Governor-General-in-Council. A clause of the bill giving power to enter into an agreement with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, or the Pontiac and Pacific Junction Railway Company, or the Bristol Iron Company (Limited), for leasing the railway, was amended by the striking out of the name of the Bristol Iron Company. The bill was then approved.

The bill to amend the Manitoba and North-Western Railway Company was considered. It reduces the number of miles to be completed each year from fifty miles to twenty. About 180 miles of the road have been completed up to the present and are in working order. An interesting discussion took place upon an amendment moved by Mr. Watson suggesting that a proviso be added that it shall not be lawful for such company to amalgamate or lease its line to any railway company without the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. Messrs. Mulock and Edgar supported the principle of the amendment, and Mr. Scarth threatened if it was not withdrawn he would withdraw the bill. The amendment was lost and the bill was approved of.

An act making further provisions respecting the Brantford, Waterloo and Lake Erie Railway Company was taken up and passed, as also another act amending the acts already existing with regard to the Wood Mountain and Qu'Appelle Railway Company, and an act incorporating the Chatham Junction Railway Company, and the St. Lawrence and Adirondack Railway Company.

Fatal Panic at a Bull Fight.

CELAYA, Mexico, April 4.—On Sunday, about 5 p.m., while the bull ring here was crowded with spectators, a fire broke out on the sunny side of the plaza. A panic seized upon the vast assemblage, and while a majority of people escaped without injury many women and children jumped from the top, a distance of 200 to 300 feet, and over one hundred of them were seriously wounded. Eighteen lives were lost. Nine bodies have been recovered. Nine persons were so badly burned that they died yesterday. Sixty-eight persons were badly burned, at least ten of whom will die.

Burnt to a Crisp.

ST. CATHARINES, April 4.—Fire broke out at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the barn on the premises of Nurseryman A. M. Smith on Geneva-street. Mrs. Smith went into the barn to try and rescue a horse when her clothes became ignited and before she could be rescued she was burned to death. The body was burned to a crisp.

Royal Personages.

ROME, April 4.—Queen Victoria, before returning to England, will visit the Emperor and Empress of Germany at Potsdam.

In brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The lawyers interested in the case of White and Cross, the Raleigh forgers, consulted together to-day, Mr. N. G. Bigelow representing the prisoners, and Mr. Busbee the State of North Carolina. The latter named three specific charges of forgery on which he was ready to proceed at Raleigh, and Mr. Bigelow, believing that the charges can be met, has advised his clients to go back. Mr. Busbee undertakes to give a guarantee that the prisoners will not be proceeded against on any other charge, and if the State fails in the three charges named the prisoners will be given a safe conduct out of the State. There is, however, still hanging over the heads of the prisoners the charge of bringing stolen money into Canada, and they will have to remain in Toronto until this charge is disposed of.

Thieves last night paid a visit to the building occupied by the Mathews Vinegar Manufacturing Company, No. 69 Jarvis-street, and, forcing open the cash drawer, stole a few dollars in silver and some stamps. The manager had left the key of the safe in his office coat, and the thieves in their investigation found it. They opened the safe and stole $50 in cash and several papers. There are some peculiar features about the robbery, and the detectives will not drop the case until a thorough enquiry is made.

The Central Bank liquidators filed an affidavit yesterday setting forth that the outstanding notes of the bank amounted to $27,352, and the amount in their hands to $602,719; that a dividend of 33⅓ per cent. on the approved claims may be safely declared and ordered, and that a further dividend of 33⅓ per cent. will be paid out of the assets now in their possession on all claims which may be approved, as well as the costs, charges and expenses of the winding-up.

The difficulty between the Builders' and Contractors' Association and the Builders' Laborers' Union has been amicably settled. The employers offered to pay 19 cents an hour, and the offer has been accepted by the laborers, the agreement to last until March 31, 1889, inclusive.

Dangerous Sport.

LONDON, April 4.—A serious accident, which will probably terminate fatally, occurred at the Princes-avenue School at noon to-day. The children have been in the habit of amusing themselves by sliding down the bannisters and while thus engaged at noon a young lad named McEwen lost his balance and fell heavily to the floor. He was picked up unconscious and carried to his home where it was ascertained that his spine had been injured.

Fen Wants to be Vindicated.

OTTAWA, April 4.—Fen Hamilton, the hero of the Middleton elopement case, has arrived here from Montreal. He says he wants his honor vindicated, and proposes to sue The Toronto Globe and Mail, La Patrie and Le Monde of Montreal and other papers. He has given Ben Butler a retaining fee to prosecute The New York Herald and The Boston Herald.

FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 1888.

THE OPPOSITION LEADER

SHOULDERS HIS MUSKET IN SUPPORT OF C.U.

A Memorable Day in the Debate on Sir Richard Cartwright's Motion—The Secretary of State's Eloquent Speech—An Old Time Scene in the House.

OTTAWA, April 5.—The House and crowded galleries were treated to-day to an array of eloquence that is seldom heard at one sitting. It was probably about as interesting an afternoon and evening as has been seen in the House this session. Mr. Laurier and Mr. Chapleau were pitted against each other for over three hours, and the two great French orators of the House of Commons just happened to be in their best form, which of course made the debate one to be remembered.

When the House adjourned early this morning it was on Mr. Laurier's motion, and this fact settled it that the Opposition leader would be the first to take the floor to-day to continue the great debate on Sir Richard's motion, which has now been running sixteen days. It was thought that the House might possibly divide to-night, but such was not the case. Mr. Laurier spoke for exactly two hours, and made what was admitted all round to be one of his very best speeches. He spoke freely and eloquently, and at 6 o'clock when the House arose for dinner his followers flocked around him in great numbers and shook him warmly by the hand.

For twenty minutes after Mr. Laurier began to speak Sir John took copious notes and it was generally understood that the Premier would reply to the French leader, but all of a sudden the program was changed. The Old Man suddenly dropped his pen and darted out of the chamber and was not seen again for half an hour, then he came in with his locks newly combed and looking suggestive of bears' grease. After a few minutes he disappeared again and was closeted for a long time with a railroad delegation. In the meantime the cards had been passed over to Mr. Chapleau and he took what notes he thought necessary. Mr. Chapleau was cheered to the echo during his remarks but his followers could not make it convenient to go through the hand-shaking act.

The public galleries were as full as they could hold, and altogether it was a gala day in the House. The Senate was not in session, and the old gentlemen from the school of elocution passed the time in their gallery and joined in the general admiration of the orators of the afternoon. Senator Macdonald of Toronto and Senator Turner of Hamilton, occupied reserved seats during the entire debate.

Mr. Laurier began by twitting the Conservatives on their professions of extreme loyalty and imputed them to fear rather than sincerity. Whatever of proud position the country held to-day he claimed was due to the unceasing efforts of the Reformers of former days. There was good reason to be proud of our country, her position and achievements, yet there is one wound. There must be something wrong somewhere. When we see our population moving away there is something that demands the attention of every patriot.

The Conservatives asserted that the country was highly prosperous. If prosperity is to be gauged by comparison with other countries it may be said we are prosperous, there is not the physical want and misery here that is seen in others, but more than this is needed: We must not live wholly within ourselves, communication and trade must be extended beyond our borders or the country cannot increase in prosperity.

There is to-day a sentiment of irritation and discontent which must be checked. He quoted from Sir John's Parkdale speech in '78 in which the Premier spoke of the crying shame that owing to the policy of the Government then in power, 500,000 people left Canada for the States. He (Laurier) wanted to know if it were not far more of a crying shame that under the present Administration 1,000,000 had been compelled to leave Canada. The cause of the present discontent is that we have not a proper economic condition in labor and manufactures. All classes of people will say that the remedy is a wider range of market. The barrier between this country and the States must be removed.

Mr. Laurier then reviewed the circumstances in our own country which led up to the treaty of 1854, which had proved most advantageous to this country, but which had been repealed by the United States owing to the irritation caused by the attitude of England and Canada.

Subsequently the National Policy was taken up and advocated by the Conservatives under the contention that it would drive the United States into reciprocity of trade. That contention and the present position of the Government were inconsistent because the Government now desired to keep that policy in its entirety.

"The only remedy for the condition of affairs now existing in Canada," said Mr. Laurier, "is to adopt the resolution introduced by Sir Richard Cartwright. It would open wide to us the trade of the 60,000,000 to the south, yet the Government refuse to do this. They offer to go a certain extent and no further. They stand on their dignity and will not budge an inch. They had, however, failed in their effort to secure limited reciprocity; the United States failed to be coerced by Canada. The offer made by Canada was regarded as a threat and the threat had been unsuccessful."

Sentiments had been expressed in the States, however, in favor of Unrestricted Reciprocity. During the recent fishery negotiations trade proposals had been made by the American plenipotentiaries and though those proposals are not made known to this House, yet it is impossible to imagine them to have been other than for the complete removal of the trade restrictions existing between the two countries. The present time was eminently well fitted for sending a commissioner to Washington to negotiate for freer trade relations. Unrestricted Reciprocity would include reciprocity in natural products and the latter was advocated by gentlemen opposite, but they contended that it would injure our manufacturing industries. He disputed this idea.

"The union of the people of Canada to-day," said the speaker, "is a mere union on paper, the heart of the people of Nova Scotia is not in the union." [Loud cries of dissent.] Mr. Laurier repeated his assertion and stated that it was the policy of the Reformers to win the heart of Nova Scotians to the Canadian flag by giving to them their natural market.

The time is coming when Canada and England must become closer friends or separate altogether, and if it comes to separation he felt sure it would be peaceful, but without following out that idea he wished to say that he only desired that we could make the same proposition to England that he was now advocating for the States. The situation, however, was greatly different.

He closed with an eloquent appeal for support of the motion made by Sir Richard Cartwright and of the principle involved in it.

Mr. Chapleau complimented Mr. Laurier on the eloquent effort he had made, but took exception to some of his assertions. The gentleman had made a great display, in words, of loyalty, but he gone further and had claimed for his party alone loyalty to the British Crown. It may be that he is loyal, but that loyalty might better have been displayed in time of danger than in times of peace, and the brandishing of the loyal sword now came with little grace from one who some months ago in alluding to that unhappy event in our Northwest had proclaimed that had he been on the spot he would have shouldered his musket in support of our country's enemies. This reference to Mr. Laurier's musket statement by the Secretary of State brought out a storm of hisses from the Opposition benches.

Laying that question aside Mr. Chapleau proceeded to discuss the National Policy and its effect on Canada. That policy has received solid support in the Province of Quebec in past years. It had been advocated by Sir George E. Cartier, Mr. Letellier and other great men, and later still, in 1878, it had received the support of the most liberal statesmen. Mr. Joly himself had said that even if he had to separate from his party he would be true to his province in advocating the National Policy.

He referred to the fact that the United States Congress declined to entertain proposals for reciprocity. The people of Canada are in favor of reciprocity, but they will have no Unrestricted Reciprocity. It is the object of the Government to govern in accordance with the heart of the country, to build up a national spirit and encourage a development untrammelled by any foreign influence. It becomes a sinister comedy when a party in this House looks across the border for assistance. We are only a small population, it is true, but we must protect ourselves and build up our industries. Gentlemen opposite say they are trying to educate the people to their theory, but the people have spoken and continue to speak for themselves.

This proposition might give us an enlarged market, but it would also make this country a market for the United States, and our manufacturers would be unable to compete with the large manufacturers of that country. This is known and realized by everyone. Unrestricted Reciprocity is an impossibility. Commercial Union has been repudiated by the people, and its advocates are ashamed of it. It would lead to Annexation, and Annexation might be discussed, but let them come out openly and make it a plank of their platform, and the voice of the people will be declared with no uncertain sound against it.

Protection is in the heart of the people of the United States, and it will continue so long as there are vast fields south and west of them for development. It should be so with us, and it is so. The hearts of our people are not with the resolution proposed by the Opposition. There have been no petitions from any constituency for it.

The emigration of French-Canadians, continued Mr. Chapleau, had not been so large as had been represented, but those who had gone to the States had gone in order to get work in the large factories, and if our industries are encouraged and developed there will be no such emigration at all. The people of the country would continue to support that policy, and that policy would be continued for the good of the people and the glory of the country.

After Mr. Chapleau concluded his speech at 9.30 the House rapidly emptied itself, several of the members going to the theatricals at Government House and others to the various nooks and corridors of the building. The debate for the balance of the night was very dreary and the speakers did their talking to empty benches.

Sir John came back from Rideau Hall about 11 o'clock, and it began to look at that hour as if a division would take place. The Government was perfectly willing to divide but the Opposition would not consent, their play being to keep the debate open until they forced Sir John and Sir Charles Tupper to place themselves on record on Sir Richard Cartwright's motion.

After midnight things became very noisy in the Chamber, and paper balls and other missiles flew in all directions. A dozen or so ladies in full dress, who had been at Government House, looked down from the Speaker's Gallery at the noisy and sleepy Commoners as they disported themselves, not "on the green," but on the rugged edges of their benches. It reminded one of an old time scene in the House of Commons. John Herbert Beaty, who had taken up a prominent place in the press gallery, remarked that it struck him that way also.

The Other Speakers.

The speakers after Mr. Chapleau were Mr. Flynn, Mr. Weldon (Albert), Mr. Semple, Mr. Hesson and Dr. Wilson, who tried to force an adjournment at 11.52. Dr. Wilson was still talking at 2 o'clock, with no prospect of a division or an adjournment.

The Onderdonk Rolling Stock.

OTTAWA, April 5.—Mr. Rykert presided at the meeting of the Public Accounts Committee to-day. Collingwood Schreiber, Chief Engineer of Government Railways, was examined in reference to the rolling stock of Mr. Onderdonk taken over by the Government. He stated there were 185 cars and 8 engines and it cost $22,700 to bring the rolling stock to the East.

Witness was questioned about the use of the "Jamaica" car and asserted his ignorance of the prices charged for cars running on private lines. Mr. Schreiber said he new nothing about the use of the "Jamaica" car, as did also Messrs. Bowell and McLelan.

Sir Richard Cartwright and other members protested against the prices charged by the Canadian Pacific Railway for hauling the Onderdonk cars and engines, and it was pointed out that if the engines had been used to haul the cars a very considerable saving would have been effected.

Mr. Schreiber said the stock was not worth nearly the amount it cost laid down at Moncton.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

To-Day's Ball Record—The Peds at Niagara Falls—Spots of Sports.

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 5—The Bostons divided into two teams with a few outside players, played a six-inning game here to-day in the presence of 3000 spectators. Clarkson and Kelly were in the points for what is likely to be Boston's regular nine, with Wise at short, Sutton at third, Morrill at first, Nash at second and Horning, Johnston and Brown in the field. The regulars won by a score of 7 to 2, but Sowders, who pitched for the picked nine, very favorably impressed the spectators and is likely to prove an addition of much importance to the beaneaters. Clarkson was loudly cheered when he appeared on the field with Kelly in the Boston uniform.

Rain prevented the game at New York with the Columbia College nine at the Polo grounds.

At Washington the league team defeated the Athletics, the Philadelphia Association team, by a score of 7 to 3 in six innings. The game was called on account of darkness.

The Peds at Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, April 5—In the six day "go-as-you-please" at the start at 2 p.m. all the men put in an appearance with the exception of Powley, whose knee was so badly swollen that his trainer would not allow him to go on the track. At the close to-night the score stood as follows:

	Miles.		Miles.
W. Potter	166	Graham's unknown	134
W. Galley	155	E. Zinnimaker	126
J. Johnson	136	Ike Powley	125

Spots of Sport.

The quarter-mile race at the Olympic Gymnasium last night was won by J. J. Moore. There were eight starters.

John Hackett of Hamilton, who some few weeks ago purchased the three Yorkshire terriers, Spink, Jessie and Bijou, has at last been successful in securing the much-coveted Yorkshire terrier Champion Dolly.

The six day go-as-you-please race, which is to begin at Madison-square Garden on May 6, promises to eclipse anything of its kind that has ever occurred in New York.

The Torontos defeated Yorkshire and Notts by 10 games to 4 on Wednesday. The match was played in the rain.

Henry Moore has been reinstated by the California League.

An exhibition game will be played at Hamilton to-morrow between the Hamiltons and John McPherson & Co.'s teams.

Wood and Jones will do very little pitching on the spring trip to be taken by the Hamiltons.

Slattery, Hatfield and Tiernan gave exhibitions of base running that had never been seen in the Southern cities before, and the sharp fielding of all the men has been praised to the highest extent.

Tip O'Neil, St. Louis' crack batsman, in a letter to his brother at Woodstock says: "I have started to run bases and have averaged nearly two stolen bases to a game. I am not hitting as well as I might, but I am bound to get there soon."

A meeting of representatives of the amateur clubs of the city will be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at the Wanderers' Club-rooms, to arrange for the use of the Toronto Baseball Grounds.

The Toronto club has appointed W. W. Jeffers, W. L. Crofoot and F. H. Elmore its substitute umpires for the season of 1888.

John Teemer is steadily training at Jacksonville, Florida. In an interview he says: "It is my earnest wish that Hanlan will defeat Peter Kemp next month, and then he will be the champion of the world. Balfour's Bill.

LONDON, April 5.—Mr. Balfour's bill to expedite business in the Irish land courts is published. It extends the existence of the Land Commission another seven years, deprives tenants of the right of applying for a reduction of rent, etc., to either a County Court or Land Commission, and of the right to transfer proceedings from a County Court or Land Commission, and of the right to transfer proceedings from a County Court to the Land Commission. The bill also empowers the Land Commission, with the consent of the Lord Chancellor, to distribute at will cases between the Commission and the County Court, and also on application and for good cause to transfer cases from the Commission to the Court or vice versa.

The Hoors' Backbone.

NEW YORK, April 5.—A special from Tangiers says at a late hour last night Sidi-Ben-Menai, the special Moorish commissioner, informed Consul Lewis that the Government were determined not to grant the American demands and were prepared to resist their enforcement in the usual manner. Consul Lewis refuses to be interviewed on the subject until he hears from Washington. The Moors are jubilant over the backbone displayed by Muley Hassan. There were insulting demonstrations this morning around the American consulate. Consul Lewis and his wife have gone on board the man-of-war Enterprise to confer with Commander McCulla.

PLUNGED DOWN TO DEATH

A PASSENGER TRAIN SUBMERGED IN A TORRENT.

Twelve Persons Lose Their Lives and Fifteen or Twenty Others Injured, a Number so Seriously that it is Feared they Cannot Recover.

ST. PAUL, April 5.—A special to The Despatch from New Hampton, Ia., says: A terrible accident occurred about four miles west of this town on the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway by which at least a dozen persons lost their lives and from fifteen to twenty were injured. The train, which left Chicago at 11.30 yesterday forenoon and was due here at 2.31 this morning, passed nearly on time and when about four miles west plunged into a creek, the bridge over which had been washed away. The creek was swollen by the immense amount of water which has been running off the past few days and in addition a gorge of ice was formed which previous to the arrival of the train carried away a portion of the bridge. There was nothing to show that there was danger ahead and the train plunged into the swollen stream while running at full speed. The engine and three coaches went into the creek and were immediately submerged in the torrent of water which overflowed the banks.

A scene of the wildest confusion followed, and those of the train crew and passengers who escaped death or injury were immediately called into service to relieve the drowning or pinioned passengers. It was with great difficulty that the passengers could be reached owing to the rushing of the waters through the car windows. Those who were rescued from the smoking car, which was almost entirely submerged, were taken from the windows, some maimed to such an extent that they were powerless to help themselves, while others were nearly drowned before they could reach them. At 11 a.m. six dead bodies had been taken out from the wreck and three more are known to be underneath the debris through which the water is madly pouring, and it is difficult to reach them. It is also stated that the engineer and fireman were instantly killed or were caught in the cab and drowned before aid could reach them, but the confusion and excitement is so great that it is difficult to secure reliable information.

In addition to the passengers known to be killed, fifteen or twenty have been rescued that are more or less seriously injured. A number are so seriously hurt that it is feared they cannot possibly recover.

A relief train was telegraphed for from Mason City and telegrams for relief were also sent to Charles City and other near-by places, but it was not until several hours after the accident that a train arrived with physicians to care for the injured and additional helping hands to aid in rescuing those confined in the wreck.

SOMETHING MORE CHEERING.

The Central Bank Liquidators Say the Dividend to Depositors will be 75 Per Cent.

TORONTO, April 6.

The announcement made yesterday that 66 per cent. dividend would be paid to Central Bank depositors was the theme of conversation in business circles yesterday.

But there is still better news. The liquidators were interviewed yesterday, and they said that the prospects were really more encouraging than their affidavits filed before the Master showed. After the payment of the first dividend of 33⅓ per cent. and a second one to the same amount, the liquidators think that the balance left in hand will be more than sufficient to pay all the winding-up expenses, and that a balance will be left in hand sufficient to pay another 9 per cent. dividend.

This would bring the total amount up to 75 per cent., which the liquidators think will be realized. Expenses are being kept to a minimum, and depositors will think that their interests have been well considered when they receive three-fourths of their amounts.

The Date of the Dividend.

This is what many people are anxious to know. The fact is that the routine work is heavier than anyone outside the bank would expect. All claims have to be examined in detail, changes made by the liquidators have to be registered, also sets-off allowed by the Master. Every check has to be signed by the liquidators, which is a work of considerable magnitude and will probably occupy a couple of weeks yet. Until this is done no notice can under the Winding-Up Act be given of the date of the payment of the dividend.

Alliston Votes for a Bonus.

ALLISTON, April 5.—A vote of the freeholders of this place was taken to-day on the question of discharging the mortgage held by Alliston against the Vulcan foundry for account of bonus of $10,000, in the event of a company being formed to buy and run the works, one of the conditions being that the company shall have a subscribed capital of $40,000, with $20,000 paid up. The vote stood 10 to 1 for discharge.

WATERWAYS.

The people of New York State are still agitating the question of improving their canal system, and, like the people of this district, are determined that the facilities afforded by internal waterways and the advantages derived therefrom will not be lost.

The Albany Argus of a recent date contains an account of a meeting held in that city at which a local canal union was organized, somewhat similar to the Trent Valley Navigation Association. There were nearly a thousand people at the meeting and the Mayor, Mr. John Boyd Thacher, presided. The Mayor, in his opening address, referred to the demonstrations of approval made at the time the Erie Canal was first opened. He pointed out that as the population increased the facilities for transportation must be increased. Even a cursory study of the channels of trade would, he said, teach one the importance of maintaining and enlarging the Erie Canal. He commended Canada for expending money on canals. While Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia were exerting their utmost efforts to obtain large shares of the carrying trade, New York received more grain than all three of the other ports put together. New Orleans, with its immense river facilities, had a constantly increasing trade. It was a fallacy to say that the interests of the railways and canals were inimical, because by an unexplained law of trade every grain of wheat carried over the Erie Canal coaxed a penny's worth of freight to the New York Central. The most prosperous railways were those which ran parallel with navigable water courses. The cost of maintaining the canal was nothing when compared with the benefits received. The canal counties were to-day paying more than eighty-five per cent. of the total state tax, and it was an act of prudence on the part of the remaining counties to aid in preserving the canal. At one time the rivals of the state were leaving it behind, but from the day the canal was built New York State led in the race for commercial supremacy.

After the Mayor had delivered his address, some points from which are given in the foregoing paragraph, the canal union was formed. Addresses were delivered by other gentlemen, one Republican editor saying that in this matter he and his party would part company if the Republicans opposed the enlargement. He also said that in 1887 the Champlain Canal floated 140,000,000 feet of Canadian lumber, and that canal transportation was not languishing, but the reverse, quoting the tonnage last year to prove it. Resolutions were adopted calling on the Legislature to make an appropriation for the improvement and enlargement of the canals.

It is evident from the proceedings of the people of New York State that they appreciate the benefits of internal navigation, and their experience and example is a demonstration of the benefits the completed Trent Valley waterway would be to this district, to the port of Montreal and to the whole Dominion.

THE CUP AND MEDAL

Won by the Peterborough Curlers From the Truro, N. S., Men Has Arrived

It will be remembered that the Peterborough curlers on the 24th of February last, defeated the Truro, N. S., curlers at Ottawa, and won the Governor-General's trophies.

The prizes arived to-day and are on exhibition at Messrs. P. Connal & Co's.

The cup is of solid silver, gold lined, without chasing and has three handles. It stands about 5½ inches high and is mounted on an ebony pedestal of the same height.

On the pedestal is a silver plate bearing the following inscription:—"Presented by His Excellency the Governor-General, for competition among the stone curling clubs of the Dominion. Won by the Peterborough curling club, at Government House, February 24th, 1888. Score, Peterborough 42, Truro N. S. 25 points."

Accompanying the cup is a solid silver medal weighing 2½ ounces. On the face were profiles of the Governor General and Lady Lansdowne, with the inscription "Marquess of Lansdowne, G. C. M. G., Gov: Gen: of Canada. Marchioness of Lansdowne, 1884." On the other side is the family coat of arms, with the motto "Virtute non verbis," and the inscription, "Presented by His Excellency the Governor General."

Headache, Billiousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion relieved and at once by Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. Try it. Samples free.

Medical Association.

A meeting of the medical practitioners of Peterborough was held at Oriental on Thursday night for the purpose of forming the Peterborough Medical Association. Dr. Kincaid presided and the others present were Doctors Brennan, Boucher, Bell, Halliday, Caldwell and Fife. The association was duly organized with Dr. Kincaid as President and Dr. Caldwell as Secretary. A committee consisting of Doctors Boucher, Bell, Fife and Halliday was appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws to be submitted at the next meeting. Several matters of interest to to the Association, including the selection of a place for holding meetings, etc., were discussed and the meeting adjourned for two weeks. There are fourteen doctors in town and of this number twelve have signified their intention of joining the Association, one refused and one is considering the matter.

Personal.

The students of Queen's University have been given appointments on Presbyterian missions. Mr. A Fitzpatrick returns to the Peterborough Presbytery and Mr. J. J. Wright will do city work in Toronto.

Mr. John Stirling, head master of the South Ward School, left last evening for Europe. He will be away until June and will visit England and Scotland. Mr. Stirling is an enthusiastic cricketer and will make a point of seeing some of the great games in England. Bon voyage.

ALUM BAKING POWDERS.

Their Use Injurious to Health and their Sale Contrary to Law.

Two men were recently convicted in St. Lawrence County, New York, for violating the food adulteration laws of that State by selling alum baking powders in imitation of pure cream of tartar baking powders. The law of New York is similar to that of this province in forbidding the sale of adulterated and injurious articles of food, but the courts had not before construed it in so far as it related to the sale of alum baking powders.

The baking powder sold by the accused was proved to be made from alum, by Gillett, of Chicago, and expert testimony was taken to show the unwholesomeness of alum in baking powders, bread or other food.

The Court, in inflicting the extreme penalty of the law upon the accused, expressed regret at not being able to impose a punishment more nearly in accordance with the seriousness of the offence.

The sale of alum baking powders is prohibited by direct statute in England. It should be the same here; yet our laws, if not so specific, are probably sufficient to put a stop to the business were they rigidly enforced. It is said that many brands of alum powders are being introduced into the Dominion, and we bespeak the attention of our public analysts to the matter.

THAT SUICIDE.—The good people of Rochester, N. Y., endeavored to foist upon us, willy, nilly—the body of a man who committed suicide in that city last week, as Henry Stewart of this village, four witnesses having sworn to his identity at the coroner's inquest. Now, as we have our Henry still in the flesh, the case is evidently one of mistaken identity. On the suicide's shirt and a white silk pocket handkerchief were marked "H. H. S." which no doubt gave rise to the supposition that it was Henry Stewart of our village.—Star.

REVIEWS.

HARPER'S WEEKLY is of special interest just now on account of its interesting articles relating to the late Emperor of Germany. In a recent number a brief and concise biography of the deceased monarch presents in readable form the salient points of German history during the past 75 years. Current events, including the great snow storm, receive full and complete attention. "The Manuscript found in a Copper Cylinder" is a tale of engrossing interest and rivals Jules Verne's productions in startling development.

THE CENTURY MAGAZINE for April completes the 13th volume, and the reader is left to marvel at the intelligence and enterprise that can produce so thoroughly satisfactory work. It is an illustration of the benefits of co-operation—for if the Century lacked its immense circulation and patronage it could never place at command of its patrons the feast of literary matter as it does from mouth to mouth. To enumerate the good things inside the covers of the April number would require an extent of space which we cannot well spare, but the announcement must not be overlooked of Mr. Geo. Kennan's papers which are to appear in the May number. All the other papers by Mr. Kennan published in the Century have served merely as introductions to this series, which will give the result of The Century expedition into Asiatic Russia. The initial paper is "Across the Russian Frontier," and will be fully illustrated.

Looking Over the Situation.

House cleaning time draws near. We know what you'll say. We've been there. You find this carpet threadbare, that article of furniture done for, the window shades too worn for further service. This is the story of one room and can be repeated. The logic of your looking is that you will, if you appreciate the situation, repair to fair's. The golden lion will help you out. Think of the assortment of styles in lace curtains, German art curtains, Turcoman portiers, window shades and blinds, all supplemented by rolls of carpets, oil cloths, and stair carpets and pads. W. Barwick, for defendants, showed cause. Enlarged for ten days. Counsel for defendants moved by way of cross-motion for security for costs on account of non-payment of the costs of a former action between the same parties. These costs, however, having been paid on Saturday, pending the return of the cross-motion, cross-motion dismissed, but with costs to defendants, as the cross-motion was well founded."

OUT-DOING ANYTHING EVER DONE BEFORE.

How is it to be done? Well that's our business, and what's our business is nobody else's business--and if we tell others how we get our clothing to sell so low, they would be as shrewd as we are. Sheppard is not caught napping in that way--All the dear public care to know is that Sheppard's clothing is the cheapest on earth. That he has no traffic in shoddy, and you can always get what he advertises.

NOW THEN, ABOUT CLOTHING.

Boy's Suits, 3 pieces, 95 cents. How does that catch you? For another just a little longer in the legs, a boy who has seen more Xmas puddings, Sheppard will give you a $2.75 suit worth double the money and a pair of pants for this dear boy for 75 cents. These are nice goods, although you may not think so—so cheap—well I should say so. You want a hat for him don't you? Certainly you don't want to see him bareheaded; not much. Sheppard has the best value. See his cheap Hats.

For the young man. A nobby suit in several patterns $3.95, worth at least $7.50. This is the line that has excited the Town and rattled the trade; hurry, make haste. Secure this suit before they are all done. Motherly advice this.

We are talking to you because you are out of your teens, although you may not be as old as Methuselah's goat. We have a suit for you at $1.95, this is not all wool and a yard wide.

Sunday School Anniversary.

The anniversary of the Charlotte-st. Methodist Church Sunday school services are announced for Sunday and Monday, April 29th and 30th. A special and interesting service will be held on Sunday afternoon, the programme for which will include singing and recitations by the children. On Monday evening our townspeople will have the opportunity of hearing Mr. J. R. Clarke, the "bootblack" orator, who will deliver his new lecture "Gough, in Humor, Dialect and Eloquence."

County Scott Act.

On Thursday County Police Magistrate Edmison opened a court at the Court House to try two Scott Act cases, from Indian River. Mrs. Elizabeth O'Brien was charged with a second offence. She pleaded not guilty. A first charge had also been laid against her daughter Miss Elizabeth Smith, but as the papers in the latter case had not been served, the Magistrate enlarged both cases until Tuesday next, at 11 a. m. at the Court House.

Opera House,

At Norwood.

The Norwood Register says:—"The Peterborough singers who came to Norwood to sing high mass at Father Conway's church acquitted themselves with honor to the town and credit to themselves. Miss Maggie McFadden rendered the soprano solos in a sweet and admirable manner. Mr. Hamilton's rendition of the 'Crucifixus' was most acceptable, and Mr. Jas. Sheehy was also much appreciated in the baritone solo 'Pro Pecates.' The latter's voice was a little rough-edged, owing to a severe cold and incidental exigencies. Rev. Father Conway thanked the Peterborough contigent in a most flattering manner and made several appropriate and kindly references to his old friends in town."

To-night.

Lost His Watch.

Petty thefts of jewellery and money from lumbermen and others have been unusually frequent this spring. Quite a number have been noticed in the newspapers, but the majority are kept quiet and very few people learn anything regarding them. The latest complainant is a young man hailing from the vicinity of Allandale. He spent the winter in the woods and after being paid off he started in to see the town. One afternoon and night did him. The next morning he found that a good silver watch and a purse containing a small amount of money had been stolen from him. Fortunately for him a roll of bills escaped the notice of the thieves. Of course he can't tell where he lost his wealth.

A NEW SOCIETY.

Branch No. 21 of the Emerald Beneficial Association Organized in Town.

On Thursday evening, Branch No. 21, known as St. Peter's branch, of the Emerald Beneficial Association was organized at the Murray-st. Separate School library, by Grand President Burns, of Toronto.

The new lodge starts with a membership of thirty-two and it is expected that that number will be largely increased in the course of a few weeks.

The following officers were duly installed by the Grand President:—

PRESIDENT.—Mr. A. R. Lee.
VICE-PRESIDENT.—Mr. W. Rudkins.
REC. SECRETARY.—Mr. C. P. MURTY.
FIN. SECRETARY.—Mr. J. P. Bryson.
TREASURER.—Mr. J. P. Hurley.
CHAPLAIN.—Rev. Father Rudkins.
PHYSICIAN.—Dr. C. Collins.
MARSHAL.—Mr. P. McHugh.
STEWARDS.—Messrs. H. Carveth, T. Cronin and C. G. Halpin.

After the installation the Grand President, the officers and the other members of the lodge proceeded to the American House, where mine host Halpin, with the able assistance of Mr. Wm. Bowman, had prepared a tempting spread.

The chair was occupied by Mr. A. R. Lee President, and on his right was seated the Grand President.

After ample justice had been done to the good things provided, toast, speech, sentiment and song entertained those present for a couple of hours.

The following was the toast list.

"St. Peter's Branch E. B. A." coupled with the names of Messrs Lee and Rudkins, proposed by Mr. C. P. Murty, and responded to by the gentlemen named.

"The Grand Lodge," responded to by Mr. C. Burns, who in the course of his remarks gave a full explanation of the society. It is purely benefical in character, providing for the payment of $4 per week and free medical attendance and medicine to each member. In case of death $50 is paid for funeral expenses and on the death of a members wife $25 is paid. In addition the members sit up at night with the sick brother.

"Ireland as a Nation" brought to his feet Mr. Geo. McHugh, of Belleville, who delivered a somwhat lengthy and spirited address.

"The Medical Profession" were well taken care of by Dr. Collins.

Song by Mr. R. Begley.

"The Merchants of Peterborough" were answered for by Mr. W. J. Devlin.

Recitation by Mr. J. P. Hurley.

"The French Nation" was replied to by Mr. George Giroux.

Song by Mr. Wm. Bowman.

"The Host and Hostess" brought Mr. M. Halpin to his feet.

The company separated at a seasonable hour by singing "Jolly Good Fellows."

THE SPRING ASSIZES.

The Cases for Trial at the Court Opening on Monday Next.

The High Court of Justice assize division opens at the Court House, on Monday next, before the Hon. Mr. Justice Falconbridge.

The docket, while not an extensive one, is rather longer than usual, comprising as it does seven cases, three criminal and four civil. They are as follows:—

CRIMINAL.

QUEEN v. ELEAZER J. YEOMANS.—Shoot with intent to kill.

QUEEN v. JOS. HICKS.—Larceny of cigars from the Grand Central Hotel.

QUEEN v. WM. KENNY.—Forgery and obtaining goods by false pretences.

CIVIL.

JERQAIS v. GOODWIN.—An action under the compensation for Workmen's Act 1886.—Stone for plaintiff; McVeity & Co., Ottawa, for defendant.

RITCHIE v. FLOOD.—An action for assault.—Dumble & Leonard for plaintiff; Jno. Burnham for defendant.

SWEENY v. SWEENY.—An action, father against son, for support.—Dumble & Leonard for plaintiff; Sidney Smith, Q. C. for defendant.

CHAMBERLEN ESTATE v. GAGNON.—An action to recover possession of land.—Peck, for plaintiff; O'Meara for defendant

Ministerial Transfers.

At a meeting of the Methodist Transfer Committee at Toronto on Thursday, the Rev. J. Allen, M.A., of the Montreal Conference, and the Rev. S. J. Shorey, of the Toronto Conference, were transfered to the Bay of Quinte Conference. Mr. Allen has been invited to the George-st. and Mr. Shorey to the Charlotte-st. church, and this action ensures their coming. The Rev. I. Tovell was transferred to the Niagara Conference, he having received an invitation to St. Catharines.

Brevities.

—Lindsay will hold a grand fire men's demonstration on July 1st.

—A new Court of the C. O. F. was organized at Belleville on Wednesday night.

—The services of the Magistrate were not required at the Police Court this morning.

—The grass is now showing up in many places and gardeners are preparing for work

—Samples of numbers for the houses have not arrived yet but they are expected daily.

—Mr. John Hackett is the first man in town to display his number. It is No. 385 George-st.

—Double windows are being taken down, a fact which points towards the advent of spring.

—Maple sugar and syrup are coming in. Quite a quantity appears to have been made this season.

—A pond of water in front of St. Paul's Church is receiving the attention of the Street Inspector.

—The authorities should see that children and others are kept off the Horticultural Gardens.

—The merchants of Port Hope meet tonight to consider the matter of early closing. This is a pointer for Peterborough.

—Traffic up the river has been suspended for the season. The ice bridges are no longer safe and people will not trust them.

—Louis Downey, of Lindsay, a corporation employee, was getting out some lumber, when log fell on him and broke two ribs.

—The fog last night rather took the shine out of the electric lights, as long as it lasted. A light that will show brightly is what is wanted.

—Belleville has had the usual spring flood, Port Hope is looking for it every day, while in Peterborough everything has passed off in first rate shape so far.

—The band tournament scheme is not by any means dead, but the arrangement of preliminaries is being made quietly and soon the public will be put in possession of all the details.

—Councillor Langford has under way two-hundred and forty signs for street corners. When these are placed in position every street corner in the corporation will have proper signs.

—At an early hour on Thursday morning a small dwelling house at Port Hope, occupied by an old lady named Mrs. Robert McBurney, was totally destroyed by fire. The occupant lost all the money she had.

—Referring to the young man assaulted here, as given by the REVIEW, the Port Hope Times says that "Jim Lee is evidently the subject of the above paragraph. He is pretty well broken up and looks as though he had run against a pile-driver."

What a Time

People formerly had, trying to swallow the old-fashioned pill with its film of magnesia vainly disguising its bitterness; and what a contrast to Ayer's Pills, that have been well called "medicated sugar-plums"—the only fear being that patients may be tempted into taking too many at a dose. But the directions are plain and should be strictly followed.

J. T. Teller, M. D., of Chittenango, N. Y., expresses exactly what hundreds have written at greater length. He says: "Ayer's Cathartic Pills are highly appreciated. They are perfect in form and coating, and their effects are all that the most careful physician could desire. They have supplanted all the Pills formerly popular here, and I think it must be long before any other can be made that will at all compare with them. Those who buy your pills get full value for their money."

"Safe, pleasant, and certain in their action," is the concise testimony of Dr. George E. Walker, of Martinsville, Virginia.

"Ayer's Pills outsell all similar preparations. The public having once used them, will have no others."—Berry, Venable & Collier, Atlanta, Ga.

FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 1888.

MONA SCULLY;

—OR—

The Bride of an Englishman.

A STORY OF THESE TIMES.

Like a lash or lightning, the brute springs forward, and, flinging himself upon Rodney, fastens his teeth upon the arm of the hand that holds the dagger.

The extreme pain, and the pressure—the actual weight—of the powerful animal tell. Rodney falls back and with an oath staggers against the mantelpiece.

"Call off that dog," cries Geoffrey, turning savagely to Mona. Whereupon, having gained her purpose, Mona bids the dog lie down, and the faithful brute, exquisitely trained, drops off his foe at her command, and falls crouching to the ground, yet with his eyes red and bloodshot, and his breath coming in panting gasps that betray the wrath he would gladly gratify.

The dagger has fallen to the carpet in the struggle, and Mona, picking it up, flings it far from her into the darksome night through the window. Then she goes up to Geoffrey, and, laying her hand upon his breast, turns to confront their cousin.

Her hair is falling like a veil all round her; through it she looks out at Rodney with eyes frightened and imploring.

"Go, Paul!" she says, with vehement entreaty, the words passing her lips involuntarily.

Geoffrey does not hear her. Paul does. And as his own name, coming from her lips, falls upon his ear, a great change passes over his face. It is ashy pale; his lips are bloodless; his eyes are full of rage and undying hatred; but at her voice it softens, and something that is quite indescribable, but is perhaps pain and grief and tenderness and despair combined, comes into it. Her lips—the purest and sweetest under heaven—have deigned to address him as one not altogether outside the pale of friendship,—of common fellowship. In her own divine charity and tenderness she can see good in others who are not (as he acknowledges to himself with terrible remorse) worthy to touch the very hem of her white skirts.

"Go," she says, again, entreatingly, still with her hand on Geoffrey's breast, as though to keep him back, but with her eyes on Paul.

It is a command. With a last lingering look at the woman who has enthralled him, he steps out through the window on to the balcony, and in another moment is lost to sight.

Mona, with a beating heart, but with a courage that gives calmness to her outward actions, closes the window, draws the shutters together, bars them, and then goes back to Geoffrey, who has not moved since Rodney's departure.

"Tell me again how it all happened," he says, laying his hands on her shoulders. And then she goes through it again, slowly, carefully.

"He was standing just there," she says, pointing to the spot where first she had seen Paul when she entered the library, "with his hand up like this," suiting the action to the word. "When I came in, he turned abruptly. Can he be eccentric?—odd? Sometimes I have thought that——"

"No; eccentricity is farther from him than villainy. But, my darling, what a terrible ordeal for you to come in and find him here! Enough to frighten you to death, if you were any one but my own brave girl."

"The dogs gave me courage. And was it not well I did bring them? How strange that I should have wished for them so strongly to-night! That time when he drew out the dagger!—my heart failed me then, and but for Spice what would have been the end of it?" She shudders. "And yet," with sudden passion, "even then I knew what I should have done. I had his pistol. I myself would have shot him, if the worst came to the worst. Oh, to think that that man may yet reign here in this dear old house, and supplant Nicholas!"

Her eyes fill with tears.

"He may not,—there is a faint chance,—but of course the title is gone, as he has proved his birth beyond dispute."

"What could he have wanted? When I came in, he turned pale and leveled the pistol at me. I was frightened, but not much. When I desired him, he laid down the pistol directly, and then I seized it. And then——"

Her eyes fall upon the hearth-rug. Half under the fender a small piece of crumpled paper attracts her notice. Still talking, she stoops mechanically and picks it up, smooths it, and opens it.

"Why, what is this?" she says a moment later; "and what a curious hand! Not a gentleman's, surely."

"One of Thomas's billet-doux, no doubt," says Geoffrey, dreamily, alluding to the under-footman, but thinking of something else.

"No, no; I think not. Come here, Geoffrey, do. It is the queerest thing, like a riddle. See!"

He comes to her, and looks over her shoulder at the paper she holds. In an ugly, unformed hand the following figures and words are written upon it.

"7—4. Press ton corner.—right hand."

SOME CURIOUS COMBINES.

COFFIN AND EGG "COMBINES" IN ACTIVE OPERATION.

Stove Manufacturers Said to Have an Agreement—Toronto Victims of the Coal Ring Before Clarke Wallace's Committee—"A Thing That Would Hold Them All Fast."

OTTAWA, April 5.—Offers of testimony concerning the several trade combinations have been gratefully received by the committee up to this morning, when a proposition was received from a Toronto man offering practical demonstration of his ability as an undertaker. No one volunteered to be the subject and the letter went on file. The writer, it seems, is a man of some capital and sufficient experience, who wanted to go into the undertaking business in Toronto. On negotiating for supplies he was told that he must be a member of the combine before any goods would be sold to him. On applying for such membership he was very frankly told that there were enough in the business already and that he would therefore not be admitted.

Information was received by letter concerning the existence of a combination amongst stove manufacturers, and as proof there was cited a simultaneous advance of 5 per cent. in prices made by the Toronto Stove Manufacturing Company, Copp Bros. of Hamilton and E. C. Gurney & Co. Notification of this advance was given on Feb. 23 last.

A Stratford man complained of an attempt to corner the egg market in that vicinity. There was no evidence to show that the producers took any part in maintaining this combine or refused to lay for outsiders.

The coal bonanza next occupied the attention of the committee, two Toronto dealers being present to tell what they knew about it. The first of them was Thomas McConnell, who had joined the combine against his will because he could not buy coal otherwise. While in the ring he had been fined $100 for putting up three signs at offices not exclusively for the sale of coal. No dealer is allowed to economise on office expenses by taking his orders through offices maintained for other purposes, having them left at a hardware store for instance. He had later had another difficulty with the combine about selling coal to a small dealer, and another fine being imposed he left the combine. Since then he has been shut off entirely from the purchasing markets of the States and could get absolutely no coal. Last summer, before he was shut out, he had taken orders for 26,000 tons, and to fill these orders he had to purchase from other dealers and sell without profit or at a loss.

The last season he had operated in the combine the coal cost him $4.16 delivered at the shed; it afterwards cost him 40 cents for cartage and 25 cents a ton office expenses, and the selling price was $6 a ton, leaving a profit of $1.19 a ton.

He considered that Elias Rogers was the manipulator of the ring, and he was also in the ring on the American side, being a mine owner. Other combinations had always fallen through, but he had heard Mr. Rogers say when the present was being organized that "He was fetching about a thing now that would hold them all fast."

It was an expensive business getting into the combine, as to join the Board of Trade cost $100, and there was an additional fee of $30 for the coal section.

Ald. Wm. Bell, one of the "small dealers," was next examined. He complained of the small allowance the combine made to dealers such as he, who only made a profit of about 25 cents a ton on coal bought from members of the combine, whereas when they were purchasing direct from the United States producer they made a profit of 86 cents a ton.

AN INTERESTING FIGHT.

Brewing Between the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific.

OTTAWA, April 5.—An interesting fight in which the forces of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Grand Trunk will be arrayed against each other has been brewing for some time, and will probably occur in the Railway Committee to-morrow if a postponement is not asked by the Canadian Pacific Railway, who are said not to be quite ready. The question was fought last session in the Railway Committee and resulted in a victory for the Grand Trunk, who are again expected to be victorious. Both corporations have been busy lobbying for the last few days, and the lobbyists can be seen distributing maps and endeavoring by various means to convince members of the committee of the justice of their contentions.

The facts of the case are these: A year or so ago the Grand Trunk obtained a charter to construct a branch from their main line at St. Lambert, opposite Montreal, in a southwesterly direction on the south shore of the St. Lawrence to Fort Covington, to connect with the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg, coming through the State of New York. Last year the Grand Trunk spent $300,000 on the branch. The C. P. R. applied for a charter for a branch running from the east end of their Lachine bridge in the same direction as the Grand Trunk branch and to connect with the same American system. The Grand Trunk claimed this to be a direct invasion of their territory, and succeeded in having the application rejected, the government sustaining them in it. The application is now being renewed.

The Canadian Pacific Railway claim that their object is to divert a large amount of American traffic into Canadian channels, as the connection would form a short and direct route to the Canadian seaboard. They also say that when the St. Lawrence is frozen the traffic would be sent to Halifax over their main short line. It is not yet known how the Government will go upon the question, and much interest is manifested in it.

THE EXTRADITION TREATY.

Summary of the Proposed Arrangement for Swapping Criminals With the U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The injunction of secrecy was removed to-day from the report of the Committee on Foreign Relations on the British extradition treaty. The report embodies the proposed treaty. The treaty includes, with the present extraditable crimes, manslaughter, burglary, embezzlement or larceny or the value of $50, and malicious injuries to persons or property by the use of explosives or obstructions to railways where life is endangered.

No fugitive criminal shall be surrendered under the provisions of the treaty if the crime in respect of which his surrender is demanded be one of a political character, or if he prove to the competent authority that the requisition for his surrender has in fact been made with the view to try and punish him for a crime of a political character.

A fugitive criminal surrendered to either of the high contracting parties under the provisions of the treaty shall not, until he has had an opportunity of returning to the state by which he has been surrendered, be detained or tried for any crime committed prior to his surrender other than the crime proved by the facts on which his surrender was granted.

In stiff and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

CAPITAL NOTES.

The Writ Issued for Russell—Theatricals at Government House.

OTTAWA, April 5.—The writ for the Russell election was issued to-day. Nomination will be on April 30 and voting on May 7.

Frank McIlroy, representing the Toronto Rubber Company, to-day sold 1000 feet of hose to the Government for use in the Northwest.

Sir Chas. Tupper is again ill and was not in his seat to-day.

The theatricals at Government House to-night were a very pleasant affair. There was a large number of invitations. An original three act comedy, entitled "Everybody's Friend," by J. S. Coyne, was given with good effect. Supper was served in the tennis court after the performance. The cast was:

Felix Featherly	Lord F. Hamilton
Mr. Ichbrook	Frank Gordon
Major Wellington De Boots	R. E. Kimber
Trap	R. Metcalfe
Mrs. Featherly	Miss J. White
Mrs. Major De Boots	Mrs. Chas. Stuart
Mrs. Swandonn	Miss Agnes Scott
Fanny	Miss M. White

Customs Financial Inspector McMullen has reported to the department the seizure of a quantity of maps entered at Toronto under false invoices. These goods were entered at $18 per gross, just half their value. The officer has obtained copies of both invoices which show conclusively that the charge of fraudulent undervaluation is well substantiated.

Reports from the London School of Infantry, which was opened on Monday last, indicate that no difficulty is being experienced in filling the permanent list. Applications covering the full strength, 100 men, have been received, but all the appointments have not yet been made. The school is under the command of Col Smith, and Lieut. Wadmore, who has been transferred from the Toronto School, is acting as adjutant. There are yet three appointments to make, and they will probably be gazetted in the next militia general order.

The Committee on Private Bills met this morning and considered the bill to incorporate the Nesbet Academy of Prince Albert. The clause naming the incorporators concludes: "And any such persons as may from time to time become members in full communion of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, in the Northwest Territories, etc." It was considered that this was a somewhat extensive range of power, and the bill was referred to a sub-committee to draft a suitable clause. The bill to authorize the town of Kincardine, county of Bruce, to impose and collect certain tolls at the harbor in that place, was laid over until the opinion of the Minister of Justice could be secured.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there was a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

THE TALK CONTINUED THROUGH THE NIGHT.

Little Else Done in the House Yesterday—Col. Amyot Rises to a Question of Privilege and Assures Parliament of His Loyalty to the Crown.

OTTAWA, April 6.—This was about as dreary a day as could be well imagined in the House of Commons. The House adjourned at 3.30 this morning without coming to a division on Sir Richard Cartwright's Unrestricted Reciprocity motion although the Government attempted several times to force one. The fact that there were as many Government as Opposition members who wanted to speak on the motion precluded the possibility of this. Mr. Laurier absolutely refused to treat with Sir John with a view of drawing the debate to a close until everyone who wanted to talk was given an opportunity to do so, and so when the House reassembled at 3.15 this afternoon, after a little routine had been transacted, the lonesome talk was resumed and was continued throughout the long, weary hours of the night.

Very little else was done in the House. Col. Amyot, the member for Bellechasse, speaking to a question of privilege, gave himself a patent of loyalty to the British Crown because, he said, some people had endeavored to extract treasonable sentiments out of the speech which he delivered on Wednesday. He assured the House that he was truly loyal to Her Majesty and would continue to be.

Sir Chas. Tupper was not in his seat in the afternoon, but in the evening he came in and laid upon the table a copy of the letter from Sir Lionel West to the Governor-General, together with the order in-council placing certain natural products on the free list which the United States Government had placed on theirs. Sir Charles then left the chamber.

But the debate—how wearily it dragged along! It was the seventeenth day. The same old ground was gone over and over again. Occasionally a speaker would make a point which would temporarily arouse the two-thirds empty House from its lethargy. Figures upon figures were piled up. The tariff was torn to shreds by the Opposition, and as rawsilly woven again by the Government supporters. Besides the trade affairs of the country the loyalty cry was sounded and resounded throughout the chamber.

The speakers of the afternoon and evening were: Dr. Platt, Mr. Mills, Mr. Jones (Digby), Mr. Cameron, Mr. Fiset, Mr. Wilson (Argenteuil), Mr. Somerville, Mr. Mulock and Mr. Perley (Ottawa.) Mr. Perley was speaking at 2 o'clock, with no prospect of a division before 3 or 4 o'clock.

THE BUCKET SHOP MUST GO.

Senator Abbott's Bill Read a Third Time—Crime in Toronto.

OTTAWA, April 6.—The Senate sat till 5 o'clock this evening and adjourned till Monday. Several bills were advanced a stage.

In answer to Mr. Alexander, Mr. Abbott said all the licenses of the chartered banks would expire in 1891. Before that time it was the intention of the Government to inaugurate an exhaustive enquiry into the banking system of the country.

Mr. Alexander took occasion to make his usual tirade against dishonest bank officials and other offenders. He said a good thing would be to have a public execution in the market square in Toronto of the man who threw the vitriol into young Sievert's eyes, and of several alleged bank defaulters whom he vaguely hinted at. Mr. Alexander having made the further statement that crimes of violence were very prevalent in Toronto, Hon. John Macdonald said this was not so to any further extent than prevailed in all centres of population.

The Senate went into committee of the whole on Mr. Abbot's bucket shop bill and considered it clause by clause. Little or no exception was taken to the bill as it progressed and it was reported back to the House without amendment. The bill was then read a third time without a dissenting voice and ordered to be reported to the House of Commons.

The bill provides that:

Every one who (A), with the intent to make gain or profit by the rise or fall in price of any stock of any incorporated or unincorporated company or undertaking, either in Canada or elsewhere, or of any goods, wares or merchandise, and without the bona fide intention of acquiring any such shares, goods, wares or merchandise or selling the same, as the case may be, makes or signs or authorizes to be signed any contract or agreement, oral or written, purporting to be the sale or purchase of any such shares of stock, goods, wares or merchandise, and every one who acts, aids or abets in the making or signing of any such contract or agreement; or (B) with the intent to make gain or profit by the rise or fall in price of any stock of any corporated or unincorporated company or undertaking either in Canada or elsewhere, or of any goods, wares or merchandise, makes or signs, or authorizes to be made or signed, any contract or agreement, oral or written, purporting to be for the sale or purchase of any such shares of stock, goods, wares or merchandise, in respect of which no delivery of the thing sold or purchased is made or received and without the bona-fide intention to make or receive such delivery; and anyone who acts, aids or abets in the making of any such contract or agreement is guilty of a misdemeanor and liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years, and to a fine not exceeding $500.

"Knickerbocker buff" is given the name of a color to be fashionable in spring goods.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

PREPARATIONS MADE BY BOATING MEN FOR THE COMING SEASON.

English 2-Year-Olds Racing—The Baseball Record—The Peds at Niagara Falls—Beach and Hanlan on Kemp—Spots of Sport.

TORONTO, April 7.

Amateur boating men are in great glee over the bright prospects of the fast-approaching rowing season. Each of the local clubs—the Argonaut, Toronto, Bayside and Don—is well equipped, or will be, for making a vigorous campaign. New boats are being made for those clubs who require them, and the indications warrant the belief that the season of 1888 will be a memorable one.

The holding of the annual regatta of the Canadian Association on Toronto Bay this summer has undoubtedly had something to do with the increased interest which is being manifested by the amateurs. The success of the Toronto club's four in winning the American championship at Chautauqua, and its later and brilliant performance at Ottawa is also a factor in the movement of the different clubs to secure honors. Just as soon as the ice disappears from the bay the oarsmen will begin training. Many and important changes will be made in the personnel of some crews. The World yesterday had a talk with the members of the different clubs.

O'Connor Cannot Make the Match.

J. A. St. John of St. Louis, the backer of Gaudaur, writes Mr. Joseph Rogers of this city, regarding a double scull race between Gaudaur and O'Connor and Teemer and Hamm. He says:

Teemer and Hamm can get backing for a double scull race in June. I am willing to back Gaudaur and O'Connor against them, but don't know what O'Connor's arrangements are. I have ordered a new boat, the very best that can be built and big enough for two 175 lb. men. "Jake is coming round all right, and before the season is over will be better than ever. He is gaining in weight rapidly and his back is nearly well. I believe that Jake and O'Connor can beat any double in the world.

Mr. Rogers says O'Connor's arrangements for the season are such that he cannot make the match.

English Two-Year-Olds Racing.

LONDON, April 6.—This was the first day of the Leicester Spring meeting. The features of the day were both two-year-old events. The Excelsior Breeders Foal Plate of 1000 sovereigns was won by Lord Zetland's colt by Springfield, from a field of eight. The Portland Stakes of 7000 sovereigns was won by the Duke of Portlands colt, Donovan, by two lengths from El Dorado second, and Your Grace third.

THE EXCELSIOR BREEDERS' FOAL PLATE of 1000 sovs. (700 sovs. to the winner, 200 sovs. to the nominator of the winner and 50 sovs. each to the owner and nominator of the 3rd), for 2 year-olds; colts to carry 126 lb.; fillies and geldings, 123 lb.; penalties and allowances; entrance 5 gs., the only forfeit if declared by the first Tuesday in June, 1887; if not so declared, 8 gs. in addition.; 5 furlongs, straight, closed Dec. 7, 1886.

Lord Zetland's b.c. by Sprinfield—Pinta 1

There were eight starters.

THE PORTLAND STAKES of 7000 to be distributed as follows: The winner 6000 sovs., the second 750 sovs., the third 250 sovs. by subscription of 50 gs each, p.p. for 2-year-olds; colts to carry 126 lb., fillies and geldings 123 lb.; 5 furlongs straight.—12 subs.

Duke of Portland's b.c. Donovan, by Galopin—Mowerina, 126 ..... (Robinson) 1

Mr. Douglas Baird's br.c. El Dorado, by Rosicrucian—Eglentyne, 126 2

Mr. A. W. Merry's b.f. Your Grace, by Galliard—Grand Duchess, 123 3

DONOVAN, the winner, who was bred by his owner, the Duke of Portland, is a brother to Medwena, who in 1885, when a 2-year-old, credited His Grace with several valuable stakes. Donovan made his debut at the Lincoln Spring meeting, where he captured the Brocklesby Stakes from a field of ten. The above race was his second appearance. Donovan is extensively engaged, his name appearing in all the principal two year old events for 1888. Next year Donovan is in the Two Thousand Guineas, Newmarket Stakes, Royal Stakes (Newmarket second October), Prince of Wales Stakes (Ascot), Epsom Derby and Grand Prize, Sussex Stakes at Goodwood, Kempton Park Royal Stakes and Great International Breeders' Foal Stakes, Excelsior Breeders' Foal Stakes at Leicester spring, Lancaster Plate at Manchester autumn, Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park second summer and Doncaster St. Leger.

Base ball Games Yesterday.

At Indianapolis the home representatives of the League suffered defeat at the hands of the Cleveland Association team by a score of 10 to 5.

At Cincinnati, the Red Stockings downed the St. Paul team by a score of 8 to 4.

At Washington the league team played an excellent game with the Athletics of Philadelphia, defeating the latter by a score of 5 to 4.

At Birmingham, Ala., the world's champions, the Detroits, were beaten by a score of 9 to 6.

Beach and Hanlan on Kemp.

After Kemp defeated Clifford in Australia Beach said: "My expectations with regard to Kemp have been quite fulfilled. I am doubly gratified, because when I handed over the championship to Kemp in the belief that he was a fit and proper person to fight for the Australian aquatic laurels, the press strongly condemned my choice and said that Kemp was not a good enough man to hold the championship against all comers. I believed he was, and, of course, am very glad that I was not mistaken. As regards the race itself if Kemp had been rowing Hanlan instead of Clifford he would have kept Hanlan at the top of his speed today, and should Hanlan challenge him to-night he will accept. I have now more confidence than ever in his capacity to cope with the Canadian. Kemp will be prepared to row Hanlan in six weeks, not earlier. I think he certainly requires at least one month's rest. When he was with me on the Nepean I rowed him down to a skeleton."

Hanlan said: "Both men were fit and qualified in every respect to compete for the proud title of champion of the world. I don't mean that they were equal in every respect, because I believe they were not. I firmly believe that Kemp could win, and he did win from the very first stroke; he held his good lead easily all the way through, and if he had wished he could have got a quarter of a mile in front. I must congratulate Kemp on the magnificent race he rowed, but I was at the same time sorry to see Clifford rowing under such difficulties. He seemed to be in trouble from the second stroke. He wanted to row, but could not; I believe he was tied down by his boat; that is, he was cramped by his rig, with which he could not do justice to himself. I certainly think Kemp decidedly the better man of the two in every way, and whoever beats him will have all his work cut out for him. Kemp is about as good a sculler as I ever saw. I expected him to win the race. I backed him myself, and told all my friends in Sydney to do the same."

The Peds at Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, April 6.—The fifth day of the "go-as-you-please" brought out all the men in a very sore condition, some of them were barely able to move their legs. Score at the close:

Spots of Sport.

The Torontos play with Cincinnati to-day, to-morrow and Monday at Cincinnati.

At present it is extremely doubtful if Sunday games will be played in Kansas City this season. There is a small but influential Law and Order Society in that city, and it has already served notice that it will prevent Sunday ball playing if possible.

The Brotherhood and the K. of L.

CHICAGO, April 6.—The Times says: Whatever may be the result of the deal between the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen and General Master Workmen Powderly, the fact remains that there is such a deal, and it is in writing, signed by parties to the agreement.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway will be held at Montreal on May 9. The meeting will be made special for the purpose of (1) authorizing the issue of bonds secured by mortgage on the company's subsidy of land, and determining under the authority of the charter all matters relating to such lands and mortgage.

2. Confirming any agreement that may be made with the Canadian Government concerning the said bonds and mortgage, and authorizing the removal of certain restrictions imposed by the original contract, as set out in the schedule to the act, 44 Vic., cap. 1.

3. Considering and accepting, and taking such steps as will make available any legislation during the present session of the Canadian Parliament respecting the foregoing matters.

The National Publishing Company of Toronto have entered for interim copyright the following books: "King or Knave," by R. E. Francillon; "The Wrong Road," by Major Arthur Griffith; "A Real Good Thing," by Mrs. Edward Hennard.

The Montreal and Chicago Merchants' Shipping Company are applying for letters patent of incorporation. The capital of the company is $80,000, and the chief place of business is Toronto. The corporators are G. Graham, J. A. Jacques, J. A. Hammond of Chicago and Geo. Suffel of St. Thomas.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

It is not Hung up by the U.S. Senate, but Will Probably Be Killed.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The Herald's Washington special says: The impression which has gone abroad that consideration of the new fisheries treaty in the Senate had been postponed till December is entirely erroneous. The treaty will be taken up and acted on within a short time. The subject will be called up in the Committee on Foreign Affairs on next Saturday at noon. The delay in consideration has been due to the absence, or illness, of several members of the committee. Senator Sherman was absent for some time. Then Senator Edmunds was in the South, Senator Frye has been busy on the Pacific Railroads Committee, Senator Morgan has been ill and Senator Brown has been slightly indisposed for a while. The Republican majority of the committee has pretty well made up its mind to kill the treaty, although they may do it by indirection.

Aside from prompt ratification, which will be urged by the Democratic Senators, there are two lines of action being discussed. One is to have the committee report a resolution expressing the opinion of the Senate that the treaty it unsatisfactory and will not be ratified. The other is to refer it back to the State Department, with the suggestion that it be amended in certain particulars. The former course will probably be adopted by the Republicans on the committee. They want to make a certain amount of political capital out of it for use in Maine and Massachusetts, and the attempt to specify the particulars in which it required amendments might place them in a very ridiculous attitude.

Whatever is done by the committee, their recommendation will be made to the Senate at the first executive session after a conclusion is reached and the subject-pressed for settlement at an early date. The committee is not in favor of Senator Riddleberger's plan to have the treaty considered in open session.

Death of Mr. James Dougall.

DETROIT, April 6.—Mr. James Dougall, the oldest, most prominent and one of the most respected citizens of Windsor, died yesterday after an illness of nearly two years. He was born on September 23, 1810, at Paisley, Scotland. When 18 years of age he came to Canada and settled in Montreal, and in 1829 opened a branch house in Toronto. A year later he moved to Windsor. Mr. Dougall was for seven years Mayor of Windsor, and was also for a long time License Commissioner and Justice of the Peace. The chairmanship of the Board of Education he held for thirty-two consecutive years until his services were terminated by death. He was married twice and leaves many children, all but two of whom are married.

The C., M. and St. P. Railway Disaster.

CHARLTON CITY, Ia., April 6.—The wreck on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway some claim was caused by ice on the track, while others claim it was by spreading of the rails. The engine jumped the track first and the baggage car and tender plunged over the engine into the water. The smoker struck on top of the engine and was badly smashed. The engine is almost covered by water. There were about thirty people in the smoker at the time, four of whom were killed, so far as known, besides the engineer crushed between the cab and smoker. The fireman escaped unhurt. There were about 25 to 30 wounded, though none fatally. The belief is that there are three or more bodies under the wreck.

To Vote on a Bonus.

ST. MARYS, April 6.—A bylaw will be submitted to the ratepayers of this place on April 23, for the granting of a bonus of $30,000 to the Maxwell Company of Paris, manufacturers of agricultural implements, on condition that they will remove their works to the former town. It is believed that the bylaw will carry.

THE PROPOSED MARRIAGE

BETWEEN PRINCE ALEXANDER AND PRINCESS VICTORIA.

The Peace of Europe Apparently Threatened by the Projected Matrimonial Alliance—Frederick Said to Insist on the Marriage.

COLOGNE, April 6.—A despatch to The Cologne Gazette from Berlin recalls the fact that Emperor William, in his last moments, used what remained to him of vital power to transmit as a permanent legacy to those in whose hands lay the future of the dynasty his most secretly cherished thoughts. It was then that he gave the exhortation to have regard for Russia, and to spare the susceptibilities of the Czar.

The dying monarch thus expressed the statesmanlike idea which abode with him throughout life, and which during the last few years has been equally shared by all politically-trained Germans. The same policy must be adhered to in the future, even at the cost of some sacrifice.

The Family and the States.

BERLIN, April 6.—The National Zeitung referring to the proposed marriage of Prince Alexander of Battenberg to Princess Victoria of Prussia says: "It is self-evident that the proposal is bound to be regarded as a matter affecting the European policy of Germany and Prince Bismarck would therefore oppose it. As in Germany the monarch is the supreme leader of the state, the family connections of the dynasty can never be without importance, and for this reason especially the creation of a dynastic alliance must not be contemplated, which, in the present situation of Europe, would embarrass that German policy for the support of which the Reichstag has just granted 700,000 men and 300,000,000 marks. To admit the possibility only of the effect of a sacrifice of this kind being weakened by personal wishes regarding this matrimonial alliance would be to mistake the position of our Imperial House. The consent of the Emperor to the alliance will surely be refused."

The Crown Prince's Toast.

BERLIN, April 6.—Owing to the comments based upon a mutilated version of the remarks the Crown Prince made in toasting Prince Bismarck at the latter's birthday banquet recently, The North German Gazette to-day prints the official text of the speech. In it the Crown Prince said:

"Of the last forty years none has been of so serious or weighty an import as the present one. The Emperor you so faithfully served for twenty-seven years is gone to his rest and the people are cheering the present ruler, who shared in founding the greatness of the Fatherland. Your Highness, like us all, will serve him with the same old German manly loyalty. To use a military illustration, I will compare the present situation with that of a regiment advancing to an attack. Its commander has fallen, but the next in command, though hard hit, rides boldly in advance, his gaze fixed on the flag, which its bearer waves on high. Thus does Your Highness hold the banner of the Empire, and may it long be permitted to you in conjunction with our beloved and revered Emperor to hold on high the Imperial flags. God bless and protect the Emperor and Your Highness."

The Chancellor's Resignation.

BERLIN, April 6.—The report of Prince Bismarck's resignation came first from The Cologne Gazette's Vienna correspondent. It is supposed the Chancellor took this means to make his threat known. Prince Bismarck yesterday laid before Emperor Frederick a comprehensive statement in writing of the possible consequences of the marriage of the Princess Victoria and Prince Alexander. The result, according to the latest report, is that the marriage has been postponed for the present, and that Prince Bismarck retains his position.

The Thunderer Says It's True.

LONDON, April 6.—The Times says it has authentic information that the statement in The Cologne Gazette regarding Prince Bismarck is true. Emperor Frederick and Prince Bismarck disagree. The former desires to sanction the marriage of Prince Alexander and the Princess Victoria, while Prince Bismarck bitterly opposes their union for State reasons. The Queen's visit to Berlin is connected with the matter.

A Berlin Paper Says It Isn't.

BERLIN, April 6.—The National Zeitung says renewed efforts to obtain the consent of the Emperor to the marriage of his daughter, Princess Victoria, and Prince Alexander of Battenburg have not been successful. For this reason, there are no longer any grounds for a secret conflict between Prince Bismarck and the Emperor, and therefore there is no question whatever of Bismarck's resigning.

Insists Upon the Marriage.

BERLIN, April 6.—It is affirmed to-night that Emperor Frederick insists upon the marriage of his daughter to Prince Alexander.

Sir Morrell's Treatment Approved.

BERLIN, April 6.—Prof. Esmarch examined the Emperor's throat yesterday, and approved Dr. Mackenzie's treatment. Since the reaction of public opinion in his favor, Dr. Mackenzie is daily flooded with invitations of a social nature.

The Standard Oil Trust.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The House Committee on Manufactures to-day began inquiry into the alleged Standard Oil Trust under the authority conferred upon the committee by House to investigate all trusts or combinations.

There were five girls, and each had an aim:

INSURANCE.

Life insurance is no longer regarded with that superstitious feeling of objection that was at one time felt regarding it by some people. It is now generally recognized that life insurance affords an easy, a safe and a profitable plan of providing for those depending upon a man for support, should he be called away, and the endowment system furnishes in addition a plan by which one can make provision for his old age, should he live to have his head adorned with honorable gray hairs, while at the same time his family is made secure against want should disease overcome him sooner. These facts are no longer questioned—the benefits of insurance are admitted—and the only questions are to what extent a man's means will allow him to insure and from what company he will take a policy.

In view of these facts the annual report of the Sun Life Assurance Company, which we publish, will be read with interest. Last year was the best in the history of this prosperous company. Its income during the year, compared with that of 1884, shows an increase of $217,451, the gain in assets an increase of $475,607, and a gain in life assurance in force of $4,029,373. Policies were issued during the year for three million and a quarter dollars of insurance, and the total of the policies in force is over $10,800,000, while in addition there are accident policies for $3,207,600. The greater part of the accumulated surplus of five years was paid to the policy holders in bonuses, yet the assets of the company have been largely augmented and amount to $1,750,000. These facts show that the Sun Life is a prosperous financial institution and one that is popular.

In Peterborough and district the Company has made great headway during the year under the management of Mr. W. H. Hill, general agent for Central Ontario. Mr. Hill's new office has been fitted up elegantly and with a view to the convenience of the public, and it is largely due to the tact and energy of such capable agents, aided by the reputation of the institution itself, that the Company has met with such undoubted success.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

At the annual meeting of the Sun Life Assurance Company, held at its offices, St. James st., Montreal, on the 16th March, the president, Mr. Thomas Workman, occupied the chair, and Mr. Macaulay, the managing director, acted as secretary. The report was read as follows:

REPORT.

It is with much gratification that the directors present their report of the transactions of the company during the past year. Both in magnitude and profitableness, the business has been almost everything they could desire.

The applications for new life assurances were 2,436 for $3,591,924.44, of which 2,247 for $3,250,100.06 were accepted and policies issued therefor.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6,741 lives. We have moreover, $3,207,600.00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The magnitude of this sum may be better understood by pointing out that it is equal to $1,600 for every working day in the year, and this, too, without including the large repayments which the company is constantly receiving on account of previous investments. This increase for the one year is, moreover, now as large as the total income was only a few years ago.

The assets have also been largely augmented, and now amount, including capital, to over $1,750,000.

As may be seen from the accounts, nearly $200,000 was returned to policy holders during the year in death claims, matured endowments, profits, etc. This is by far the largest sum the company has ever yet so distributed, and shows that we are each year fulfilling more completely and satisfactorily our mission in protecting the widows and orphans of the land, and also providing for the necessities of the old age of our policy-holders themselves. At the same time it must be remembered that as the greater part of the accumulated surplus of the preceding five years, as it stood at the end of 1886, has been paid away to policy holders during the year, the sum now to our credit as surplus is almost entirely the result of the one year's transactions, and that this should amount to over $75,000 is exceedingly encouraging, and leads us to expect very large profits at the next division.

Although the amount paid in death claims shows an increase, this is only the natural result of the increasing business of the company, and the advancing age of its members. The total has been well within the predictions of our mortality tables, and this is the best evidence possible of the great care taken in the selection of the risks.

In all the details of its business as above, new assurances, amount now in force, income, assets and surplus earned, the past year stands out as the best that the company has had, and we believe that we are yet only at the beginning of its prosperity.

The company has during the past year realized on a large amount of the real estate held by it, and after providing abundantly for all possible losses on the remaining properties, has been able to take credit for $8,500 surplus from this source. The total profit made on real estate and debentures sold was $11,472. This of itself is high testimony to the character of the investments, and the directors do not hesitate to state their belief that nearly every asset on the company's books could be disposed of at a profit. The mortgage account could certainly be transferred en bloc at a premium.

The books and accounts have as usual been carefully audited by Messrs. P. S. Ross & Sons, who have not only checked the entries and vouchers, but by communicating personally with every borrower, have ascertained absolutely that the amounts stated to be due are correct. A committee of directors have, moreover, personally scrutinized every bond, mortgage, or other security held by the company, and certify everything to be in perfect order.

The three directors who retire this year are:—Messrs. Thomas Workman, Hon. A. W. Ogilvie, and Robert Anderson, all of whom are eligible for re-election.

THOMAS WORKMAN,
President.

R. MACAULAY,
Managing Director.

STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTS FOR 1887.

Total income for 1887	$ 495,831 54
Total assets	1,750,004 48
Total liabilities	1,174,499 31
Cash surplus to policy-holders	188,005 17
Including uncalled capital the surplus to policy-holders is	575,505 17

In moving the adoption of the report, the president expressed the great satisfaction he felt in doing so, and said that although it had been his privilege as president of the company since its inception to present many gratifying statements, yet none of the past ones approached the present one in all the elements of sound progress and financial prosperity. The statements presented are so clear and so minute commment is almost unnecessary. The new business was the largest received in any one year, and was surpassed by that of any one regular Canadian life company, which is, however, many years our senior. The income and assets have made marked advances and the year's surplus is most encouraging. The company continues the plan of paying claims immediately after the receipt of proper proof of death and title. He might mention as an illustration one case among a great many, where the widow of the policy-holder handed in the proof of papers on Tuesday afternoon and on Wednesday morning a cheque was handed her for the full amount of the policy and accumulated profits. "He pays twice who pays promptly." With regard to the assets, he could testify to their high character, and as he and his fellow-directors on the auditing committee checked over the mortgages and examined deed after deed in the company's favor, apparently without end, he had frequently expressed his surprise where all the money had come from to accumulate such a handsome total.

The Hon. A. W. Ogilvie, Vice-President, seconded the adoption of the report. He had always taken a deep interest in the Company and he felt the greatest pleasure in witnessing the rapid and solid progress made, especially of late years. Although he never had any doubt that it would in the course of years take a first position among our financial institutions, he did not expect to see it so very far forward in 1888. It took the first ten years of its existence to have an income equal to the gain, or overplus, alone, of last year, over the total of the previous year. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be a few years hence. The gains from time to time were well illustrated by the following table:—

Period.	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611.21	$169,482.6
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580.67	195,188.29
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976,84	363,264 31
1884 to 1887, four years	217,451.89	475,607.24
Present totals	$495,831.54	$1,750,004.48

Period.	Gain in assurance in force.
1872 to 1876, four years	$1,149 743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, four years	4,029,373 65
Present total	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 percent more than those of the preceding four years. Another very gratifying feature is the high character of the assets in which the funds are invested, as may be inferred from the profits made on several of its investments. He could testify to the very great care exercised in the selection of loans, and that they are much above the average in quality, the smallness of the overdue interest being an additional proof of that, and but for the extreme promptness in closing the books on the morning of the first business day of the year that amount, small though it is, would be much less. The members were to be congratulated on the rate of interest which the investements yield. Without including the handsome profit on sales, but simply taking the ordinary interest received, it netted 6.12 percent on the average realized assets of the year. That was a remarkably satisfactory interest earning. It must also be remembered that the rate of interest is a very important factor in the profit earning power of a life company. The members should be much gratified to know that their funds are invested so safely and profitably. The Sun Life is to day one of the most prosperous financial institutions of the country with a magnificent future before it.

Mr. Chas. Cushing remarked that in round numbers the business had increased during last year by 1,000 policies, covering $1,500,000, while the expense account has been proportionately considerably reduced. This was very satisfactory. As the Company's notary, he was in a position to judge as to the Company's investments, and he could testify that amongst his clients there was no financial institution which exercised more care and prudence in the selection of loans than the Sun Life.

Mr. Chas. Alexander moved a hearty vote of thanks to the president and directors for their efficient conduct of the Company's business during the past year, which had produced such a remarkably satisfactory report as that now before them. He expressed himself as much pleased with the exhibit. Mr. Nolan Deliale seconded this motion with great pleasure, as he considered it well earned. He made a number of comparisons with the business of previous years, showing how rapid the progress of the Company is now compared with previous years, and that that progress was characterized also by an increasing profitableness.

Mr. James Tasker then moved a vote of thanks to the managing director, staff, medical referee and agents. As a new member of the Board he had observed with much interest the operations of the Company for the year just closed. He had specially watched the inflow of business week by week; he had noted particularly the sources from which it came, the care bestowed on the examinations, and the careful oversight of all by Dr. Wilkins, the medical director, and the Board generally, and was thus in a position to move this resolution, with the full knowledge that the thanks were well earned and deservedly due. In view of the keen com-

What a Time

People formerly had, trying to swallow the old-fashioned pill with its film of magnesia vainly disguising its bitterness; and what a contrast to Ayer's Pills, that have been well called "medicated sugar-plums"—the only fear being that patients may be tempted into taking too many at a dose. But the directions are plain and should be strictly followed.

J. T. Teller, M. D., of Chittenango, N. Y., expresses exactly what hundreds have written at greater length. He says: "Ayer's Cathartic Pills are highly appreciated. They are perfect in form and coating, and their effects are all that the most careful physician could desire. They have supplanted all the Pills formerly popular here, and I think it must be long before any other can be made that will at all compare with them. Those who buy your pills get full value for their money."

"Safe, pleasant, and certain in their action," is the concise testimony of Dr. George E. Walker, of Martinsville, Virginia.

"Ayer's Pills outsell all similar preparations. The public having once used them, will have no others."—Berry, Venable & Collier, Atlanta, Ga.

We can and will sell clothing during our Grand Sale 25 per cent cheaper than smaller houses can ordinarly buy them. As a proof of what we assert read the following paralytic prices:—Men's Suits, any size, regular wholesale price $5.00, our price to-day is $2.50. Next comes our Canadian Tweed Suits, all wool, in forty different patterns, ranging in price from $4.00 to $7.00. These suits are made from the celebrated Waterloo Tweeds. The Goods alone are worth more money than we ask for the whole suit. Also a full line, better qualities, in French Worsteds and Deagowals. Scotch and West of England Tweeds, embracing all the novelties. Nigger Heads and Fine Cassimers ranging in price from $7.00 to $14.00 and made equal to best custom work and one-third less in price, other houses being compelled to ask 40 per cent more for them.

In our Boys' and Children's department we stand unique, and mothers, fathers, guardians and heads of families should go no other place for their Boys' Clothing. The prices in this department are too small to mention. In our Furnishing Goods and Hat Department we ask the particular attention of young men. A Tangled Life."

Such is the title of the play which will be placed on the boards at the Opera House, on Monday evening next, by the well known and popular Sawtelle Comedy Company. We clip from the Plattsburg, N.Y., Morning Chronicle the following complimentary reference:—"The Sawtelle Comedy Company began a week's engagement at the Music Hall last evening, playing to a crowded house. The title was the sensational drama, "A Tangled Life," and was presented in a very worthy manner. The company is a remarkably well balanced one in every respect, and the honors and applause were fairly divided. There is not one poor actor in the company, if we are to judge from last evening's entertainment." 1ds2

Not Correct.

A correspondent of the Galt Reformer gave currency to a report, which has reached here, that Mr. Brodie and Mr. A. Swan, of Hamilton, had formed a company to purchase the Hespeler woollen mills. Mr. Brodie thinks there must be a mistake about it somewhere, as he did not know there was such a gentleman as Mr. Swan, is not sure of it yet, and has not formed a company for the purpose mentioned. We shall be pleased to have Mr. Brodie remain in Peterborough.

Still Very Popular.

The Toronto Mail of the 4th inst. says in reference to Mr. Scott-Siddons:—"If proof were necessary of the sustained popularity in Toronto of Mrs. Scott-Siddons or of the good impression made by her in December last, it would be amply found in the magnificent reception accorded her on her return visit last night. Association hall was crowded by a fashionable audience for many of whom sitting room could not be provided. Her appearance on the platform was greeted with hearty applause. She appeared in a brown plush dress, having a cream and gold embroidered panel on the side. Her vest was of the same material, laced. She wore angel sleeves and diamond ornaments. The programme was well chosen and well arranged, there being a fair variety in a select range of subjects. The order of the numbers were:—Two scenes from the "Merchant of Venice," Mrs. Bean's Courtship, the drinking of the potion in "Romeo and Juliet," The Child-wife (Dickens) and The Masquerade, by John G. Saxe. Mrs. Siddons was very pleasing in the lighter pieces and was loudly cheered in them all. A new feature of her programme was the piano playing of Mr. Henry Waller, her adopted son, who will be remembered as the Boy Pianist, Seraphael, of a few years ago. Mr. Waller has but recently come to this continent from London, England." This distinguished and accomplished artiste will give an entirely new programme with new costumes, Opera House, Peterborough, on Monday, 16th April, at popular prices. The plan of the hall is at Harley's. Tickets for sale at several stores. Mrs. Siddons sails for England early in May. You will not likely ever hear her again.

UNRESTRICTED RECIPROCITY.

The Vote in the Commons—The Fad Buried Under a Majority of 57.

Special Despatch to the Review.

OTTAWA, April 7.—The vote was taken on the unrestricted reciprocity question at five o'clock this morning. Mr. Jones' amendment, in favor of the scheme, was defeated in a House of 191 members, the Government majority being 57. Mr. Foster's amendment, favoring extended trade relations (reciprocity) and re-affirming the principle of the National Policy, was carried on the same division reversed. The result was received with great cheering and the Conservative members started "God Save the Queen," which was sung with spirit.

THE BEETHOVEN QUARTETTE

Give one of the best Concerts ever Heard in the Opera House.

The Beethoven Quartette club, with the able assistance of Mr. Jas. Fax, appeared at the Opera House on Friday evening before a fair sized audience, but had the people of the town known the treat that was in store for them, the building would have been crowded. The concert was a really excellent one, in fact one of the best ever given in the town of Peterborough, and such is the verdict of all who were present.

The members of the club are Miss Morell, soprano, Miss Woods, contralto, Mr. Sims Richards, tenor, and Mr. Chas. Kelly, basso. They opened the concert with the "Swiss People's Song," a pretty piece after the style of all Tyrolese songs. It was sung in good taste, the four voices blending nicely and at once establishing the singers as artists of no mean calibre. They refused to respond to an encore except by bowing their acknowledgments. Mr. Chas. Kelly, an old Peterborough favorite, was accorded an enthusiastic reception in Mendelssohn's song "I am a Roamer." Although he was suffering from a severe cold he sang in his old time manner, and on being encored he sang "Good-bye Sweet Rose," accompanying himself on the guitar. The fame of Mr. James Fax had preceded him and the audience was anxious to see and hear him. "The Click of Gold," a fine motto song, was his first contribution. He captured the audience at once and henceforth Jim Fax may be numbered among the Peterborough favorities, a position that is coveted by many, but gained by few. He was obliged to re-appear and sang a short song in broken French, creating roars of laughter. The duet "I feel Thy Angel Spirit," by Miss Ethel Woods and Mr. Sims Richards, deserved the applause it received. Miss Morell, in the solo "Come to My Heart," showed that she has a well cultivated voice, well under control. "Forbidden Music," a tenor solo by Mr. Sims Richards, was sung in a vigorous manner, and was followed by the "Gay Hussar," into which he put much dash and vigor. Mr. Fax again appeared and for fifteen minutes the audience was convulsed with laughter. He had to appear three times and even then the people wanted more. "The Bowery Grenadiers" in costume with the mock drill. "Under the weeping willow" and a schoolboy's recitation of "The charge of the Light Brigade" were the pieces given. A duet "When the wind blows in from the sea," by Miss Morell and Mr. Chas. Kelly, finely sung, brought the first part to a conclusion.

The Quartette club opened the second part with "The professor at home," followed by "Quack, quack," in each of which they acquitted themselves admirably. They made their last appearance in "Good night" (from Martha). "Jessamy town," by Mr. Richards, was followed by "Love's old sweet song," by Miss Woods. This young lady has a clear, strong and sweet voice and she graciously responded to an encore. "The Fisherman" by Messrs. Richards and Kelly was simply grand. Mr. Kelly was heard as a guitar soloist in "Sebastapol" and was recalled. Miss Morell took the next piece on the programme in the place of Mr. Kelly, who was suffering from hoarseness. She sang in splendid voice "Daddy" and "Remember the Maid of the Mill." Mr. Fax again appeared. "Medicine Jack," Dutch, and "Mary Ann Malone," Irish, were extracted from him before he was allowed to depart. "Good Night" and "God Save the Queen" brought the concert to an end. Miss Minnie Martin played the accompaniments during the evening in a satisfactory manner.

The Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices the club was brought here, are to be congratulated upon the success of the entertainment.

Rightnow is the time to use a good Blood Purifying Medicine. Lose no time in getting a bottle of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. It will do you good. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents.

Brevities.

—The spring assizes open on Monday, before the Hon. Mr. Justice Falconbridge.

—The police court calendar this morning was a blank, for the second time in two days.

—There was a sharp frost last night and this morning early wraps were found necessary.

—Mayor Stevenson, M.P., voted against and Mr. Lang, M. P., for unrestricted reciprocity.

—Fine maple syrup, thick and clear, found a ready sale on the market this morning at $1.25 per gallon.

—Mayor Stevenson did not reach Peterborough this morning. He will probably arrive this evening.

—"No water yet" is the cry of the men at the town well. They are still boring through solid rock.

—Port Hope has wisely decided that a board of trade in such a small place is not necessary.

—The winds due in March have evidently only arrived. The rain due in April will probably reach here in May.

—The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held on Monday afternoon in their hall commencing at four o'clock.

—Several ladies will give solos at the temperance meeting in the W. C. T. U. hall to-morrow afternoon. Reading, &c.

—Agricultural implements, second hand, of all kinds were among the articles offered for sale on the market this morning.

—The market this morning was not any larger than the average and prices show little, if any, change from former quotations.

—The Empire was the only Toronto paper that contained a report of the division on commercial union. The others missed it this time.

—Mr. H. M. Allen has returned after a trip to Port Arthur. He found everything preparing for a boom and was much pleased with his trip.

—Mr. Napoleon Guerin, the well known corporation employee, has the sympathy of the public, he having lost his wife and a young son within twenty-four hours.

—Capt. Conley, with his fishing boat Dauntless, arrived safely at Charlotte, Y., from Cobourg at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, being the first arrival of the season.

—The C. P. R. and the G. T. R. and their American connections are making great cuts in the fares from Chicago to Peterborough, Toronto and other competitive points.

—Lindsay Warder:—"Mr. Geo. Matthews shipped 3000 hams to Toronto on Tuesday. The hams average about 18 lbs. each, making a total of about 54,000 lbs. That speaks well for Lindsay."

—The merchants of Port Hope have decided to petition the council that the hour of closing the stores be seven o'clock every evening but Saturday, and the evenings before holidays, and except from the 10th December to 1st January each year.

—A large number of persons from Lakefield, Norwood and Millbrook will come here to hear Mrs. Scott-Siddons. Those from the latter place are arranging for a special engine and coach to take them home after the entertainment.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

petition amongst companies, the volume of business did infinite credit to the intelligence and zeal of the agents, and he wished to assure them that their services are highly appreciated by the Board. A paragraph in the report alluded to the favorable results as to death claims, and this is a testimony to the efficiency of the medical examinations. It is satisfactory to know from our actuary that the actual amount required year by year has invariably been less than the estimate. He could corroborate every word said by the vice-president as to the excellent quality of the assets, as he had taken an active part as a member of the committee who examined them. The directors had, during the year, added several new features to their accident branch, and now gave one-third of the sum insured in case of loss of hand or foot, and the whole sum insured in case of loss of both hands or both feet, or one hand and one foot, or both eyes. This made the accident contract a very desirable one.

Mr. W. J. Withall seconded the motion. When a vessel is at sea it is necessary to have both first-class officers and first class men if they were to have a successful voyage. They were fortunate in having both, for the president, whom he might call the father of the Company, and the indefatigable managing director, made excellent officers, and they had certainly an excellent staff of agents.

Mr. Selkirk Cross could testify with sorrow as the Company's lawyer, but with pleasure as a policy holder, that the Company was exceedingly opposed to litigation, in fact, could hardly be forced into a law-suit.

Mr. Macaulay, the managing director, said the report was a true exhibit of the year's transactions and of the financial position of the Company. The directors were as much pleased with it as he. He returned thanks on behalf of himself, the actuary and office staff, for the reference to them in the resolution of thanks. The Company is fortunate in having such a medical referee as Dr. Wilkins and such a painstaking legal adviser as Mr. Selkirk Cross. As for the army of agency workers, he wished them to know that those at the head office are fully alive to the difficulties of their position and appreciate the zeal and devotion displayed by them. An honest, truthful life agent has an amount of worry which few know of. He can meet fair competition, but untrue or distorted criticism, or exorbitant estimates are often hard to face. The Toronto branch is fast assuming splendid proportions under the management of Mr. Gilbert. Mr. Hurst, the Western inspector, and many others also deserve praise for their energy and success. The Messrs. Junkin, of Brockville, and Hill of Peterborough, have done good service. Belleville, under Mr. Mackintyre, British Columbia, under Mr. Crane, Manitoba, under Messrs. Gilroy and Anderson, the North-west under Mr. Boyd, and the Maritime provinces, under Mr. Hendershot, are all becoming more important each year. Mr. Ridout, of Sherbrooke, devotes himself chiefly to accident business and deserves special mention as a most efficient and reliable agent. The Insurance department at Ottawa requires annually a detailed list of all the mortgages of the Company and the particulars of the properties covered by them. Some of the totals are interesting. The valuations placed by the Company's own appraisers on the properties mortgaged are:—

Lands only	$ 973,675
Buildings only	1,252,253
Making a total security of	$2 225,928

on which has been loaned $891,908.46. The security is therefore about two and a half times the amount loaned. This showed the quality of the mortgage account. It is a pity to see Canadians sending their premiums out of the country and thus impoverishing Canada and helping to build up foreign cities, when by investing with our home institutions they can help in building up our own country and receive at the same time as great advantages as they can possibly get by going abroad.

Mr. T. B. Macaulay explained some items in the report. The reserves or liabilities, for instance, are calculated on a very strict basis—the H m table of the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, which is the legal standard of the Dominion, and provides for a heavier mortality than any other table in use in modern times. He referred also to a new rule which had been adopted by the Board with regard to all policies issued since the last division of surplus. The profits are to be divided every five years from the year of the issue of the policy, and not every five years from the Company's foundation, as at present. The new plan was much the more equitable of the two, and would ensure much larger profits to be divided to policyholders, since it is well known that the great majority of the policies cancelled are less than five years old, and as no profits will now be given until a policy is five years old, there will be the same amount of profit to divide among a smaller number of members, and each one will therefore get more than under the old rule. The change is a very desirable one for all those who keep their policies in force, and will, no doubt, help to make the Company still more popular even than now.

A number of other gentlemen spoke, all expressing unqualified pleasure at the position of the Company.

The retiring directors were re-elected unanimously.

WATER FILTERS,

To insure good health it is absolutely necessary to have pure water, and no water is entirely free from floating matter and disease germs without thorough Filteration. The majority of cases of Typhoid and other low fevers are in a measure caused from unfiltered and impure water, so that every family who values its health should have a reliable Filter. Numerous Filters are offered to the public varying in points of excellence, but for Cheapness, Efficiency and Durability, our Filters cannot be surpassed.

No Corroding Substances are used in construction.
The Packing material is the most Powerful specially prepared granulated Carbon.

It will last for years with the ordinary use of a family, and the material may be obtained at any time for replenishing at small expense.

The construction is our own patent, and combines all the essential requirements of a first-class Filter with access for cleansing. Instructions accompany each Filter. For sale only in Peterborough at

JOHN HACKETT

Has again occupied his former premises next door to Fortye & Phelan's Hardware Store.

The Store, which has been undergoing extensive alterations and improvements, is now a model place of business, and the public are invited to call and take a look through the premises.

The increased accommodation and convenience afforded us for doing business will no doubt help to compensate us and our customers for the inconvenience caused by our removal during the alterations and we hope to see all our friends back again in our handsome new premises.

Spring Millinery

I wish to announce to my lady friends that my spring stock is now complete and I am prepared to attend to the wants of my old customers, and as many new ones as will favor me with their patronage. As my stock has been selected with great care, you will find it will compete favorably with the largest houses in the trade. In addition to the Millinery I have added a nice assortment of ladies' and children's underwear, at low prices. Don't forget the place, one door south of Sailsbury's Book Store.

THE RAILROAD LOBBY.

Several Interesting Schemes on the Cards—A Big Bridge Bill.

OTTAWA, April 6.—The railroad lobby is quite robust at the Capital at present, and several interesting schemes are on the cards. Besides these there is a big bridge bill to be put through. Among its most prominent supporters are Mr. W. K. Muir of Detroit and Mr. Wm. Hendrie of Hamilton, both of whom arrived here this morning. Mr. Muir is well known to Western Ontarians, having formerly been general manager of the old Great Western Railway. They want the Detroit River Winter Railway Bridge Company incorporated, which will require a charter from the Dominion Parliament and the American Congress. The company desire to construct a "winter bridge" across the Detroit River at Detroit. The bridge, it is intended, will be used in winter only and will be constructed with two very wide spans in the centre. These will be open during the entire season of navigation, and are to be built so as not to impede navigation in any way. In winter the spans will be closed and the bridge used for railway traffic. The bridge aims at doing away with the vexatious and expensive ferriage. Much freight that is now lost to the Canadian railways by these causes could be cheaply handled were the bridge constructed. Dr. Ferguson of Welland has charge of the bill. It will come before the Railway Committee next Tuesday.

The big fight between the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways over the incorporation of the Southwestern Railway, of which I telegraphed yesterday, did not come up before the Railway Committee to-day, but will do so next Friday. Mr. Wainwright of the Grand Trunk and ex-Judge Clark of the Canadian Pacific Railway were both in the committee room to-day with their guns loaded.

There was a lively little time this morning in the Railway Committee when the bill to confirm the charter of the Great Northwestern Central came up. Mr. Daly of Selkirk has charge of the bill. Mr. Allan Cassels of Toronto, the law partner, and A. J. Snow of Ottawa, the son-in-law of James Beaty, Q.C., put in an appearance to oppose the bill or to have a clause inserted guaranteeing the old Northwest Central against certain suits for construction expenses that are now pending against it. Mr. Cassels made a good fight in the cause of Mr. Beaty's defunct company, but the members of the committee met him with a stern No at every point, and Mr. Beaty and his friends will have to take care of their old debts in connection with that ill-starred railroad venture. The committee endorsed Mr. Daly's bill and ordered it reported. Mr. Daly walked out of the room smiling like a nine-time winner and whistling a dirge for the Boy.

The bill to incorporate the Chinook Belt and Red River Railway was again before the committee. This is a Toronto enterprise, in which Thomas Lailey, A.J. McKay, John Hislop, H. B. McKay, Charles Watson and Harry Webb are the chief promoters. The capital stock of the company is $2,000,000 and they want to build a railway in the Peace River country. The Alberta and Athabaska Railway Company, composed principally of Minneapolis men, have a charter to cover the same ground, but they have never yet carried out the stipulations of their charter and are said to be without funds. There was quite a wrangle in the committee about allowing the Alberta and Athabaska any more time, but through the exertions of Mr. Colby they were given a further extension until Nov. 30 next to get fifty miles of their road under construction. If they fail in this the charter of the Chinook Company will be proclaimed in force by the Governor-in-Council. The promoters of the Chidook road are confident that the other company will fail and are anxious to go on with their own road at once, but, come what may, they are now out for another year.

An Iowa Cyclone.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., April 6.—During a violent electric storm yesterday a cyclone passed over the city from southwest to northeast. It struck in but one place on the extreme northwest part of the city. At Sibley a tornado swept over the country, doing immense damage to property.

Tired of Socialism.

CHICAGO, April 6.—If the disruption of the Trades Assembly is not already complete, it will be when the returns are all in at the next regular meeting. The great mass of laboring men in Chicago are tired of Morgan and Socialistic rules.

Roscoe Conkling Ill.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Ex-Senator Roscoe Conkling has been confined to his home for several days with an abscess in his right ear. He is quite ill and suffers great pain. His physicians have ordered complete rest and quiet.

Drowned.

STANSGAR, Iowa, April 6.—A waggon load of men and boys, in attempting to cross a small tributary of the Cedar River yesterday, were washed down the stream, and four of the boys and the team were drowned.

The Mackenzie Basin.

OTTAWA, April 6.—James Anderson, son of the chief factor at Fort Simpson, gave evidence this morning before Senator Schultz' Mackenzie River Committee. He said his father led an expedition many years ago down the Black River to the Pacific coast in search of Sir John Franklin, the Arctic explorer, whose fate is still a mystery. Mr. Anderson gave important evidence regarding the climate and natural resources of this vast district. Wheat, oats, barley and turnips grew in abundance as far north as Fort Simpson.

One of the most important features of his evidence was the production of a copy of a letter written by his father to Lady Franklin, giving her particulars of the unsuccessful search for the lost explorers.

OUT-DOING ANYTHING EVER DONE BEFORE.

How is it to be done? Well that's our business, and what's our business is nobody else's business--and if we tell others how we get our clothing to sell so low, they would be as shrewd as we are. Sheppard is not caught napping in that way--All the dear public care to know is that Sheppard's clothing is the cheapest on earth. That he has no traffic in shoddy, and you can always get what he advertises.

NOW THEN, ABOUT CLOTHING.

Boy's Suits, 3 pieces, 95 cents. How does that catch you? For another just a little longer in the legs, a boy who has seen more Xmas puddings, Sheppard will give you a $2.75 suit worth double the money and a pair of pants for this dear boy for 75 cents. These are nice goods, although you may not think so—so cheap—well I should say so. You want a hat for him don't you? Certainly you don't want to see him bareheaded; not much. Sheppard has the best value. See his cheap Hats.

For the young man. A nobby suit in several patterns $3.95, worth at least $7.50. This is the line that has excited the Town and rattled the trade; hurry, make haste. Secure this suit before they are all done. Motherly advice this.

We are talking to you because you are out of your teens, although you may not be as old as Methuselah's goat. We have a suit for you at $1.95, this is not all wool and a yard wide.

SHEPPARD,----On the War Path,

George-st, Peterborough.

In brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver s misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents

THE COMBINES.

A Cobourg Coal Dealer and an Ottawa Grocer Before the Committee.

OTTAWA, April 6.—Alexander Hargraft, coal dealer of Cobourg, gave evidence to-day before the Combine Committee. He said there were four importers of coal in his locality and they obtained anthracite at Oswego. The prices of coal per gross ton last year were $4.25 and $3.90. Freight was very low, being only 25 cents. There had been a rebate this year of 25 cents a ton.

The Chairman: "That is a new feature in this enquiry. None of the previous witnesses have said anything about a rebate."

Witness: "It was a very general arrangement. There was no binding arrangement between dealers in Cobourg as to the price at which they sold. They usually got so small a profit that there was no room for cutting. Chestnut last October was sold at $5.25 a ton delivered and the delivery cost them 25 cents. After paying all expenses there would be a profit of 53 cents. Their expenses were; Freight 25 cents, wharfage 25 cents, mooring 15 cents, labor, etc., 15 cents, screening 10 cents and delivery 25 cents. In November coal went up to $550 and in December the price was fixed at $6. About 5000 tons altogether was sold at Cobourg."

If they only had the coal business to depend upon he did not know how these profits would do. They had been able to sell at the prices he named because they got their coal in before mid-summer. Their retail price was kept in accord with the advance on the American side. He understood there had been a combination in coal on the other side of the line, but he did not know that there was any now. Payments were required to be made within thirty days of the date of shipment. He was in the grain business as well, but was not aware of any combination to regulate the prices.

Joseph Kavanagh, grocer of Ottawa, was examined with respect to the trade in biscuits and confectionery. He produced a circular issued in September, 1884, fixing the prices. In January of that year the price of biscuit flour was $5.60 per 200 pounds. This was gradually reduced, until last February it was $3.90. The prices for materials for the business had been reduced very considerably, but the price list had not changed at all. He was informed by one of the manufacturers that there was a combination between them to keep up prices, but they did not compel the dealers to sell at certain prices.

The alleged coffin combine is to be taken up at the next meeting on Tuesday.

The Engine Left the Track.

ELMIRA, N.Y., April 6.—The engine of the passenger train, No. 12, on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway, went off the track fifty-five miles east of Buffalo about midnight last night. Fireman Hoyt Bogart of Elmira was killed, and engineer John Thompson of Elmira was badly hurt. The cars did not leave the track, and no passengers were injured. The cause of the accident was the washout of a culvert.

Murder Added to Murder.

VIENNA, April 6.—A murderer who had been released on ticket of leave near Temesvar, Hungary, went to the house of the judge who condemned him and killed the judge's wife with a revolver. Then he went the house of the notary and killed the latter's deputy. From there he went to his own home and split the skulls of his wife and children, after which last atrocity he fled and has not yet been captured.

THE "Q" STRIKE ABOUT OVER.

Indications Point to a Complete Victory for the Company.

CHICAGO, April 7.—The Burlington strike, from all present indications and prospects, is dead. The road is running all its trains without the least trouble, and to-day did a large freight business. About fifty of the old engineers and firemen have already returned to work, and it is believed that many more will return next week. Chiefs Arthur and Sargent have left the city. It is stated that the brotherhood headquarters here will soon be closed.

Carnegie's Offer Rejected.

PITTSBURG, PA., April 7.—A large meeting of the employes of the Edgar Thomson Steel Works was held at Braddock's to-day and, after a lengthy discussion, the proposition of Andrew Carnegie was rejected. The result of the meeting was a surprise, as it was known that several members of the District Executive Board of the Knights of Labor had unofficially advised the men to return to work at the company's terms. The strikers were given until to-day to accept the offer, and it is probable that the works will now be closed down for an indefinite period.

First Skirmish Lost by the Men.

CHICAGO, April 7.—The strike of the brewers at Ernst Bros.' brewery was in the nature of a preliminary skirmish between the bosses and the journeymen in the battle for the recognition of the union. It ended disastrously for the union. Ernst Bros. to-day have a full force of men at work. They are not experienced brewers, but the bosses say that none but the foreman need be skilled brewers and that anybody can do the washing of barrels and other work, necessary in brewing under their directions.

A Significant Resolution.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Locomotive Firemen to the number of 1500 met at Tammany Hall to-day and again discussed the C. B. and Q. strike. The meeting unanimously adopted resolutions endorsing the action of the Chicago strikers, acts of violence excepted, and renewing pledges of financial and moral support. This significant clause was embodied in the resolution adopted:

That we favor conservatism when it is adequate to the ends in view, but when dealing with radicalism and aggression we do not feel bound to be more conservative than our opponents.

WASHOUTS CAUSE TROUBLE.

Trains Abandoned or Delayed at Many Points in Ohio.

WATERLOO, IA., April 7.—The Cedar River has been rising steadily all day and is now within a few inches of high water mark. Over twenty families have been forced to move from their homes by the advancing waters. Barns, boathouses and everything not securely fastened were carried off. A number of washouts have occurred, and trains on all roads are delayed or abandoned. Washouts on the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern near Vinton, thirty miles south, and at Cedar Falls, seven miles north, compelled that road to abandon all trains for twenty-four hours.

This afternoon a passenger train was pushed through to Cedar Falls and abandoned, owing to the washouts. The Illinois Central has no wires north, the poles having fallen and the wires being lost by the current. The Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City bridge over the Wapsie was in imminent danger of going for several hours this morning, but by great efforts it was saved.

AN INCAUTIOUS EXILE.

James McBean Arrested at London, Ont., for an Old Offence—Shocking Accident.

LONDON, Ont., April 7.—John McBean was arrested to-day on a charge of obtaining $150 from Joseph Gatecliffe on false pretences. He was in the habit of buying cattle for Mr. Gatecliffe, and on Nov. 9 last got $150 from him on the security of a lot that he pretended to have purchased. McBean then took the next train for Michigan, and returning here a day or two ago fell into the hands of detectives.

An accident of a most painful nature occurred this afternoon in the stables adjoining the City Hotel. Eddy McMartin, the son of Mr. James McMartin, being the victim. The youth was standing behind a horse when the animal kicked out, striking the unfortunate lad in the head, completely laying his skull bare from one side to the other. The wound presented a horrible sight.

A Brute's Well-Deserved Sentence.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Zeph Davis, the negro foreman who murdered and outraged little Maggie Caughan (white) at Green Brothers' shoe heel factory, was this afternoon sentenced by Judge Hawes to be hanged May 12. Davis interrupted the judge several times while sentence was being pronounced, and afterward declared with an oath that if he could have reached a spittoon he would have thrown it at the judge before the sentence was finished.

Jacob Sharp's Funeral.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Rev. Dr. Thomas Armitage preached the funeral service over the body of Jacob Sharp in the little room over the vestibule of 352 West Twenty-third street this afternoon. Mrs. Sharp was unable to attend. She has not recovered from an attack of hysteria.

Stock Brokers at Odds.

MONTREAL, April 7.—Colin MacIver, stock broker, served a protest upon the secretary of the board this morning enjoining them not to sell his seat. MacIver some time ago suspended to meet his liabilities and his stocks were sold. He now claims they were sacrificed, that the sales were not bonafide but were wash sales, contrary to the constitution of the board.

THE GREAT DEBATE OVER.

SIR RICHARD'S RECIPROCITY MOTION VOTED OUT OF SIGHT.

A Stirring Night Around the Corridors of the House of Commons—The Government's Majority 37—A Bevy of Ladies Wait for the Division.

OTTAWA, April 7.—The great debate on Sir Richard Cartwright's Unrestricted Reciprocity motion, after having been continued for 17 days, was brought to a close at just exactly 4.10 this morning, Mr. Prefontaine of Chambly being the last speaker. Sir Richard's motion is knocked sky-high, and the Parliament of Canada has put itself on record as unequivocally opposed to Unrestricted Reciprocity, if not Commercial Union. In a house of 191 the Government came out with a majority of 37. It was a stirring night around the corridors of the House; all the excitement, or more properly speaking, fun, was in the corridors and various resorts of the great building. Inside the chamber itself there was very little to attract attention. The speakers, as it were, sawed the air to deserted benches. Even the reporters would not listen to them. Hour by hour the night stole on, and hour by hour the orators held forth. One after the other they addressed themselves to the Hansard reporters alone. One by one they retold the dreary tale of Canada's woe, or on the other hand of the Dominion's greatness, fullness or prosperity. When Mr. Prefontaine had concluded a two-hours' talk in French, he made the 62nd member who had had a say on the famous resolution.

The night will be long remembered by those who were either in any way connected with the debate or were merely spectators or listeners. The pressmen deserted their left entirely before midnight and betook themselves to their apartment in the western corridor. While the droners droned away inside the chamber, the newspaper men and their friends made merry. Thus the night was made to fleet away almost unknown. Several of the bon vivants of the House dropped into the room to join the scribes in their revelries. The Minister of Customs made a visit of over an hour and listened with evident delight to the sweet warblers of the press room. Mr. Curran of Montreal found time to spend two hours with the boys, and of course did not forget to favor the party with that ancient and familiar ballad "Old King Cole." But the height of the excitement was reached at 3 o'clock, when Sir John himself dropped in. There was a rare scene in progress. Mr. Davis, the excowboy member for Alberta, was regaling the company with a genuine Crowfoot war-dance, while "Cumberland" Anderson accompanied on the tom-tom. Mr. Davis can give the war-whoop to perfection. And he did it. The Old Man enjoyed it immensely, and after a 20-minute stop went back to the chamber to watch the progress of the fight.

One of the most interesting features of the long night, however, was the presence of over one hundred ladies in the Speaker's Gallery. Over half of them remained until the last vote was recorded and the House adjourned at 5.15. There had been theatricals at Government House, and about midnight the ladies, nearly all of them friends or relatives of the members, began to drop in. Soon Col. Ouimet's gallery was full of them, all in evening dress and many of them covered with floral adornments. Miss Royal, the petite daughter of Mr. Royal of Provencher, was a veritable sachet. Toronto, Hamilton and London were represented in those fair ranks, Mrs. Small, Mrs. Cockburn and Miss Maud Yarker (the latter the guest of Mrs. Cockburn), were the Queen City contingent. Miss Brown, daughter of Mr. Adam Brown of Hamilton, was one of the most enthusiastic iters and watchers for the debate. Miss Meredith, daughter of London's William, was among the bevy. Miss Meredith is visiting at the residence of Hon. John Carling. And by the by, Mr. Carling exhibited his gallantry by inviting every lady in the gallery to go over to the Senate cafe and take tea with him. Mrs. Scarth of Winnipeg, well known to social Toronto, graced the gallery until the vote was taken. The Misses Hall of Sherbrooke, who are not strangers at the Queen City, remained in the House until about 1 o'clock; they did not "wait for the division," which seemed to be the watchword of the evening. For a certainty had not the ladies been there the night would have seemed a week. "God bless the ladies."

It had been arranged between the leaders that the debate was to close at 3 o'clock exactly, and the members who were not to speak were given to understand that they could roam at large until that hour. That accounts for several of them strolling into the chamber after midnight dressed in claw-hammers and white ties; some of them had been to Government House and others to private suppers. It was a novel spectacle to see an hon. M.P. getting up in his seat at 5 o'clock in the morning to vote on an important trade resolution, his figure fine made more resplendent in a full dress suit.

The reason that the debate extended over the time was this: Mr. Gillmor of Charlotte, N.B., was to be the last speaker. Mr. Prefontaine did not know of the arrangement, as he had strayed away from the gaze of the whips. Dropping suddenly into the chamber he took his seat. When Mr. Gillmor had stopped talking, Mr. Prefontaine sprang up like a jumping-jack and went at it in French at a 2.10 clip. Nothing could stop him. This delayed the vote for over an hour and called for an explanation from Whip Trow.

At 4.10 the division bells began to jingle all over the building. The whips sallied forth to "call in the members." This takes about 15 minutes as a rule. While they were scurrying around the corridors, the members who had already gathered in the chamber were seized with a vocal vim. Mr. Joncas of Gaspe led in "Brigadier" and Major Prior of Victoria (B.C.) "favored the House and galleries" with "The Midshipmite." Everybody joined in, and the fun was kept up until the whips' return. Then the memorable vote was taken.

There was Sir Richard Cartwright's original motion, Mr. Foster's amendment and Mr. Jones' (Halifax) amendment to the amendment. They are as follows:

Sir Richard's motion—

That it is highly desirable that the largest possible freedom of commercial intercourse should obtain between the Dominion of Canada and the United States, and that it is expedient that all articles manufactured in, or the natural products of either of the said countries should be admitted free of duty into the ports of the other, (articles subject to duties of excise or of internal revenue alone excepted.

That it is further expedient that the Government of the Dominion should take steps at an early date to ascertain on what terms and conditions arrangements can be effected with the United States for the purpose of securing full and unrestricted reciprocity of trade therewith.

Mr. Foster's amendment—

That all the words after "that" be struck out in order to add the following: Canada in the future as in the past is desirous of cultivating and extending trade relations with the United States in so far as they may not conflict with the policy of fostering the various industries and interests of the Dominion, which was adopted in 1879 and has since received in so marked a manner the sanction and approval of the people.

Mr. Jones' amendment—

That in any arrangement between Canada and the United States providing for the free interchange of the natural and manufactured productions of the other, it is highly desirable that it should be provided that during the continuance of any such arrangement the coasting trade of Canada and of the United States should be thrown open to vessels of both countries on a footing of complete reciprocal equality, and that vessels of all kinds built in the United States or Canada may be owned and sailed by the citizens of the other, and be entitled to registry in either country and to all the benefits thereto appertaining.

The vote on Mr. Jones' amendment was taken first and was as follows:

Pairs.—Coursol and Choquette, Baird and Skinner, Bergin and Purcell, Pope and Mackenzie, Moncreiff and Yeo, Bryson and Cook, Kenny and Beausoleil, Sir Charles Tupper and Flynn, Sir Donald A. Smith and Lavergne, Mr. Blake was the only "absentee." Kent and Russell are vacant, and the members-elect for Missisquoi and L'Assumption, Mr. Meigs and Mr. Gauthier, have not yet been introduced.

The Government's majority was 57. The vote was a straight party one. All the Conservative Nationalists voted with the Government. Mr. Amyot of Bellechasse is now put down as a straight bolter, one who will always vote against the Government because of his quarrel with Sir Adolphe Caron. The main motion was carried on the same division.

When the division was announced there was wild cheering on the Conservative benches. The Opposition looked sad. "God Save the Queen" was struck up by the Government supporters, and was joined in by the galleries. Peter Mitchell, who when voting for Mr. Jones' amendment did so with an emphatic "yes," jumped to his feet and shouted "Mr. Speaker, Mr. Speaker." There was fire in Peter's eye, and he evidently had something awful to say to the House. He continued to shout "Mr. Speaker." The confusion was great, and Col. Ouimet refused to "recognize" the noisy Peter. The latter continued to rave and shout, and the Speaker stepped down from his throne and walked out of the chamber.

Then Peter shouted: "We'll see what The Montreal Herald has to say about such treatment by a Speaker." All the way to the Russell House, after the adjournment, Peter's wake was blue with profanity. He kept on denouncing Speaker Ouimet until he fell asleep.

The Government supporters abouted themselves hoarse as they filed out into the cold gray dawn. When Sir Richard Cartwright was leaving the Chamber, looking over at the exulting Conservatives, he closed his teeth and muttered half aloud: "Wait till the end of twelve months." And everybody who heard it is wondering what he meant.

A Proposal to Banquet His Excellency in the Senate—The Fisheries Bill.

OTTAWA, April 7.—The members of the Commons and the Senators want to entertain His Excellency to a banquet in the Senate Chamber before his departure from the Capital. The matter is now being actively canvassed.

"If Sir Charles Tupper is well enough," Sir John Macdonald told the House before it adjourned this morning, "he will on Tuesday introduce a bill in connection with the Fisheries conference."

BISMARCK'S RESIGNATION.

IT HAS BEEN WITHDRAWN TO PRESERVE GERMAN UNITY.

The Battenberg Betrothal Postponed for a Time—Rumored Court Intrigues—German Irritation Against Empress Victoria Increasing—The Emperor's Health.

BERLIN, April 7.—Prince Alexander of Battenburg comes to Charlottenburg next Thursday and his betrothal to Princess Victoria takes place early in June. Prince Bismarck has withdrawn his resignation solely from the consideration that under the domination of Empress Victoria Germany would speedily break up. Nothing since the accession of Emperor Frederick has occurred that has so strongly animated the Prussian Conservatives against the Empress as the marriage question. It now becomes known that the Empress will impel her helpless husband to thwart Prince Bismarck without regard to the respect due to the late Emperor or to the national safety. The policy of the Conservatives at this time represents the genuine feelings of the whole German people. All the Radical newspapers, such as The Vossische Zeitung, which treats the Battenberg question with disdain as of no consequence to the German policy, ignore the fact that Battenberg is only one chord in the general discord struck by the party of the Empress.

The reticence of the Berlin press in referring to court intrigues has been greater than was required by deference to the Emperor and leading officers of state. The Battenberg marriage becomes almost a minor incident in the court intrigues. Among other successful schemes the Emperor has been induced to send to Count von Moltke a series of statements on the condition of the army, followed by a request that the general preside at the meetings of the commission on reforms in the army. Count von Moltke has replied that it would be impossible for him to preside over the commission without knowing how it was constituted and what reforms were desired. Consequently the commission has been dropped.

Another move of the party of the Empress is to overhaul the diplomatic appointments. If Bismarck had consented the Prince of Reuss, Minister at Vienna, would have been displaced, Count von Munster would have been withdrawn from Paris and Baron Hatzfelds from London, because each is knit into the Bismarck policy.

The position now is a mere truce. The establishment of settled order in Bulgaria and the removal of all possibility of Alexander raising the rallying cry will deprive the marriage of all political importance. The visit of the Queen of England to Charlottenburg, therefore, will take place as arranged, but the betrothal will not be publicly brought forward on the occasion. This is an official statement and simply means that Prince Bismarck's advice has been over-ruled. The Queen of England comes here with her Battenberg proteges to carry out her family projects without regard for the sentiments of the German nobility or German people, and equally regardless that her daughter the Empress thwarts the policy of the minister who made her Empress and without whom imperial Germany might cease to be.

Nothing in Prince Bismarck's life is so honorable, so full of self-command and loyalty to Germany as his temporary submission to the Empress' regime. He has the enthusiastic support of Count Von Moltke and other leaders of the army and the leaders of the Conservative and National-Liberal parties, and even has the begrudged approval of the Progressist chief. The Chancellor does not therefore rely on the military party. He has the support of the whole country and of the royal heads of the German federation and is absolutely master of the situation.

The Emperor's condition gave rise to serious alarm yesterday. Both his cough and spitting were augmented and he also suffered from nervous excitement. To-day he rested for several hours and after partaking of a luncheon of oysters, drove out for the first time in seven days in a closed carriage. To-day's bulletins say that for the last few nights he has been unable to sleep well on account of headaches and that the malady from which he is suffering now appears to be moving from the back of the larynx more to the front, which is regarded by physicians as a favorable symptom because the danger of the disease attacking the esophagus will be thus averted.

The Empress will go to Posen on Monday to inquire into the condition of the sufferers by the floods. Dreadful accounts have been received from Posen, 230 villages are in ruins and 15,000 persons are without shelter. When the dykes at Warthe gave way a large number of lives were lost. The loss in live stock is incalculable. The troops have been actively engaged in repairing the damage done. The fund raised by subscriptions in Berlin for the relief of the sufferers is insignificant in comparison with the losses. A famine is threatened in Posen, Pomerania and Silesia, and the number of persons emigrating to America will soon be enormously increased.

The official program for the Beyreuth festival of the coming season embraces seventeen performances, the first of which will be given July 22, the last Aug. 19. They will include Parsifal and Der Meistersinger.

MONDAY, APRIL 9, 1888.

THE TWO POLICIES.

The vote taken in the House of Commons on Saturday morning, after the protracted debate, decided the policies of the two political parties regarding the Canadian fiscal system and trade relations with the United States. Sir Richard Cartwright's resolution, embodying the purposes and policy of the Liberal party, was as follows :—

"That it is highly desirable that the largest possible freedom of commercial intercourse should obtain between the Dominion of Canada and the United States, and that it is expedient that all articles manufactured in, or the natural products of either of the said countries, should be admitted free of duty into the ports of the other. (Articles subject to duties of excise, or of internal revenue alone excepted.)

"That it is further expedient that the Government of the Dominion should take steps at an early date to ascertain on what terms and conditions arrangements can be effected with the United States for the purpose of securing full and unrestricted reciprocity of trade therewith."

This, stated briefly, means free trade between Canada and the United States, a proposition the majority refused to endorse. The objections to such a policy have been frequently set forth and were brought out strongly in the debate in the House. Such a scheme would involve either free trade with the world, which is not contemplated, or discrimination against Great Britain and in favor of the States. It would result in high duties being collected on imports from Great Britain, while goods from the United States came in free, which would be incompatable with Canada's position as part of the British Empire. Besides, apart from that serious consideration, it would not be of practical benefit to the country. The United States produces articles similar to those produced in Canada, so that Canada could not find a market there. The discrimination would disturb and endanger our trade with Great Britain and the profitable market the Canadian farmers have there. It would lead to the crippling and the shutting down of many of the Canadian factories, thus driving out capital, curtailing employment and injuring the farmers' home market—their largest and most advantageous and profitable market. It would also necessitate direct taxation for more than half the revenue now raised by customs duties, a system of taxation that would bear more heavily on the poorer people and upon the farming community. So that, apart from political considerations, unrestricted reciprocity would be of material injury; and the political complications that would ensue, leading most probably to separation from Great Britain and eventual annexation, make it a scheme that should not be countenanced.

The policy of the Government was embodied it the following resolution, moved by the Hon. Geo. E. Foster and adopted by the House :—

"That Canada in the future, as in the past, is desirous of cultivating and extending trade relations with the United States so far as this may not conflict with the policy of fostering the varied industries of the Dominion adopted in 1879 and which has since received in so marked a manner the sanction and approval of the people."

The Government favors extended trade relations with the States. It has made proposals to the United States in that direction, and so far as the States would agree to them, they have been carried out. But the Government opposes placing our trade and our political future in the hands of the Republic; it opposes sacrificing the material interests of the country. Reciprocity is included in the National Policy, and on the National Policy the Government stands. In this they have been sustained by a large majority in Parliament and we confidently believe will be sustained by a large majority of the people.

GUN CLUB ORGANIZED.—A meeting to form a Gun Club was held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening. Mr. John Baisdon was chosen Chairman and Dr. Bell Secretary pro tem. The following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT.—Mr. Wm. Ash.

VICE-PRESIDENT.—Mr. J. C. Baisdon.

SEC.-TREAS.—Mr. Wm. Eastland.

COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT.—Messrs. W. H. Casement, F. Lillicrap, Dr. Bell, J. Richardson and R. Q. Dench.

It was resolved that the club be called "The Lakefield Gun Club." The next meeting of the club will be held on April 17th, in the same place.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—Mr. Chas. Jury, son of Mr. James Jury, met with a sad accident on Monday. He was caught in the horse power of a sawing machine. His leg from the heel up to the knee was badly jammed. Fortunately no bones were broken, but the limb was very much bruised. He was brought into the village for medical treatment.

THE DAWN.—Capt Eden has moved his steamer Dawn down to the river's edge. We have not as yet learned when the bottle of wine will be broken over her.

ASSESSMENT.—The work of assessing the village is nearly completed. Mr. A. Henderen, Assessor, has pushed his work well, and soon may rest on his oars.

COUNCIL MEETING.—A special meeting of the Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening. Present, Reeve Casement, Messrs. Hull, Nelson, Henderson and Moore.—The Reeve stated that the object of the meeting was to take into consideration the petition signed by Mr. T. J. Bird and 70 others, requesting the Council to submit a by-law with a view to loaning to Messrs. Booth & Co. debentures to the extent of $6,000. On motion, reading the minutes was dispensed with. Mr. C. J. Blomfield presented a petition signed by 62 freeholders asking the Council to submit a by-law to the people for the raising of a certain sum of money for the construction of a system of water works. On motion of Councillor Nelson seconded by Councillor Henderson, the petition was referred to the Finance Committee, the committee to bring in a report at the next regular meeting.

Moved by Councillor Hull, seconded by Councillor Henderson,—That the petitions to grant Messrs. Booth & Co. the loan required, and the petition concerning the contemplated waterworks, be received and considered separately.—Carried. Councillor Hull read the following report:—

To the Reeve and Council of the Village of Lakefield.

GENTLEMEN,—We, your committee on Finance, having carefully taken into consideration the scheme submitted to them by Messrs. Booth & Co., for the purpose of assisting them in starting a flannel mill, in the village of of Lakefield, beg to submit the following report:—

1st. While we would be very much pleased to have such an industry in our village, and would also be pleased to assist them in some tangeable way in their endeavor to make it a success, as we believe such an industry would prove a grand boon to our village, yet we cannot recommend the Council to place the credit of the village to the amount of $6,000 for the purpose of supplying the funds to be used as requested.

2nd. While looking at the security offered, if after explanation it proved all right, we would think they should have no trouble in securing the loan from some private individual or loan company, to enable them to carry out their intention of putting in the machinery, &c., which if so secured the village should grant them the privilege of running it free for ten years free of taxes.

3rd. As we are informed there is in circulation a petition requesting the Council to submit a by-law to the ratepayers of Lakefield, with a view of granting to the Messrs. Booth & Co. their request, we believe that before doing so Messrs. Booth & Co. should deposit with the village Treasurer a sufficient sum of money to investigate the title to the property they propose to give the village as security, and also sufficient to cover the the expenses of submitting the by law to a vote.

4th. While we are desirous to see the industry started, and will pledge ourselves individually to do all we can to make the business a success, as we think it would prove a good think for the village, yet we cannot see our way clear to recommend the Council to borrow money to lend to any business, as we are of the opinion they would be exceeding their authority.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

JOHN HULL,
Chairman.

Lakefield, March 20th, 1888.

Moved by Councillor Henderson, seconded by Councillor Hull,—That the clerk be instructed to have a by-law prepared to be submitted to the freeholders to vote upon the Booth & Co. scheme, for the issuing of debentures to the amount of $6,000 for the purchasing of machinery for the new woolen mill, and that the clerk employ Messrs. Dumble & Leonard to prepare said by-law, inspect titles and see that everything will be made secure to the village, providing that Messrs. Booth & Co. deposit a sufficient sum with the Treasurer to cover the cost.—Carried. Moved by Councillor Hull, secondedby Councillor Moore,—That this Council now adjourn.—Carried.

ASPHODEL.

OBITUARY.—On Monday morning, March 26th, from her home in Asphodel, Mrs. Ann O'Shea, widow of the late Michael O'Shea, was called to her rest at the age of 73 years. In her death her family has been bereft of a kind and loving mother, and from the neighborhood an old landmark has been removed—another of the links joining the present generation with the past has been severed. The deceased was born in the parish of Donerail, Cork, Ireland, in 1815, and at the age of ten with her parents sought and found a home in the then impenetrable wilderness of Asphodel. The long, tedious journey by land and sea, in those days, the innumerable hardships undergone, can only be understood by those who bore the brunt in wresting from nature the happy homes which dot the fertile fields of the county of Peterborough. Married at an early age, Mrs O'Shea was the mother of eleven children—six sons and five daughters—all of whom knelt tearfully around her death bed. She survived her husband seventeen years, and whether as wife, mother, or widow, her obligations were fully understood and always well performed; while as a friend and neighbor, all who had the happiness of knowing her will sincerely mourn her loss. In addition to her own children the deceased witnessed the birth of thirty-three grandchildren, thirty-one of whom are living; she also leaves two brothers and one sister. Though brief was the summons, (she had been taken sick on Saturday, 17th March,) the dread messenger found her fortified with that Christian resignation which was characteristic of her whole life. The funeral took place at 9 a. m., on Wednesday of last week, the remains being first taken to the R. C. Church, Norwood, where the full ritual and impressive ceremonies, of the faith she loved so well, were rendered by the Rev. Father Conway, and who, at the close, preached an eloquent sermon on the virtues of the esteemed deceased. The six sons were the pall-bearers, and as the immense cortege wended its way to the cemetery it was not only an imposing demonstration of respect to the deceased but served well to show the high esteem in which the relatives are held by all classes.—Star.

Sanitary.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—All me again to give a few extracts from the Health Act relating to sanitary work necessary at this season of the year.

Section 13 states that all wells shall be cleaned out before the 1st day of July in each year.

As to disposal of sewage and refuse, Rule 3 says that all reservoirs, cesspools and privy-vaults shall be cleansed out at least once a year, on or before the 15th of May, and from 15th May to 1st Nov. they shall be thoroughly disfected by adding once a month not less than 2 lbs. of sulphate of copper (bluestone) disolved in two pailfuls of water or other suitable disinfectant.

Rule 5. All putrid and decaying animal or vegetable matter must be removed from all cellars, buildings and yards on or before 15th May in each year.

Rule 6. All garbage shall be burned or placed in a proper covered receptacle for swill and house offal, the contents of which shall, between the 15th May and 1st Nov., be regularly removed as often as twice a week.

Particular attention is directed to the clause relating to the disinfection of cesspools, &c. From the nature of many complaints in former years it is feared this has not been properly attended to. It is earnestly requested that no time be lost and that spring cleaning be proceeded with as soon as possible. The more thoroughly this work is done, and the more persistently it is followed up during the summer, the less probability there will be of diptheria and autumnal fever.

Yours, &c.,

J. CLARKE, M.D,
Medical Health officer.

Challenge Accepted.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—In reference to a challenge which appeared in the Times of last week, from Mr. Archie Moore, wanting to run Mr. David Miller or any man in town or county a foot race, of one hundred, or one hundred and fifty yards; as Mr. Miller doesn't feel disposed to run now I will accomodate him, and the race can be arranged any time.

LINDSAY.

THE BAND.—Negotiations in progress for some time between the Citizens' band and parties in Toronto relative to the purchase of new instruments have reached a satisfactory stage, and only some final preliminaries remain to be arranged. Very good.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.—The board of education have had meetings Saturday and Tuesday evenings. The plans of the new collegiate institute was the principal item of business. The secretary was instructed to advertise for tenders for the building on the new plans, which will give an eight-class room building, a little larger than the first plan, which had only six. The new plan will have a mansard roof, and the building will be something like Loretto academy.

CATTLE.—Mr. M. M. Boyd, the proud possessor of perhaps the largest and finest herd of Polled Angus cattle in the Dominion, intends, we understand, sending a consignment numbering about seventy-five head, to the great sale of high-priced cattle, held yearly in Chicago, about the first week in May. The cattle will likely be conveyed to Lindsay if navigation is open, and an inspection of the herd will prove interesting to lovers of fancy stock.—Post.

Pattillo and Gilmore Fight a Draw.

The six-round glove fight, Queensbury rules, between Harry Gilmore and Paul Pattillo on Saturday night at Pattillo's Academy, was witnessed by 200 spectators. In the first two rounds Pattillo held his own, but in the succeeding rounds Gilmore, who had hitherto acted mainly on the defensive, clearly outfought his opponent. In the fourth round Pattillo landed heavily on Gilmore's nose, which bled copiously. "First blood for me," shouted Paul. "Oh, no," said Gilmore, "there is blood on your forehead and it has been there since the first round." Before the finish of this round both men were hitting hard and the spectators got excited. "Order, order," cried the less excitable portion of the spectators. "Order, I say, too," cried Gilmore, as he went at Pattillo viciously. In the fifth round, Paul got in a good body blow, whereupon he asked Gilmore "how he would bet on it". The last round was comparatively tame, Pattillo clinching and Gilmore refusing to attempt to inflict further punishmeat on his opponent. Referee Cooper declared the contest a draw. The receipts of the house netted each man about $110. Pattillo said he would meet Gilmore next Saturday night, and hoped "to be then able to do him."

THE FIRST DAY OF OUR MILLINERY OPENING IS OVER AND WE CAN TRULY SAY IT WAS A GRAND SUCCESS. LADIES ARE LOUD IN THEIR PRAISES OF THE ELEGANT GOODS DISPLAYED BY US THIS SEASON. NEVER ON AN OPENING DAY DID WE TAKE AS MANY ORDERS OR HEAR AS MANY COMPLIMENTARY THINGS SAID. WE SHALL DO ALL IN OUR POWER TO MAKE THIS SEASON'S MILLINERY WORTHY OF THE INSPECTION OF EVERY LADY BUYER. OPENING CONTINUES EVERY DAY THIS WEEK.
